This Firepot Doesn't Clog

SQUARE POT BOILERS owe much of their great heating power to the peculiar form of their firepots. These are round at top but square at bottom. Each time the grate is turned accumulated ash slips from them free and easy into the capacious ashpit below, leaving a live fire fully opened to fresh oxygen. This causes perfect combustion, minus clogging, choking and "dead fire."

Round firepots do not possess these advantages, nor can they give "results" as quickly.

Because of this complete combustion, SQUARE POT BOILERS use a minimum amount of coal and require little attention. Let the dealer nearest give you a demonstration.

REMEMBERED COMRADE.

James O. Mundy, of North Plainfield, a member of the New Jersey ex-Prisoners of War Association, who is ill at his home, 122 Watchung avenue, and was unable to attend the reunion of that organization held yesterday in Reform Hall, received this morning the minutes of the meeting and resolutions of regret, sent by his comrades. Mr. Mundy, who saw gallant service in the Civil War, was visited by a few of the veterans who fought with him during the strife.

INVITED TO FLAG RAISING.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, has invited through George P. Mellick, the president, all members of the board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital to be present at the ceremonies attendant upon the presentation of an American flag by the council to Bonnie Burn Sanatorium tomorrow afternoon. Special cars will leave Plainfield at 2 o'clock. The sanatorium is about one mile from the trolley at Scotch Plains.

BOROUGH POLICE BREAK UP FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT

Chief Weiss, of the North Plainfield police was called on the telephone last night and told that a number of Italians were engaging in a fierce hand to hand fight in the house at 227 Duer street. He sent Marshals Herman and Keller to the scene. They arrived when the battle was at its height. Seeing the policemen the foreigners fled, with the former in hot pursuit.

Five men were cornered in a room and placed under arrest, and Recorder Gano fined all hands $2 this morning with a reprimand. The prisoners gave their names as Salvatore Spengalio, Salvator Loweini, Leo Andri, John Vorhlieze and Albert Pertirt, all of the above address.

BAILEY WILL NOT MOVE HIS NEW CHURCH AWAY

Rev. G. W. Bailey, pastor of the Union Baptist Institutional church which meets in Reform Hall, adjacent to the Calvary Baptist church of which he was the former pastor has decided to pay no heed to the suggestion of the special council which met this week at Calvary church. The council held a conference to adopt resolutions advising that Mr. Bailey remove from the immediate neighborhood of Calvary to some other section of the city.

"There have been a dozen churches which met at Reform Hall in the past," said Mr. Bailey, "but not one of them disturbed Calvary church until my congregation met there. I propose to stay where I am and my congregation will meet as usual."

MARTIN ESTATE HEIRS WANT AN ACCOUNTING

Mayor G. W. V. Moy, representing Leonard Dunn, of this city, appeared before Judge Martin in the Essex County Orphans Court, Newark, this morning, in the case of the Estate of Moses Martin, of Rahway, deceased, of which Jiel Clarkson, of Rahway, is the administrator. F. C. Hyer, of Rahway, appeared for the administrator.

Mr. Clarkson has never filed an accounting of the estate with the court, although it was stated that he had issued an account which he had sent to the heirs. The latter were, however, dissatisfied with the fees claimed by Mr. Clarkson and the accounting and are now seeking to have a proper accounting made to the court.

Mr. Moy asked for a rule to show cause why Mr. Clarkson should not make the account to the court. The court said that it would sign the order, but first desired time to go over the trust deeds.

NEW NEWARK SCHOOL STRIKE

Ten-year-old Pupils March to City Hall and Marched Back Again.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 11.—Following the example of the pupils of the 7-B grade of the Morton Street Public school in this city twenty-two children of the 5-A grade of the Charlton Street school went on strike. Walking to the city hall to lay their grievance before Dr. A. B. Poland, the superintendent of schools, the children were intercepted by officers from the department of compulsory education, who marched them back again.

The children, who are each about ten years of age, gathered in front of the school and then marched in a body to the city hall. On reaching the building they sent Bennie Fleitel to lodge a complaint against their teacher, Miss Hannah Roberts. Charles A. MacCall, superintendent of the department of compulsory education, met the children. They told him that Miss Roberts "was bad" to them and "swore at them." He ordered them back to school.

N. J. CAMPAIGN FUND CHARGE.

Hudson Grand Jury Has New Order to "Get After" Illegal Collectors.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 11.—Politicians in this city looked for interesting developments following Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Swayze's charge to the Hudson county grand jury. Justice Swayze in no uncertain tones directed the jurymen to "get after" all persons who had collected campaign funds from county and city employees.

"I do not feel sure that my charge in September on this subject had the effect I hoped it would have," said Justice Swayze.

"I think that you can do a great deal of good for the men in this county," the court declared, "if you will take that matter up and investigate it. You might as well remember that the law cannot be evaded by any mere subterfuge."

"COMFORT ME WITH APPLES."

The topics of the sermons to be delivered by Rev. John Y. Broek at the Trinity Reformed church on Sunday are as follows: Morning, 10:30, topic, "The Coming Age;" evening, 7:45, "Comfort Me With Apples, for I am Sick of Love."

—Even the most indolent of us are not too lazy to work on the sympathy of our friends.

—The man who is willing to take things as they come generally finds that someone else has headed them off.

Simply Amazing! Tomorrow's Sale of Blouses At $2 to $10.75 for $5 to $16.75 Qualities

Being sponsor for all the new Modes in Blouses, and having our hand on the situation in Paris, we are in a position to know just what kind of Blouses are most wanted. As we import the latest models for reproduction purposes we do not hesitate to specialize them at low prices.

Distinctive Chiffon Blouses, at $5, $6.95 and $8.95

A number of charming styles—each one seems prettier than the others. Delightful blendings of colors in some, but each is a dainty Paris-like conceit. In the new colors and black.

100 Crepe de Chine Shirts, $6.95

Excellent Crepe de Chine, in these smartly tailored Shirts, with Robespierre collar and long carefully fitted dress sleeves, finished with four-inch shadow lace frill. White, navy, and black.

100 White Crepe de Chine Blouses, $5

This, the Prince Imperial Frill Blouse, with the pretty flat collar—a Blouse of simplicity that is quite dressy.

The "Prince Imperial" Jabot Blouse, $10.75

This we introduce tomorrow! And we are sure that you will call it the Blouse with the wonderful Jabot—for we have copied precisely a $30 Jabot. The Blouse itself is of white tucked net and a touch of color is added by the tiny cravat, which is slipped through the jabot.

Satin Charmeuse Shirts, First Quality, $6.95

Typical Robespierre style—with the new, long tapering-to-the-point sleeves, finished with lace frills. Pretty silk cravats, lustrous and rich.

600 White French Voile Blouses at $2

This Blouse is illustrated as it appears when worn with a coat in the centre frame. Its soft "Prince Imperial" frill is the ideal sort to be worn outside a coat and its Robespierre collar is carefully designed to turn softly over the coat collar This is the copy of a $25 French Blouse—the only difference is that this is made by machine, and is trimmed with imitation Valenciennes lace, instead of the real hand-made. The Evolution of Style Is Interpreted in

Gimbel $6.75 to $14.75 Millinery

In Paris no one knows what the morrow will bring in millinery—Fashion never ceases to create something more beautiful.

We have our own bureau at this Fountain-Head of Modes, and it immediately transmits them to our millinery designers here in New York. And they reproduce them.

But, as we have artists whose creations have won applause in Paris, and who are recognized to be the best in America, many new styles are created in our own workroom. That is why Gimbel Millinery is distinctive.

And we want to emphasize that it is our best designers who create our $6.75 to $14.75 Hats, as well as those at prices up to $150.

During this week they have been busy making chapeaux for tomorrow's display, in which there will be about five hundred Hats of plush, silk and velvet, in tailored, demi-tailored and dress styles. Also toques for elderly women. Third Floor.

BOYS' FALL and WINTER CLOTHING

We are perfectly willing—in fact, we should very much like to have you compare every Boy's Suit or Overcoat in our stock, with the clothing you can get elsewhere at the same price, for quality and beauty of material and excellence of style and making.

You will usually find that either the price for the same quality is higher, or that the clothing is less desirable at a given price.

It is chiefly a question of KNOWING the Boys' Clothing Business, and parents are finding out more and more all the time that GIMBELS DOES know. Here is some of the fine Clothing for Fall and Winter that we rely upon to prove our point:

Boys' All-wool Suits at $6.50 With Two Pairs of Knickerbockers

You will find many characteristics of higher-priced Clothing in these Suits. Handsome, absolutely all-wool fabrics, in neat, dark patterns; the coats, serge-lined with bottoms faced; amply cut trousers, lined throughout—and TWO PAIRS OF THEM. MARQUARD WINS GAME FOR GIANTS

Red Sox Are Powerless Before Mighty Rube.

DEVORE SHINES IN NINTH.

Makes Great Catch, Preventing Tie. Herzog and Murray Responsible For Giants' Two Runs—Boston's Lone Tally Came In Ninth.

Boston, Oct. 11.—Until the last man was out in the ninth inning the game between the Giants and the Red Sox was in doubt. The score by which the Giants won was 2 to 1, and then they won by a squeak so narrow that everything depended on the last ball hit.

Somewhat different complexion from the first two games was yesterday afternoon's contest. The rivals settled down to baseball which was of smoother texture and more natural in its pace. Yet the game lacked nothing in intensity. It was in keeping with its fellows in being crammed to the full with uncertainty. The Giants ran up a score of two and turned the Red Sox back baffled and scoreless for eight consecutive innings. In the last two innings, however, the Red Sox attack quickened a bit and their aggressiveness resulted in preventing a whitewash.

A muff by Merkle was the only fissure in the New York fielding, it coming in the ninth inning after the Red Sox had made their lone run. It cost nothing, but it did create a perilous situation, and there was a furore of excitement in the stands until Devore, with a superb running catch of a line drive so hard that it was almost invisible, brought the game to an end with two base runners bound licketty split for the home plate. This ninth was a roaring inning. Marquard was in dire straits toward the last, but, all told, the master of the Red Sox.

Used Fast Hop Ball.

It wasn't all his fault that he was in trouble in the ninth, although he appeared to be losing his grip. The error by Merkle made things worse for him, but he was plucky even then and for the greater part of the game cool and deliberate. The fast hop ball which has made Marquard famous and formidable was on show and greatly perplexed the Red Sox. In the closing innings the Rube had to listen to a storm of yelling by the home rooters, but he remained impervious, yielding to the din only in the ninth when he and the team were saved by Devore's catch.

The Giants, too, faced pitching new to them. They were strangers to O'Brien, just as the Red Sox knew naught of Marquard save by reputation and observation. The New Yorkers didn't make any great indentations in O'Brien's pitching, but they did take more readily to his spit ball than the enemy did to Marquard's offerings.

The fielding was, barring Merkle's fall from grace, stainless and snappy and with a blend of the sensational. Herzog, Doyle, Devore and Murray exploited themselves with plays that were difficult and which thrilled. Speaker was the stellar fielder for Boston. His finished style made two hard catches look easy, and he kept New York's score down by racing out with the ball and laying hands on it in a manner which was the poetry of motion and perfect judgment.

Gardner and Lewis made most off the New Yorks with the stick, whereas Murray and Herzog, who have rendered valuable service in every game, were again New York's mainstay with the ash.

When the Giants jumped into automobiles to hurry away to their hotel after the game they were surrounded by hundreds of New York rooters, who were simply dancing for joy. They grabbed Devore by the shoulders and arms and fairly hugged him. They also patted Rube Marquard on the back. There were cheers for McGraw and an ovation for Jack Murray. For fully five minutes the machines could not get under headway because of this demonstration.

Give Credit to Devore.

At the Copley Square hotel the Giants hustled into their street clothes and, followed by another cheering crowd, they were driven hurriedly to the South station, where they boarded a special train for New York.

The Giants gave the bulk of the credit for the triumph to little Devore, whose wonderful running catch of Cady's fierce drive in the ninth inning prevented a Red Sox victory. McGraw bought a box of perfectos and passed them around. Then as the train was about to start the welcome cry was heard, "First call for dinner in the dining car," and more than twenty hungry Giants made a rush for the eatables.

With Marquard getting away with yesterday's game and Tesreau in great shape for today's struggle at the Polo grounds, the Giants expressed a general opinion that if they could beat Wood it would be all over but the shouting, inasmuch as the other Boston pitchers apparently have no terrors for them.

Yesterday's crowd was the largest paid attendance that ever saw a game in this city. It would have been impossible to have admitted more than the recorded number without encroaching upon the playing field. The exciting drawn battle of the day before worked old Boston up to a white heat, and everybody who had the time or the means went to Fenway park. The same efficient police arrangements were in effect, and the great assemblage was handled without the slightest disorder or confusion.

In the usual preliminaries Mayor Fitzgerald was missing. He had business to attend to at the city hall and could not get to the park in time to take part in the ceremonies attending the presentation of an automobile to "Tris" Speaker.

AFTER THEIR FOURTH STRAIGHT SOCCER WIN

Plainfield Team Will Play the Strong Hawthornes in Elizabeth Tomorrow.

The Plainfield A. F. C. will journey to Elizabeth, tomorrow, where they will tackle the strong Hawthorne Club, of that place, and hope to record their fourth successive victory in the International Amateur Soccer League.

The local aggregation is now tied with the Eureka team for first place in the league, each team having won three and lost none. At last Saturday's game, one of the largest crowds in the history of the game in these parts, witnessed the contest, and as a result of the interest which is being taken by followers of the club, a large representation of rooters is expected to accompany the "kickers" to Elizabeth.

The boys will lineup tomorrow as follows:

J. McNiece, goal; F. Craig, right fullback; F. Buckland, left fullback; J. Morrison, right halfback; F. Kenning, center halfback; J. Thomas, left halfback; W. Spalding, right wing; W. Johnson, right wing; K. Heaume, centre; J. Crawford, left wing; T. Garner, left wing.

REMINISCENCES OF DARK PRISON DAYS

Veterans Recall the Hours Spent as War Captives at Reunion.

Reminiscences of the hardships suffered in Confederate prisons at the time of the Civil War by some and stories of daring escapes by others, occupied the afternoon session of the 26th annual reunion of the Ex-Prisoners of War Association, held yesterday in Reform Hall. Among the aged veterans gathered around the Camp fire were General Edwin L. Hayes, of Glen Ridge, who is the oldest living general in the United States, having passed ninety-three years. He is also one of the six surviving members who organized the Republican party at Pittsburg in 1856, having been a delegate to that convention from the State of Ohio.

Among the speakers in the afternoon was the Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, and W. N. Runyon. The latter sang and delivered an eloquent address on "Patriotism of the Civil War."

Uriah Seely, of Newark, told of his experiences and capture during the strife; R. S. Riley, spoke on the Libbie Prison; A. N. Ricker, gave an exciting narative of his capture and his escape later with a small band of comrades; C. F. Hopkins and C. T. Williams, told of the Andersonville prison, and F. M. Foote, D. T. Creighton and Augustus Dusenberry related the experience of their terrible ordeal during the war and while captives.

The last speaker of the day was George Oughletree, of Newark, who bears a scar in his head an inch deep where a bullet struck him and lodged there for eighteen days, before a surgeon reached him to make the extraction. At the same time, his leg which had been shattered by a bullet, was amputated. Mr. Oughletree was left on the battlefield by his comrades as dead, June 27, 1862, and was taken prisoner. After an exchange of prisoners when he was returned to his ranks he was commissioned for bravery by Abraham Lincoln, and by the consent of the Senate, was rewarded with a medal

Among the veterans present yesterday were: Adrian S. Appleget, of Trenton; John Adams, Milltown; W. H. Bratton, East Orange; Abraham Ball, Newark; B. F. Blair, Glen Ridge; W.B. Bailey, Stanhope; G. M. Cadmus, Bloomfield; Thomas Cocker, Madison; N. V. Compton, Rahway; C. H. Chapman, Basking Ridge; David T. Creighton; Augustus Dusenberry, J. M. Foote, Newark; C. B. Johnson, Cedar Brook; R. W. Jaggard, Glen Loch; M. S. Kirby, South Amboy; J. R. Leitez, Englishtown; J. H. March, New Brunswick; S. G. McCloud, Long Branch; David Miller, Paterson; George Oughletree, Newark; Horace E. Page, Paterson; A. N. Ricker, Belleville; Robert S. Riley, Newark; Wesley Sutton, Califon; George Shaw, Huntsville; Henry Van Hise, Old Bridge; E. H. Williams, Orange; Charles T. Williams, Newark; J. L. Mundy and Albert T. Perry, Plainfield.

The following officers were elected: President, W. H. Bratton; vice president, F. M. Foote; adjutant, C. F. Hopkins; chaplain, E. H. Williams; executive committee, A. N. Ricker, W. S. Stout, C. T. Williams. Delegates to National encampment, J. M. Foote and Abraham Ball; alternates, W. H. Blaurock and Robert S. Riley.

PASTORAL "AT HOME."

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey held their first "at home" of the season at Warren chapel last night. There were about one hundred members and friends of the chapel present. The refreshments committee comprised Mrs. John Higgins, chairman; Mrs. John Green, Mrs. Andrew Stiglitz, Mrs. F. C. Burner, Mrs. George Hoagland. The reception committee comprised Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, Mrs. J. W. Gavett and Mrs. Gibson Smith.

SEN. PIERCE ASKS FOR RE-ARGUMENT ON BILL

Contends That Court Was Mistaken in Ruling on Crossing Measure.

Trenton, Oct. 11 (Special).—Senator Pierce, of Union county, father of the Grade Crossing law just set aside by the Supreme Court, filed with the court today a petition for a reargument of the case. The court received the petition and will announce its decision later.

In a petition to the Supreme Court, which is to be filed today, Senator Carlton B. Pierce, intervening as a defendant, prays for a reargument of the decision of the court in the grade crossing bill, contending that the opinion as handed down by the court is incorrect, as the court fails to take into consideration the difference between "return" and "receive." The opinion of the court is that the veto must be returned within five calendar days (Sunday excepted); that the return must be to the house of origin while in actual session, and unless in session the house of origin has "prevented a return" and the bill dies automatically.

The Senator believes that a mistake has been made by the court, as the delivery of the bill by the Governor to any one of the officers of the legislature is a delivery to the legislature itself; that the legislature is always in session until a final adjournment has been taken; that both houses retain their entity and organization whether in or out of session. Mr. Pierce believes that the unreasonable results flowing from the decision were not forseen or intended, and that the important effect on future legislatures requires a rehearing.

Senator Pierce in the brief to be filed with the court says: "The pending grade crossing bill is an effort to stop the almost daily sacrifice of lives. It has been grossly misrepresented, and aserted to mean the elimination of all crossings, without regard to necessity, and with resulting bankruptcy of railroads. The truth is that by its terms the more dangerous crossings, those to which the Utilities Board shall adjudicate after a hearing requires elimination, estimated at one-fifth the crossings in the State. The principle of the bill in practice lets small roads alone."

WILSON DENOUNCED BY COLORED PREACHER

Speakers at Negro Moose Meeting Deliver Peppery Assaults on Opponents.

The Rev. Dr. W. A. Byrd, of Rochester, N. Y., who was a delegate to the New York State Convention at Syracuse recently, and who said he was a graduate of the Princeton Theological Seminary, denounced Governor Wilson last night because of his attitude toward negroes in the Princeton institution when he was president. Continuing he urged the voters who gathered at a meeting for colored men in the Bull Moose headquarters in North avenue last night to listen to addresses in the support of Roosevelt, to vote the Progressive ticket in the November election and to repudiate Wilson and President Taft. He scored the Republican administration because of its failure to stop the lynching and burning of negroes at the stake in the South.

Among those who spoke was Dr. George E. Cannon, of Jersey City, who is the first colored man to be made a presidential elector from this State.

Mayor Moy told the audience the Republican party stood before the country without a legal candidate for the Presidency, because, he contended Theodore Roosevelt had been robbed of the nomination by the fraudulent practise. He told the negroes not to be deceived by the repeated sayings of the G. O. P. men that it was the Republican party that set them free from bonds of slavery, because he said, the Republican party in the time of Lincoln is as different from the Republican party of today, as is day and night.

Among the other speakers were Dr. A. Mark Harris, of Jersey City, who is a member of the State and Executive Committees and the Rev. John C. Love, of Madison, who was a delegate from New Jersey, to the Progressive convention in Chicago. Dr. James Lawson presided.

BOROUGH EPIDEMIC RUMORS ARE FALSE

Malicious Rumor Monger, Officials Say, is in Danger of Arrest.

In a communication to the Daily Press today Dr. Dundon, of the North Plainfield Board of Health, emphatically denied that there is an epidemic of diphtheria in the borough, either in the households or the schools. He said he has been making a thorough canvass of the residences, and has found only three cases of any contagious disease, and that there had been but two cases of scarlet fever in several years.

The school attendance has been effected by the false rumors, particularly in the Watchung School. In the opinion of the North Plainfield officials some man is circulating untrue stories about the health conditions to the parents. They say they are on the trail of the suspect, and will make every effort to have him arrested.

In all the schools teachers have been told to keep a lookout for any symptoms of disease, with the result that examinations are being held daily. Up to the present time, no case has come to their notice. The death of seven-year-old John H. Carey, of Westervelt avenue, who died yesterday of a complication of diseases, was rumored to have been caused by diphtheria, which caused widespread alarm among the parents of the school children. The story was denied by physicians who attended the boy, and by his parents.

Although rumors have been spread to the contrary it was said at the office of Supervising Principal Vossler no diphtheria cases have been reported among the pupils of the Somerset School. There has, however, been several Watchung school pupils stricken with the disease it was said.

ROSE GUERRA CRAZY, SAYS GIBSON LAWYER

New York Prosecutors "Acting Like Buffoons."

New York, Oct. 11.—Robert H. Elder, counsel for Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer now in jail at Goshen awaiting the action of the grand jury of Orange county in the matter of the mysterious drowning of Mrs. Szabo in Greenwood lake, commented with asperity on the part which Assistant District Attorney Wasservogel and his deputy, Deacon Murphy, are playing in assisting the Orange county authorities. He declared that they were "acting more like buffoons and clowns than like prosecuting officers and are making fools of themselves and the people."

The occasion for these remarks is the holding in this city of a woman who says she is Rose Guerra and the declaration that she signed a waiver of citation as Mrs. Szabo's mother, which placed Gibson in control of the dead woman's estate.

"We know this woman," says Mr. Elder. "We investigated her story and found it absurd. The assistant district attorneys know that she is only a poor demented woman, yet they are trying to make the people believe that a jury will convict Gibson on her testimony."

To this Mr. Wasservogel replied that there is sufficient evidence against Gibson to indict him, with or without the testimony of this woman.

DEATH IN TRAIN COLLISION.

Two Men Killed and Six Hurt In Accident to Flier For New York.

Chicago Junction, O., Oct. 11.—Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 14, eastbound from Chicago to New York, ran into a cut of cars left on the main track by a yard engine here. Engineer Ranahan and Fireman Leeland, both of Garrett, Ind., were killed and five mail clerks and a brakeman were hurt.

No passengers were injured, although all were badly shaken up. The passenger train was running at a fair rate of speed and the cut of cars was almost hidden by a fog. The engine and two mail cars were derailed.

TAFT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Gets In a Golf Game Before Visit to Secretary MacVeagh.

Bretton Woods, N. H., Oct. 11.—President Taft had his first golf game since he left Beverly with Mrs. Taft and Miss Boardman on his six day automobile trip through New England. The president was up early and played nine holes on the Mount Washington links. Although a light rain was falling and the mountains were covered with mist, there was a small gallery present.

After breakfast here the president and his party left for Dublin, N. H., to visit Secretary of the Treasury McVeagh.

Weather Forecast.

Increasing cloudiness today; tomorrow probably rain, colder by night in extreme southern portion; moderate easterly winds.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

VEGETABLE MARROWS.

THIS vegetable is delicious if properly cooked and ought to be more generally used than is now the case. The so called custard marrow has a very delicate flavor and the consistency of custard when cooked.

The ordinary vegetable marrow is a gourd of elliptical shape nine or ten inches long and pale yellow when ripe.

Served With Sauce.

Boiled Vegetable Marrow.—Cut two marrows into halves lengthwise, peel and take out the seeds. Put the marrows into a saucepan and cover with salted water. Let it boil for half an hour. Serve with the following:

Sauce.—Place an ounce of butter in a saucepan and when it is melted stir in a tablespoonful of flour, working it until smooth, and then thin with a little stock and boil for a few minutes. Season with salt and pepper.

Puree of Vegetable Marrow.—Cut up two medium sized marrows; put them in a saucepan with an ounce of butter and an onion. Take a little celery seed, a bay leaf and peppercorns (tied in a muslin bag), add salt and enough stock to barely cover the vegetables. Boil them till quite soft; then rub through a sieve. Return them to the saucepan and pour in enough milk to make the soup the consistency of cream. A little corn flour may be added to thicken if liked.

Rich Preparations.

Vegetable Marrows With Veal.—Pass a pound of lean veal through the mincing machine with a slice or two of fat bacon and season with salt, pepper, nutmeg and a little grated lemon rind. Fry a few thin slices of onion in a tablespoonful of butter; then add by degrees a large tablespoonful of flour and when this is smoothly mixed pour in slowly, stirring quickly all the time, half a pint of milk. When the sauce has boiled and thickened add a little blade of mace and let it stand on the side of the stove for about half an hour or until it is required. Remove the peel from a small vegetable marrow and cut it into rounds about an inch and a half in thickness. Place the pieces of marrow in a colander and put the latter into a stewpan of boiling salt water. Cook the marrow until it is tender, but not soft enough to break. Drain the marrow, remove the seeds and the stringy portion, but do not make a hole through the rounds. Then put them on a hot dish, fill them neatly with the minced veal, scatter a little minced parsley over and pour some tomato sauce round the dish.

Baked With Cheese.

Marrows au Gratin.—Peel, cut in half, take out the seed and parboil a couple of vegetable marrows in salt water. Drain the marrows in a sieve or colander and cut them into slices. Have an oval baking dish well buttered and lay the slices of marrow in this and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread with white sauce and sprinkle with bread crumbs and grated cheese when enough layers of sliced marrow have been put in to fill the dish. Bake in a hot oven for thirty minutes and serve in the hot baking dish immediately.

For the Children

A Little Mother of New York's East Side.

Young people who live in the country where flowers and trees and green grass are on every side have playgrounds that the finest city park cannot furnish. Parks in the big cities are comparatively few, and then they are kept more for their beauty than for the entertainment of children. "Keep Off the Grass" is a sign that warns one not to leave the path. Except for a few small playgrounds this rule is rigidly enforced. How different in the country, where fields and woods are free! The happy youngsters may wander at will without fear of reproof. The picture shows a little mother of the east side tenements of New York amusing her baby brother. How she would enjoy a frolic with him in the green meadows instead of being confined to a busy city street!

Fate of the Monkey.

There are, with monkeys as with men, sad possibilities in life. While some live out all their days in peace and pleasure, others are early brought face to face with a very hard fate.

The merry, playful little rascal may be taken by a trader, torn away from his comrades and carried overseas, to become the slave of a traveling organ grinder and to shiver in the strange cold streets of our crowded cities.

Or, again, as he is swinging himself on a slender bough he may become suddenly conscious of a pair of fierce eyes watching him, the eyes of an immense catlike creature, which has a superb buff coat, covered all over with black spots, and paws so strong that a single blow from one of them must be death to poor Jacko.

The leopard preys upon monkeys and is quite able to climb trees in pursuit of them. Even if he could get out of the way the hunted animal is usually too frightened to do so. With a kind of fearful fascination he sits watching the approach of the leopard until, with a spring and a cry, the tragedy is ended.

But that is not always his fate, and, after all, perhaps the monkey, who finds a quick death in his native land, is less to be pitied than the shivering little exile in a red jacket which we sometimes meet about our streets.—C. J. Blake.

Barn Game.

A jolly barn game to be enjoyed during rainy afternoons when the children cannot play in the open is "The Little Man's House." It is played in this way:

The children participating sit in a semicircle, the leader in front of them. The leader begins by addressing the first boy or girl on his right, "I tell you the little man." This is repeated down the line till it comes to the leader again, who says, "I sell you the house of the little man." This is again repeated, as at first, and on reaching the leader a third time, he says, "I sell you the door to the house of the little man." And again the leader's words are taken round the semicircle. And again the leader adds to his sentence, this time saying, "I sell you the lock to the door to the house of the little man," and so on without end.

If any of the players misquote the leader they are put out of the game.

WHITEHOUSE IS STILL ON GUARD

Suicide and Arrest of Alleged Firebugs do not Lessen Vigilance.

TO HAVE FIRE DEPT.

Odd Theory Advanced to Account for Alleged Crime of Two Suspects—What Durling Is Said to Have Stated.

Whitehouse, Oct. 11.—Their anxiety to a great extent abated now that one of the suspects in the "firebug" scare is dead by his own hand and the other is held for the grand jury under heavy bonds, the citizens of Winterhouse have, nevertheless, in no wise relaxed the vigilance they have maintained since the second incendiary fire two weeks ago.

Each night, from dusk to dawn, the streets of the village are patrolled by volunteer posses of citizens, nondescriptly armed with shotguns, rifles and revolvers, while nearly all the property owners have men watching their homes and places of business all night. That the citizens might not be kept from their homes in this time of danger, the prayer-meeting at the Reformed church was omitted last night.

Under the strain few persons have slept well of nights and one woman has been taken to the hospital in Flemington in a state of prostration from worry and sleeplessness. Besides alarming the citizens by threatening their lives and homes, the fire scare has hit their pocketbooks otherwise than in the loss entailed by the fires, for one of the insurance companies, doing the largest business in the town, has instructed its agent to write no more insurance in Whitehouse until further orders.

The news that Thomas D. Durling, brother of Augustus C. Durling, the wealthy creamery man, had hanged himself by a rope fastened to a rafter in his brother's barn, after a grueling "third degree" by detectives Tuesday, created a sensation in the little community. Scarcely less excitement was caused by the announcement that night that Elmer Vanderbeek, "Tom" Durling's crony, had been arrested on a charge of arson and held for the grand jury in bonds of $5,000. Durling had made a partial confession, the detectives said. They also declared that Vanderbeek had incriminated himself.

Despite their success, and their conviction that in placing their hands on Durling and Vanderbeek they picked out the two men responsible for the series of fires, the detectives now admit that they may, as a result of the suicide of Durling, have difficulty in convincing Vanderbeek.

A special meeting of the residents of Whitehouse Station was held at Hoffman's Hall, last night, when the first steps were taken toward organizing a fire department.

There are persistent rumors of other suspects and probable arrests, but on the other hand is the statement of County Detective Hann that nothing definite, leading to the assumption that others were implicated in the incendiary acts, can be found. Several citizens who were under suspicion have been investigated and cleared of any cloud.

Vigilance is unrelaxed in Whitehouse but general opinion has it that there will be no more incendiary fires.

The puzzling feature of the whole episode is the apparent absence of motive for the incendiary acts, if Durling and Vanderbeek actually set the fires. This is made more mysterious by the fact that Vanderbeek was employed as a hostler at the Union Hotel, and the barn of that hotel was one of the buildings burned. By the destruction of this barn Vanderbeek was burned out of his job.

But one theory, and that a far-fetched one, is put forward by the people of White House. Durling is said to have been greatly dissatisfied because his brother, by whom he was employed as a man of all work about his farm in the town, did not supply him with enough money to satisfy his desire to buy drinks. "Tom" Durling is said to have been jealous of his brother's success, contrasted with his own failure in life.

Early in the series of fires an oil-soaked bag of hay was found at the foot of the stairs leading to the basement of Augustus Durling's house, indicating that an unsuccessful effort had been made to destroy the dwelling. It is hinted that, in the event of the death of Augustus Durling, Thomas Durling, as his brother, would inherit a large sum of money.

An attempt to burn this building failing, it is pointed out that it would have been conducive to suspicion to make a second attempt, so the other fires in the village may have been planned in order to make it apparent that the incendiaries had designs on several citizens, thus rendering another attempt to burn the Durling house less suspicious. Vague as this theory is, it is only one that has thus far been put forward.

It was Thomas Durling who reported the discovery of the bag of hay. The bag and the texture of the hay aer said to have corresponded to those in the barn of the Union Hotel, where Vanderbeek was employed. It is now thought by Detective Elmer Hann, of County Prosecutor Kuhl's office, and Frank Mount, of Cosgrove's detective agency in Newark, that Durling made the report regarding the bag of hay to divert suspicion from himself. It has been demonstrated that Durling could not have seen the bag from the window through which he looked if it had been in the spot where he said it was.

Neither Durling nor Vanderbeek was suspected of having been responsible for the fires when the two were catechized at a meeting of the "committee of six" last Sunday. They were not accused when asked to tell the two detectives what they knew Tuesday morning. Questioned alone, Vanderbeek made a remark indicating that Durling was in the Union Hotel barn shortly before it was burned. Told this, Durling exclaimed that Vanderbeek must have said it, although the other's name had not been mentioned.

"If you have the evidence, probably I did it. If I did, I do not remember anything about it," said Durling, after he found he had fallen into a trap. "I can take my medicine," he added. He was allowed to go pending the receiving of instructions from the prosecutor's office, and took advantage of his liberty by going to his brother's barn, where he hanged himself. Vanderbeek, according to the detective, wished to make a statement after he was arrested at 10 o'clock that night, but changed his mind when told that any he might make would be used against him.

Cronies for years, Durling and Vanderbeek were known as men who were fond of drink. Durling was one of the unfortunates who showed the effects of one drink. Outside of their drinking habits both men were looked on as good-natured, harmless citizens. When it was reported that they had practically confessed to the crime of arson there was intense surprise throughout the village.

Durling formerly lived near Germantown, on a farm. Not meeting with great success, he moved to Whitehouse, about twelve years ago, going to work for his brother. His wife died several years ago. He had one daughter, Mrs. T. A. Sutton, principal of the grammar school in Lebanon. Mr. and Mrs. Sutton lived with Durling. The funeral of Durling will be held at the house tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, and will be private. The burial will be, at Sparta.

Vanderbeek moved to Whitehouse from South Branch about eight years ago. At first he ran a bakery, but burned out twice. The last fire was five years ago, and Vanderbeek never retrieved his fortunes. He has a wife and a daughter, the latter employed in the Whitehouse postoffice.

CRIME IN COUNTY IS ON THE INCREASE

More Commodious Jail Quarters Needed—Foreigners on Criminal Records.

Elizabeth, Oct. 10.—Crime in Elizabeth and Union county is on the increase. In spite of the arguments of social reformers and others who are optimistically inclined, the fact remains that crime is increasing daily.

Probation Officer Charles W. Irwin has declared that there is a great need of more commodious quarters for the criminals of the city and county and gives as his proof the number of commitments to the county jail and the large number of cases which he has on his hands. He declares that new institutions, more money for the present institutions and a general increase of quarters are necessary to care for those who have been convicted of crimes and misdemeanors.

"Philanthropists and social reformers may say that crime is decreasing, but this is not so," declared Mr. Irwin. "Crime is increasing and to a great extent. There is need of more money to conduct the present institutions and there is need for more quarters for the criminals. The greatest part of the crimes are committed, not by natives, but by foreigners and immigrants. Just look at the pages of this book," he continued, pointing to the jail record. "Every page contains twice as many foreigners as natives and crime is increasing among this class rapidly."

To care for the increasing numbers of prisoners in the county jail some provision will have to be made in the near future. It has been suggested that one of the best actions that could be taken by the Board of Chosen Freeholders would be to provide for a county workhouse or farm where the prisoners could be made to work out their expense to the county by productive work.

There is no doubt that the county jail is inadequate for the accommodation of all the prisoners who are sent there. In the smaller cities, boroughs and townships of the county there is no doubt that the Police Court justices have been deterred from imposing sentences because they have been told that the jail was overcrowded and that the expense to the county was growing too great.

AIM TO HAVE TAFT AT TRENTON OCTOBER 24

Trenton, Oct. 11.—President Taft will be urged to pay a visit to New Jersey upon the occasion of the convention of the State League of Republican Clubs, which will be held in this city Thursday, October 24. The committee which will seek to bring about his presence at that time is composed of State Chairman Edmund W. Wakelee, John Hays Hammond, who will be one of the speakers at the convention, and Charles D. Hilles, the Taft campaign manager.

From a State-wide viewpoint, it is not improbable that the convention, which is now being arranged for, will be one of the most important Republican gatherings of the present campaign. The delegates will include representatives of the old Republican clubs and of the organizations which have recently been formed. Every effort will be put forth to arouse some enthusiasm for the cause of the party.

In addition to Mr. Hammond, who is president of the National League of Republican Clubs, Secretary of War Stimson will be among the speakers. It is not improbable that former Governor Edward C. Stokes will also be invited to speak, although Mr. Stokes has made it plain that he will not campaign for any Presidential candidate this year. He is willing, however, to advocate the election of Republicans to Congress and the Legislature.

United States Senator Frank O. Briggs is chairman of the reception committee, aud under his direction elaborate arrangements will be made for the reception of the members of the clubs who may put in an appearance. These are expected to include representatives from every section of the State.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

By way of relieving the monotony as regards the more frivilous theatrical offerings, the patrons of the Plainfield theatre Monday, Oct. 14, will have occasion to enjoy something in the line of real drama. "The Common Law," a play which comes with the endorsement of the recognized critics in all of the cities where it has been presented and, unless all signs fail, the audience here is sure to be a large and discriminating one among whom will doubtless be found many who have read and admired the story told in book form by Robert W. Chambers, one of the greatest novelists of modern times. "The Common Law" has been prepared for stage purposes on lines of general importance from every point considered. The production is made by Manager A. H. Woods whose record for theatrical big successes is such as to warrant the belief that in "The Common Law" he has placed an abiding faith.

Henrietta Crosman in her smiling, laughing, screaming comedy "The Real Thing," will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, October 17. "The Real Thing" was christened "an every day comedy" because it appealed to everybody who had, or contemplated having, a home. It was written by Catherine Chisholm Cushing and is in the opinion of many, the biggest success Henrietta Crosman ever had. It is some time since Miss Crosman has appeared in Plainfield. Some time ago she was booked here but at the last moment the engagement was cancelled and Miss Crosman was compelled to go into New York to fill her annual engagement there. This time, however, Miss Crossman is coming in the best play she has ever produced, and there will be nothing to again necessitate a change of plans. "The Real Thing" tells a story of the wife who, when the children come, forgets she has a husband. Not that she loves him less, but all her time is taken up with her children and her household duties. When he married her she sang, played tennis, rode horse-back and was a good pal. As soon as she is married she forgets that she has to hold her husband by the same means she caught him and neglects her own appearance and devotes all her time to the children and the house. This condition of affairs continues until the good fairy in the shape of a sister, the "widow," comes along and preaches the doctrine that while it "may be criminal to neglect the children it is fatal to neglect the husband" and a really good wife and mother need do nothing. So you see there is scarcely a man or a woman to whom this comedy will not appeal. Miss Crosman's company comprises a number of well known players whose names should be familiar to the habitue of the theatre, the same identical cast that contributed so much to the phenomenal success of this play during it's long run in New York at the Maxine Elliott theatre, among whom are two remarkable children who, in this play, are said to give performances that rival those of Tommy Russell and Elsie Leslie in the original production of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," years ago.

THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA

Wednesday, October 16th, Is the Opening Day

The opening of the greater store next Wednesday morning marks the beginning of a new era in local retailing. Being the newest of America's great commercial enterprises, the big "White Store" is there fore the final word. What marvelous developments the future holds, th efuture alone can tell, but this is certain; human brains and skill and ingenuity are at present incapable of devising a better store than the new Bamberger's, or of stocking it with choicer wares or of endowing it with a better or more comprehensive store service. Nor is this said in a spirit of boastfulness. The creating of the greater store has taken time and brains and money Everyone who has had any thing to do with it has given the best that there is in him, and when the doors swing open for the first time next week you will behold a store which in point of luxurious appointments and modern conveniences has few equals in the world today.

efficient production of oranges than South Carolina because nature has made it so. Tropical fruits may be produced north of Mason and Dixon's line, but it costs more to do it because nature is against it. The great iron and steel industry located at Pittsburg because coal, iron and limestone are available there. It is now gravitating to Gary because the cheapest iron ore is produced in the Mesaba Range. The Tenessee Coal, Iron & Railway Company proved a valuable acquisition to the Steel Corporation because in Tennessee one may stand at the mouth of an iron mine and throw a stone to the coal mine and another to the limestone quarry,—in fact when I last visited this place they pointed out an iron ore which had enough limestone in it to do its own fluxing.

These illustrations are only a few of thousands which might be given to show that capital seeks natural advantages. It locates its plants where material, transportation, taxes and other things are low. But where does capital seek low-priced labor when locating its industries? Did the Steel Corporation go West because they thought Gary was a place where labor was low in price? If cheap labor is the controlling concern we should see all our mills located in the South, for it is a matter of record that several years ago the price of a day's labor in the Southern mills was less than in the mills of Lancashire, England. Mr. Helm, a cotton producer of Great Britain, writing on the cotton industry in 1903, says: "The hours in the Southern factories are much longer than in England and the piece rate wages in the South for weaving a particular description of cloth are not much more than one-quarter of those paid at Fall River, Mass., or at Lancashire, England."

Mr. T. M. Young, reporting on the American cotton companies' industry in 1902, said: "American weavers turn out nearly twice as much work a day as their English competitors and their wages per piece are considerably less."

Transportation by ships is not a serious item in the cost of manufacturing and delivery. Labor in Cuba is cheaper than that in the United States. Labor in Japan and in China is from 5 to 10 times less than it is in the United States. Does anybody question the intelligence of the Japanese, yet why does not capital go there and why are not large manufacturing industries located in such low-priced labor countries? The answer is simply this:—that it does not pay to seek cheap labor in manufacturing. Skill, energy, resourcefulness, pluck, manhood, these are the qualities that the American possesses to a high degree, and a man possessing them, whether he be a workman with his hands or with his brains, will outdistance the inert, laggard, dopey, cheap man in any country.

I am personally interested in a factory in Canada. It has been there more than twenty-five years. We are making exactly the same thing there that we make in New Jersey, and I know from experience that while the price of labor is lower in Canada the cost o fthe same product is lower in New Jersey. Senator Ackerman will find that this is the experience of practically all manufacturers who are interested on both sides of the line, except, of course, in a few special cases where natural conditions favor Canada.

I am asked whether "all the elements of production considered goods can be produced here as cheaply as in other countries?" This question is well put when it is qualified by "All the elements of production considered." My answer yes is based on experience, but let me give some of the experiences of others:

Mr. Schwab, who is undoubtedly an expert, testified on August 4, 1911, before the Ways and Means Committee: "The steel companies of this country can manufacture iron and steel products cheaper than can those of any other country in the world."

President Taft's Tariff Board has reported (page 11):

"Wages are in themselves no necessary indication of relative cost of production. Frequently it is found that high wages and low labor cost go together. The question at once arises, whether labor in American woolen and worsted manufacturing is more efficient than such labor abroad, or whether by more efficient management or greater speed of machinery the American manufacturer is able to get a larger product per operative in proportion to the difference in wages."

Again on page 19 it says:

"The lowest labor costs per pound were in mills paying the highest wages."

James G. Blaine, when Secretary of State, reported (State Document, June 25, 1882, pages 98 and 99):

"Undoubtedly the inequalities in the wages of English and American operatives are more than equalized by greater efficiency, etc."

Thomas F. Byard, also Secretary of State, writing of the Schoenhof Report, said:

"Your deductions are irrestibly established, that low wages do not mean cheap production and that the best instructed and the best paid labor proves itself to be the most productive. The command of every market follows the workman who can produce what is best and at the lowest cost."

Again referring to President Taft's Tariff Board, it has reported on Schedule K (page 9):

"As is well known, wages and earnings are not necessarily an index of the labor cost of any particular process of manufacture. The labor cost per yard depends on the relation between labor and output."

Senator Ackerman says: "Many of us thought that wages are one of the largest elements in the cost of production. Can wages be safely ignored ,etc.?"

The old fetish of having to cut wages to keep down cost is dead or dying,—even President Taft's Tariff Board admits that. Let us instance this Tariff Board's Report on the difference in the cost of making yarn between Englond and the United States. The Board states that the difference in labor cost is 100 per cent.; that is, the actual labor cost is twice as high in the United States as in England. Let us see what this means. It is an extreme case and I will accept it for the sake of argument, thought I do not believe for a moment that a thorough and proper investigation of all the elements that go to make up the cost would show any such difference, but let us accept it. The same report shows that the total proportion of labor cost in making yarn to all other costs is but 9¼ per cent. of the whole cost, hence this great 100 per cent. difference is brought down to a difference of but 4⅝ per cent. of the total cost of the yarn. Here we have an industry where the great difference of 100 per cent. in labor cost is brought down on the statement of President Taft's Board to a difference of less than 5 per cent., which is a mere bagatelle and which is easily made up or offset or overcome by increased efficiency.

Congressman William C. Redfield, who has had a large experience as a manufacturer, says, that the difference in the cost of two American concerns in the same line is even greater than the difference in cost between a foreign and a domestic concern in the same line. He also states, and I think proves, that few American manufacturers really know the cost of their goods. One of President Taft's Tariff Board experts told him that in sixteen shops that he visited they did not know what their goods cost.

A man may build a barn and determine accurately what the cost is. It is so much labor, so many pounds of nails and so much lumber,—most of the cost is labor, and the cost of building this barn is higher in America than in most other countries because the American carpenter gets good wages through his union control. He is not protected by the tariff. A manufacturer has a great many other things to contend with in figuring cost. The day rate of labor is one of the least of the items. The controlling factor is the rate of output, then we have the burden charge, the most of material, the cost of power, light, heat, insurance, interest on capital invested, depreciation, selling expense, transportation, experiments, bad debts, accidents, interest and discounts, legal expenses, etc., etc. These things in ordinary manufacturing run from four to six times higher than the actual labor cost.

There are in Japan over seven hundred American made locomotives and a great many others made by Japanese labor in the Japanese works. On one occasion when a large order for locomotives, involving several millions of dollars, was pending, the Japanese engineer made the statement to the American, that as they had the exact plans of American locomotives and as wages in Japan were only one-fifth the wages in the United States, they could make these locomotives cheaper in Japan. The American negotiator challenged the statement and agreed to compare records of cost. An impartial and thorough examination of the books proved that on the same specifications the cost of building a locomotive in Japan was 3½ times greater than in the United States. America got this order.

An American manufacturer visiting Birmingham, England, and seeing the sterility of their work offered to take a contract to manufacture in America a standard line of product, characteristic of the Birmingham works, and to deliver that product in quantities at Manchester at a figure giving the English manufacturer a clear 10 per cent. profit. The offer was declined because of British pride.

Representative Hill, of Connecticut, said in the House last August: "The wages of the weavers in the Japanese mills are only 18½ cents per day as against $1.59 in the American mills, but it requires 700 weavers to do the work in the Japanese mill as against only 53 in an American mill, hence one American for $1.59 does as much work as 13 Japanese weavers at a cost of $2.40."

American wheat is sold in the markets of Europe in competition with Russia, India and other countries. Farm labor, in the northwest for instance, is $3 per day compared with 25 and 30 cents in Russia.

The iron and steel products of the United States are steadily capturing the markets of the world, as shown by the enormous increase in our steel exports. The export trade of the United States, in manufactured products, today is over one thousand millions of dollars per year, and yet this is only five per cent. of our total product of manufactures. What an opportunity to enlarge American business throughout the world,—an opportunity which can only come in its fullness when we have lower material costs, reduced overhead charges and lower living costs through lower tariffs.

I confess an inability to answer Senator Ackerman's question about the alarming increase of paupers in England. I lie down on the poor problem. It is too much for me. I am just as incapable of explaining the absolute degredation in the pauperism of India, Russia, China, Africa,

Ireland and among the Nomad tribes of Australia, whose daily bread is taken from ash barrels. It is comforting to me to know that I shall pass away before the pauper age reaches America, because if the Malthusian theory of population is true we shall all be overcome by the incapacity of the earth to feed its increased population. This question is bigger than the tariff. For this I must refer the Senator to the Bible. I beg of him not to hold up too strongly the sins of those little British isles, which are no bigger than one of our states, but which contain over fifty millions of people, with no land of any consequence to feed them; yet it cannot be disputed that today there is a wider general distribution of wealth in England than in any other country of the globe. In the year 1907 these little islands exported more than seventeen hundred millions of dollars of manufactured products, the [illegible] ing 80 per cent. of the foreign trade of Great Britain. We have here a hard nut to crack but the mines of Great Britain are being exhausted and her export trade cannot long withstand the greater natural advantages, inventive skill, business energy and push of the Yankee. I very much fear that Senator Ackerman will have cause to drop some more tears because of the further and more rapid increase among the helpless paupers of Great Britain. This is inevitable when we have the tariff system, based on the interests of the whole people and not those of a few, when capital is more free, when our banking system is more flexible and when American ships are able to carry American products where we want them to go. It does injustice to the great natural advantages of America and to the unequalled enterprise of her people to say that the marvelous development that has taken place in this country is due to the tariff. It has gone on in spite of the tariff, and because of our great natural advantages, for as the figures show, we have sold 95 per cent. of our manufactures within our own borders. The Senator quotes an Englishman in the statement that living costs in England are increasing with practically no advance in wages. He asks me which system I prefer? I answer the American system, notwithstanding the fact that living costs in the United States have increased to a very much greater degree than in England and that there has been no greater proportionate increase in skilled wages here than in England.

In New York city, according to Bradstreets, average prices rose between 1896 and 1910 nearly 62 per cent. and since 1910 the rise has gone on at a rate of between 6 and 10 per cent. I have before me a table taken from a report made by Senator Lodge, which shows a striking difference in the rise of prices between the United States and Great Britain. In many items there is an actual fall of prices in Great Britain in the necessities of life, such as clothing and food products, the difference in these price levels is from 40 to 70 per cent. lower in England than in the United States. It is a matter of common knowledge that the price of beef has risen in America from 30 to 40 per cent. during the last decade and that it has been but slightly affected in England. There is a duty of 27½ per cent. on cattle here and no duty in England. We may have a shortage, and we know we have a beef trust, but the 27½ per cent. keeps the Argentine and Australian cattle away from us and helps increase out cost of living.

I agree with Senator Ackerman that the tendency of wages in this country is upward, but I deny that that tendency exists materially in the protected industries. This is clearly shown by the well known figures representing labor costs in the cotton, wool and steel industries as compared with the building trades.

The academic question asked me about what might happen if we adopted free trade is of no importance because we cannot adopt free trade. It costs over three hundred millions of dollars per year to run this government and Governor Wilson is on record as favoring running the government through tariff revenues. The Democratic position is a revenue producing tariff, framed on lines that are safe and sane and in a spirit of justice to the whole people.

It is hardly necessary for me to say that there is no intention on the part of the Democratic party to "reduce the price of all manufactured goods," unless such reduction is brought about through lower cost of raw material and higher efficiency of work and management. This should increase rather than decrease wages, as has been shown by the record of past experience. Increased efficiency, which is but another word for lower cost of production, enlarges the market and encourages more capital to go into an enterprise. Just in proportion as there is more capital to the number of laborers employed does the price of labor go up. Germany illustrates this point. There has been more real progress in Germany, in efficient manufacturing, during the past twenty-five years, than in any other country, and there has been a greater proportionate increase in skilled wages there than in any other country. It is the inefficient, fossilized manufacturer, who finds it necessary to reduce wages or to keep it at a standstill because his market contracts and his profits grow less.

Lastly, I maintain that the skilled New Jersey workman does not differ from the skilled workman of any other section of the United States. His interest lies in selling his labor to that concern which is progressive enough to so cut down burden and other overhead expenses that it can compete with any other nation in the world. The skilled New Jersey workman is, I am sure, intelligent enough to know that his wages cut a figure of only about one fifth in the cost of manufacture and he cannot longer be made to play the goat in a system which mainly affects the other four fifths. He is beginning to see now that lower material costs, reduced overhead charges, enlarged markets and lowered cost of living, should enable him to at least defy the sophistries of the Republican tariff makers who have heretofore sought to lay the whole burden of cost of production upon his shoulders.

CONCERNING PAINT

If you ought to have painted your house last year and waited for paint to come down, how much do you think you made?

You'll buy an extra gallon this year. But the worst mistake in painting is not putting off.

That costs about 10 per cent.; you keep your money a year and pay 10 per cent. for it.

The worst mistake is "Cheap" Paint which has to be made of "cheap" materials.

Do not make any mistake this year. Buy an honest paint—Devoe pure lead and zinc, pure linseed oil goes farther, lasts longer.

This handsome model of the season's most popular material is cut in those dashing, loose lines characterizing the products of English origin. One of the nobbiest features of the coat is the stunning belted back, held in place with two handsome buttons. Bands of silk braid binding the front as well as the collar and cuffs lend a general contour of smartness to the whole garment. The collar may be worn low or buttoned up high in colder weather, looking equally attractive either way.

RESCUED FROM WRECKED SHIP

Captain De Kyne's Boat Goes on Rocks Off Chesapeake Light.

VESSEL'S TRIAL TRIP

Former Resident of Somerset Street Loses $15,000 as the Result of Storm That Arises During Test of Remodeled Yacht.

Captain E. H. De Kyne, formerly of Somerset street, was the victim of a misfortune yesterday afternoon, which will entail a loss of nearly $15,000 to him.

Captain De Kyne recently purchased a steam yacht which he remodeled into a freight and passenger ship to ply between Baltimore and Philadelphia. The "Sapho," as the boat had been named, was taken on a trial trip yesterday afternoon and the captain and his crew of five were caught in a terrific storm off Chesapeake Light.

In the midst of the storm the boat's engine broke down. The boat drifted on a rock and a big hole was stove in its side.

The vessel filled rapidly and the life guards had to throw lines to the captain and his crew, who were saved in the nick of time.

AUTOBUS COLLIDES WITH PRIVATE CAR

Both Vehicles Suffer in Smash on Park Avenue—Bus Disabled.

Carrying six passengers bound for South Plainfield and Metuchen, the auto bus which runs between this city and Metuchen, crashed in headon collision with an automobile owned by former State Senator Charles A. Reed on Park avenue, near Seventh street, this afternoon. Both cars were badly damaged, but no one was hurt. Only the chauffeur was in the Reed car.

As a result of the impact when the cars came together, the rear of the Reed automobile was wrecked. The body of the auto bus was split, a wheel was dished and a tire exploded. There was some excitement among the passengers, but this quickly subsided.

The chauffeur of the auto bus, David Runyon, of South Plainfield, reported to his employers that the Reed chauffeur was to blame for the smash. The auto bus management alleged that the Reed chauffeur was not paying proper attention to his course as the cars approached. The Reed car was in shape to lift to a garage, but it was necessary to patch the auto bus on the scene of the accident before it could be moved.

WARNING TO THE LEGLESS: 'WARE GRASPING DEALERS!

An appeal was made by the Charity Organization Society some weeks ago to assist in raising funds for an artificial leg for a city laborer who through no fault of his own, had lost his leg in an accident.

The situation was this: The laborer had signed a contract with a firm of dealers to pay $125 for an artificial leg, which it developed was $40 or $50 more than he could have secured it for from other concerns. Upon these facts being brought to the attention of the Charity Organization Society a letter was written to the concern with whom the disabled man had made the contract, urging that they make some concession to him in view of the fact that he was a very poor man and that the price was more than he could by any possibility pay.

This request met with a flat refusal and it was then that the appeal for aid to the public was made in the press. The result of that appeal was very gratifying and all but $ of the fund was raised. The dealer in question were advised of this and asked if they would not cancel the $9 from the bill, but this they refused to do, sending the artificial limb, however, C. O. D., to the man in question, who succeeded in borrowing enough money to pay the small balance due.

The Charity Organization Society while very much gratified at the help which has been received in this particular case, feels that it would be wise to have the public know that there are certain dealers who will take advantage of such a situation as developed here, and be warned accordingly. In any given case the society is ready to advise those who need help of this nature, where to go to secure fair treatment.

Fenway Field, Boston, Oct. 12.—Before an enormous holiday crowd, the Boston Rex Sox, of the American League, and New York Giants, of the National League, this afternoon began the fifth game of the series for the world's championship. Boston had won two, New York one, and one resulted in a tie prior to today's contest.

The weather here early this afternoon was dark and cloudy, with a heavy fog hanging over the city, but this later started to clear up a little. The stands were crowded and the overflow were standing six deep along the fence in center and right field, yelling themselves hoarse, at the New Yorkers who were on the field batting the ball. The players when going after long flies could hardly be seen because of the fog. The game is being witnessed by a crowd of about 36,000 fans. Tris Speaker, who was reported to have injured his ankle, seemed to be in good shape before the game as he ran around the side lines, tossing the ball around in fine shape.

Just as the game started the fog lifted a little and later the sun came out.

Matty, for the Giants, and Collins and Bedient, of Boston, warmed up before the game, Matty going in the box for New York and Bedient for the Sox.

AUSTRIA ANGERED AT OCCUPATION OF BIELOPOL

Vienna, Oct. 12.—Austrian officialdom was undisguisedly enraged today at the reports of the Montenegrin occupation of Bielopolie in the Sanjak of Novibazar. Austria considers the Sanjak one of its own especial spheres of influence. It is said already to have some troops there and it certainly has a strong force within striking distance. If the Montenegins seem likely to establish themselves in the Sanjak it is a foregone conclusion that an Austrian advance into the territory will follow with every probability of an Austro-Montenegrian clash. This undoubtedly would mean Austro-Russian complications since the Czar is Montenegrio's backer. The situation in Novibazar is only one of the many threatening features of the Balkan difficulty.

Notice to Press Readers— Because of the intense interest in the world's championship baseball games, the city edition of the Daily Press will be held each day during the series until the game is completed. This will make the delivery boys a little later than usual in reaching the homes during the games, but the great demand for this news justifies the delay.

AUSTRIA NOT TO INTERVENE.

Budapest, Oct. 12.—In an effort to allay excitement on the Bourse the Premier of Hungary issued a statement today denying that Austria intends to intervene in the Balkins. The request for supplementary credit he said made in view of the remotest contingencies. There would be no mobilization, he asserted.

EXPECT BERANE'S FALL.

Paris, Oct. 12.—The Montenegrin consul general received a message from Cettinue today saying his countrymen expected to capture the Turkish town of Berane before nightfall. General Kukotich's forces having occupied positions completely surrounding and commanding it.

A class meeting is held every Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Rescue Mission; leader, Mrs. Henry Thomas. All are welcome.

CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT AND WHY

No. 1 in Plainfield Press Public Political Forum Series on Presidential Campaign.

(By Hugh F. Fox).

The open-minded independence and hospitality of your editorial forum invite me to offer some reflections upon the candidates for the Presidecy, and to try to analyze their qualifications.

The office of President is so great, its opportunity for service so noble, and its responsibilities so tremendous, that only a superior man could be nominated for it, and it is bound to bring out the very best that is in him in case of his election. No political party would dare to nominate a venal man, or one whose life and character would not stand the closest scrutiny. We may then take it for granted that Mr. Taft, Mr. Roosevelt, and Mr. Wilson are all men of intellect, and that their character and conduct are above reproach. Mixed as all men's motives are, it is fair to assume that the main motive which impels these three men is one of high patriotism and the desire f[illegible]rvice.

Un[illegible] the business of the vario[illegible]partments has been conducted with more efficiency and economy than ever before, and while there is still room for great improvement, it seems probable that in the years to come the start that he has made towards simplifying and consolidating departmental affairs will be recognized with genuine appreciation. His attitude towards Congress has been perfectly correct, and his vetoes have been based upon sincere conviction rather than political expediency. Mr. Taft's strong sense of justice and his instinctive fairness have led him to support some of his associates to his own disadvantage, even after it had become evident that their usefulness was impaired by public clamor, and that they were a handicap to his administration. One cannot help liking him for his kindliness and unselfishness, but most of the great rulers in this or any other country have had a ruthless quality about them which has enabled them to perform acts of individual cruelty and injustice for political purposes, without the slightest compunction. Mr. Taft is perhaps too tender-hearted to be entirely masterful! From the standpoint of public policy ,however, the most serious criticism that can be directed against him is his attitude in regard to the tariff. There seems to be no doubt that he is a firm believer in the principle of high protection, and that his election will inevitably mean a continuance of this policy. The election of a Republican Congress and a Republican Pres-

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Messrs. Cohan & Harris' tenancy of the Astor Theatre in New York was inaugurated on Monday night. The first attraction under the new management was "The Woman Haters," a Viennese operetta translated from "Die Frauen Fresser" by Leo Stein, author of "The Merry Widow," with music by Edmund Eysler, composer of "The Love Cure," adapted for the American stage by George V. Hobart, the producer being Mr. A. H. Woods. "The Woman Haters" has more than the usual number of elements to commend it, for the story is dainty and prettily told. The comedy is of the genuine sort, and the music of the higher grade, yet joyous and lingering. Miss Sallie Fisher is the heroine of the new Viennese operetta, and she sings an dacts as she has never before. Incidentally, she is most pleasing to look at. A tremendous hit has been scored by Leslie Kenyon in the character of an Englishman with decidedly opposite views from "The Woman Haters." Mr. Kenyon has the faculty of portraying the stage Englishman without unnecessary burlesquing of the character, and his handling of this particular one is simply artistic. "The Woman Haters" is one of the very best comedies that has come from foreign sources, and that it will be a lasting success at the rehabilitated Astor theatre there is not the shadow of a doubt.

"Under Many Flags" at the N. Y. Hippodrome continues its record breaking season. Although the theatrical year is still young the great new spectacular show has already outrun the attendance figures of past seasons and before the Christmas holidays will have outdone all its predecessors in this regard. Among the special features which make for the popularity of "Under Many Flags" may be mentioned the wonderful Holland scene with its splendid animated tulip field; the scene on the Coast of Brittany; the Berlin scene with its students showing actual scenes from life in Germany; the great Scottish scene and gathering of the clans as well as scenes in Russia, Persia, China, England and America. Among the circus features which are introduced incidentally through the various scenes may be mentioned Patrick and Francesco, the Six Brachs, Dippy Diers, assisted by Steve Miaco and the Hippodrome clowns, the Mazetti Troupe and R. C. Carlisle's Wild West Co. The "Flowers of the Nations" ballet is another gorgeous adjunct of this year's splendid show, which also includes a scintillant water finale showing the Silver Palace of Universal Peace and Court of Crystal Fountains.

PENNSY COUNSEL.

New Brunswick, Oct. 12.—Former Senator Theodore Strong has received notification of his appointment as counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in this section of New Jersey, a position held for many years by his brother, Alan H. Strong. The latter was recently made general attorney for the company, and is now located in the general offices of the company at Philadelphia. The position is an important one, inasmuch as it means the defending of the numerous suits which are sure to be brought against so big a railroad corporation as the Pennsylvania.

READY FOR SECOND MACFARLAND TRIAL

"Bunny Letters" Have Been Barred as Evidence by Appeal Court.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 12 (Special).—Both sides are in readiness for the opening on Monday next of the second trial of Allison M. MacFarland, who is charged with the murder of his wife. MacFarland was indicted on October 25, 1911, and his first trial took place in the early part of the present year. The prosecution had little direct evidence in that sensational case and the case hinged practically upon the admission of the "Bunny Letters," a number of affectionate missives which MacFarland had received from Miss Florence Bromley, his former stenographer, and which tended to show that MacFarland was in love with the writer and had expressed the intention of ridding himself of his wife. Notwithstanding the strenuous objections of the defense the letters were admitted as evidence and, after a trial extending over several weeks, MacFarland was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death.

His lawyers appealed to the Court of Errors and Appeals and the latter, after a careful review of the case decided that the lower court had erred in admitting the "Bunny Letters" as evidence and that the Justice presiding at the trial had erred in his instructions to the jury, permitting the jurors to base their judgment upon these letters. The decision of the trial court was reversed and the case remanded for a new trial. The latter was finally set for next Monday.

Allison M. MacFarland was born in Thomaston, Me., about thirty-five years ago and received a fair education, including two years of High School and a course at a commercial school at Rockland, Me. It was at Rockland, in the fall of 1897 that MacFarland met Evelyn Crockett. They became engaged and on October 3, 1900, they were married at the Methodist church in Rockland. For one year or more they continued to live in Rockland, then they removed to Quincy, Mass., where MacFarland obtained a position as foreman in the Fore River Iron Works. One year later they moved to New York, then to Chicago, then to Michigan and finally to Philadelphia. While in Philadelphia MacFarland invented an automobile tire and a company of wealthy men was formed to put the invention in the market. Offices were opened and Miss Florence Bromley was engaged as stenographer.

MacFarland soon became infatuated with his stenographer and his attentions to her caused serious domestic trouble with his wife. Finally she left him and returned to her parents, where she remained two years, devoting herself to the bringing up of her two little children. In the meantime the tire concern failed and MacFarland obtained employment with the Crocker-Wheeler Company, in Newark. In 1911 the marital troubles between MacFarland and his wife were patched up and Mrs. MacFarland with her two children returned to him in the early part of August of that year.

As it appeared later, the relations between MacFarland and his former stenographer had not ceased. They kept up a lively correspondence and frequently met by appointment. On the evening of October 17, 1911, MacFarland went to New York with his son, to take the little boy to one of the theatres. They remained in New York over night and when they reached their home in Newark on the following morning, they found Mrs. MacFarland dead upon her bed, with her little daughter playing near her.

At the investigation by the Coroner it was shown that Mrs. MacFarland had been poisoned by cyanide of potassium, a solution of which drug had been contained in a blue bottle that had formerly contained bromide, which Mrs. MacFarland had been in the habit of taking for her frequent headaches. It was suspected that MacFarland had placed the poison in the bottle with the expectation that his wife would take the poison by mistake, when in need of a headache remedy and when other circumstantial evidence had been found, showing the relations between MacFarland and Miss Bromley and thus establishing a motive, Mac Farland was held to the grand jury. His indictment and trial followed. Among the effects of MacFarland a number of letters were found which Miss Bromley had written to him and his final conviction rested mainly upon their incriminating evidence.

NEW MACFARLAND DEFENSE.

Convicted Slayer at Next Trial Will Say Wife Was Suicide.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 12.—Allison H. MacFarland, whose conviction in this city of wife murder was set aside by the court of errors and whose retrial is to begin next Monday, has announced that his defense will be that his wife committed suicide. That was what was intimated by his counsel at the former trial, but MacFarland did not take the stand to tell why his wife had probably ended her life. This time he will testify in his own behalf.

MacFarland will give as a reason for his wife's suicide that she found some of the "Bunny" letters that had been written to him by Florence Bromley of Philadelphia, with whom he was infatuated, and that she had also learned many of their household effects, which she believed were in storage, had been disposed of by him

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"The Real Thing" is the alluring title of the play Henrietta Crosman will bring to the Plainfield theatre, Thursday night, October 17. This play has been a remarkable success and has been praised universally wherever it has appeared. It had three successful months at the Maxine Elliott theatre in New York and comes here with identically the same cast of players. "The Real Thing" is popular in theme, more so than any other play Miss Crosman has ever produced, and appeals to everyone who has, or expects to have a home. Included in its perfect cast are two children who the audience will want to take to their arms immediately. Both are genuine artists and besides are the dearest, best behaved stage children it has ever been our fortune to meet. Miss Crosman has not been seen here for some time and her reappearance is most welcome. She is unquestionably the representative American comedienne and it is a pleasure to be able to announce her engagement in this city.

At the Plainfield theatre, Monday, October 14, should mark a red letter event in the history of local theatricals for the reason that "The Common Law," the play to be offered by Manager A. H. Woods, has been a long anticipated pleasure on the part of our lovers of real dramtic offerings. "The Common Law," as may well be surmised, is a dramatization of, or more properly said, an adaptation from Robert W. Chambers' Phenomenally successful book of fiction, a story which is unsurpassed in point of sensational interest while furnishing many new thoughts upon the marriage problem. It is withall a story so humane and so refreshing from the conventional kind that it is small wonder that so many readers have given it serious consideration above the usual class of fiction to which this work belongs. Manager Woods has taken no little pains in presenting "The Common Law" as a production well in touch with the progressive ideas entertained by the average theatregoer.

"DAUGHTER OF HEAVEN."

New York, Oct. 12 (Special).—The initial performance of "The Daughter of Heaven," the Chinese play by Pierre Loti and Judith Gautier, was given before an audience that completely filled the Century theatre this afternoon. Pierre Loti, one of the authors of the play, attended the performance.

J., will be received by the Building Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, State of New Jersey, at the courthouse in Elizabeth, N. J., between 2:00 and 2:30 p. m., October 14, 1912.

Plans and specifications for the work may be examined at the offices of the architect or engineer, or may be procured at either office upon deposit of certified check in the sum of $25.00, made payable to John N. CONCERNING PAINT

If you ought to have painted your house last year and waited for paint to come down, how much do you think you made?

You'll buy an extra gallon this year. But the worst mistake in painting is not putting off.

That costs about 10 per cent.; you keep your money a year and pay 10 per cent. for it.

The worst mistake is "Cheap" Paint which has to be made of "cheap" materials.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, OCTOBER 12, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Rev. William S. McCoy, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, is the contributing editor for today.

THE CO-OPERATION OF PARENTS WITH CHURCH AND SCHOOL.

The courtesy of an invitation to write an "editorial" for the Daily Press is one which I very much appreciate. The editor of a large city daily once said to a clergyman friend of mine: "I should think you would get discouraged speaking to a limited number of people each Sunday. My audience is much larger. I can speak to many thousands each day." My friend disclaimed any discouragement at the outlook, but he did express a lingering sense of covetousness at the size of the newspaper man's congregation.

It makes the responsibility in both instances very heavy. The newspaper has its large field, and many get their impressions, yes, their opinions from the newspapers. Especially is this true with the immigrant. He reads the newspaper in his own language at first, Hebrew, Italian, Greek, in this cosmopolitan country of ours he can get anything of this kind he wishes, and gradually he reads the English paper. This paper is going to make or unmake him as a citizen. So the responsibility here is great.

Every material moral and spiritual force ought to be aimed at this, the making of good citizens. The newly arrived immigrant is in certain senses a child. He has grown up and his powers, it may be large, have developed under his particular environment. But he comes into a new world, and he must become accustomed to a new language, new ways, a new form of government. He must learn. But how?

The political club is in most instances his only school. He may not be fortunate in keeping the work he had when he arrived. Then he falls in with men who tell him that our government is not for the people and by the people, but of the rich and powerful against the poor. His education was not started right.

Our children need to be trained for good citizenship. Church, school and home should work in heartiest concord in this effort. The church teaches that Christian citizenship involves a proper respect for the properly constituted authorities. The church teaches order and system. It shows a God Who rules the world through His laws, which are laws of exactitude. He wants order in the world. Jesus taught that the civil authority should be obeyed. He spoke of higher, divine laws that are superior to those of man. He never preached revolution, although He saw that terrible times were impending for the Jews. Our children need to be taught the sacredness of governmental authority.

The schools help very much. They teach respect for the flag, and the children learn to sing patriotic songs. These are quite abstract propositions, unless they are focussed on things right at home. The children need to know what it means to vote, and what a despicable thing it is to part with one's honor by selling or buying a vote. They need to be taught respect for the officers of government, and they need to have their attention fixed upon the ways that a boy and a girl can help in seeing that the city or the borough is well governed. And when they grow up they will be back of every effort for improvement.

The very worst trouble is in the home. A large proportion of our children are getting nothing but flippant disregard for discipline and authority of every kind and description. This is a serious charge to make. Our children are over-indulged. They have things that children ought not to have, such as too much spending money, too much overindulgence in luxuries of life, very little of the idealism that should be made a part of every little life. Too many have absolutely no chance in the world to be real children. They are grown to maturity and are thrust forth too early by careless parents to be wrecked upon the troubled sea of life.

Church, school, home, all must co-operate in invigorating the moral sense of the child. As I see it our nation is not rapidly upon the up-grade at the present moment. The American people have no assurance of a continuity of existence as a people, that is, as a masterful people. Witness the history of Babylonia, of Greece, of Rome. Strong, manly men, and virtuous women alone will preserve us among the nations of the earth. Unless we strive hard and ever for the strength of character of our young people we might as well acknowledge ultimate defeat as a nation. But if we are going to club our energies together, if the parents will say that they are ready to throw their weight in the balance to help along, the tide will be turned. These days which are so ominous will be filled with hope, because our bulwarks will be strong.

My conviction is also certain that the children need sadly sound religious instruction. I do not even say church instruction, although they should get their instruction through the church. The church acts as a window to let in the light to God's holy temple. They need to know what the Twenty-third Psalm and the Sermon on the Mount mean, and how they affect their lives. Children are confused and disturbed when they discover one church organization arrayed against another. They understand when they are told that men worship the one Heavenly Father and the one Christ in a multitude of ways, and that if they worship in sincerity and truth they are accepted of Him. But they do not understand if they are told that there is only one way to worship, and that their playmates who worship according to another form are all wrong.

I think that the children should be told why it is that religion cannot be taught in the public schools, that is, formal religion. But the Bible should never be banished from its rightful place as the Supreme Book. It ought to be held up as the rule of life, in the school, in the home, everywhere. Rightly read, that is devotionally and not critically, it is the solvent of the ills of life. Prejudice against it upon the part of outsiders should not ostracize the Bible from the schools, while acclaiming moderns like Robert Louis Stevenson and Rudyard Kipling.

Parents teach their children more by example than by precept. Religion in the home is quite largely a matter of silent influence. But a "word fitly spoken" is sure to work in a wonderful way. It just simply clinches the argument for the church and it strengthens the moral, educational and disciplinary work of the school. It changes the parental influence from a failure into a splendid success. And it makes the home complete.

TRANSFORMATION OF AN OLD FARM

Busy Hum of Huge Asbestos Plant to Replace Rural Quiet.

AN ARMY OF LABORERS

Building Boom in Full Blast in the Vicinity of the Johns Manville Factories at Finderne—Farms Become "Lots."

From a quiet country farm scene to the busy hum of the largest manufacturing plant in New Jersey, will be the change effected in the old Groendyke homestead, Finderne, when the sixteen large factories of the H. W. Johns-Manville Company are complete January 1, 1913. What was once the grazing place for a few cattle, will be changed into the site of an industrial plant of which few municipalities can boast, and as a result of the thousands of people to be employed behind the miles of brick wall, houses are springing up in every direction. Realty companies have large forces of men converting once useless fields into desirable building property.

The sixteen separate factories which will form the works will be of fireproof construction, the frame work being of iron and the walls of brick. The largest of the buildings will be 1,000x150 feet, and the smallest 150 feet square.

The main construction work is being done by the J. W. Ferguson Company, of Paterson, and the American Bridge Company has the contract for the iron and steel work. The buildings are being rushed to completion as rapidly as modern engineering and workmanship can manipulate, all of the modern building appliances being brought into operation.

An army of nearly a thousand mechanics and laborers are engaged in the work, ably superintended by Homer Van Kirk, of the Ferguson Company, with H. D. Wedum as chief engineer. In addition to the above workman, Louis May, building expert of the Johns-Manville Company, who is general superintendent of construction, has a force of several hundred men assisting in the work.

The site of the plant is in direct connection with the Lehigh Valley Railroad and situated closely to the tracks of the Philadelphia and Reading and the Baltimore and Ohio lines. In addition to these railroad facilities, a branch line will be erected from the main line of the Central Railroad at Finderne, to the plant. This will necessitate the building of a bridge over the Raritan River. The spur will bring the plant in close connection with the borough of Somerville, where it is thought many of the employes will make their homes. Besides the improvements mentioned the Board of Freeholders, it is expected, will have the roads leading to the plant widened and improved. Everything will be done to make the transportation of the asbestos products direct and swift.

The power for the entire plant will be electricity, which will be generated by three batteries of Babcock boilers and two electric turbines situated in the boiler house in the course of construction. A canal will be dug to furnish water power direct from the Raritan River, which will be tapped a few hundred feet west of the old Groendyke house.

When completed the monster plant will furnish ample room for the employment of six thousand people, if necessary, but at the time of opening, it is thought only one-half of this number will be placed in positions. The railroads are now making train schedules to accommodate the workmen, to and from the nearby towns, where they will make their homes.

As a result of the establishment of this new seat of industry, a building boom, the extensiveness of which is seldom heard of except in the stories of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," or the like, is now gaining large proportions, and is not confined to local realty operators. Many out-of-town builders and speculators have rushed to the vicinity of the factories, buying land and erecting houses and property has greatly increased in value all along the line. In East Somerville the Somerville Realty Company is now removing the ancient Ross Mansion from its five-acre tract, converting the land into building lots, and erecting a house, here and there. Large tracts of open fields have been surveyed and proposed streets laid out, among these being the Van Derveer property.

The Bound Brook Realty Company has already begun the construction of several dwellings in their site known as Manville Park, at Finderne, and the John C. Shaw estate are having plans drawn for a score of dwellings to be built on their land. Farmers are turning their land into building lots, and one enterprising tiller of the soil has converted his living room into a restaurant and is doing a thriving business.

TO DEDICATE NEW ORGAN AT MONROE

Special Service Tomorrow Night, With the District Sup't in Charge.

Special services have been arranged for tomorrow at the Monroe Avenue Methodist Episcopal church on the ocasion of the new pipe organ, installation of which was completed yesterday. Through delay in installation it was necessary to postpone the dedication services for two weeks.

Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the church, will have charge of the service tomorrow morning and Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, the district superintendent, will be present at the dedication service in the evening. John W. Daub, recently made precentor, will lead a large male chorus, which will sing special selections and anthems for the occasion.

The organ is known as the New Moller Pipe Organ, has a case of solid quartered oak, the front pipes are decorated in gold and colors. A kinetic electric blower is used to supply an ample wind pressure. The specifications of it are as follows: Great organ—1 open diapason—61 pipes; 2 dulciana—61 pipes; 3 principal—61 pipes; 4 melodia—49 pipes;; swell organ—5 stopped diapason—61 pipes; 6 gamba—61 pipes; 7 flute harmonic—61 pipes; 8 vox celeste—49 pipes; pedal organ—9 bourdon—30 pipes; couplers (operated by tablets above keyboard)—10 swell to great; 11 swell to great 4; 12 swell to pedal; 13 great to pedal; 14 tremulant, crescendo pedal and swell pedal.

Mrs. Russell Dorr, of Albert street, will be the first person to preside at the organ.

The rally day exercises of the Sunday school will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock under the supervision of Walter M. McGee, superintendent of the school. Special services have been arranged in honor of the day.

The church cervices will start one half-hour earlier tomorrow morning and evening than they usually do on account of the quantity of time needed to cover the services completely. Everybody is cordially invited to attend all the services throughout the day.

LENIENT COMPLAINANT.

Gifford Jones, 20 years old, of 119 Park avenue, pleaded guilty before City Judge De Meza this morning to a charge of embezzling, preferred by his employer William L. Smalley, a butcher at Park avenue and East Fourth street. He is accused of stealing $9.96, the money being several amounts which he had collected on orders. After Mr. Smalley had signified his intention not to press the charge, the youth was discharged in the custody of the complainant, to appear before the Probation officer Thursday night.

THE FORUM.

NON-PARTISAN FREEHOLDERS.

Editors Plainfield Daily Press:

Your editorial in the issue of yesterday, explaining why you are urging Plainfield voters without respect to party to vote for Hughes and McCann for freeholders moves me to ask why nominations for these offices should not be non-partisan. As you say the Board of Freeholders has charge of the county moneys and affairs; their duties are entirely non-partisan and should be so executed. A candidate's attitude toward the policies of the national parties cannot affect his attitude in county matters. There can be no question of the correctness of your position that Plainfield should have representation on the board. I think the small board is a mistake, as it makes impossible the direct representation of all the divisions of the county. Such sectional representation is as desirable in the county as it is in the State Legislature, for it is not to be expected that freeholders should have exact knowledge of conditions or needs in parts of the county where they do not reside. In this connection it seems to me that it will be well to agitate for an amendment of the law so as to provide that no one unit of a county, i. e., city, borough or township shall have at any one time more than two members of the board. Such an amendment would make it impossible for Elizabeth to secure such a disproportionate membership as she will this year in case of the success of the Republican candidates. While we are on this subject I would also ask why we should not make the City Council non-partisan? And why should we go to the expense of electing a city treasurer and a receiver of taxes? These latter positions are purely clerical—the occupants can have no policy other than to faithfully peform the duties entrusted to them. Under the old regime of boss or machine controlled conventions the leaders welcomed these minor positions as enabling them to reward workers at the expense of the public, and so had them made elective. But now, under the blessings of the Geran act, when the malevolent boss is supposed to be a thing of the past, and candidates are presented by the petitions of intelligent voters, there can be no reason for rewarding workers—and, be it noted, the successful contestants at the primaries are not always those who have labored most assiduously for the party. Let us make our elections as simple as possible, and separate local public business from nation and State politics.

Strength
The Sphinx and the pyramids typify strength and endurance. The new Bamberger store, which opens its doors to the public next Wednesday morning, typifies strength and endurance not alone in a literal sense, but also in a bigger and broader conception of the words. It is not the depth of the caissons of the new store or the thickness of its walls that make it a strong store. It is the underlying idea—the great Bamberger idea—that counts. It is what the store stands for and not the actual building itself. The new Bamberger building, as a building, is strong—beautiful—enduring. It will stand the scourge of centuries—it will proudly raise its snowy heights to Heaven long after this generation and the next and the next has disappeared. The great "White Store" to which we shall bid you a cordial welcome next Wednesday is a monument to the minds of those who created it—a lasting tribute to the buying public that made the great work possible.

RECITAL AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH TOMORROW NIGHT

The program for the recital at the Church of the Holy Cross tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock is as follows: Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, J. S. Bach; Barcarolle, Stemdale Bennett; Solo, "The Lost Chord," Sullivan; (a) The Question, (b) The Answer, Wolstenholme; Meditation, D'Evry. The soloist, W. G. Smith, is the bass soloist of the choir.

Charles Davis, the organist and choirmaster, was a pupil of Dr. Stainer, the organist at St. Paul's, London, who is noted as the composer of some famous church music. He also studied under Dr. Warrick Jordan, the founder of the Gregorian Association, which has been instrumental in raising the standard of our church music. Mr. Davis has had a long experience not only as an organist and choirmaster, but also as the leader of large choruses in such oratorios as "The Messiah," "Elijah," etc. His playing not only stamps him as a musician of more than ordinary ability, but also reveals the possibilities and the rich full tones of the new Kimball organ.

The recitals will be continued throughout the winter.

CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT

ident carries with it, as a logical sequence, the perpetuation of this policy.

Mr. Roosevelt is a born leader, and has the faculty of dramatizing his views in such a way as to appeal to the imagination of the people. He has done more than any other man in public life today to interpret government in terms of human life and social justice. But his personal attitude seems to be that of a dictator rather than the president of a democracy, and he has little reverence for the fabric of our institutions. A man without a restraining sense of the principles which determine the lines and limitations of the legislative, the executive and the judicial arms of the government, is prone to act on impulse, to take short cuts and to establish prececents (from a perfectly good motive) that may produce most mischievous results in the future. Mr. Roosevelt has the genius of the politician rather than the statesman, but he is not a political economist, and his mind seems to be incapable of grasping the greatest economic problems of our time, which relate themselves to the tariff and the currency question.

Mr. Woodrow Wilson is the only one of the three candidates who is discussing the tariff at all adequately. His statements are clear and illuminating, and his political speeches are not only marked by great earnestness and sincerity, but they have a background of wide knowledge and understanding. His wonderful power of political expression is not merely due to his facility of speech, but is coupled with a profound philosophy of popular government, and its functions, which enables him to speak with the confidence of one who is absolutely sure of his position. He has made it clear to the mass of the people that the tariff is a matter of individual concern, and that high protection is the Mother of all the Trusts, and brings in its train combinations in restraint of trade which no legislative panacea can cure. On the currency question, Mr. Wilson has an open mind, but he is frank enough to say that he has not studied it yet. His keen preception can, however, be relied upon to deal with it clearly and comprehensively when it becomes necessary for him to take the matter up.

The Presidential election offers a free educational course in government to the people of the United States, and Mr. Wilson is taking the fullest advantage of it to present the views of his party so plainly and clearly that all who read may understand.

The Carriage—A Vital Part of the Wonderful Burroughs Visible

Don't be misled by generalities in adding machine advertising or selling. Get specific facts and comparisons on specific points.

Particularly notice the carriage construction, for the carriage makes or mars adding machine convenience and visibility.

The carriage of the Burroughs Visible is so arranged that it gives greater visibility of printing with less effort by operator than any other adding machine in the world.

It brings the printing point at just the proper distance from the eye and at the proper angle.

It is the only adding machine that gives the same convenience of seeing all work at a glance as the most approved visible typewriter.

In the Burroughs Visible carriage every lever and key is arranged for easy and direct manipulation. The carriage is only three inches from the keyboard—no stretching nor shifting necessary.

The paper drops into place in the carriage automatically—like a typewriter. A twirl of the platen knob and you are ready for work!

The carriage leaves the whole sheet exposed to view; no danger of coming to end of paper roll without knowing it. Construction permits interchangeability from 12½" to 20" carriage and vice versa.

Automatically adjusts itself to any thickness of paper without interfering with uniformity of feed. A unique friction-stop locks carriage in any position. The bell counts items listed, warns the operator when end of sheet is neared, and locks the carriage so headings are uniform.

These are exclusively Burroughs points.

Remember that Burroughs Visible machines are built in the Burroughs factory, of the same material, with the same wonderful machine tools, and by the same workmen who have built a reputation for lifetime service into other Burroughs machines.

The Burroughs factory is not a new one, built just to make this one type of machine. It has been running 20 years and even the first adding machines turned out are still in use.

The Burroughs reputation and prestige are being built into every one of these machines and every word of the Burroughs guarantee and of the Burroughs Service pledge goes with it.

Not merely Points of Merit—but Points of Superiority

KNIGHTS PRESENT BONNIE BURN FLAG

Knights of Columbus March Through City on Way to Sanitarium.

ACCEPTED BY MARTINE

Senator Receives Flag on Behalf of the County—Watchung Council Holds Big Banquet Tonight—Oratory and Music.

Impressive services witnessed by a throng of several thousand people, marked the presentation of the large American flag to the Bonnie Burn Sanitarium this afternoon by Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, which was a part of the program of celebration arranged by the knights to observe Columbus Day. Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne, State deputy of the Knights of Columbus, made the presentation, and the beautiful gift was acepted on behalf of Union county, by United States Senator James E. Martine.

Headed by a quota of police from the local force, and two brass bands, the knights and their friends left the club rooms shortly before 2 o'clock. The line of march continued down Front street, ending at Richmond and East Second streets, where special trolleys were taken for Scotch Plains. Houses all along the line were decorated with American flags, and red, white and blue bunting.

Including among the marchers, and those who attended the presentation were:

Delegates of knights from Newark, Bayonne, Elizabeth, Cranford and Westfield; Prof. James C. Monaghan, official lecturer of the Knights of Columbus, of Bayonne; Fire Chief Doane, and Police Chief Kiely, and numerous officers of the knights from all parts of New Jersey.

Following the presentation of the flag, which was the principal feature of the dedication of Bonnie Burn, other exercises followed. Judge William N. Runyon spoke on the philanthropic work of the sanitarium, and recited in brief its history.

Tonight the annual banquet of the lodge will be held at 7 o'clock in Hotel Waldrof, which has been profusely decorated with portraits of the Discoverer of America and numerous red, white and blue banners. The elaborate cuisine will be prepared for 250 covers.

George J. Tobin will be the toastmaster and the speakers will be Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church; United States Senator James E. Martine, former City Judge William N. Runyon and former State Senator Charles A. Reed, of this city; Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne, and Prof. Monaghan, of Bayonne. There will also be a program of music to enliven the occasion.

The committeemen for the afternoon affair were George J. Tobin, chairman; Calvin E. Brodhead and Francis J. Blatz, and the committee in charge of the banquet comprises H. P. Greenwood, chairman; Thomas J. Meaney, Charles L. Kling, George J. Tobin, Calvin E. Brodhead, Francis J. Blatz and Joseph F. O'Keefe.

ROSE IMPLICATES BECKER AS PARTNER IN GRAFT

New York, Oct. 12.—Jack Rose was the first witness to take the stand in the Becker case this morning. He was sworn last night and took the stand this morning. His usually pale face was now blanched and his knees trembled as he settled back into his chair. It was plain that he realized his position.

After giving his name and age Whitman asked his occupation and Rose answered "a Gambler."

"What business relations had you with Charles Becker?"

He answered that he collected money for him. Rose then described his first meeting with Becker in August, 1911. Further on he told how Rosenthal and Becker met for the first time at the Elks' Club. He then told of the dinner at Rosenthal's house.

Rose told about Becker and Rosenthal going into business together and described in detail how Becker advanced $1,500 to Rosenthal and the raids that followed on Rosenthal's gambling house. Rose testified that when the Rosenthal raid came off that he, Rose, was in a nearby restaurant. He said that he met Becker the next day and Becker told him that he met Rosenthal at the Union Square Hotel after the raid and Rosenthal said: "That was a pretty raw deal you gave me," and that Becker replied: "Herman I had to do it. If I did not raid you Costigan would have done it and it would mean my job if Costigan beat me to it."

HEAVY COAL THEFTS.

Three Poles, said by the Central Railroad police to be members of a group of foreigners who have been making regular raids on coal trains, stealing on an average of half a carload a day, were arrested this afternoon by Central detectives. They will be arraigned before City Judge DeMeza Monday.

DECLARES BECKER ORDERED MURDER

Witness Tells of Conversation In Turkish Bath.

BECKER THREATENED ROSE

Witness Causes Sensation by Swearing That He Heard Becker Say, "If That —— Rosenthal Is Not Croaked I Will Croak Him Myself."

New York, Oct. 12.—Morris Luban, who was regarded as a witness for the defense, caused a sensation in the Becker trial by swearing that he heard Becker in the steam room of the Lafayette baths, two or three weeks before the murder, upbraiding Rose and threatening to kill Rosenthal with his own hands.

"I know it's the last of me," whispered Luban to a court attendant who had observed his trembling and his fright, but there was no tremor in his voice when he looked steadily at Lieutenant Becker a few minutes later and testified:

"Mr. Becker said, 'If that — Rosenthal is not croaked I will croak him myself.'"

Bad Day For Defense.

It was the most telling feature of a day that had gone steadily against the defense. The first witness, Thomas Ryan, a chauffeur, had blanched under the vicious looks shot at him by the gunmen at the bar and had said in a voice barely audible that he couldn't identify them. Giovanni Stanich, an Austrian, of good birth, cultivated manners and keen intelligence, had not been terrified by the black looks of the gunmen.

He had looked full in the face of "Whitey Lewis" (Frank Muller) and named "Whitey" as one of the four whom he saw shoot Rosenthal to death. And then came Luban, fearful and shrinking at first, but gaining courage as he went along and not only identified all four of the gunmen and Shapiro, the chauffeur, but delivered the testimony connecting Becker with the murder.

When he walked to the bar of the court and stretched out his hand toward the gunmen their voices suddenly shattered the dead quiet of the courtroom. They railed against him. They mouthed and mumbled. The voice of "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg rose to a screech. He was protesting against the method of identification. And when Luban had named them one by one, all save "Dago Frank" Cirofici, whose name he didn't know, but whose appearance gave him no doubts, the retainers of the late Jack Zelig had lost a measure of the defiance and contemptuousness that has marked them. As for Becker, the sweat was streaming down his face. He seemed to have aged.

Recovering from the shock of Luban's direct and powerful and wholly unexpected testimony against Lieutenant Becker, John F. McIntyre toiled for hours to destroy its effect. He labored to discredit the witness. He sought to bring out that Luban was a forger, a gambler, a ne'er-do-well who had bargained with the defense before turning to the district attorney. Over and over again the lawyer drove Luban over the trail of his story of the Lafayette baths meeting between Becker and Rose and the story of the murder itself. It was all to no purpose. True or false, Luban's testimony could not be broken down.

Shock to Becker's Lawyers.

There could hardly have been a more sensational episode of a great murder trial than the appearance of a witness who told a story directly opposite to what the defense expected he would tell. Luban and his brother Jacob had been since Aug. 12 in the Essex county jail in Newark. They were charged with being members of a gang of forgers. Mr. McIntyre had received letters from one of the Lubans saying that the charges against Becker were a frame-up. And then Mr. Whitman produced in court one of the brothers whose story was a shock to the defense.

Only the long drawn out cross examination of Morris Luban prevented Jack Rose, possibly the most important witness against Becker, from being a witness. Rose was called to the witness chair and sworn, but when Justice Goff was informed by counsel that two hours at least would be required for the direct examination and three hours or more for the cross examination he put off the questioning of Rose until today.

AID FOR BRITISH WORKERS.

Independent Labor Party Meets to Force Reforms.

London, Oct. 12.—To devise means of forcing parliament to devote all of its next session to measures to raise the standard of life for working people, a national conference of members of the Independent Labor party and the Fabian society held a meeting.

A minimum wage, shorter working hours, complete insurance against sickness, prevention of unemployment and healthful homes for the laboring classes are among the demands.

Ramsay MacDonald, George Lansbury and other members of parliament, including Keir Hardie, now in America, are pushing the movement.

CHAUFFEUR BAILED.

Benjamin Urquhart, colored, chauffeur for George A. Bowman, of 815 Hillside avenue, whose automobile ran into Fred S. Johansen, Wednesday, was released yesterday under bonds of $300, furnished by his employer. The victim of the accident is still unconscious, and the physicians have little hope for his recovery. Urquhart is charged with assault and battery.

Louis Weiss, of Somerset street, is visiting his wife's mother, Mrs. Mann, at Kingston, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dreier, of West Front street, are parents of a boy born to them yesterday.

DRUM MOVES YOUNG MEN TO ONWARD STEP

More Than Half His Audience Rise on Invitation at Y. M. C. A.

At the close of last night's meeting in Y. M. C. A. Hall, addressed by Charles R. Drum, General Secretary Parker said that the day had been the greatest in religious work achievement in his experience in Plainfield. The meeting came as the climax to a series of six addresses given by Mr. Drum during the day. Beginning with an address to the pupils of North Plainfield High School, which was also heard by the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of Somerset School, he spoke to the students of the Plainfield Business College, to the students of the Business Training Institute, to the employes of the Saurer Motor Truck Company at the noon hour, to a group of older boys in the Y. M. C. A. and to an audience of over 300 young men between 16 and 30 years of age in Y. M. C. A. Hall in the evening. Everywhere, Mr. Drum's message was received with marked appreciation.

Mr. Drum's topic at the evening meeting was "What About the Girl?" He said that misconceptions as to the dignity and nobility of sex interferes with religious life and activity. Parents are much at fault in their failure to properly instruct the growing youth. Sex, he said, is a God-given instinct for high and holy purposes.

Violations of the laws of God relating to sex receive severe punishment, continued the speaker. The innocent suffer with the guilty. Mr. Drum made a strong appeal to the highest motives for living a pure and clean life. It was a powerful plea for the practical application of the Golden Rule in all social relations.

The three great causes of impurity cited were the drink evil, impure speech and lack of the consciousness of God. Mr. Drum quoted a great judge as having said, "The increase of crime is due to the lack of a consciousness of God." Following this, Mr. Drum made an appeal based upon the necessity of real, vital religion as a safeguard in the hour of temptation.

More than half the large audience of young men rose upon invitation, expressing the purpose to take a forward step. A large number expressed a desire to begin the Christian life, many to join the church, others to give up some sin, protect innocent womanhood and girlhood, and go into Bible study classes. Men were also pledged to do some definite Christian work in addition to work already assumed.

Tomorrow afternoon in the Plainfield theatre, Mr. Drum will give his most famous lecture on "An Honest Man," at 4 o'clock. This will close the series of twelve addresses. The great Convention Choir of two hundred voices has been carefully drilled for the occasion and will render many of the fine selections sung at the Sunday-school convention last year.

CHANTICLER PARADE BEFORE THE SHOW

Poultry Enthusiasts Will Use Novel Means to Advertise Their Exhibition.

Members of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement are making extensive arrangements for their first annual poultry show, to be held November 25-30 in Sebring's auditorium. Fanciers of this section are showing a decided interest in the enterprise, and it is predicted that the local exhibition will compare favorably with the shows of interstate fame, held yearly at the Trenton and Allentown Fairs.

Several days before the affair, a large automobile parade, with the occupants dressed in Chantecler style, will be held.

The success of the exhibit is already assured, local business houses having come forward with liberal offers of prizes to be awarded the winners in the various classes. Among those received to date are twenty-one silver and gold cups valued from $5 to $75; 150 medals and ribbons, donated by private citizens and members of the association; the Philadelphia Record has provided five bronze medals and several incubators and hydrometers, and numerous poultry supply houses, department stores, jewelry shops, newspapers and weekly journals, have signified their intention of donating their share of prizes.

Among the successful poultry raisers and prize winners who have sent their entries in to Secretary J. H. Kimball, of Westfield, are:

Clark & Nestier, of Scotch Plains, with White Orpingtons; J. Tavener, of Westfield, White Rock class; D. Whitney, of Westfield, buff and White Orpingtons; Cape and Tharp, of Dunellen, Rhode Island Reds, and Rufus Delafield, of South Plainfield, will exhibit his blue-winners in the buff and white Orpington class. All of the fanciers mentioned have won places at several shows, and will furnish a stimulous for Plainfield breeders to groom their pets to the height of perfection.

The Sabbath school and morning preaching service will be merged into one at the Netherwood Reformed church tomorrow morning as a rally day service. The service will be held at 10:30 o'clock. Christian Endeavor meeting will be at 7:00, and evening preaching service at 7:45. Topic of sermon will be "Pilate's Decision."

ITALIAN FLEET NOW THREATENS COSTANTINOPLE

Paris, Oct. 12.—Diplomats were appalled today by reports that peace negotiations have been broken off between Turkey and Italy and that an Italian fleet is on its way to attempt the passage of the Dardanelles. The strait is heavily mined and strongly fortified but it is recognized that the Italian vessels might nevertheless break through and once within them, they would have Constantinople at their mercy. A descent on European Turkey is just what the powers have been trying to prevent ever since the Turko-Italian war broke out on account of the danger of international complications which would have attended it. Now, however, the situation is worse than ever with an Italian fleet in the Sea of Marmora and Italian troops probably landing on the Turkish coast, the last hope of checking a simultaneous invasion of the Sultan's dominions by all the Balkan nations would be gone.

INFORMAL DANCE.

Miss Dorothy Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming, of Park avenue, gave an informal dance at her home, last evening, for her sister, Mrs. F. L. Curtis, of Wilmington, Del., who is visiting here with Mr. Curtis. There were fifty guests, including several from out of the city. The affair was marked by many pleasing features.

CORBIN RESOLUTIONS.

Frank Bergen, Foster M. Voorhees and George T. Parrot, the committee appointed by the Bar Association of Union County, to prepare resolutions upon the death of the late William H. Corbin, expect to present such resolutions at the opening of the Circuit Court on Monday next, at 10 a. m.

BOARD THINKING OVER SCHOOL APPROPRIATION

No Action Last Night Following Submission of $300,000 H. S. Resolution.

The Board of School Estimate at a special meeting last night received resolutions recommended by the Board of Education providing for a total appropriation of $300,000 instead of $40,000 for the proposed addition and improvements to the High School. No vote was taken, neither was any recommendation made by the board, it being the desire of the members to have more time to think the matter over. An adjournment was taken to Friday night, October 18.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy, chairman, and Councilmen C. C. Randolph and F. E. Mygatt, who represent the city on the board, were not prepared to vote to pass the resolution, believing that it was not fair to vote to expend so much money without further consideration. The other members of the board present were James F. Buckle, J. Herbert Case and Dr. B. VanD. Hedges. William S. Tyler could not attend owing to illness.

The original plans called for a six-room extension, while the latest plans provide for twenty-four additional class rooms, as well as many other improvements. The board spent an hour or more going over the plans, inquiring into the important details so that with another week's consideration the members will be able to pass upon the resolutions in an intelligent manner.

Rev. J. H. Weeks, of Provincetown, Mass., a candidate for the pulpit, will preach at All Souls' church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. Sunday school will be held immediately after the church service at 11:50 o'clock.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

WOOD AGAIN TOO MUCH FOR GIANTS

Red Sox Twirler Unhittable at Critical Stages.

WAGNER A HOST IN INFIELD

His Sensational Fielding Nips Several Rallies of Giants—Although Red Sox Are Outbatted They Win, 3 to 1. Tesreau Relieved in Seventh.

New York, Oct. 12.—In another stubborn battle on the Polo grounds, the fourth in the world's series, the Red Sox beat the Giants 3 to 1. The Red Sox were ahead all the way.

The Giants, however, gave stern chase. Held back for five innings by the Joe Wood formula of smoke and curves, all the more effective on the dark day, they never lost heart, and in the sixth and seventh innings they threatened a successful climbing of the Red hope's frame. The Giants grouped five of nine hits in the sixth and seventh innings, but the Boston genius of the knoll, backed by sharp support, was too effective for the uncensing New York efforts to reach the desired consummation.

The Giants did just what they did the first time they encountered Wood. They made more hits than the Boston's gathered off the New York pitching. Nevertheless the Missourian magician tried them sorely. He altered his system somewhat from the first game. He did more curving, he crooked the ball over the plate oftener than he applied straight speed.

Tesreau Pitches Fine Game

Tesreau was cleanly and smartly supported. He held the Red Sox to five scattered hits, scattering one at a time through the first five innings. Two of the hits were timely. A wild pitch followed a three bagger and gave the Boston's one run; a base on balls and a hit figured in the other. Had Meyers intercepted a steal one of the two runs wouldn't have been made, but Jeff was mostly to blame for both. When he had retired for a pinch hitter, Ames came in and base on balls off Ames also was associated with a run.

Big Jeff was getting better and better when he stepped aside. His control was better, the Boston players were falling before him fast. The single error each side made had no bearing on the scoring. A wild throw by Meyers and a fumbled grounder by Wagner were the only miskplays. Before he made that fumble Wagner had absorbed everything. That left hand of his shot out like fire and pinioned ground balls in the fifth and eighth innings which, had they gone clear, would have put his team in serious predicaments. Fletcher's capital playing at short and a wonderful one handed catch while in the air by Murray also embellished the defensive department.

Wood helped win his own game with a hit. His battery mate, Cady, also towed home a run with a single. The heavy artillery on the Boston side, however, manifested itself in the person of Larry Gardner. A triple and a single by Gardner rang the knell of defeat for the Giants. Fletcher not not only capered nimbly in the field, but made the hit which sent in New York's only run. The man he scored was Herzog.

Bedient and Crandall Likely.

When J. Garland Stahl squeezed Fletcher's fly in the ninth inning and ended the game the general question was, "Who will pitch in today's game in Boston?"

To get a line on this information President McAleer of the Red Sox was waylaid as he left the Polo grounds, and when asked who his selection would be he quickly replied:

"Hugh Bedient is the man. He has been saved and he is in fine trim. Bedient in my opinion will beat the Giants down. By the way, can you tell me?" addressing his questioner, "who is going to pitch for the Giants at Fenway park tomorrow?"

A reply to McAleer's query was impossible just at that moment. In fact some of the Giants were wondering who would be called upon by McGraw to face the Red Sox. Followers of the Giants who are on the inside seemed to think Crandall would be started this afternoon.

P. H. S. GAME OFF.

Manager Janke, of the High School football team, received word from the High School Commerce manager this morning cancelling the game to be played in New York this afternoon.

BUNTS AND PUNTS

Holan, a former Dartmouth halfback, is at Lehigh and expects to make the varsity eleven.

The Directoire of the Navy squad are trying to form a rush line that average 190 pounds from end to end.

Pennsy thinks she has found another Stevenson in Craig, the quarterback on last year's freshman team.

With Vaughan, Boucisier and Shevlin doing the coaching the Yale ends ought to be well taken care of.

Some of the football critics declare that the Princeton Tigers' attack is built too much around Pendleton.

Foster Rockwell, the former Eli star, is expected at New Haven soon to help coach the Eli quarterbacks.

Captain Jim Thorpe, of the Carlisle Indians, is doing the same clever work this season that made him a gridiron hero last year.

Glenn Warner, the Carlisle coach, has just published a new book on football, but he does not diagram the Indians' successful plays.

Bill Roper, who is practicing law in Philadelphia, has begun work as an official for the Pennsylvania football games on Franklin Field.

The Vanderbilt eleven which play Harvard Nov. 9, evidently have a scoring machine. The team rolled up 105 points against its opponents the first week of the season.

The Red Sox won every series in the American League this year except one, and tied the Clevelands in that one.

In Hess, Tyler and McTigue the Boston Braves have three good left-handed pitchers to start with next season.

"Jake" Daubert is without a doubt the most popular ball player that Brooklyn has had in its line-up in many a day.

Washington fans are well pleased with the work of the Nationals this season, and expect Griffith's boys to cop the bunting next year.

Many changes were made in the lineup of the Highlanders during the past season. The team closed the season with six new men holding down regular berths.

Each member of Joe Kelley's International League champions was presented with a gold medal and a purse of money, at the close of the season, by Toronto fans.

The Chicago White Sox have signed Roy C Wolfe, star batter of the Illinois-Missouri League. He is the only player in class D circles drafted by a major league club.

Manager Hugh Jennings, of the Detroit Tigers, believes that Pitcher "Dutch" Klawitter is now ripe for the big show. Klawitter, who had a trial with the Giants in 1910, is the star pitcher of the Portland, Ore., team this season.

P. H. S. HAS A BASEBALL AUTHORITY AND FAN

"Jimmy" Dunwell Tells Who is the Greatest Ball Player.

In the department of the "Baseball" magazine which is set apart for the discussion by readers of any baseball topic which appeals to them, is a short, but exceedingly interesting letter from "Jimmy" Dunwell, the manager of last season's Plainfield High School baseball team. Dunwell is known to the High School students as the "fanniest of fans" and the following letter will without doubt be appreciated by his friends who have not already had a chance to view his feelings on the subject:

411 East 7th St., Plainfield, N. J.
The Baseball Magazine Company,
65 Fifth Avenue,
New York City.

Dear Sir:

As a constant reader of your magazine, I have been greatly interested in your articles as to "who is the greatest ball player," "who is the greatest pitcher," etc., and I understand that in your next number you are about to decide as to the greatest first baseman. I would like to state my opinion on this question, which I am sure is the opinion of many others. Most people would probably say that Hal Chase was the greatest of all, but to my mind this is little short of absurd. Jake Daubert is immeasurably superior. I have seen both men play many times, and while I admit Chase is sensational, he is certainly not as dependable as Daubert. The latter covers even more ground than Chase, and lays farther back from the bag than any other man in the business. Their fielding averages for 1911 showed .989 for Daubert and .974 for Chase. I don't mean to say that averages show everything, but with such a difference as that, I think they show a good deal. This year the latest unofficial average show Chase to be hitting .242 and Daubert .332. Jake is every bit as fast on the bases, and, best of all is a game, hard fighter and never lies down on anyone, something which cannot be said of Chase. The latter was once a wonder, but he has gone back more or less, and even at his best was not the equal of Daubert. At any rate, he is certainly not at the present time. If you can find space for this letter in your next issue you will greatly oblige.

Last night at the Olympic alleys, on East Second street, the Watchung bowling team took two out of three games from the East End pin tumblers. The best score of the evening was made by C. Clarkson, who rolled a score of 178, and E. Killoran rolled the best game for the East End aggregation.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Another hair-raising finish. Will they never stop and let us know the winners before the finish?

It is too much on the nerves, heart and throat. After this series is over the doctors will be so busy prescribing nerve tonic that they won't have time to eat.

Someone in the crowd came across with this one yesterday, "That isn't a baseball game that's a Wood and Cady game." Get it?

At that we never heard of an iron, steel or cheese cady.

Don't forget that Albi Carlstrom, who plays left field for Plainfield is now a Boston player although he doesn't report until next year. If the Red Sox win the championship of the league next year we may see little Albie in the game. Will there be any rooting for Boston then?

On the level isn't it strange that one of the games has not been postponed because of wet weather? Well the clouds may burst this afternoon, there is a dark sky in the vicinity of Crescent Oval anyway.

The great procession of autumn sports is now ready to begin its march across the stage but baseball still occupies the center of that stage and will continue there until the grand climax of the World's Series rings down the curtain on the season of 1912. The shadow of the gridiron falls across the diamond this afternoon and the chief of college sports begins to compete with the National game. Football teams both in this city and Dunellen will kick open the season today and baseball will take a back seat.

Wood is the only Boston pitcher who has been able to go through a whole game unassisted.

Somebody won "one" in yesterday's game at New York.

Punsunul Dunning says: "The grounds were so damp at New York yesterday that they had to have a Gardner at third base.

BASEBALL AUTHORS CLUB FAVORS THE GIANTS

Hugh Jennings—I am compelled once more to tip my hat to my old side partner, John McGraw. Now, when we were together with the old Baltimore club, back in——

Jake Stahl—The fielding of the Giants is so weak that I expect to see them kick away a game to us before the series is over.

Jefferson Tesreau—I feel fine. I haven't done anything since Tuesday but write stories, and that hasn't taken much out of me.

Catcher Carrigan—We have started again, and will do better henceforth.

John McGraw—Now we will go to the front.

Big Chief Meyers—We have outgeneraled, outfought, outgamed and outnerved the Red Sox.

T. Raymond Cobb—The Red Sox too careful. It is hard to pick the winner.

Richard Le Marquis—All I want is one-ninth of the credit for winning the game. The other eight boys deserve just as much praise as I do.

Matty—Rube's pitching was the swinging point.

"BOB" FITZSIMMONS, JR., TO PUNCH SOMERVILLE LINE

The Dunellen football team will play its first game of the season this afternoon against the Somerville A. A. The team is the youngest and lightest Dunellen has ever put out, but they will no doubt give a good account of themselves.

The following players will start the season:

PETS WILL PLAY ATHLETICS AGAIN

It Will Be Ritter Against Plank at New Brunswick Tomorrow.

With fair weather, every indication points to a record breaking crowd at Amusement Park, New Brunswick tomorrow afternoon, when the Pets line up against the Philadelphia Athletics, champions of the world, for a short time to come. With all of their stars, including McInness, Collins, Barry and Baker, will meet Driscoll's nine. The appearance of "Home Run" Baker, the hero of last year's world's series, will be on deck and he alone should draw a big crowd.

Dave Driscoll is out to repeat the walloping he handed to the Athletics last Sunday afternoon and will send Ritter in to tame the leaguers once more. After winning last Sunday's game he came out with the statement that he had not extended himself to the limit and with five of the greatest hitters in baseball against him Sunday he will have to show even more than he did on the previous occasion and his ability will be tested to the limit.

It is stated that Eddie Plank, the veteran of many games, will start the game with Bender finishing. In fact it was he who kept the Athletics in the race until a month before the season closed.

EARLY MORNING RUN BY WATCHUNG HUNT RIDERS

Members of the Watchung Hunt Club enjoyed an early morning chase today, meeting the hounds at Mt. Pleasant at 8 o'clock. The hounds were thrown in on the Snyder farm, crossing numerous farms, the first check being on the Force farm. Thown in again on the Fraser farm, the hunters headed direct for Melrose Manor, checking on the Kelly farm, the whole distance covered being about twelve miles.

The going was difficult and there were numerous croppers, including Brown Rolston. He was able to continue. The following took part in the chase: Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; L. B. Smith, R. H. Towner, H. L. Finch, H. A. Bourne, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Rolston, R. D. French, E. R. Finch, J. Schuyler Casey, C. E. S. Bellows and Huntsman Harrison.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (Special).—After a three months' vacation the Supreme Court of the United States will convene Monday for the term of 1912-13. Early decisions are expected in numerous cases argued at the last term of the court. Further far-reaching interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law is looked for at an early date. Under the head of "trust" cases are the "Hard coal" case and the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger. Decisions in numerous railroad rate cases are expected. Also on the docket are the "cotton corner" case, the Kansas election case, the "Bath-tub Trust" suit, the boundary disputes between North Carolina and Tennessee and between Arkansas and Tennessee, and various items of litigation affecting the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

HEARD IN PLAINFIELD.

Bad Backs Made Strong—Kidney Ills Corrected.

All over Plainfield you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work, curing weak kidneys, driving away backache, correcting urinary ills. Plainfield people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Plainfield citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Mrs. C. B. Coriell, 60 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they helped me after every other remedy had failed. I suffered from kidney disorders for years and the principal one was a severe backache. Since I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I have taken them off and on and they have always acted like magic, giving me prompt relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CORNMEAL HOT BREADS.

THE heating qualities of cornmeal make it a good thing for use in the fall, when mornings are sometimes chilly. Then one is likely to get good cornmeal, which is never more palatable than when it comes fresh from the mill.

The simple hot breads and cakes that are made with cornmeal are most of them quickly prepared and must be eaten while hot with plenty of fresh butter.

Fried Like Doughnuts.

Corn Dodgers.—Take one cupful of cornmeal and scald in a cupful of milk that has been brought to boiling point. Cover and set aside for fifteen minutes. Then beat in one egg a little salt and one-half cupful of flour to which has been added one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix well and fry like doughnuts, shaping them with the spoon by dipping it in the hot fat first, then lifting out a half tablespoonful of batter at a time. They should be about the size and shape of an egg when done. Serve with maple sirup.

Nice With Fried Ham.

Johnnycake.—Take a cupful of cornmeal, a half cupful of wheat flour, one egg, a cupful of sour or sweet milk (using a teaspoonful of soda in the sour and a half teaspoonful to the sweet milk), a tablespoonful of melted butter, two tablespoonfuls of molasses and salt to taste. Stir the ingredients together and pour into shallow cake pans. Bake in a hot oven until the top is golden brown.

A Wholesome Hot Bread.

Corn Bread.—Take two cupfuls of wheat flour, one cupful of cornmeal and one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Sift thoroughly, then add one-eighth pound of butter, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and one and a half cupfuls of sweet milk. Beat thoroughly and bake in a quick oven.

An Economical Recipe.

Eggless Corn Cake.—Sift together three cupfuls of cornmeal, one teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of sugar. Mix this with boiling water in which one tablespoonful of butter is melted, using enough to make a thick batter, and pour at once into shallow tins. Bake in a quick oven.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (Special).—The greatest naval show in the history of the United States will reach a climax Tuesday, when President Taft and the Secretary of the Navy Meyer will review the great line of armorclads and lesser naval craft now assembled in the Hudson River. The President, aboard the Mayflower, will review the line of ships as they pass down the river and out into New York bay. More than 700,000 tons of fighting ships will be in the display, and of this grand total more than 450,000 tons will be superdreadnoughts, dreadnoughts, first-class battleships and armored cruisers.

On the day following his review of the fleet President Taft has promised to go to Worcester, Mass., to help the American Antiquarian Society celebrate the 100th anniversary of its organization.

More than a score of cases of unusual consequence are on the docket for early hearing before the Supreme Court of the United States, which will convene Monday for its fall term. The cases include those of the anthracite coal trust, the Union-Pacific-Southern-Pacific merger, the intermountain rate cases, the Kansas election case, the cotton corner case, the suit to disolve the bath-tub trust, the Louisville and Nashville rate case, and several cases involving the interstate commerce laws.

Delegates from many countries will assemble at the end of the week in Lethbridge, Alberta, to take part in the International Dry Farming Congress. Other gatherings of the week of more or less general interest will include the international convention of Disciples of Christ, at Louisville; the annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, at Chattanooga; the annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, at Memphis; the annual meeting of the American Humane Association, at Indianapolis, and the convention of the American Meat Packers' Association, at Chicago.

Of interest in church and educational circles will be the inauguration of Dr. Ezra S. Tipple as president of Drew Theological Seminary, the inauguration of Dr. Alexander Heiklejohn as president of Amherst College, and the laying of the cornerstone of the new Southern Methodist University at Dallas.

The consecration of Rev. Heber J. Hamilton, the bishop-elect of the new Canadian diocese of Japan, is scheduled to take place Friday in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal.

A distinguished body of Pennsylvania civil war veterans and public officials will go to Culleper, Va., Thursday, for the dedication of the monument erected to the memory of the Keystone States soldiers buried in the national cemetery at that place.

—The things that make life worth living, from the pessimist's point of view, are the things we can't get.

ANNUAL DINNER OF K. C. COUNCIL

Patriotic Catholic Lodgemen Honor the Memory of America's Discoverer.

SPEECH BY MARTINE

Senator Commends Order for Undertaking Erection of Statues to Historic Catholics—Runyon Tells how Flag Presentation Stirred Him.

As a climax to a day of celebration in honor of the discovery of America, Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, held its annual banquet Saturday night in Hotel Waldorf. Besides the usual musical program the members and friends of the lodge who were present heard inspiring and patriotic orations by prominent local citizens, and well known speakers from all section of New Jersey. The banquet hall presented a beautiful sight.

After the dinner was out of the way Grand Knight Joseph A. O'Keefe extended a welcome to visiting councils. George J. Tobin, toastmaster, after a short address, introduced Rev. Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church. The cleric urged the members to live lives that would be an example to all mankind, a credit to themselves, and to work toward the uplifting of those whose opportunities have been limited. He paid a high tribute to the local knights and touched upon historical versions of the discovery of America.

United States Senator James E. Martine congratulated the Knights upon the great work on which they have joined in erecting monuments to Columbus and other men of the Catholic faith who have played a prominent part in the making of the nation.

William N. Runyon, who, like Sen. Martine, had also taken part in the flag presentation services at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium in the afternoon, was the next orator. After complimenting the committee on the completeness of the arrangements, he said in part:

"I was deeply impressed with the patriotic spirit that prompted the men of this organization to present an American flag to Bonnie Burn. As I witnessed the procession approaching the grounds I felt a sense of pity and regret for those who attribute treachery and a lack of patriotic divotion to the members of this organization. I have all my life been associated with men of the Catholic faith and I have never known one of them to display disloyalty to his friends, this nation, or its institutions."

Laughter and applause greeted the remarks of ex-Senator Charles A. Reed, who made a witty and humorous address. When in graver vein, he touched on serious things he said in part as follows: "When I consider the conditions existing in every European land, and compare them with those of our own beloved country I cannot help but feel that we should be very cautious in making changes in our form of government. I know that unrest abounds throughout this nation. We all feel dissatisfied when things do not go our way, but we must not be hasty and whenever any change is made it should be brought about only after long and careful consideration."

Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne, State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, whom toastmaster Tobin introduced as Hudson county's premier orator, made a brilliant address, recalling in brief the life and time of Columbus.

"The conquests of Alexander the Great, the travels of Marco Polo, and the discovery of America by Columbus," he continued, "are three of the greatest achievements of the Christian era, and in the accomplishment of these things lay the salvation of the human race."

Mayor Robert Clark, of North Plainfield, and Percy H. Stewart, Democratic candidate for Mayor of Plainfield, made short addresses.

Gathered around the banquet table were representatives of councils in Elizabeth, Bayonne, Somerville, Newark, Westfield and Cranford, and many prominent local business men and officials including William Newcorn, Police Chief Patrick S. Kiely, Frank H. Smith, David T. Kenney, J. Hervey Doane, Andrew E. Kenney, W. R. Townsend, D. J. Carney, ex-Mayor Newton B. Smalley and Patrick McCloud, of Elizabeth.

The officers of the council are: Joseph A. O'Keefe, grand knight; David B. Doyle, deputy grand knight; Calvin E. Brodhead, chancellor; Anthony Martell, warden; Francis J. Blatz, advocate; J. J. Carty, treasurer; John C. Traynor, H. P. Greenwood and C. J. Shirley, trustees; Garrett P. Keating, inside guard and James Hurley, outside guard.

H. P. Greenwood and Thomas J. Meaney, assisted by the officers, comprised the committee of arrangements.

FIRST AS USUAL.

Less than twelve minutes after the Giants-Red Sox game was over on Saturday, the Daily Press had a baseball extra on the street containing a complete and accurate story of the game, play by play, with a full box score, something unparalleled in local newspaperdom. And the Daily Press was two minutes ahead of any newspaper in announcing the final score to the crowd. The edition was on sale at Crescent Oval twenty-two minutes after the game was over, and half an hour before any other paper.

47 MORE CONVERTS MADE BY C. R. DRUM

Evangelist Closes Campaign With Addresses to Men at the Theatre.

Charles R. Drum delivered the closing address of his four-days' Men and Religion campaign at the Plainfield theatre. Seven hundred men were in the audience. Following the address, which was of an evangelistic character, in response to Mr. Drum's invitation ,forty-seven young men stated that it was their purpose to begin to serve Jesus Christ as saviour and leader. During Mr. Drum's campaign a total of eight-three young men between sixteen and forty have expressed a desire to begin the Christian life, over three hundred to take some forward step, scores of others to undertake some definite service.

Mr. Drum's topic was "An Honest Man." He said the men are saying that if they pay their debts and do their best to meet their lawful obligations to other men in this world it will be all right with them in the next. But a man may hold such a creed and still be dishonest. What are the marks of an honest man?

First, he will meet his financial obligations. Second, men owe to their fellows a pull-up and not a push-down. The obligation rests upon us all to reach out a helping hand. Third, men are under heavy obligations to their wives and families. Do we say the word of commendation or appreciation of our wives when we should? Are we the kind of men we want our boys to be? Men also owe their families clean lives.

Fourth, we owe our fellows a correct position on divine questions. A man says he will believe the Bible when he can understand all mysteries He should approach divine things in the same spirit accepting these things he can understand, as the fatherhood of God, the Sonship of Jesus Christ, the resurrection of Jesus the supremacy of the Christian character and the influence of Jesus and waiting for light on other questions.

Finally, men owe a supreme obligation to God. They owe Him their worship and their love. In all fairness, when we consider that the things we prize most highly in life came from the foot of the cross, we should yield our lives to Christ in love and service.

In an after-meeting attended by 150 men, Mr. Drum explained what it means to be a Christian. It does not mean perfection nor absence of struggle. It means believing in Jesus Christ to such an extent that we are willing to let Him have his way in our lives.

SERVICE FOR BOY SCOUTS AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

HOLY NAME RALLY WAS IMPRESSIVE

Ten Thousand People Gather at the Exercises After the Parade.

MEMBERS ON KNEES

Nearly 5,000 Marchers Kneel in the Open as the Benediction is Said—Counsel of City of New York Speaks.

Five thousand members of the Holy Name Societies of Union county paraded the streets of Plainfield yesterday in their annual public protest and demonstration against vice and profanity. The demonstration was the largest and most inspiring ever held in Union county. At St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, where the members of the societies gathered after the march to take part in the services, over four thousand men, women and children congregated to witness the exercises, bringing the total number of the mammoth crowd close to ten thousand.

The men marched four abreast, carrying canes with the Holy Name flag attached. The line of march was as follows: North avenue to Watchung avenue, to Jackson avenue, to Somerset street, to Front street, to Park avenue, to Eighth street, to Liberty street, to St. Mary's church.

As the participants of the procession passed through the streets, with banners of their organizations flying in the breeze, and pictures of the Saviour held aloft, it formed an impressive spectacle.

In other cities of the State similar demonstrations were held, and in

P. H. Burns.

Newark it was estimated that 12,000 men marched in the parade held there, while a crowd of over 60,000 took part in the services around the Cathedral, which has been in the course of construction for over twenty years, and which will take a period of generations to complete.

The local parade started from the North Avenue railroad station, where the line of march was formed. Visiting societies from Elizabeth, Rahway, Westfield, Cranford and Roselle came in on special trains, each with their band, and all carrying canes with the blue flags of the society inscribed "H. N. S." attached. Members coming from Dunellen and Linden traveled by trolley cars chartered for the occasion, while the representatives from North Plainfield, headed by their president, Robert McCormick and Father W. H. Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's church, marched from the borough to take their place in line.

As the time for the start of the parade drew near people crowded along the line of march. As the end of the parade passed the onlookers many fell in line and marched to St. Mary's church, to hear the ceremonies

GIANTS TAKE ANOTHER FROM RED SOX SCORE 5 TO 2

New York's ball tossers were again victors over the Boston Red Sox this afternoon, in a game in which there was more hitting than in any game since the series started.. New York's batters landed on O'Brien in the first inning for five runs, and he gave way to Collins. Score by innings:

NEW YORK	5	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	x—5

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 14.—Rube Marquard was chosen by Manager McGraw, of the Giants, as his slab artist in what Boston players hoped to make the last game of the world's championship series, when the contest started today. Boston had three games of the four necessary to give them the title, when the contest started, while New York had won but once.

In spite of lowering clouds all the morning there was another crowd present, filling every available seat, when the game commenced. They began to arrive early this morning, and were entertained after eleven o'clock, until the game commenced by the Seventh Regiment Band, who played popular airs.

It was 12:20 p. m. when the first squad of Giant defenders appeared on the scene. "Doc" Crandall received an ovation as he came through the club gates. He was followed by Groh and Burns. Crandall started to bat out some swift balls. Two moments later another squad of Giants, consisting of Merkle, Ames, McCormick, Wilson, Fletcher and Wiltse appeared while the crowd cheered. Then the Boston delegation made their appearance and the stands also gave them a warm reception. At 12:55 o'clock the crowd had reached a sizeable proportion. There were 32,000 present.

Tesreau was the first of the Giant pitchers to warm up, and he was soon followed by Marquard and Ames. For the Red Sox, Wood, Collins and O'Brien tried out their arms at about 1:45.

The weather was cloudy but not cold and there was practically no wind to interfere with the fielders, which was to their liking. The diamond was heavy and sticky, which will discount fast work on the bases.

O'Brien only lasted one inning, New York scoring five runs in their opening effort. Collins went in the box for Boston in the second.

FLAG EXERCISES AT NEW SANITARIUM

G. A. R. Men Haul on the Halyards to Send K. C. Gift Aloft.

Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, presented Bonnie Burn Satatorium with a large American flag Saturday, at the dedication of that institution. The presentation was made by Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne, State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, and was accepted in an eloquent address by United States Senator James E. Martine. The emblem was raised to the top of the flag staff by members of the G. A. R., to the accompaniment of the "Star, Spangled Banner," by Suhr's band and T. A. B. Fire and Drum Corps.

Mr. Sweeney in making the presentation speech, said the Knights were prompted by their action from a pure sense of patriotic duty. Continuing he told the history of flags of all nations from the time of Alexander the Conquerer, ending with a recital of the symblamatic meaning of the flag of this nation.

Among the other speakers were Judge William N. Runyon, who spoke on "The Meaning of Bonnie Burn Sanatorium from the Standpoint of Philanthropy," and ex-Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, who talked on "The Significance of Columbus Day."

The presentation of the flag to the tuberculosis satatorium, which was erected by the county, was part of the program carried out by the Knights to celebrate Columbus Day. A general social time was held in the morning at the club rooms in West Front street, and at noon luncheon was served. At 2 o'clock they formed a line of march, and headed by a squadron of police and the fife and drum corps, paraded to Richmond and East Second streets, where they boarded special trolleys for Scotch Plains. Acompanying them were delegates from the Knights of Columbus in Bayonne, and representatives of numerous lodges and societies of this city. At Scotch Plaings, Knights from Newark, Elizabeth, Cranford and Westfield joined the local members, and when marching order was formed to proceed to the scene of the flag raising, nearly 500 were in line. A crowd of several thousand people witnessed the ceremonies.

George J. Tobin presided and introduced the speakers, and he was assisted in the arrangement by Calvin E. Brodhead and Francis J. Blatz.

It is expected that Bonnie Burn will be formally opened the early part of November.

The Square Pot Does It

THE form of firepot used in Square Pot Boilers is different from the ordinary type. It holds a larger body of fire and radiates more heat. Consequently it steams the boiler and heats the house in the fewest possible minutes, beating the best efforts of ordinary round firepots by a wide margin.

This principle of increased radiation gives normal results on comparatively little fuel. Hence Square Pot Boilers prove effective in this most important particular — maximum heat development from minimum coal supply. Look into this before you install a new boiler.

HUNGRY FOR OFFICE.

When we witness the sudden activity of some Democrats we become rather suspicious that their motive is not altogether a patriotic one. This is particularly so as regards many new self-appointed leaders who are known to have deserted their party during its dark days when it was bound down by Bryan and bound up with Bryanism. It is also true as respects many who are suspected of having voted for McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft and now return to the fold and display an over-eagerness for prominence in the present campaign. There are thousands upon thousands of political jobs and sincecures to be picked up when Wilson "shakes the plum tree" should it so happen that he is chosen to the Presidency.

Some are not waiting to take their chances with him; they are building their fences already to corral something. They profess to be of the school of the late distinguished Grover Cleveland who said: "I believe the office should seek the man and not the man the office." But they're taking no chances; if the people are not going to call them, they're going to call themselves.

There is former Judge Westcott, for instance. On the reputation of a single speech made at the Baltimore convention, he boldly announced himself a candidate for the Democratic preferential vote for United States Senatorial choice. Then when he saw that the fight was really between former Congressman "Billy" Hughes and former Senator "Jim" Smith, he withdrew in Hughes' favor. But isn't there another big plum—the Gubernatorial nomination? Why, yes; and straightway, Mr. Westcott announces himself a candidate for that berth. Westcott seems convinced that the State really needs him in some important position and he's modest enough to start his own boom. Generally there's a movement behind a boom but in this case, Westcott is going to start without one hoping that he can gain an advantage by being first in the field. But he's not the only hungry Democrat.

Says the Newark Evening News:

There is general agreement among students of politics that municipal government should be entirely divorced from partisan politics. The administration of municipal affairs is a business matter, pure and simple. It involves no questions of trust regulation, tariff or any of the other governmental policies upon which parties divide. What is wanted is honest government and clean government. Whether the officials are Democrats, Republicans or Progressives is of absolutely no importance so long as they serve the people with honesty, fidelity and intelligence.

That's is exactly why we argue that it will be well for the local voters irrespective of politics on National affairs to support Thomas J. Hughes and James J. McCann, the two local nominees for Freeholder inasmuch as the Republican Freeholder ticket if successful at the polls would give Plainfield no representation on the Union County Board. We have never heard it said that a public highway was any better because it happened to be built by Republicans. There does not seem to be any difference between a Republican road and a Democratic road, or between Republican built bridges and Democratic built bridges, but there is a decided difference to a large community when it is robbed of representation on the County Board of Freeholders.

What the News has to say applies equally as well to the local mayoralty situation. Simply because a man happened to be a Republican in National affairs, is there any argument that he would make a better Mayor than one who is a Progressive? What has National politics got to do with municipal affairs? Nothing at all. Mayor Moy has made a good record, an efficient and painstaking city executive, and his National politics cuts no figure one way or the other. He should be re-elected.

Judge Daly, of the Middlesex county court, in administering justice believes in making the punishment dealt out to the guilty sufficiently heavy to act as a detriment to others. One day last week he fined an automobilist $100 for driving a car while in an intoxicated condition. As the New Brunswick Times says: "Automobiles are dangerous enough on the public streets when drivers are sober and careful" and no punishment is too severe for the drunken man who jeopardizes the lives of others by attempting to run his car through public thoroughfares.

The Plainfield Messenger, a local weekly published in Plainfield for the information of parish societies and instruction for Catholic readers, observed its anniversary yesterday by getting out a Holy Name edition which is a great credit to the scholarly editor and priest, Rev. Bernard M. Bogan. The Catholic church in America should be proud to have such a high class parochial medium on its list of religious publications.

One week from tomorrow, Tuesday, Oct. 22, will be the last day for registration for the general election to be held on November 5. Be sure to personally see that your name is on the list in your district for if it is not there on that day you cannot vote for President.

The Daily Press is always glad to publish signed communications on timely topics, but owing the increasing pressure of advertising, we feel constrained to place a limit on the length of any communication. Therefore, none of over a column in length will be accepted.

It may be true that Roosevelt's voice is gone but it is also true that he has not lost his hold on the people.

TIRE STEALER MEANER THAN A CHICKEN THIEF

Somerville, Oct. 14.—Because he stripped the tires from an automobile which had become disabled and left by the roadside while its owner went in search of help, Harry Naroski, formerly a business man of this place, was told by Judge Case in the Somerset Court that he was "meaner than a chicken thief" and he was sentenced to three months in the county jail. Joseph Bell and Otto Buecher, who were also implicated in the theft, were fined $50 each and placed in charge of the probation officer for two years.

Bell, who owns a horse and wagon, was induced by Naroski to drive him two miles into the country, where an automobile owned by Robert Stryker had been stalled. Buecher, who is an advertising agent, also went along. The trio were caught by Detective Totten late at night as they were driving back with the tires stolen from the automobile.

SPICER CO. PREPARING SOUTH PLAINFIELD PLANT

The grading for the addition and other improvements being made by the Spicer Manufacturing Company at South Plainfield, will be completed today by Frank Mobus. The addition will extend from the west side of the present drop forge department to Plainfield avenue, a distance of 300 feet and will be 90 feet wide. In addition to this extension the company is building a large die sinking department in the rear of the drop forge shop. Both additions are to be of steel construction with reinforced concrete piers.

From time to time there have been rumors to the effect that the company is to remove its plant in this city to South Plainfield. An official of the company said today that there is no truth in the rumor that the concern has an idea of removing its plant.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION.

The recently organized West End Civic Association will hold a meeting tonight at the home of Thomas M. Muir, 302 Grant avenue, for the purpose of electing officers and transacting other important business. All residents of the West End interested in the advancement of that district are invited to attend.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. A paper will be read by Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph on the "Comparison of the Origin, Growth and Belief of Mormonism with Mahommedanism." Mrs. S. Whitney Brown will lead the devotional exercises.

DEDICATION OF THE NEW ORGAN AT MONROE CHURCH

The dedication of the new pipe organ was held last evening at the Monroe Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. It was hoped that Rev. Dr. B. D. F. Randolph, the District Superintendent, would officiate at the service, but it was impossible for him to attend. The pastor, Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, took his place. He preached a sermon on the text, "A Double Portion of Elijah's Spirit," and read a dedicatory psalm.

During the services Mr. Hubach announced that enough money had been raised at the morning service to pay for the organ and all the repairs and alterations made necessary by the installation.

"The amount raised," he said, "will reach the seventeen hundred dollar mark and shows the spirit that the members of the church enter into anything that will be beneficial to the work of the church."

BECKER WANTED MURDER OF ROSENTHAL--WEBBER

New York, Oct. 14.—Bridgey Webber was expected to be the first witness to take the stand in the Becker case this morning, when the trial was resumed before Judge Goff and a jury, but District Attorney Whitman at the last moment put Winfield R. Sheehan, secretary to Police Commissioner Waldo, on the stand as the first witness. He was asked to identify his signature. When asked if he was familiar with the signature of Becker he declared he had never seen him write it. He was then excused. Mrs. Becker was not present when court opened.

Bridgey Webber was the next witness.

When Webber took the stand he was asked:

"What is your business?"

"A gambler."

Webber stated further that Becker used to come to his poker room quite often but never played poker there. When asked if he had ever had any conversation with Becker about Herman Rosenthal, the witness replied that he had. Webber testified that Becker told him he wanted Rosenthal croaked before he could tell all he knew to District Attorney Whitman and that he, Webber, promised to help him.

The testimony of Webber throughout was corroborative of that already given and the detailed story of events on the night Rosenthal was murdered corresponds with the stories printed numerous times in the newspaers.

WARREN CHAPEL OBSERVES ITS FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Special services were held in Warren chapel yesterday in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the building. The features of the service in the morning was the singing of anthems by the choir.

Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, the pastor, spoke from this text: "Then I will command My blessing upon you in the sixth year," Lev. 25:21. He reviewed the work done by the church in the past and asked for the support of the members and their help to make the coming year a banner one in the history of the church.

At the evening service the pastor took as his text 2 Thess. 3:3. The topic of his sermon was "Faithful God." The church was tastefully decorated with fall flowers by the decoration committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church, of which Miss Ida Wheeler is chairman. They were assisted by Alfred Everett.

AUTO HORN NUISANCE.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

I have noticed within the last two or three weeks an effort on the part of your paper and one or two individuals to abolish the blowing of factory whistles.

It seems to me and to a number of people with whom I have talked on the subject that the blowing of factory whistles is not nearly so injurious to one's nerves as the noise automobiles are making these days. Claxtons, sirens and cut-outs, which are used altogether too freely, start their racket early in the morning and are continued long into the night and it would seem that the police authorities should step in and call a halt.

A number of bigger problems confront us, such as sewerage, water supply, collection of garbage, better lighting and burning of leaves. With some of these problems solved which I have mentioned we might find many of our now vacant houses occupied and the community at large greatly benefited.

HOLY NAME RALLY

there. The start was delayed somewhat by the late arrival of the out of town societies, but the arrangements made by grand marshal Paul H. Burns, of this city, president of the St. Mary society, were perfect, and once started the different sections proceeded in good order and without delay.

First in line were eighteen policemen, closely followed by Marshal Burns and his aides, who were M. D. O'Keefe, J. J. Hines, Thomas Farrell, Patrick Griffen, T. J. Comerford, J. J. Varley and W. E. J. Gillahan, of Elizabeth; Martin Regan, of North Plainfield; Patrick Harrington and G. A. Keating, of Rahway; W. H. Forristel, of Westfield; A. F. LaRock, of Cranford, and M. B. Caffrey, Frank Cullen, Sr., and P. S. Flatley, of this city.

The numerous societies, headed by band or drum corps; the officers of their society and the priests of the churches from which they came, followed in the order named: Immaculate Conception, of Elizabeth; St. Joseph's Society, of Roselle; St. Patrick, of Elizabeth, headed by the Rev. J. J. Duggan, President David J. Cunningham, Vice President Peter F. Scully, and Thomas B. Carr, president of the United Holy Name Societies of Elizabeth; Holy Rosary, of Elizabeth headed by Father Smith, Father Reynolds, Frederick Seeler, president, and William Sheridan and Garret Daly, section marshals; Sacred Heart, of Elizabeth; St. Anthony's, of Elizabeth; St. Mary's, of Elizabeth; St. Mary's, of Stoney Hill; St. Mary's, of Rahway; St. John the Evangelist Society, of Dunellen; Holy Trinity, of Westfield; St. Michael's, of Cranford; Church of the Assumption, of Roselle Park; St. Joseph's, of North Plainfield; South Plainfield Societies, Polish Societies and St. Mary's Society, of this city.

The local marchers were led by J. J. Gallagher, chief aide, followed by St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps. In the front ranks were Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church; Chief of Police Kiely, and priests connected with local parishes.

Following the parade exercises were witnessed in front of St. Mary's High School yesterday by nearly ten thousand people who had gathered in sympathy with the protest against basphemy and immorality. The chief address was delivered by Martin Conboy, of East Orange, of the corporation counsel's office in New York. Father Bogan made the opening address, welcoming the societies and lauding them on the success of their purpose. The benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was celebrated by the Rev. Francis O'Niel, of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Elizabeth; Father Bohl, of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Elizabeth, was deacon and Father W. H. Miller, of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, North Plainfield, was sub-deacon.

As the nearly five thousand Holy Name members knelt to the ground to receive the benediction of the blessed sacrament, the sight was impressive to a high degree. The services ended with the choral singing of "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Among those who occupied the speaker's platform were Father Baldwin and Father Miller, of North Plainfield; David T. Kenney, Kt. C. and S., of Plainfield; Rev. James F. Weisbecker, of St. Michael's church, Elizabeth; Father Florrian, O. S. B., and Father Ignatius, O. S. B., of the Sacred Heart church, of Elizabeth; the Rev. Lewis Bohl, of the Immaculate Conception church, Elizabeth; Father Bucci, of St. Anthony's church, Elizabeth; Father Doyle, of St. Joseph's church, of Roselle; Father Mahoney, of Immaculate Conception church, Elizabeth; Rev. M. J. Mulligan, and Father Bege, of St. Mary's church, Elizabeth; Rev. J. J. Duggan, of St. Patrick's church, Elizabeth, and former Mayor P. J. Ryan, of Elizabeth, president of the county organization.

Opening his address Mr. Conboy, congratulated the societies of Union county on their splendid demonstration, and told them the parade and rally which they took part in were things which go to make good citizenship. Continuing he said in part:

"I have no fear in proposing to your consideration as the cause of much of our social unrest the absence of a moral sense of responsibility to Him in whose name you are gathered in such demonstrative numbers today. The underlying thought which must permeate men in public life is not that there shall be good men to put into office, but that the underlying conception of men in office and of the entire mass of the people should be that of goodness. Goodness is morality, and morality is the realization and fulfillment of our duties to God, our neighbor and ourselves."

Father Bogan in the course of his address, said: "This peaceful public and dignified demonstration of American citizens of Catholic religious convictions is in striking contrast with the dark-lantern tactics of self-styled patriots who desecrate the emblem of the Union by fulminating discordant taunts against their fellow-Americans, and whose charges of disloyalty to our country are as ludicrous as they are malignant. Well may you afford in the presence of such an inspiring celebration as this to entertain no resolution of retaliation save that of sterling law-abiding Americanism. The price of peace paid by your fathers' in the blood of many a reddened battlefield is too precious to be reckoned in money and too great to be lessened by dissention. The provocation is, in truth, more pitiable than important. You have indeed a nobler motive in view—the stimulating enthusiasm that braces you for the conflict against modern paganism. You profess your loyalty to that flag which, side by side with the emblem of religion, you carry so proudly today, and you profess your approval of the real separation of Church and State as it exists in our Republic while defending the rights of both within their own spheres of activity, each needing the other, and each sustaining and protecting the other."

TO LIVE IN THE SOUTH.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Barnes, of Mountain avenue, will leave Friday, October 18, on the Steamer Apache of the Clyde Line for Manderin, Florida, where they will make their home on property recently purchased by Mr. Barnes. They will remain away until next April. Their home will be occupied during that period by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clinton and daughter. Mr. Clinton has represented the Y. M. C. A. for seven years in China and Japan and expects to return to Japan next spring.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

BEEF PIES.

ECONOMICAL methods of extending the meat flavor through other foods are found in meat pies and similar dishes in which a pastry, a cereal or a vegetable is combined with the meat.

A deep dish is the best thing in which to bake your meat pie. The dish may be lined with a biscuit or shortened pastry dough.

Sometimes the pie is covered with a potato crust. Then no lining is used.

Cold beef cut up into small pieces is generally put into these pies, although fresh meat may be used provided the pie is cooked a little longer. In such cases it is wise to cover the top of the baking dish with a plate until the pie is nearly done. Then remove the plate and allow the upper crust to brown.

Baked in a Casserole Dish.

Beef Pie.—Take one and a half pounds of beef from the flank, one large quart of potatoes cut in small cubes, two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, one pint of water, salt and pepper to taste, two tablespoonfuls of flour. Cut the beef in small pieces, mix with the other ingredients, put in a covered casserole dish and set in a moderate oven for an hour. At the end of that time mix a pint of flour with two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, salt and a tablespoonful of shortening, proceeding as for biscuit, add three-fourths of a cupful of milk or water and stir quickly. Roll out to the size of the dish in the oven, remove the cover, place dough on top of the meat, cook for fifteen minutes, then cover again and cook fifteen minutes.

Individual Pastries.

Beef Turnovers.—Biscuit dough should be rolled thin and cut into circles. Then the chopped beef mixed with cold boiled rice or chopped potatoes and onions should be placed inside the circles. The filling should be seasoned with salt, pepper and a little gravy. The edges of the pastry should be moistened with white of egg and folded over, then pinched together. The tops of the turnovers may be brushed with yolk of egg before putting them into the oven. About a half hour in a hot oven is long enough to bake these. They should be served with a brown sauce or gravy.

A Meat and Vegetable Pie.

Beef and Tomato Pie.—Either fresh or canned tomatoes may be used for this. If raw, peel and slice them; if canned, pour off the juice. Put a layer of the tomatoes in the baking dish, then a layer of sliced or cut up meat. Dredge with flour, salt and pepper and so continue until the dish is full. Cover with a layer of pastry dough or bread or cracker crumbs. Bake the pie half an hour in a hot oven.

Annie Thompson.

FOOTWEAR NOTES.

An Expensive Year This For Milady's Boots.

At present fashion demands that almost every gown shall have its particular pair of shoes.

Pumps are no longer the fashion when walking, but high shoes.

A very novel idea in footwear is black patent leather slippers with scarlet heels.

Button shoes will be in highest favor this fall. The round buttons will not be so evident as the flat buttons of white, black or gray pearl.

Seventeenth century buckle patterns are being revived. They are copied in chiseled metal, enamel, silver and gilt.

Simple dresses are the only ones the baby really needs. This one is very dainty and attractive. There is a round yoke, to which the skirt is joined, and there are moderately full sleeves sewed to the armholes.

TWO MORE RALLY SERVICES ARE HELD

Children of Monroe Avenue and Netherwood Reformed Churches in Exercises.

Two more Rally Day services were held yesterday, the Sunday-schools of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church and the Netherwood Reformed church gathering for a resumption of regular work.

The Monroe Avenue services were held yesterday afternoon. The service opened with a hymn by the congregation, and an address by the superintendent, Walter M. McGee, and a prayer by the assistant superintendent, Edwin H. Beekman. The children's chorus sang several selections. Hymns were sung by the congregation, accompanied by Mrs. Russell Dorr at the organ.

Addresses were made by Superintendent McGee and by the pastor, Rev. Frederick J. Hubach. The primary department pupils sang a motion song with Mrs. Robert Lee accompanying them on the piano.

The services were closed with the singing of a hymn by the congregation, and benediction by the pastor.

At the rally service of the Netherwood Reformed church Sunday-school, yesterday morning, the principal features were the promotion of four primary department children to the junior department, solos by Miss Mudd, of Elizabeth, and a recitation by Grace Farley.

The service was opened by the congregation singing the doxology and prayer and scripture reading by the pastor, Rev. Royal A. Stout. Recitations were delivered by Irving Cooper, James Carson and Grace Farley. Anthems and hymns by the congregation were the only musical numbers, outside of the solos by Miss Mudd.

Addresses were made by the pastor and superintendent. The children promoted from the primary to the junior departments were: Madeline Hanser, Augusta Carson, Mable Roach and Albert Kenzel.

PETS REVENGE NOW COMPLETE

Dorflinger's Charges Get Ample Returns for Their Defeat of Last Week.

LOCALS LINEUP SHIFTED

Martin Back at Short—Wickware Batted Out—Carlstrom and Cadore Get a Trio of Hits—Colored Giants Hit But Are Unsteady.

Manager Dorflinger and his team of huskies secured ample revenge from Pete Simmons and his following at the Oval, Saturday afternoon, for the defeat administered by the colored delegation the previous week, and it fell to the lot of the Plainfield baseball team to touch two colored box artists up for a total of eleven tallies against the opponent's six. A fair sized army of undaunted baseball rooters who have not tired of the season's pastime although it is getting along pretty well in the fall, witnessed the fray and divided their time equally between listening to the detailed story of the world series game being played over two hundred miles away, which was megaphoned by a Daily Press reporter and the game that was actually being played at the Oval. The returns from the Giants-Red Sox battle was sent from the Daily Press office direct to Crescent Oval and read to the fans who assembled there.

The mighty Wickware, who held the locals down so effectively last Saturday afternoon, was selected by Simmons to do battle again Saturday afternoon, but unlike on his previous appearance his shoots did not seem to have the same effect on the Plainfield hitsmiths, who were out to win. Dorflinger had Cadore on the filling line again and he was effective at all times and had the dusky spatters at his mercy most of the way.

One of the familiar faces that did duty for the Plainfield team was Jack Martin, who was back at his old place at short and his work during the afternoon showed plainly that he has profited by his big league experiences. Martin's appearance necessitated the shifting of Carlstrom to his standby at the keystone sack and Dalton went to left field. Driscoll's place was taken by Bill Stallings and Emery took a chance at the difficult corner.

The Queen City representatives practically cinched the game when Cosgrove tripled to right field. Carlstrom died, Wickware to Dunbar. Harter walked. Harter and Stallings came through with a double steal. Martin singled to center, scoring Harter, and Stallings. Emery flied to Buckner. On a hit and run play, Dalton singled to right and took second on the throw to third. Nelson was safe on Borden's error, Martin scoring. Nelson swiped the keystone sack and Cadore doubled to right, Dalton and Nelson scoring. Cosgrove died, Borden to Dunbar. Six runs.

In the last part of the game Wickware began to grow disheartened and gave the distress single. Buckner, the right fielder, going to his rescue. Cadore and Carlstrom were the heavy hitters for Dorflinger's crew; while Borden and Kline, a local man, upheld the reputation of the colored aggregation.

BASEBALL PLAYED 25 YEARS AGO

Memorable Contest Between Perth Amboy and Somerville for N. J. Title.

LOCAL MAN WINS GAME

James Nash, Sr., Scores the Run That Gives the Marions the Championship—He Afterwards Played With the Boston Nationals.

With the series of fandom all a tingle over the battle for the World's supremacy which is now being waged between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox, veteran players of Plainfield are scratching their heads and stirring up memories of a quarter of a century ago when the Queen City occupied an even more prominent space on the baseball map than it does today. In the good old bye-gone days the games were played for blood and honor, and money was an unimportant issue. One old fan goes so far as to say that the players on the old Jersey teams have forgotten more about ball playing than the Giants or Red Sox will ever know.

In those days the big bone of contention around these parts was the championship of New Jersey and some of the more prominent contestors were Plainfield, Perth Amboy, Somerville, Bergen Point, Elizabeth and Newark.

James J. Nash, Sr., of Westervelt avenue was the star left fielder for the Perth Amboy Marions and he has a vivid recollection of the great battles that have been refought around the fireside many times since. Some one has become so fanatical as to go to the archives and "dig up" an ancient score book and turned to the game that decided the New Jersey championship. The contest in question was played between the Perth Amboy and Somerville teams, and was won by the former nine after a red-hot struggle that went eleven hard innings, the score being 5 to 4.

That was one of the greatest games ever pulled off in the history of baseball and was decided Saturday afternoon, September 24, 1888, in the presence of 10,000 fans, half of whom were inside the grounds and the other 5,000 occupied seats in the tree tops and other vantage points near the parks. The Somerville delegation numbered over 600, one-half of whom were women.

It was a nip and tuck battle and at the end of the ninth the score was 4 to 4. In the eleventh Jim Nash, Sr., of Westervelt avenue, the Marion's left fielder, got around to the third corner and was dispatched across the plate with the winning tally, on a roaring wallop to center field by "Big Jim" Gallagher. "Big Jim" crossed the "Big Home Plate" shortly after the contest and is therefore not available to depict his feelings on that memorable occasion.

The manager of the Perth Amboy team is still living and declared that the game will always remain in his memory box, because of the dismay displayed by the feminine rooters from Somerville, over the loss of the game. Hundreds of them wept and left the grounds for home wiping the tears from their eyes.

Not only is Mr. Nash a veteran ball player but is also an all around athlete, having a number of prizes for supremacy in hammer throwing in his possession. Shortly after this memorable contest he joined the Boston Nationals with whom he played third base for two years.

The athletic talent seems to run in the Nash family, as Jim Nash, Jr., is considered one of the finest athletes in the State. Like his father, young Nash has baseball as his particular hobby but is a fine football player, and also is an adept at basketball and track and field sports.

Carl Lehmann, field secretary of the Christian Endeavor Society, will speak in Trinity Reformed church, Sunday evening, October 20, under the auspices of the local society.

WILL T. GLENNEY IS CITY GOLF CHAMPION

Defeats His Brother at Plainfield County Club 6 up and 5 to Go.

The golf championship of the Plainfield Country Club for 1912-13 was won on Saturday by Will T. Glenney, who defeated his brother, W. Lester Glenney, 6 up and 5 to play in the final round. The latter was off his game and the former had a comparatively easy time in winning the match, which it was expected would be very close and exciting. Mr. Glenney played a fast game from the start, his drives and putting being accurate throughout the match. For winning the high honor, his name will be inscribed on the handsome championship cup, which was presented to the club by George A. Chapman several years ago.

In the final round of the beaten eight of the first sixteen, A. J. Watson defeated H. R. Stockton, 3 up and 1 to play, and in the second sixteen, D. O. Rogers defeated Duncan W. Taylor, 4 up and 3 to play, while in the beaten eight of the second sixteen, T. S. Wheeler defeated George M. Holstein, 1 up. The match in the third sixteen between H. G. Phillips and J. P. Stevens was postponed.

C. C. Burke and L. H. Gates won the four-ball 18-holes, selected score competeition with a net score of 59. The scores:

C. C. Burke and L. H. Gates, 79, 20-59; J. E. Erickson and Ralph Schoonmaker, 75, 11-64; G. F. Earle and G. S. Clay, 85, 21-64; H. L. Conrad and W. B. Tyler, 86, 22-64; H. D. Rowland and A. W. Kleinecke, 83, 19-64; S. H. Patterson and H. E. Butler, 78, 14-64; D. H. Barrows and R. S. Rowland, 72, 5-67; E. W. Willson and Arthur Murphy, 78, 9-69; H. G. Munger and H. D. Hibbard, 87, 10-77.

There was also a golf ball sweepstakes, 18 holes, medal play, handicap, in which these cards were returned:

C. C. Burke, 92, 20-72; L. H. Gates, 95,23-72; H. E. Butler, 87-14-73; Duncan W. Taylor, 96, 22-74; A. J. Watson, 79, 5-74; E. J. Waring, 94, 19-75; Frank O. Reinhart, 82, 6-76; D. H. Rowland, 96, 17-78; J. R. Evans, 97, 18-79; A. W. Kleinecke, 106, 25-81; H. G. Phillips, 110, 27-83; W. B. Tyler, 105, 22-83; R. G. Morse, 98, 11-87; H. L. Conrad, 117, 25-92; Charles DuBois, 124, 27-97.

WORLD'S SERIES BRING GREAT RECEIPTS

Players Are Dissatisfied Because They Only Share in Cash from Four Games.

New York, Oct. 14.—The receipts of the World's Series baseball games are greater this year than at any time in the past.

If today's game winds up the series each club will have received about $111,000, of which about $27,000 goes into each league's treasury. If another game in Boston tomorrow is necessary each club owner will get about $21,000 additional, with $7,000 extra for each league. Yet there isn't ground for the slightest suspicion that those in control of the series are permitting their judgment and integrity to be influenced by this enormous financial haul.

Several members of the Giants and Red Sox cannot understand why they should not receive a share of each game's receipts, and all of them, it is declared, are violently opposed to the national commission's 10 per cent rakeoff, which this year may reach $40,000. It is said that the Baseball Players' fraternity, represented by David L. Fultz, soon will ask the commission for an accounting, also for a change in the rules that will give them 60 per cent of all the money taken in during a world's series. Conservative baseball men predict that the fraternity and the commission will collide in the near future, practically if the financial affairs of the commission are made the object of attack.

NATIONAL LEAGUE STANDING.

President Lynch Gives Disputed Game to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

New York, Oct. 14.—President Lynch has made the National league standing. It takes one defeat off Pittsburgh and one victory away from the Cubs. On Oct. 2 these two teams played a game which the Cubs won in the last inning. Cotter of the Cubs batted out of turn and drove in the winning run. Manager Clarke of the Pirates didn't notice the illegal batting at the time, but later when he learned of it he protested the game. The case was a rare one, if not unique, and President Lynch's ruling probably sets a precedent.

Following is the revised National league standing:

	Won	Lost	Per Cent
New York	103	48	.682
Pittsburgh	93	58	.616
Chicago	91	59	.607
Cincinnati	75	78	.490
Philadelphia	73	79	.480
St. Louis	63	90	.412
Brooklyn	58	95	.379

BIDDLE TO REFEREE FIGHT.

Loughrey Refuses to Meet McCarron Unless Bible Class Leader Officiates.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—When Jack McCarron, the Pennsylvania middleweight, comes forward at the American Athletic club here tonight for his return bout with Young Loughrey the third man in the ring will be Anthony J. Drexel Biddle. Jack O'Brien tried to have the club's referee officiate, but Loughrey would not fight until he was assured that Mr. Biddle, the Bible class superintendent, would act as arbiter.

Mr. Biddle will act and the fight will go on now as first planned. It is said that the clubman wanted to sidestep the affair, but when he heard the fight might not take place without him he finally consented to serve as a professional.

THE CITY ED. KNOWS A GOOD WHITE HOPE WHEN HE SEE ONE

GOOD LIGHTING WILL PAY FOR ITSELF

What percentage of your operating costs does your lighting bill represent?

Are you getting the best returns for the money you pay for lighting each year?

These are questions which should appeal to every superintendent, every manager and every owner of an industrial plant.

Power costs and efficiency are carefully studied. Why not lighting?

It is estimated that the average plant, working full time, will have to rely on artificial light not less than 500 hours each year.

If during those 500 hours the employes have to work with poor lighting facilities their efficiency will be impaired and their output decreased while, at the same time, the percentage of "seconds" or poor work turned out will very likely be increased.

Operators working by artificial light need the illumination on the subject they are handling. By having it there they can work to better advantage than if the light was shining in their eyes or casting shadows on their work.

All kinds of lamps and all kinds of reflectors and shades are made so it is only a question of getting the proper lamps and proper reflectors to have your plant properly and most effectively illuminated.

If proper lighting will help to increase your output or cut down your percentage of spoilage the money you spend for good lighting will, in a sense, return increase profits. In this way good lighting more than pays for itself.

Let our engineer, without cost to you, show you the difference between proper lighting and hit-or-miss lighting, as applied to your plant. A card or 'phone call will bring him.

INITIAL DEFEAT FOR HOLY CROSS

DeWitt Clinton Warriors Prove Superior to Local Gridiron Warriors.

OUTWEIGHED LOCALS

Score 20 to 2—Safety in the Last Quarter Saves Locals From the Whitewash Brush—Ricketts, Nash and Clarke Make Pretty Tackles.

After wading through on the larger end of gridiron scores for two successive games, the Holy Cross football team met its waterloo Saturday afternoon at the hands of the versatile DeWitt Clinton High School eleven, by the score of 20 to 2. A safety in the last quarter was the only thing that separated the local warriors from a coat of kalsomine and the second of quick play separated the visitors from a well earned shut out.

DeWitt Clinton outweighed the local team considerably and this little heftiness, together with the large assortment of trick plays and clever team work which they seemed to have mastered, made the road to victory an easy one to travel. Although the church team were apparently outclassed after the first half they displayed the "never say die" spirit which has been drilled into them by Coach Hamilton and fought for grim death until the final whistle blew. All of Holy Cross' line shifts and attempted forward passes went for naught, however, and whenever Coyle attempted to spring anything out of the ordinary, an opposing player seemed to be through the line on him almost before the ball got squarely nestled in his hands. The same old complaint of the two previous games was prevalent again Saturday and the church team's lineup gave way like paper before the charges of the New Yorkers, who gained at will in the second half.

For the visitors, W. Moore was half the team. His line bucking and steady ground gaining yielded one first down after another and whenever the metropolitan eleven needed a gain the ball was handed to him. Moore not only captains the football team but is the metropolitan interscholastic quarter-mile champion and also holds a number of swimming records. It was this man who played right halfback, that totaled up the Clinton eleven's score and in the third quarter he grabbed the ball on a trick play and carried it through a broken field for thirty-five yards for a touchdown, which proved too hard a dose for the local men to swallow and from that point on the game lagged considerably.

Not all of the brilliancy was displayed by the out of town players, however, and one of the best and most spectacular runs of the game was pulled off by Ricketts in the third quarter, when he, together with Nash, worked that old fake forward pass and "Rick" carried the ball on a long trip before he was finally pulled to earth, minus a good part of his outer-garments (much to the bashful halfback's chagrin). In the same quarter Coyle executed a splendid forward pass to "Shake" Clarke, who was completely hidden in the crowd far out on left end and although the fleet little end got well down the field on the long spiral, he fumbled the ball and his efforts went for naught. Carty made a great individual play in this quarter which would have been appreciated greatly in a closer contest and might have decided such a game. After Moore had made his long run for a touchdown his center took the ball out to where the goal was to be kicked but neglected to keep it from coming in contact with the ground and Carty noticing this, made a quick rush for the ball, calling it to the referee's attention, who ordered it out of play, thus depriving DeWitt Clinton of an almost sure point.

One of the new faces in the Holy Cross lineup was that of Myrton Glover, the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball guard, who played left guard three quarters of the game for the church team. His powerful attack and his work on the defense proved valuable to the local eleven and he also got in a number of spectacular tackles at the right moment.

VAN DEVENTER WINS SCHOLASTIC TITLE

P. H. S. Racquet Wielders in Hot Fight to Decide interscholastic Championship.

The final round of the Plainfield Interscholastic Tennis Championship was played on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday morning. The tournament, which was held under the direction of the Princeton Club, of Plainfield, began on September 28 with thirty-five entries from the Plainfield and North Plainfield schools. The two finalists were Philip Van Deventer and Arthur Briggs and Van Deventer won the title in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2. His victory was due to the brilliancy of his play for in the two sets he earned 26 points by well placed shots which his opponent failed to reach and secured 44 points on Briggs' errors. Briggs, on the other hand, gained 55 points by his opponent's misplays but won only 9 points through placement as his strokes did not have nearly the speed or sharp angles of his adversary's.

Van Deventer started with the service and promptly lost the first game securing but one point, four of his drives going either out or into the net. The next game was a long deuce and advantage struggle which Van Deventer finally won after 16 points had been played. He also won the next four games, two of which went to deuce, and thus secured a lead of 5 games to 1. Here Briggs made a final stand for the set and captured two more games before Van Deventer won the ninth game and with it the set at 6-3.

Van Deventer continued his winning pace and secured the first two games of the next set, the first after deuce had been called once, the second at love. This was the only love game in the match. Briggs' steadiness was rewarded by an easy win of the third game. An idea of the evenness of the play at this stage of the match can be gathered from the point summary below, which shows that the fourth, fifth and sixth games required a total of 42 points, of which number Van Deventer secured 22 to his opponent's 20. The first game of this trio was won by Briggs, making the score in the set 2 games all. Van Deventer, however, won the next two and this success gave him added confidence. He increased the speed of his drives and sent the ball swiftly into the far corners of his opponent's court. Briggs fought hard for every point and made several seemingly impossible returns but Van Deventer was not to be denied and pounded out a victory in each of the next two games, six of his eight points being won by beautifully placed shots which were entirely out of Briggs' reach. With these two games Van Deventer secured the second set 6-2 and the match 6-3, 6-2. The summary of the games by strokes and an analysis of how these strokes were won follows:

First Set—Won by Van Deventer, 6-3. Points in each game:

Van Deventer...1 9 4 4 4 7 6 1 4—40
Briggs .....4 7 2 1 2 5 8 4 1—34

Second Set—Won by Van Deventer 6-2. Points in each game:

Van Deventer ...5 4 1 7 6 9 4 4—40
Briggs .....3 0 4 9 4 7 2 1—30

Match—Won by Van Deventer 6-3, 6-2.

Both the winner and runner-up are students at the Plainfield High School and their prizes, cups given by the Princeton Club, will be presented to them at the opening exercises next Friday morning.

NEWARK'S STORE BEAUTIFUL

WE GIVE AND REDEEM SURETY STAMPS

THE OLD STORE IS EVER NEW

When we built this store, eleven years ago, we were guided by plans founded upon an aggregation of ideas gathered from all parts of the world, taking the good points of great stores wherever we found them and combining them in this one gigantic institution.

When the building was completed we had an absolutely fireproof and a most substantial structure that was bound to endure for easily a century.

It was built to handle not only the large trade already established, but to allow for future growth.

It was built also for the comfort of our patrons, no matter how numerous they might be. We made the aisles broad, ceilings high, the stairways wide and easy of ascent, the elevators airy, roomy and light, and the whole store was flooded with daylight from centre to circumference—one of the few stores in the United States that depends more upon daylight than upon artificial light.

The building was safeguarded in every way from the possibility of fire. It was of steel, brick, stone and concrete. The stairways were of iron, the elevators of steel. The modern sprinkler system was introduced; great reserve tanks of water were provided; hose reels were everywhere; extinguishers were numerously placed. Besides, we organized a fire department of 70 men and drilled them to a state of perfection not surpassed by any regular fire department.

When we mapped out our floor space and alloted divisions for departments we builded much better than we knew; in fact, the arrangement and location of departments was as near perfection as any store in the United States had at that time attained, a fact attested by the hundreds of merchants from all over the country who came to visit the store.

Notwithstanding all this, we have never been satisfied with things as they were. We have constantly been striving for betterment. We have not hesitated to tear down and remodel, rebuild, expand or contract wherever we found it to the advantage of our business to do so. Every year has seen its changes; every year has shown improvement. Only recently a number of important changes have been made.

The Glove Department, for years located on Avenue 4, has been moved to its rightful place in the heart of the store, right inside the main entrance. The division vacated by the Glove store has been given over to the proper display of a line of goods that has been constantly expanding—Table Favors and Novelties.

In the Toy Department, where we had for a long while maintained continuous counters and shelving, numerous squares have been substituted, built low so that a better, broader view of the whole Toy Store is had as one enters it from any direction, making that section lighter, brighter and better.

Numerous other shifts of counters, cases and tables have been made to the advantage of the whole establishment. New, better and an increased number of electric lights have been added from time to time, making the store beautiful by night as well as by day.

And additions! Storehouses and fine stables have been built, and now an annex of 60,000 square feet to this already great plant is soon to come, giving us much needed room.

So the old store is ever new. Change, constant change, has marked every step of our progress, indicating that ever present vitality that makes for the life of any business and carries it forward year by year and keeps it growing, growing, growing.

GIANTS TIE UP THE SERIES; RED SOX ROUTED BY 11 TO 4

There are Giants in the land still, as Boston learned to her dismay this afternoon. The baseball myrmidons who fight under the banner of Gotham town smashed down the last vestige of Boston's lead in the world's championship series, and tied up the tally of games. The game was a rout, New York winning by a score of 11 to 4. Full seven games the series must go now.

Score by innings:

Fenway Park, Boston, Oct. 15.—Fighting with the grim determination that carried them to a pennant in their own league, the New York Giants resumed their uphill battle against the Boston Red Sox for championship of the universe. Their onslaught was savage, six mountainous runs roaring over the plate before the first inning ended. It was plenty for New York—and more than a sufficiency for the Crimson Hosed warriors of the Hub.

Joe Wood was the pitcher the Giants faced. His two victories over them had left no terror in their hearts. They jumped at Joseph with a punch in every bat, and lashed his delivery for seven hits before the inning ended. What smoke there was to Smoky Joe today enveloped him and not the ball. One inning was plenty for the one-time conqueror. With the ending of tthe first period, Wood went to return no more this day. Mexican Charley Hall took up the grievous burden on the pitching knoll in the second.

With the advent of the second inning came a crumb of comfort fo: the Boston fans. Gardner whaled a home run—the first of the series. But what profiteth a home run when the bases are empty, and the enemy have already added one to a six-run lead? It was even so in this case. In New York's half of the second, Doyle pattered across the disk on a walk, a single by Snodgrass and a wild pitch donated by Charley Hall. AND LEAD.

COMPANY K HOLDS REUNION SMOKER

Old Members of the Command and Present-Day Soldiers at Banquet.

MAJOR MARTIN SPEAKS

He Tells How Run Down the Company Was When He Took Hold and How it Gained in Standing Afterward.

A smoker and reunion in which members and ex-members of Company K took part was held in the armory, last evening. At the close of the banquet Captain Charles A. Peterson, the toastmaster, welcomed the old members. He said that some of the old members unable to be present had sent letters and asked First Sergeant George L. Apgar to read them. Among them were good words from former Captain Harry B. Kitchell, of Westfield, now captain of Co. F, of Elizabeth; ex-Sergeant A. R. Tranchand, now at Birmingham, Ala.; Captain William Browning, former head of the company, but now captain of the Second Regiment Medical Corps; Sergeant Jack Brennan, who is a drill-master sergeant at West Point; and from ex-Corporal Le Roy C. Hahn, now a blue jacket on one of the battleships.

Captain Peterson introduced Major William B. Martin as ex-captain of the company. Major Martin is Republican candidate for freeholder.

The Major, in the course of his speech, said, "Prior to July, 1902, Company K had the finest personnel of any organization in the State." It was feared shortly after that time that the company would be mustered out on account of the low percentage of standing due to the lack of discipline practiced by the commanding officers. The members of the company then requested Colonel Collins to let the Major come and take charge of the company as captain. He said that he had taken command with but one idea and that was to make Company K the greatest and best from military standpoint in the United States. "Shortly after I took charge of the company," he said, "the standing of it jumped from 72 % to 96 % within two months. I am proud to say that I was the captain of the command when it came nearest to reaching the 100 % mark than ever before."

John B. Mosher, of Rochester, N. Y., the first first-sergeant of the company; Battalion Adjutant Albert I. Littell, Lieutenant Pearsall, Captain Peterson and Lieutenant N. A. Hort also spoke. Their theme, with variations, was the upbuilding of the company and the Guard.

The committee in charge of the reunion were as follows: Reception committee—Captain Charles A. Peterson, First Lieutenant N. A. Hort and Second Lieutenant A. R. Philips; entertainment committee, First Sergeant George L. Apgar, Quartermaster Sergeant J. Arthur Dow, Sergeants Roy De Camp, Harry J. Manning, James B. Conkling and O. R. Pierson, Corporals John Keppler, John Millwater, George Howell, C. S. Wilson, Privates James A. Thompson, Philip Millwater and Augustus Kmosko.

FOR EAST END SCHOOL.

When the Netherwood Residents' Association met last night at Truell Hall, there was an extended decision of the agitation for a public school building in that section. R. H. McCready discussed the subject after S. E. Gunnison, chairman of the educational committee, had alleged that the Board of Education had "turned him down" when he appeared on behalf of the association for the erection of a school there.

MAYOR MOY ILL.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy is detained at home with a severe cold and attack of throat trouble, the result of campaigning. He did not go to his office today, preferring to remain at home in the hope that he might be able to attend the dollar dinner to be given at the Park Club, tonight, by the local Progressives.

GARBAGE-BURNER FINED.

Morris Liepkin, of 94 Somerset street, was fined $2 in the North Plainfield court this morning, on a charge of burning garbage in the street, preferred by Chief Weiss, who arrested him.

Notice to Press Readers— Because of the intense interest in the world's championship baseball games, the city edition of the Daily Press will be held each day during the series until the game is completed. This will make the delivery boys a little later than usual in reaching the homes during the games, but the great demand for this news justifies the delay.

DELAY DECISION ON SEWER PLANT

State Board of Health Hears Argument Today on Joint Disposal Beds Location.

ALL ARE REPRESENTED

Councilman Taylor and Engineer Harding Speak for Plainfield—Mayor Clark and Councilman Buttfield for North Plainfield.

Trenton, Oct. 15. — Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen and Piscataway Township sent delegations here today for the hearing before the State Board of Health upon the question of locating a joint sewerage disposal plant for the three first named towns in the township. There were several speakers, both for and against the proposition, and the hearing was a warm one, all the arguments presented in the old fight were rehashed and practically no new evidence was submitted.

The State Board took the testimony and announced that it would reserve decision until it had given careful consideration to the whole subject. Those favoring the location of the plant declared that the site had been selected by competent engineers and that there was no other place for the plant. Its establishment, it was contended, was an absolute necessity. The opposition, it was alleged, came not only from the Piscataway authorities but from property owners in the vicinity of the proposed plant.

Councilman Duncan W. Taylor and Engineer Harding, representing the city's engineer, Mr. Fuller, spoke for Plainfield. W. J. Buttfield and Mayor Clark represented North Plainfield. W. A. Coddington spoke for the township and former Senator Silzer represented the objecting people.

JOHN DAY FINED $20 FOR ASSAULTING ALOYSIUS NADLE

John Day, of 611 Spooner avenue, was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or serve 40 days in the county jail by City Judge De Meza this morning, for having assaulted Aloysius Nadle, of 315 Liberty street, last Sunday. Nadle appeared in court with a broken nose and bruises about the face.

According to the complainant he and several friends were standing in front of his home, when Day, accompanied by Edward Doyle, of West Fourth street, and Gustave Kirch, of 420 West Fifth street, happened along. Kirch accidentally knocked against Nadle, and words followed, when the latter was suddenly siezed by Doyle, while Day is said to have torn his glasses off, and struck him several times about the face and body. Kirch said he took no part in the preceedings and was discharged. The police have been unable to locate Doyle.

THREW STONES AT TRAIN.

Numerous complaints have come to the police lately of boys throwing stones at passing passenger trains of the Central Railroad, and yesterday afternoon, Sergeant Flynn arrested Edward Irby and Joseph Betts, both colored, at Watchung avenue, charging them with the offense. They were ordered to appear before City Judge De Meza Saturday morning.

SHOCK FATAL TO 'PHONE LINEMAN

Frank Love Meets Death While at Work in Elizabeth Today.

BODY BROUGHT HOME

Partial Identification in Elizabeth Completed by Relatives—Victim Burned by Short Circuited Wire—Death Instant.

Elizabeth, Oct. 15 (Special).—A lineman in the employ of the New York Telephone Company, who is believed to be B. P. Love, of Plainfield, died this morning in an ambulance while being removed to the Elizabeth General Hospital. The man had been working on the cross-tree of a telephone pole, when one of the wires became short circuited. The victim was terribly burned. The accident occurred at Hollywood avenue and North Broad street, in Union township. In the man's pockets was found a commutation ticket to Grant Avenue, Plainfield, bearing the name of "B. P. Love."

Frank Love, who resided with his brother-in-law, John Kliner, at 961 South Second street, employed by the New York Telephone Company as a lineman, is the man who lost his life at Elizabeth this morning. He was attached to the Elizabeth district. He is survived by a wife and child. After County Physician F. W. Westcott viewed the body, instructions were given to have it removed to the late home in this city.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINEE DEPLORES THE ATTACK

William N. Runyon, of this city, Republican Congressional nominee, gave out this statement today:

"The report of the outrageous attempt on the life of Colonel Roosevelt comes to all good citizens as a profound shock, lessened only by the assurance that the wound is but slight. It is a wonderous pity that in this country, dedicated to free speech and civil and religious liberty, men who have attained eminence in various lines, are so often the objects of attack by wicked and irresponsible persons.

"Extreme gratification must inspire all that this latest crime has failed of its purpose, and that the pages of our national history, already darkened with the murders of three Presidents, are not to be inscribed with a new horror.

"I sincerely wish for Colonel Roosevelt a speedy and permanent recovery.'

ROOSEVELT IS SHOT; HIS CONDITION HOPEFUL

Attacked by Madman at Milwaukee, Colonel, With Bullet in Chest, Delivers Speech--Doctors May Not Operate--Must Abandon Speech-making--Wound is Serious.

Chicago, 3 p. m.—The following bulletin was issued this afternoon: "The examination of Col. Roosevelt this afternoon shows temperature, 98.8; pulse, 92; respiration, normal. It pains him sometimes to breathe. He must have absolute quiet, cease talking and seeing anyone until we give permission, as this is not a mere flesh wound, but it is a serious wound in the chest." It is signed by the doctors in attendance.

It was stated at the Mercy Hospital that the next bulletin on the condition of Roosevelt will be issued at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The following official bulletin was given out at the Mercy Hospital at 10:35 o'clock this morning on the condition of Roosevelt: Deep bullet wound of chest wall without striking a vital organ in transit. Wound not probed. Point of entrance one inches to right and one inch below level of right nipple. Bullet up and in distance of four inches deep in chest wall. No evidence that bullet penetrated lungs. No operation to remove bullet indicated at present time. Condition hopeful, but so important as to demand absolute rest for a number of days. Present condition of patient—pulse, 90; temperature, 99.2; respiration, 20.

Milwaukee, Oct. 15, 1 p. m.—Judge N. B. Neelen, of the District Court, immediately after the arraignment of John Schrank, the man who shot Col. Roosevelt, ordered Prof. E. W. Some, head of the chemical department of the Marquette University, to make a chemical test of bullets remaining in the Schrank revolver.

Chicago, 11 a. m.—Col. Roosevelt's secretary has revised his early announcement about the candidate's abandonment of his speech making tour by inserting a clause that Mr. Roosevelt might address a mass meeting at Madison Square Garden, New York, about October 26.

Trenton, Oct. 15.—One of the first things Governor Wilson did after reaching his desk at the State House today was to send a telegram of sympathy to Col. Roosevelt, one of his opponents in the contest for the Presidency, who was shot in Milwaukee last night. The telegram was as follows: "Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, please accept by warmest sympathy and my heartiest congratulations that the wound is not serious. Woodrow Wilson."

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 15.—As he was leaving his hotel for the Auditorium, where he was to deliver a speech last night, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded. His assailant, who later gave evidence of dementia, gave his name as John Schrank and his address as 370 East Tenth street, New York.

Before Schrank could fire a second time Albert Martin, stenographer with the Roosevelt party, and Henry F. Cochems, former football player at Wisconsin, grabbed Schrank.

Colonel Roosevelt stood beside the automobile which he had been about to enter when shot and directed the policemen who were relieving Martin and Cochems from their struggles with Schrank. Mr. Roosevelt insisted on proceeding to the hall and going through with at least a part of his speech. An examination of the wound by Dr. Eatton of Milwaukee and three other surgeons showed that the bullet had entered the fleshy part of the right chest.

The wound bled freely for some time, but Colonel Roosevelt said he was suffering no pain, and so far as could be learned there was no internal hemorrhage.

Mrs. Roosevelt will arrive here today, according to a statement made from Colonel Roosevelt's room at the Mercy Hospital.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 15.—Roosevelt's secretary, A. H. Martin, announced at Mercy Hospital this morning that Mr. Roosevelt would not deliver any more addresses during the campaign unless it became absolutely necessary for him to do so. The surgeons will consult over the X-Ray photographs that have been taken of the Colonel's wound and it is possible that an operation can be avoided. After the X-Ray examination had been completed the Colonel said that he was hungry and called for a breakfast of bacon and eggs, with tea and toast.

Physicians at the hospital said at 9 o'clock that Mr. Roosevelt was stronger. He is suffering little pain. Dr. F. L. Terrell, of Milwaukee, who came to Chicago with the Colonel, said the strength of the patient was remarkable.

Mr. Roosevelt's spirits are of the best. "Carrying that speech in that pocket certainly was a lucky thing for you," said Dr. A. J. Ochsner, of Chicago. "Ho! ho!" laughed the Colonel, "that speech would have stopped more than a bullet. It is a great speech."

When the train bearing Colonel Roosevelt arrived here about 5 o'clock this morning, Dr. John B. Murphy, one of the best known surgeons in Chicago, made an examination of the Colonel. After its completion, the physician advised that Roosevelt be moved to the Mercy Hospital, of which Dr. Murphy is surgeon in chief, for an operation. The Colonel reached the hospital just before 7 o'clock and preparations were well under way for the work of the surgeons. Dr. Murphy said that Mr. Roosevelt's condition was good considering what he had been through. His pulse was 84 and his temperature about normal.

After an X-Ray examination of the bullet wound in Theodore Roosevelt's breast, the physicians located the bullet in the tissue, but a safe distance from the lung. Mrs. Roosevelt was at once advised by telegraph, the Colonel ordering the following message:

"Present examination shows no further danger beside that of which you were informed from Milwaukee. Respiration good. Pulse normal. Bullet in safe place. No blood expectorated."

The Colonel walked into the room where the X-Ray apparatus is installed without help. He was looking over a telegram and after he had finished reading the message he looked up and began to joke with those around him. He made some funny remarks about his pajamas.

The manuscript of his speech doubtless had done much to save his life. When he had come upon the platform at the Auditorium and drew the manuscript from his pocket during his first few words, the torn sheets of paper, showing many stains of blood, showed also that the bullet had gone through the manuscript.

"You see," cried the colonel, holding up the manuscript so that his audi-

The opening of the parish house, Dr. J. Ackerman Coles' gift to the town, will take place Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The program will be an informal one, the idea being to give everyone an opportunity to inspect the building and get acquainted. The members of the Council will be on hand and will accept applications for membership and it is hoped that they will be kept busy, as everyone in town, whether young or old, should be identified with the work which means so much for the community. The membership has been divided into three classes, the junior class being between the ages of 12 to 15, the dues being $1 a year; the senior class between the ages of 15 and 18 years, dues being $2 a year; the adult class being from 18 years up. This gives everyone in town an opportunity to become a member and enjoy the club privileges at a nominal cost. It is not expected that the membership fees or dues will begin to cover the expenses of maintaining the parish house, but the community has some philanthropists and various sums are being pledged by the residents both of the 'Plains and borough. There are many others who can and will no doubt respond to the call and anyone who is interested will find anyone of the members of the Council who will be more than pleased to receive pledges or cash subscriptions, whether it is $5 or $500 a year. The building has been equipped by Dr. Coles equal to any building of its kind in the State. The furnishings are handsome. The gymnasium is complete, one of the best bowling alleys that could be purchased has been put in, shower baths and parlors have been provided, besides two organs, a piano and a Pianola. Through Dr. Coles' generosity the town has before it an opportunity to take care of its young people, giving them an opportunity to enjoy good clean sports and amusements. Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews and the Council have spent several anxious months working hard planning arrangements so that all will be able to enjoy the privileges that the parish house offers. There will be no special privileges to any one or class. Everyone is invited to join and it is hoped that when the Council finishes its work Thursday night that every man, woman and child in town who is eligible to membership will be enrolled.

A regular monthly meeting of the Fanwood Fire Company will be held in the fire house tonight at 8 o'clock.

Richard Tull, Jr., is detained at home by illness.

There will be no prayer meeting in the Methodist church this week on account of the opening of the parish house.

A NATION DISGRACED.

When the would be assassin attacks a great citizen the people of this Republic stand together as one in sincerely deploring the monstrous offense and in sending up a prayer for a speedy recovery of the victim. The attempt of a madman last night to take the life of one of this Nation's greatest statesmen and leaders, Theodore Roosevelt, happily did not succeed, the attending physicians, after a thorough examination today, pronouncing their distinguished patient but of immediate danger. And be it said to the credit of American manhood, that there is universal thanksgiving at the cheerful news, even his bitterest political foe joining heartily in the rejoicing that his life is spared.

There have been particularly bitter campaigns waged for the Presidency but possibly none has been more intense and personal than the present. The denunciation of the man, Theodore Roosevelt, and the principles he represents, has been intense. The press opposed to him especially has resorted to the last degree of animus in fighting against his restoration to power and this is probably most marked among some New York newspapers which seem to fairly hate him. But when the assassin's bullet is lodged in his body, the press rushes to deplore the intended calamity and disgrace to the Nation.

The New York Sun, undoubtedly the most brilliant member of "the Fourth Estate," said this morning: "The Sun rejoices that the bullet fired by a mad brained man of the Czolgosz type at Col. Roosevelt did not find a fatal lodgment. While we differ with Col. Roosevelt in his policies his sudden taking off would be a national calamity, and with the entire nation we pray for his speedy recovery."

And the New York Herald, without doubt the most vehement against him, whom it calls the "Third Termeh," remarks that "no bitterness of political discussion in this country can prevent deep regret and hearty sympathy going out to an opponent to whom murderous violence is offered. That will be the general attitude of the entire country regarding the attempt made by a dangerous lunatic at Milwaukee last night on the life of Theodore Roosevelt. The display of nerve in the circumstances was characteristic of the man."

Touching on this remarkable display of courage, the New York Press, his only political friend among the Metropolitan press, opines: "Unmindful of the bullet in his breast, the lion-hearted Progressive leader went on with his scheduled speech. If the doctors do not hold him he will go right on spreading the Progressive gospel. Scorning his hurt as only a souvenir of a mildly exciting adventure, Colonel Roosevelt treats it is lightly as if it were a reckless charge fired by a rival candidate. A man like that is a marvel who cannot be reckoned with in anything as ordinary men are reckoned. So his foes have often learned with fresh lesson upon lesson. So as he lives shall they learn again."

Much to the same effect, the New York Times asserts that "the whole country wil be inexpressibly shocked by the news of the murderous assault on Col. Roosevelt in Milwaukee last night, and admiration for the courage which impelled him, after he was wounded, to deliver the address that was expected of him will be general."

In this free country where the chief ruler places himself on a level with all his countrymen and mingles freely among the public, it seems that he risks his life at all times for no power seems to be able to protect him form the madman's evil designs. As the New York World comments: "What happened to Mr. Roosevelt yesterday may happen to Mr. Taft today or to Mr. Wilson tomorrow, or even to Mr. Debs the day after tomorrow. Government and society alike seem powerless to provde adequate protection for pubic men and public officials in this country. Mr. Roosevelt himself has always regarded assassination or attempted assasination as one of the "trade risks" of American public life, and there is probably no means of making it otherwise. Public officials and candidates cannot very well be surrrounded by bodyguards like a European Monarch. Neither can they maintain a remote and isolated existence from their fellow citizens." And the World in conclusion says: "In the circumstances there is nothing to do but to congratulate Mr. Roosevelt on his escape and to congratulate the country upon its escape from another red blot upon the pages of American history."

SCHEPPS ACCUSES BECKER FOR ROSENTHAL MURDER

New York, Oct. 15.—At the Becker trial today Samuel Schepps was the first witness. Schepps gave his occupation as a gambler and his residence as Hot Springs, Ark. He testified that he saw Webber pass a package of money to Rose the day after the murder and later, in his presence, Rose handed the money to Lefty Louis.

Schepps further testified that he went to Becker's house, the Belleclair apartments, on Edgecomb avenue, the night following the murder and said to Becker: "Jack Rose told me to tell you he feels terrible about the murder. He sent me to find out what you are going to do." Becker said: "Tell him not to worry; that everything will be all right."

Becker asked Schepps which one of those boys killed Rosenthan. Schepps replied, "I don't know, not being there." Then Becker said: "They will have to know who killed him before they can connect any of those boys." When asked if the apartment was light or dark, the witness replied "dark." Becker asked Schepps if the money had been paid to the four men and was informed it had been.

SOMERVILLE WATER WILL BE ANALYZED

Council Orders Safeguard Against Dangerous Pollution—Library Vote.

Somerville, Oct. 15 (Special).—At the meeting of the borough council at the engine house last night a communication was received from Nicholas S. Hill, Jr., of New York City, in which he called the attention to the contract with the Somerville Water Company, particularly in regard to the wholesomeness of the water which the company agreed to furnish, and urged that tests be made at certain intervals of the water, both at the intake and from taps in the borough. Mr. Hill suggested the bacterial analyses be made weekly of the raw and filtered water and that these be supplemented by chemical analyses made bi-monthly. Two propositions were presented by Mr. Hill. He would make the tests and analyses as above for $300 per year, or make bi-weekly bacterial analyses and twelve chemical analyses of the water for $200. Mr. Hill also stated that where consumption is large enough, analyses should be made daily.

The reading of the communication from Mr. Hill was preceded by a statement from Councilman Snyder, in which he severely criticised the water company in the matter of furnishing water for consumption by the borough. He stated that he had recently made an investigation of the source of the water supply and had found it in a very bad shape. Outhouses, cow stables and surface water are allowed to drain into the canal from which the water is pumped into the standpipe of the water company, after which it is put through a set of filters. It was claimed that while the filters would undoubtedly clarify the water and make it look wholesome, it was not pure.

A resolution was adopted authorizing Mr. Hill to make the weekly tests as outlined by him, at a cost of $300 per year, and these are to be published weekly in the borough papers.

A resolution was adopted instructing the borough attorney to confer with the water company and insist upon the completion of its contract with the borough, particularly as to the quality and pressure of water furnished and to make full report and recommendations as to the course for the Council to pursue in the matter. The water company is under contract to enlarge its distribution system in the borough, and this was to have been completed last February. At the present rate at which the company is doing the work it will take almost two years yet to complete the work.

The Rev. C. C. Silvester, a director of the Somerville Public Library, asked that the Council have the matter of the borough assuming control of the library submitted to the voters. He said the library association would give the building and grounds on Maple street, valued at nearly $10,000, the borough to assume the cost of maintenance, which would be less than $1,000 a year. The question will be submitted to the voters in November.

John R. Anacker presented a petition for appointment as a member of the police force. Complaint was made of the crowded condition of the trolley cars within the borough, at almost every trip, and this matter was referred to the borough attorney to have the conditions remedied.

CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 15 (Special).—The Christian churches, or Disciples of Christ, began their international convention in this city today. This denomination, which began about eighty-five years ago under the leadership of Dr. Alexander Campbell, is now more than a million strong. Delegates and visitors are here from foreign countries. Fully 20,000 are expected by tomorrow. While the annual review of the missionary and other branches of church work will occupy much of the time of the convention, other matters are slated for attention that promise to make the convention one of unusual interest and importance. For some years a committee on unification has been at work, and will report in favor, so it is understood, of one convention somewhat on the lines of the Baptists. It is believed that the report of the committee will provoke spirited discussion.

ROOSEVELT SHOT BY MADMAN

once could see the bullet holes through the sheets of paper, "it takes more than that to kill a bull moose."

He attempted to go on with his speech then, but first he digressed to assure his audience that his wound was not serious. "Give all assurances to Mrs. Roosevelt," he called out, and he told his friends that after he had delivered at least a part of his talk he would submit to a thorough examination and have the bullet extracted. His surgeons in the meantime had consented to permit Mr. Roosevelt to proceed with his talk.

Mr. Cochems thereupon came to the front of the stage to introduce the colonel. In a few words Mr. Cochems told of the murderous assault upon the Progressive candidate in front of the Gilpatrick hotel.

When the colonel advanced again to make his speech he was greeted by an ovation the like of which seldom has been heard.

After the colonel's short address, Dr. Eatton and members of the colonel's party closest to him accompanied the candidate to the hospital.

Schrank, after first telling of the troubles that he and his uncle had during the Roosevelt police administration, offered as his reason for the shooting his feelings against any man seeking the office a third time. And late at night Schrank startled his police inquisitors by saying that he had a spirit message from President McKinley and had acted upon it.

"I have talked with the spirit of McKinley," declared Schrank at police headquarters, "and the spirit told me to kill Roosevelt."

They removed Schrank from his cell and took him for safe keeping to a hiding place, the location of which only the jail officials know.

"I have been trying for a long time," Schrank is reported to have told the jail officials, "to get a chance to remove Roosevelt from the world for a long while. Tonight is the first good opportunity I have had to get at him. I had picked out Saturday night and the Coliseum at Chicago as the time and place to shoot him. The crowd was so big there though that I couldn't get up close enough to him."

President Taft Hears News.

New York, Oct. 15.—President Taft sat at the right hand of Mayor Gaynor at the great dinner which the city gave in honor of the Atlantic fleet. Everywhere the blue and gold uniforms of the officers, from Rear Admiral Osterhaus down to the youngest middy fresh from Annapolis, and everywhere went the words that if we've got to fight let's fight as well as we know how.

As the president himself said, "let's believe in a nation not seeking war, but as one not afraid of it."

The first reports of the attempt on the life of Colonel Roosevelt reached the ballroom of the Hotel Astor, where the waiters were clearing away the candles prior to the beginning of the speaking. The news spread through the room quickly. Little knots of naval officers and civilians dotted the area outside the circle of tables, and all were asking one another what was the real story from Milwaukee.

Somebody handed a penciled dispatch up to the president. He fumbled for his eyeglasses and scanned the half dozen lines. His eyebrows rose slightly, and he passed the paper along to Major General Thomas H. Barry, who sat near him.

Presently General Barry handed another slip back to the president, a request from the newspapers for a comment upon the attack upon the colonel. Mr Taft took out his pencil and wrote these lines:

"I am very sorry to hear of the assault upon Colonel Roosevelt and am glad to learn that no harm has come to him. W. H. T."

Wilson Told of Shooting.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 15.—When Governor Wilson was told of the reported shooting of Colonel Roosevelt he asked the newspaper men for more details and seemed relieved when he learned that the colonel had not been seriously injured.

"I am greatly distressed to learn of the shooting of Colonel Roosevelt," he said, "but I rejoice that the wound is not serious."

The colonel was at first supposed to have escaped uninjured. For a moment after Schrank had wedged through the crowd and after he had fired Mr Roosevelt smiled as if to reassure the people in turmoil surrounding him.

He suddenly, however, put his hand under his coat and was seen to wince for an instant. They he moved toward the auto and stepped into it, said a word to his associates, and the next moment the throng was making way for his machine and the automobile was whirling toward the Auditorium.

The crowd that struggled about the assailant in front of Colonel Roosevelt's hotel after he had left for the hall took his sudden departure to mean that he had been uninjured, and the crowd cheered. But when he had reached the Auditorium and made his way amid great cheering to the front of the platform those close to him could see a streak of red on his white waistcoat.

"An attempt has just been made to kill me," said the colonel to an audience that had stifled its first cheers and now listened in absolute silence. "I am carrying the bullet in my body now, and so I will have to cut my speech short."

WOMAN REPORTS THEFT.

Angelina Kraft, colored, an employe of Melville's restaurant in North avenue, reported to the police this morning that Henry Frisbie, also colored, had run off with $5 which she had given him to pay on a new cook stove she had recently purchased on the installment plan.

that must be considered by itself when you come to Paint. The lumber, the location, the condition of the old paint are all factors that must be given careful consideration. IN WOMAN'S REALM

WHEN DUCK IS IN SEASON.

THE duck should be cleaned as soon as possible after it is killed, for the feathers then come off more easily. If you buy a dressed duck clean it thoroughly, washing it inside and out after the hairs have been singed off.

Stewed and Stuffed.

Stewed Duck.—After the duck has been cleaned and washed, stuff it with forcemeat, to which three finely chopped sage leaves have been added. Clean and wash the giblets, put them into a saucepan, cover with water and cook them for gravy. Add two onions chopped fine and salt and pepper to taste. Let it simmer down.

Put the duck in a stewpan, add the gravy and onion, cover and let stew slowly for about two hours. Place on a dish and squeeze over it the juice of a lemon. Pour on the gravy and serve.

Young Fowls.

Savory Roast Duck.—Select a pair of medium sized young ducks. Roast and then mince the livers and mix with a tablespoonful of finely minced bacon. Add one ounce of butter, a slice of white onion chopped fine and salt and cayenne to taste. Put this mixture into the bodies of the ducks, lay them in a roasting pan and cover the breasts with thin slices of bacon. When cooked, lift them from the pan and to the liquid in it add the juice of an orange, two minced onions, a tablespoonful of butter and as much salt and cayenne as may be needed. Cook the gravy until the onions are tender and then pour it over the ducks.

An Appetizing Dish.

Ragout of Duck.—Clean and cut up a young duck and fry it in bacon fat with a sliced onion. Add two ounces of ham chopped fine and an ounce of flour. Stir and add a cupful of hot water, a tablespoonful of vinegar, a little thyme, a sprig of parsley and a stalk of celery. Cover and cook one hour. Season to taste and serve with a border of mashed potatoes, browned.

With Fruit Dressing.

Baked Wild Duck.—Parboil the wild duck with a pinch of soda to remove the strong taste. Stuff with a dressing made of equal parts of apples and prunes chopped together and seasoned with salt and pepper. When ready for the oven stick a few whole cloves into the duck. Baste with melted butter and salted water.

Anna Thompson.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Beaded Umbrella Handles Are Seen Among New Trinkets.

Umbrella handles covered all over with tiny beads are to be seen among the newest trinkets.

Brilliant colorings and designs are a feature of the new season's fashions,

WE GIVE AND REDEEM SURETY STAMPS

Hahne & Co.--- The Store for Fine Goods

For trade and economic reasons we regale you very often with stories and descriptions of the goods most folks use in their everyday lives—the "bread and butter" stuff of the dry goods business. We sell more of the medium grades of goods, as a matter of course.

We do not exploit the finer grades of goods in the same way and sometimes we think there is danger in this policy, since it may often mislead those who do not seek here for the higher grade of goods into the belief that this establishment—the greatest in the State—does not carry the finer grades of goods in any variety.

New residents should know—and the purpose of this article is to let them know—that Newark's best and biggest store carries tremendous stocks of the higher grades of goods, garments and home furnishings, and that we cater to a very fine class of trade.

We have been for years making it unnecessary for Jersey folks to go to New York for high class goods. We have as our patrons thousands of the best known families of Newark and the beautiful suburban towns north, west and south of us. These people will have only the best and they have come to appreciate our efforts to meet their demands.

We Are Sole Agents for C. J. Bonnet & Cie World Famous B'l'k Silks

Occupying the proud position of leaders in silk selling in New Jersey it is only natural that we should have for a basis of the silk stock one of the best-known of the fine grades of silks, you will concede the wisdom of our selection of the famed C. J. Bonnet & Cie Silks. These silks have been manufactured by the Bonnet family a little over a century. Had they not been the best of silks the name would be worth nothing by now; but because the quality has always been of the highest the name is a trademark that is a priceless possession.

We present the Bonnet Silks in wonderful variety in the higher grades, as will be indicated by what follows.

We also carry a most complete line of the lower-priced grades from 75c up.

WOOD AND TESREAU IN BIG PITCHING DUEL

Greatest Battle of World's Series Scheduled Today.

New York, Oct. 15.—Joe Wood and Y Tesreau will pitch for the Red Sox d Giants, respectively, in the seventh me of the series at Fenway park, ston, this afternoon, and both Man- ers Stahl and McGraw are confident victory. The Giants believe that y will hit Wood this time.

The Giants and Red Sox played their h game for the championship hon- yesterday, and the doughty men of ston were hit low by the Knicker- cker band of fighters. The score was most one sided, or, rather, the near- to one sided, of any of the six mes.

The Giants swarmed into the home e in the first inning with all the hs they made in the game. Buck Brien, the wet ball expert, was pitch- a poor game, of which fact Man- er McGraw took instant cognizance d of which his men, directed by him, k prompt and full advantage. Brien's reign was brief. One inning s its length.

t was Rube Marquard who pitched Giants to victory. For the second e in the series the Red Sox were npelled to succumb to the good rling of the tall left hander. The stons couldn't solve Marquard's ching more than to rap an insuffi- nt crop of two runs, which, like the ants' flareup, was confined to one ning. And if Marquard hadn't fum- d a ball they wouldn't have had se two. Clyde Engle, the muscular bino, doing duty as a pinch hitter, shed in these two runs with about hardest hit the Red Sox made.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Most of the local ball players have laid aside their diamond togs for the season of 1912 and as far as Plainfield is concerned, the National game has taken a back seat to make way for the gridiron game. The greatest of all college sports has already been ushered in here by the Holy Cross eleven and the P. H. S. warriors start with a game against the East Orange High School team tomorrow afternoon.

The season that is now fast ebbing has been one of the greatest years for baseball that this city has ever known and teams of all descriptions and calibre have fought for diamond supremacy. During some week-ends as many as twenty-two games have been played and all of the aggregations of future greats have had their own little band of ardent followers.

P. H. S. football followers are anxiously awaiting the outcome of tomorrow's game in order to get a line on their favorite and the locals will have to put up a grade of pigskin fighting that will overcome anything in this section in order to take a fall out of the Orange eleven, as these huskies have a 61 to 0 defeat over Princeton Prep to their credit.

It is pretty nearly time we heard from some of those basketball teams that were aching to get on the court about a month ago. Although it is pretty early for the indoor game it is not too early to get into condition.

It is strange how the winning team always has a larger following than the losers among the baseball fans in front of the Daily Press office every afternoon. When the Giants pulled out of their initial trip to the bat with five runs to their credit, the fans went wild. The same thing occurred when the Red Sox were winning Saturday afternoon, however, so that seems to prove that the crowd always likes to be with a winner.

All hail the $11,000 beauty. This is the second time he has tamed the Boston team in the present series.

How would you like to be in Marquard's shoes? He wears Abrams' Special.

Was yesterday's affair a flash in the pan or a sudden return to form? The answer will be forthcoming this afternoon.

Some fans claim that the Red Sox won by Boston prevent the grass from growing under their feet, but a New York fan comes across with the excuse that they have a Gardner anyway.

Boston fans are still rabid, one of them is said to have proclaimed that "while O'Brien hadn't, Joe Wood."

"There's sportsmanship for you!" remarked a "fan" who noticed that every ball fouled into the Boston section was hurled back to the diamond. His companion, however, "pooh-pooh-ed" the idea. "Sportsmanship nothing!" he said. "If they didn't think it meant bad luck to confiscate the ball they'd hold up the umpire and take the balls away from him."

"Lucky Rube" they called him, and there was some truth in the appellation. The Giant outfielder never gave a pitcher better support.

"They're doing a Paul Revere!" shouted a "bug" when the Red Sox infielders began to back each other up on every play. The Giants sure did have their rivals on the run.

During practice a youth selling photographs of the Giants persisted in holding the sample picture wrong side up. "Say," said a fan, "you've got the Giants upside down." "I know," was the retort; "that's their position at present."

When the Giant batting onslaught was at its height a "rooter" near the press box leaned back and remarked with a sigh: "Now if somebody'd tell me that I'm dreaming and that it's 'Joe' Wood and not O'Brien that's in there getting bumped—why I'd be perfectly happy."

GIRLS' TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT P. H. S. IN FULL SWING

Garda defeated Miss Martha Casner, 7-5, 6-4; Miss R. Thomas defeated Miss Ruth Voorhees, 6-2, 6-4; Miss Dorothy Butler defeated Miss Elsa Schwed, 6-2, 6-4.

Doubles—Miss Dorothy Butler and Miss F. Alpaugh defeated Miss Mary Clarke and Miss Lillian Fountain, 6-0, 6-2; the Misses Pauline Gates and Caroline Slauson defeated the Misses Jennie Wheelan and Esther Phillips, 6-1, 6-2.

The matches to be played today are: Singles—Miss Clara Neumann and Miss E. Garda; doubles—Miss Pauline Gates and Miss Caroline Slauson will play Miss Elsa Schwed and Miss Gwendolin Stanton.

HAMILTON'S WARNING.

Holy Cross football team will practice tonight at Hyde Field. Coach Hamilton wants every one out in football togs, as he does not want a repetition of last Saturday's game. Those candidates not coming out will not be allowed to play Saturday.

TAFT REVIEWS FLEET AS IT PASSES TO SEA

New York, Oct. 15 (Special).—Never before has such an armada been brought together for review in American waters as that represented by the 15-mile-long string of war vessels that filed past President Taft and Secretary of the Navy Meyer on this, the crowning day of the great mobilization of the Atlantic fleet. The aggregate tonnage of the craft exceeded 700,000 as compared with 576,634 tons represented in the naval mobilization here last year.

Dressed from stem to stern in a riot of bunting, the gray lines of the warships, with a background formed by the high shores of Manhattan on one side and the New Jersey Palisades on the other, made a magnificent spectacle. Scores of thousands of spectators viewed the scene from both shores and from the docks of beflagged excursion craft that swarmed as close to the ships as the police boats would permit. The excursion craft gave the patrol boats plenty of work. They added many touches of color to the scene, however, and afforded thousands of people an opportunity for a close view of the great naval spectacle.

It was nearly noon when the little white Mayflower, with the President's blue-crested flag at the maintruck, took up her position in the upper bay close by the Statue of Liberty. Aboard the yacht were President Taft and his family, Secretary of the Navy Meyer and a large party of invited guests, the latter including senators, representatives and foreign military attaches from Washington. Another official party was aboard the dispatch boat Dolphin, which took up a position near the Mayflower.

Several hours were consumed in the exchange of official visits and in the final arrangements for the great parade of the gray armada that for nearly a week had swung at anchor in the Hudson. Finally the booming of a gun announced to the thousands of waiting spectators that the great naval spectacle was about to begin.

The battleship Connecticut, flagship of Real Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commander-in-chief of the fleet, led the line down the river and out into the harbor. Following the Connecticut came the latest and greatest battleships of the United States Navy, the new superdreadnoughts Arkansas and Wyoming. The dreadnoughts Utah, North Dakota, Delaware, Michigan and South Carolina looked fully as formidable to the lay spectator as the Arkansas and Wyoming. The older type of battleship was represented by the Missouri, Maine, Illinois, Wisconsin, Alabama, Louisiana, Kansas, Vermont, New Hampshire, Virginia, Nebraska, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Georgia, Minnesota, Ohio, Idaho, Indiana, Massachusetts, Iowa, Kearsargo and Kentucky.

In addition to the mighty array of battleships the line included armored cruisers, scout cruisers, gunboats, mine-laying ships, torpedoboats, torpedoboat destroyers, water tenders, naval tenders, colliers, repair boats, despatch boats and submarines.

Three of the ships in the line—the Massachusetts, the Indiana and the Iowa—had taken the shot and shell of Corvera's fleet at Santiago, while another historic vessel, a battle scarred one, was the old cruiser Baltimore which saw active service with Admiral Dewey at Manila.

As the ships filed past the Mayflower they kept up a constant roar of salutes. The bugles sounded "four ruffles," the signal for the bluejackets to man the rails, while the quarterdecks were black with officers and marine guards. Red-coated bands on the five flagships of the fleet played the National anthem, while "be'suns' whistles" piped out the order of the day.

After passing in review of the President at 12 knots an hour and reaching for the open sea, the fleet was to be disbanded, some of the ships returning to Southern waters while others are to depart for their several home stations to prepare for the winter maneuvers in the South.

The fleet reviewed by the President was not only the most powerful ever gathered in one American command, but was also equally remarkable as a homogeneous fighting force. In comparison with the similar event of last year today's mobilization demonstrated, to all appearances, a considerably greater readiness of vessels in the Atlantic than at any previous time, and indicated the manner in which vessels of the reserve fleet might be called into active service in case of need. Naval officials express the belief that the great gathering of war craft will prove a very valuable form of training to all branches of the navy in co-ordinating and perfecting the many details of preparation for the mobilization of such an impressive force.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF C. E. MISSIONARY COMMITTEE

The Missionary committee of the Union County C. E. Union will hold its annual conference at the First Presbyterian church Friday, October 18, and it is the hope and desire of all the county officers that the various societies will attend the meeting in great numbers.

Miss Julia T. Kerr, chairman of the Missionary committee, has secured the services of the Rev. James Cochran, who has just returned from the missionary field of China. After the conference the members will be at liberty to ask questions of the speaker or give suggestions, after which the society of the First Presbyterian church will serve a light repast.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF PANIC.

New York, Oct. 15 (Special).—In Wall Street today the fact was recalled that this marked the fifth anniversary of the most serious money panic in the experience of the country. Almost unheralded came the financial scare of Oct. 15, 1907, that made the year a black-letter one in the memory of many American citizens. The panic was marked by the most stupendous issue of unauthorized currency in the modern nations. In nearly every large city bank payments were partly suspended, as they were in a vast number of smaller places. Throughout the country a total exceeding $500,000,000 of panic money was issued.

C. E. FIELD WORKER TO SPEAK HERE NEXT SUNDAY

The New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union has secured the services of Karl Lehmann, Interstate Field Secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, for one month, from Oct. 6, 1912, to tour the State, visiting every county and holding conference and rallies under the direction of the various county unions.

The Union County C. E. Union has arranged to have Mr. Lehmann visit the county on October 20 and 21. He will speak in this city at Trinity Reformed church Sunday night, October 20.

SERIES OF P. H. S. LECTURES WILL BE STARTED TOMORROW

A series of lectures will be commenced tomorrow morning at 8:30 in the Plainfield High School auditorium by L. V. F. Randolph.

Mr. Randolph will give an illustrated talk on "Brazil" tomorrow, and on Wednesday, October 23, his subject will be "Argentina and Chili." While on the thirtieth he will speak on "Panama."

Principal Lindsey Best always schedules a list of illustrated talks for the pupils for he believes they tend to broaden the mind, and the students hail the announcement of a lecture with great enthusiasm. Although the talks are mainly intended for the school body, outsiders are always welcome as on previous occasions.

CONTRACTS FOR HEATING BONNIE BURN RESIDENCE

Bids were received yesterday by the Union County Board of Freeholders for installing a heating plant in the home occupied by Dr. J. F. Runnells, the superintendent of Bonnie Burn Sanitarium, there being two from Elizabeth and one from Plainfield contractors. Heald & Kuhn, of Elizabeth, were the lowest, their figures being $597, with H. A. Rath & Co., of Elizabeth, second, with a bid of $648.75. Den. J. Galbraith, of this city, the third bidder, was next highest with a bid of $668. Heald & Kuhn will get the contract.

Thomas West & Co., of Elizabeth, submitted a bid of $1,021.07 for supplying the kitchen furniture and utensils, and that bid will probably be accepted.

The road committee will spend today going over the county roads for the purpose of making arrangements to repair those that need immediate attention. The committee is considering carefully the question of extending the work of oiling roads, since there has been considerable objection to the present method of using oil on the county roads.

ODD TEXT DRAWS LARGE CONGREGATION TO TRINITY

"Comfort Me With Apples, For I Am Sick of Love," was the topic of the sermon by Rev. J. Y. Broek at Trinity Reformed church on Sunday night, which attracted a large congregation. The words of the text were taken from the Song of Solomon. Mr. Broek explained that the entire chapter from which the text was taken is a dialogue between Christ and His church, showing the passionate love of each, expressed in language which two lovers would use.

Mr. Broek said that in the first two verses Christ speaks, He represents Himself as the lily of the valley and the rose of Sharon, thus expressing the beauty, fragrance and purity which is found in Him. Since believers conform to and resemble Christ, they also are called lilies.

Mr. Broek continued: "After these words by Christ as the groom in the prologue of the dialogue, the church as the bride, speaks in terms of passionate love to Christ. As the bride she enjoys the society of Christ, for 'she sat down with delight in the shadow' of the apple tree which tree represents Christ Himself. She was sheltered by Him from the scorching heat and put implicit confidence in his protection.

"She enjoys the entertainment of Christ, for 'He brought me unto His banqueting house and His banner over me was love.' She was entertained in the midst of the banqueting house with a feast of good things. The church as the spouse or bride is overcome by the strong affection and passionate love for Christ. Love reaches its climax. It can say no more, for 'I am sick of love,' meaning thereby that she is conquered now and can resist no longer, the infinite love of Christ. While almost in a state of fainting she utters a plaintive wail and pleads to be comforted with apples, which are the sweet fruits of that tree which is Christ Himself. The entire dialogue points to the exceeding preciousness of Christ, and how much more desirable it is to be sick to the point of yielding to the love of Christ than to be filled with the love of the world."

SUIT AGAIN PUT OFF.

Elizabeth, Oct. 15.—Failure on the part of Hezekiah Hand, a former constable of the Plainfield District Court, to obey a subpoena served on him to appear as a witness in the suit brought by William Lindsey, Jr., of that city, against Melissa Reeves, caused an adjournment of the Circuit Court yesterday. This suit has been on the list in Circuit Court ever since the October term two years ago, and each time had been put off for the term for some cause or other.

Dr. and Mrs. Rushmore left this morning for Richmond, Va., to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Homeopathic Medical Association.

BUSIER TIME FOR C. O. S. WITH ADVENT OF SEPT.

An increase of twelve families under charge, or a total of 92, made a fairly active month for the Charity Organization in September. 265 persons interviewed the secretaries in regard to assisting the work and 270 calls were made by applicants; 346 visits were made by the office staff as compared with 221 in August (a vacation month), 143 letters written, 138 received.

Sickness was present in twenty-seven families known to the society in September; in twenty of these tuberculosis was the disease. Seven patients were unable to employ a doctor and treatment was secured. The new dental clinic was also called upon in two cases and is already proving a great help. Work was found for seven persons, and it was necessary to take five into court, generally because they would not work. The police court renders great assistance to the C. O. S. in making children support parents and vice versa, whenever able. When no support can be found in the family and there is a legal claim upon the city, the society refers such cases to the city. Or sometimes the Anti-tuberculosis League will pay the board of a tubercular patient. One hundred dollars was collected in this way for board during September, and $45 rent.

The society spent $45.94 for clothing, mostly shoes to get children into school at once. $28.92 was spent for milk, and $11 for a nurse's services in the home. In all $243.37 met the demand of the month.

A great deal of second-hand clothing was given away from 12 different packages, received, and the society wishes to thank all those who have contributed to its work, and begs for still more clothing. A wagon will be sent to different addresses to collect all such articles. Telephone 103.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Henrietta Crosman in "The Real Thing," who is billed as the attraction at the Plainfield theatre Thursday night, October 17, will be seen in one of the best roles she has filled for years. If it were made for her it could not suit her better, and undoubtedly Catherine Chisholm Cushing, who wrote it, had in mind just such a woman in the role of the widow. For "The Real Thing" is a widow play. When that is said, its stock goes up about fifty points with the average theatregoer, for it is a stage tradition that widow plays are almost invariably brim full of cleverness, just as it seems to happen that widows are endowed with the same propensity. In "The Real Thing" Miss Crosman takes the part of a widow, who, though not madly in love with her late husband, succeeded in making the matrimonial stakes a success in spite of many obstacles, during his life time. Now that he has departed, she visits her sister Kate, hoping to find ideal happiness in her home. Instead, she finds affairs anything but ideal. The wife, Kate Grayson, she found had become a household drudge, giving all of her time to her very much spoilt children and her household duties, while the husband, craving the companionship which he missed at home, had taken up with a pretty girl next door. She played tennis with him, took the wife's place at the card club, and was known as Mrs. Grayson's "understudy." Imagine a widow standing for conditions like that! The widow that Miss Crosman gives us doesn't stand it for a minute. From the instant that she sets foot in the house she begins her work of "reformation." This she does in so thorough a widowesque, epigrammatic fashion that she fairly takes you off your feet.

In "The Rainbow," which Henry Miller is bringing to the Plainfield theatre on Monday night, Oct. 21, the author has created for Mr. Miller a charming and most human role, and he plays it with a sincerity and tenderness that no audience can escape. He is the father of the story, and the motive of the play is his love for his beautiful and ingenuous young daughter from whom he has been separated for twelve years when the play begins. Fortunately for Mr. Miller he was able to find a young girl whose acting in the role of the daughter is second only to his own. The young woman is Ruth Chatterton, not yet eighteen years old, and she proves herself a sweet, blithe, ingenuous girl without one trace of staginess or artificiality. The other roles of the play are filled by the members of the original New York company.

CARDINAL FARLEY STRONGLY FAVORS TUBERCULOSIS DAY

New York, Oct. 15.—In connection with the campaign for the observance of Tuberculosis Day on October 27, Cardinal Farley has written a letter to Frank H. Mann, secretary of the New York Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis, which is made public today, in which he commends the good work being done in the educational campaign against consumption in New York City and throughout the country and urges churchmen and others to take part in the anti-tuberculosis movement.

Cardinal Farley's letter is a part of his plan to secure the observance of Tuberculosis Day in every parish of his diocese. The Cardinal will send a letter to each priest under his supervision calling upon him to bring the subject of tuberculosis to the attention of his parishoners on October 27, or on some other occasion about that time.

MUHLENBERG BIDS.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital at its monthly meeting, last night, received a partial report from the building committee regarding the bids for the proposed improvements to be made at the hospital. The committee has been busily engaged in going over the different bids for the purpose of learning who was low man. This work is rather difficult for the reason that many of the contractors submitted alternate bids. Nothing else of importance was considered at the meeting, the other business being of a routine nature.

THE GIMBEL SUBWAY STORE

Continues tomorrow and the remainder of the week

The Second Annual Bon Marche Sale of Gloves

Offering the most wanted styles at the lowest prices of the season

The Gimbel Bon Marche Sale of Gloves is one of the most important events in the Glove world. The extraordinary offerings are well known to every woman in Greater New York, from the extensive advertising and selling the first week of the sale.

Now the Gimbel Subway Store's Bon Marche Sale of Gloves commands attention. The second game in the series, if you please. planned and prepared by the same corps of experts, on the same basis of wonderful value giving and quality, and—

A readjustment of our stocks enriches the sale with over 2,500 pairs of kid gloves for women at an average of less than half price.

Making all told a great assemblage of the most desirable gloves for women at these wonderfully low prices:

Two-Clasp Glace Gloves, 75c Pair
Imported directly by us because we were not satisfied with the usual 75c Gloves. In white, black, gray and tan.

Tan Cape Walking Gloves, 85c Pair
A small lot from one of our regular makers, pique-sewn, spear backs, one metal clasp. Usual $1 to $1.50 grades.

2,500 pairs of Women's Kid Gloves at 68c pair.
The usual prices, $1.15, $1.50 and $2; now 68c pair.
So great a bargain looks almost incredible at first glance. Here is the reason: Too many different lines, and not too careful handling, demand a prompt readjustment of our stocks, as noted above. Many of the gloves are very slightly soiled on the top folded edge from improper stock keeping. Otherwise, they are fine kid gloves, from the best makers of Grenoble, France; 1 and 2-clasp; overseam and pique sewn; in black, white, tan and all the good colors; regularly $1.15, $1.50 and $2, now 68c. pair.

1,200 pairs of sixteen-button $2.50 Lambskin Gloves, $1.85.
They, too are from France, from one of our best makers; beautifully made, from what the trade term "weighty skins," yet so nicely finished that they may be worn on all occasions, and will wear a long time; overseam sewn, with filet back; black and white; usually $2.50, in this sale at $1.85.

One-Clasp Pique Lambskin Gloves, 85c Pair
For early Fall wear; in black, white, black-and-white, white with black, gray, brown and tan. One row embroidered back.

$1.75 White Gloves, 12-Button, $1.35 Pair
Of soft lambskin, finely finished; American made.

A Great Assemblage of Women's Tailored Suits and Coats in an Extraordinary Four Days' Sale

It is well known that nothing works against business more seriously than unreasonable weather. For this reason we found many good manufacturers who were overloaded and willing to cut the prices to cost and less to get a part or all of their holdings into this eventful sale.

In assembling this great collection we have picked from a wonderful variety, choosing only models that are most approved this season.

Savings of a quarter to a third at these prices—

The Coats at $7.50
Over 200 exceptionally attractive coats. The materials are mainly the new mixtures in semi-fitted or the straight line models, three-quarter and full length; all at $7.50.

The Coats at $9.50

Also full length coats of fashionable chinchilla cloth, in blue and gray. One model illustrated. Another favorite is a full-length coat of the extremely popular boucle cloth, button-to-the-neck model, in blue and black. All at $9.50.

The Coats at $10.50
A quite extensive variety, among them coats of storm serges kerseys and broadcloth, in plain tailored and effectively trimmed models, that might be called staple styles, because such coats are always in demand. Then there are coats of thick, warm, mixed fabrics, with plaid backs; coats of boucle and zebra cloth; mainly full-length, buttoned-to-the-neck models. All at $10.50.

The Coats at $12.50
Smart English Ulsters; big, loose coats, excellent for traveling and automobiling. Splendid coats of dependable Thibet cloth, with checked or plaid backs, in light and dark gray and navy; mainly the loose, [illegible] model; some, however, with fitted back. All at $12.50.

Also full lined black broadcloth coats; all at $14.50. Subway Store, Balcony.

The Suits at $7.50
A plain tailored model that fits exceptionally well and is one of the best liked styles of the season.
The illustration shows the good lines. The materials are smart gray and tan mixtures, also cheviots and serges, in tan, brown, blue and black. The coat is the favored 32-inch length, slightly cutaway. The cheviot and serge suits have an inlaid corduroy collar. At $7.50.

The Suits at $15
Six of our handsome models. The model illustrated must be seen to fully appreciate its unusual quality. The handsome 32-inch coat is trimmed with buttons and braid to give the effect of an Empire back. A touch of gold at the collar and cuffs adds another note of distinction. The serge, of which the suit is made, is of excellent quality—blue or black. Another particularly good model is splendidly tailored, of two-toned diagonal serge. A cutaway model, fastening with two large buttons and velvet collar. $15.
Subway Store—Balcony

The Suit illustrated is a copy of an exceedingly well liked Imported Model, selling at more than double. The material is a handsome homespun, in blue and black. The Suits at $12.75
The model illustrated is one of our very best sellers. The deep wide revers give the suit a decided air of distinction. The coat fastens with two silk frogs, the only other trimmings being velvet, or self-covered buttons. This suit may be had in wide wale serges, in blue or black—New English mixtures. Another model of fine blue or black serge, strictly tailored, is of far better than the usual quality at $12.75.

CANDIDATES ON VIEW

Leighton Calkins Says Voters Are all Progressive at Heart and That Human Rights, Not Abstract Issues, Are at Stake.

National, county and local issues were discussed at a massmeeting held at Reform Hall last night, arranged principally for the purpose of ratifying the nominations. The presence of the county and local nominees for the first time at a public meeting aroused some interest, especially because they were to declare where they stood on certain questions.

John Carroll, of the Third ward, was made chairman. The meeting was preceded by music by St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps. A majority of the local and county candidates occupied seats on the platform, the absentees being William N. Runyon, candidate for Congress, and William F. Arnold, the candidate for city treasurer. U. B. Crane, the candidate for Council in the First ward, occupied a seat in the audience, but was not invited to speak.

The speakers were William Dulles, candidate for the Assembly in Bergen county, who discussed national and State issues; Assemblyman George L. Babcock; William Groves, who made a few remarks on the situation in the State; Surrogate George T. Parrot, who endorsed the whole ticket; former City Judge William R. Codington, the candidate for mayor; Leighton Calkins, candidate for Council in the Third ward; Francis J. Blatz, candidate for Council in the Fourth ward, and William R. Townsend, candidate for tax collector.

During the discussion of political questions, the attempt to take Theodore Roosevelt's life in Milwaukee was not overlooked, and it was not only referred to by several speakers, but a resolution expressing regret and sympathy, which was offered by Judge Codington, was adopted, and

After telephoning to the local fire department that her house was on fire this morning, Mrs. George D. Greenleaf, wife of Councilmanic Candidate Greenleaf, from the Fourth ward, of 916 West Front street, street, fought the blaze herself and succeeded in extinguishing the flames before the fire apparatus arrived.

The fire was caused when a lace curtain hanging over a lighted electric bulb became ignited. Although Mrs. Greenleaf put the larger part of the blaze out with pails of water, she extinguished stray flames with her hands, which were badly burned. About $100 damage was caused.

ELMER E. RUNYON HAS PASSED AWAY

Heart Disease Proves Fatal to one of the Community's Most Popular Members.

FOUGHT HARD TO LIVE

Prominent Resident Widely Known Had Sunny Disposition—Long in Business With His Father as Undertaker—Member of Many Lodges

Elmer E. Runyon, one of the most prominent and popular men in the community, died at 6 o'clock this morning on his farm on Park avenue, near Oak Tree, where since June 9th last, he had been making a heroic fight for restoration to health. Although suffering from what seemed to be an incurable disease of the heart, neither Mr. Runyon nor his physician gave up hope until the end. Several times his condition was such that it was thought he could not live, yet he rallied and improved to such an extent that he was able to sit out on his porch. However, his strength began to fail him and the past few days it was noticed that the end was near. His death was a great shock to the community, and expressions of sincere regret have been heard throughout the city.

Mr. Runyon was born August 11, 1861, in a house which at the time stood on West Third street, nearly opposite Arlington avenue, and he had always lived in this city. He attended the Plainfield public schools and in 1875 he entered the undertaking business with his father, Alexander M. Runyon, which partnership continued until the death of the son. The firm is widely known throughout the State and in New York.

Mr. Runyon married Miss Jennie Vosseller, daughter of James Vosseller, former county clerk of Union county, and by the union there were two sons, Chauncey Field Runyon, who died when a small boy, and Kenneth Runyon, now twenty years of age.

Mr. Runyon was a member of the Congregational church, and the following fraternal organizations: Salaam Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles Mystic Shrine, Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M.; Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M.; Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T.; Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E.; Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F.; Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P.; Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., and in each one he always evidenced considerable interest.

Possessing a particularly happy and genial disposition, Mr. Runyon had the faculty of making and keeping friends. He always had a good word for everyone. He had considerable musical talent, and for many years during his younger days he sang in the Plainfield Choral Society and was also tenor soloist at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

Mr. Runyon's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Runyon, died December 16, 1911, and on May 14, 1912, his brother, Frank Willits Runyon, former editor of the Courier-News, and widely known as a newspaperman, passed away.

The funeral services will be held at the late home, 608 Madison avenue, Friday night at 8 o'clock. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church; Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, and Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

PRAYER FOR ROOSEVELT.

At the Progressive Dollar Dinner in the Park Club last night Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, offered this eloquent prayer:

"Almighty God, our Father in Heaven, we seek thy favor and thy blessing upon this group of men gathered here this evening. We are met in the cause of human progress, of honest government, of civic righteousness. We are met in the cause of social and industrial justice for all alike, that oppression in all forms may cease, and cease because men have it in their hearts to help rather than to hinder. Give us wisdom and discretion, and strength and courage, to fight the battles that have been set for us. And, O Lord, just now our hearts are sad and we are in anxiety because he who is the leader in this cause, is in peril. Forgive, we pray thee, any man who has it in his heart to take the life of this beloved leader, and if it be thy will, O God, spare, O spare, his life, that he may lead us on to victory and success. But the cause is greater than the life of any man, and in our efforts keep us true and faithful to what is right and best. Amen."

CHANDLER IS ELOQUENT

Says Time Has Come When Catholic or Jew Is Fit For Presidency—Ennis Sure Movement Will Win.

That the death knell of religious bigotry in politics had been sounded by the action of the New York Progressives in nominating a member of the Jewish faith as their candidate for Governor was declared by Walter M. Chandler, a speaker at the Progressive dollar dinner last night. He emphasized it as the most significant feature of the present political upheaval.

The dinner was held at the Park Club and was attended by about 200 members of the new party from Plainfield and North Plainfield. The invocation was said by Rev. Edwin Shaw, of the Seventh Day Baptist church, and in it he prayed for speedy recovery of Colonel Roosevelt from the bullet wound inflicted at Milwaukee on Tuesday night. Mr. Shaw was very eloquent in his remarks about the injured leader of the cause which was being furthered at last night's meeting.

Stanley E. Gunnison, who is the progressive candidate for Council in the Second ward, acted as toastmaster in the absence of Mayor Moy, who was detained by illness. He said in opening that the news of the last twenty-four hours had brought American citizenship to a clearer realization of our shortcomings with greater force than any other act since the shooting of McKinley, but added that was of the position he occupied in a salutatory rather than an informatory character and he called upon Mr. Chandler, who is the progressive nominee for Congress in the 19th New York district.

In opening his remarks Mr. Chandler said that he did not consider the Progressive movement in its most accurate sense, a progressive one.

TWO SPILLS ON MIDWEEK RUN OF WATCHUNG HUNTERS

The members of the Watchung Hunt Club enjoyed their mid-week run this morning, starting from the kennels at 6 o'clock. The cool, crisp air put the riders on edge and the hounds were very fast. Thrown in on the Ballentine farm, the hounds led the riders a merry chase across fields, past the New Brooklyn pond, and then circled around going to Terrill road, jumping numerous fences.

There were two spills, Lawrence B. Smith going into a wide ditch, near Terrill road, and Harry L. Finch also going into a ditch in the same neighborhood. Neither rider was injured and they were able to finish. The run ended up on Scott Terry's farm. The following rode: R. C. Finch, M. F. H.; Lawrence B. Smith, first whip; R. H. Towner, J. J. O'Donohue, J. Schuyler Casey, H. L. Finch, C. E. S. Bellows and huntsman Harrison.

ROOSEVELT RESTS EASY; NOT TO OPERATE TODAY

Physicians' Statement Shows That Colonel's Condition is Excellent and He Suffers Little Pain.

Chicago, Oct. 16, 1 p. m.—Dr. Terrell announced at noon that Col. Roosevelt's wound would not be probed today.

Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning the following bulletin was issued at the Mercy Hospital on the condition of Mr. Roosevelt:

"The records show that Col. Roosevelt passed a very good night. His temperature and pulse are normal. His highest pulse since 9 o'clock last night was 80 and temperature 98.6, and his pulse at 6 o'clock this morning was 74; his temperature, 96.6 and respiration, 20. He is having less irritation of his pleura from the injured rib than he did yesterday. He did not have to have any anodyne for the pain. General condition excellent. (Signed) Dr. John B. Murphy; Dr. Arthur Dean; Dr. Scurry, L. Terrell.

Dr. Lambert, Col. Roosevelt's family physician, who arrived this morning, said: "I have made no physical examination of Col. Roosevelt. He appears to be resting easily."

Bulletins issued from the bedside of the invalid from the start today were most encouraging. The first was given to the waiting newspapermen shortly before seven o'clock, and it stated that the Colonel had passed a restful night and that his spirits continued to be good. Later a formal bulletin was issued by the doctors in which he was reported as continuing favorable, with a temperature of 98.6; pulse, 74, and respiration 20, which are about normal.

The colonel's speaking tour has been abandoned and all dates canceled. If possible the colonel will make one more speech before election day, however. The Progressive national committee will arrange to have him speak at Madison Square Garden, in New York, on Oct. 26 if he recovers sufficiently by that time.

While disinclined to talk for publication except for the official bulletins issued, it may be said that the surgeons base a large amount of hope for the ultimate recovery on his remarkable physique. In the evening bulletin they characterized his physical condition as excellent and due to habitual exercise and constant abstinence from liquor and tobacco.

The colonel was not allowed to receive many visitors through the day. Many called, but few got past the front gate of the hospital, which is carefully guarded by a police official.

A caller of yesterday afternoon was Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, but, finding the colonel asleep, she said she would return later. When she returned the second time the patient was being examined by physicians, and she went away without seeing him. A second time she was accompanied by Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen. The colonel was greatly disappointed at not seeing Miss Addams.

For awhile in the evening Colonel Roosevelt sat in bed propped up by pillows, with books and magazines stacked up around him. His telegrams he had read and answered, leaving those coming after 8 p. m. to be answered today.

With his spectacles comfortably adjusted, all his books within reach, his downy pillow replaced by cushions of curled hair, he told Miss Margaret Fitzgerald, the night nurse assigned to his room, that all he wanted was within his reach and that no one need worry about him till he began worrying for them. Within five minutes the crowds had gone and the hospital gave no indication that it housed an injured former president.

He bade the last of his callers good night and prepared for a comfortable night. He said he felt fine and told Dr. John F. Golden, who is keeping watch over him, that unless the final injection of tetanus and antitoxin interfered he would have the "first real comfortable evening to himself" he had enjoyed in many days. The colonel laid aside his book a few minutes after 9 and switched off his reading light. He was soon fast asleep. Dr. Murphy went into the room at 9:30 and found him sound asleep. The pulse was 80 when taken before he dropped to sleep. This is two points higher than it was last night after the shooting, and fourteen above normal. His temperature was three-fifths of a degree above normal.

Killarney roses. The bridemaids were Miss Evaneline Cozzens, of Yonkers, N. Y., and Miss Helen Moore Cruikshank, of this city. They wore gowns of white satin with green chiffon, caught up with pink rose buds and carried pink roses. Marie Anderson, a niece of the bridegroom, and Mary Elizabeth Stockton, of this city, were flower girls. They wore white lace dresses trimmed with pink and carried white cosmos.

The best man was Alfred Fitz Roy Anderson, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Francis Parsons Wilcox, Dudley Mellen Wilcox, Rupert W. Anderson and Herbert Langford, of this city; Robert Olyphant and Robert Livingston, of New York.

As the bridal party entered the church, S. Frederick Smith, who presided at the organ, played the Mendelssohn wedding march, and as the party left the church the wedding march from Lohengrin was played. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was attended by more than two hundred guests. During the reception music was furnished by VanEpps Brothers. Supper was served, and later the couple left on a wedding trip. They will reside at Watchung upon their return.

The decorations at the church were green and white, palms and chrysanthemums being used about the chancel and altar. At the house the decorations were green and white in the reception room, green and pink in the dining room and larger room. Killarney roses were used effectively throughout.

The bride was the recipient of a large collection of gifts. Mrs. Anderson is a graduate of the Plainfield High School and is a favorite in a wide circle of acquaintances. Mr. Anderson is connected with the Atlantic Mutual Marine Fire Insurance Company, of New York. He is superintendent of the Sunday-school at Holy Cross church and active in the work of that parish.

ERNEST K. COULTER SPEAKS ON BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT

Ernest K. Coulter, originator of the Big Brother movement, spoke of his work and the Big Brothers' field at the first fall meeting of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last evening.

Mr. Coulter was formerly connected with the Children's Court, of New York. His Big Brother plan is to get men to pledge themselves to take care of delinquent boys, such as run unchecked around the streets of the large cities. Each man pledges himself to take some boy and give personal attention to him—be his "big brother."

The members of the club voted to pay the tuition fees of two boys in the Y. M. C. A. night school. Following the business meeting a social time was enjoyed.

Once the whole world laughed at ready made clothes.

Now the laugh's on the other fellow.

The fat and the lean, the tall and the short all alike find equal satisfaction in ready-to-wear clothes.

Especially in a store like ours.

DROWNED IN CANAL LOCK AT BOUND BROOK

Shoemaker Never Rose to Surface After Slipping into the Water.

William P. Thomas, of South Bound Brook, fell in the canal lock about 8 o'clock last evening and was drowned. Mr. Thomas was formerly a shoemaker at LaRue & Brother's store. About two years ago he bought a place on Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook, where he followed his trade as a shoemaker. At spare times, working in a machine shop at New Brunswick during the day time.

Last night he went down to the lock at about 7:30 o'clock and was in the lock-tender's office for a short while talking with John Carman, the tender. He and Carman were walking along the lock toward the bridge when he lost his balance and fell into about eight feet of water. Carman procured a rope and waited for Thomas to come to the surface. After waiting in vain for several minutes, Mr. Carman called to Adam Zimmerman, Jr., and George Stephenson, who were standing on the bridge below the lock. They secured a boathook and soon brought the body from the bottom of the lock to the bank where Doctor Robinson examined it and pronounced life extinct.

Mr. Thomas leaves a wife and two small children, who were heartbroken when the news was carried to them by Martin Herman and Louis Ulner. Mr. Thomas was a member of Pioneer Council, No. 58, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Bound Brook, and Lewis Parker Lodge, No. 276, I. O. O. F.

PTOMAINES WRECK PRE-NUPTIAL PARTY

All the Guests Poisoned by Toadstools Mistaken for Mushrooms.

What was meant for a happy party, given last night in honor of Miss Catherine Tessie Cugniano, of West Third street, who is to be married Saturday, turned out to be one big case for Dr. P. B. Cregar. During the evening a dinner was served. With one of the courses mushrooms were served. They were purchased in this city, but it was found out later that they were picked in nearby fields. A short time after eating the mushrooms the diners were seized with severe pains. In a few minutes they were all practically helpless.

Dr. P. B. Cregar was called by one of the neighbors and pronounced the attacks ptomaine poisoning. The sufferers were the Misses Catherine Tessie Cugniapo, Pauline Chico, Philomeno Golassi, Philomena Chico, Mrs. Mary Diperro, Frank Chico and Charles Cugliano.

This afternoon the victims were resting fairly comfortably and all had a good chance for recovery.

AUTO VICTIM DIES; UNCONSCIOUS A WEEK

Chauffeur of Car That Killed Him Charged With Manslaughter.

Never regaining consciousness after being hit by an automobile driven by Benjamin Urquhart, colored, and owned by George A. Bomann, of 815 Hillside avenue, Fred Johansen, of 50 Pearl street, North Plainfield, died late last night in Muhlenberg Hospital. The accident occurred last Wednesday, in East Seventh street, between Woodland avenue and Central street. Urquhart, who has been at liberty under bonds of $300, furnished by Mr. Bomann, will be rearrested today and charged with manslaughter.

Johansen was employed by Charles C. Burke, of 5 Ravine road, as a gardener and was returning home from work on the night of the accident on his bicycle. The chauffeur claims the victim, while traveling in the same direction as the automobile, suddenly cut across the road in direct path of the speeding machine, being hit with great force and thrown to the ground.

A native of Denmark, Mr. Johansen came to this country with his wife, in 1882, when he was twenty-six years old, setting in Flemington. He had been a resident of North Plainfield for sixteen years, and was an active member of the Red Men, who will hold services at the grave in North Plainfield cemetery. Mr. Johansen was also a member of Silver Cross Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, of Whitehouse, where he lived for several years previous to coming to the borough. Besides his wife, a daughter, Miss Ruth Johansen, and a son, Andrew Johnsen, survive.

Funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will be held Friday afternoon from his late home.

WEST END GANGSTERS WARNED BY COURT

DeMeza Says Rowdies Will Receive Severe Penalties in Future.

William Doyle, the last of a trio of alleged gangsters to be brought before City Judge De Meza for having assauled Aloysius Nadle, of 315 Liberty street, Sunday night, pleaded guilty to the charge this morning and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or spend 60 days in the county jail. He was arrested yesterday on Liberty street by Captain Frederickson. The other offenders were John Day, of 611 Spooner avenue, who was given a similar sentence yesterday and Gustave Kirch, of 420 West Firth street, who was given a reprimand and sentence suspended.

Doyle and Day both have had records, having been arrested several times before on charges of petty larceny, gambling and assault and battery. The police claim they are members of a gang who have been causing the local authorities no end of trouble. Judge De Meza in placing sentence on the two youths, said he was determined to stop the lawlessness caused by them and their associates, in the West End, and that future cases would be dealt with more severely.

CHURCH CLUB FORMED.

G. O. P. HOLD MEETING

a copy directed to be sent to the family of the former President.

Mr. Carroll reviewed briefly the achievements of the Republican party, pointing out some of the more important things accomplished which in his opinion warranted the full support of the entire ticket. Mr. Dulles, the first speaker, declared that the Republican party was one of progress and construction, while the Democratic party was one of destruction. He asserted that high wages, such as are enjoyed now, are preferable to an open market and low wages. He criticized in a friendly way, for he said he was a personal friend of Governor Wilson, some of the latter's actions and declarations of principles.

Referring to Roosevelt, Mr. Dulles said that he did not intend to overthrow the Constitution, but simply wants to make it so flexible as to give a greater openness and in his opinion Roosevelt wants to go too far in his proposed changes. The speaker touched on the tariff, adding that the country is prosperous under the present laws. He objected to a play on words as exemplified by Roosevelt and Wilson, and in conclusion appealed to the audience to give Taft a fair chance.

Assemblyman George L. Babcock spoke briefly, declaring that his only ambition was to give the people fair, safe and sane legislation. He said that it was his privilege last year to vote for the grade crossing, jury reform and Morris Canal bills., If the people want him to continue as a member of the Legislature, he declared his willingness to give them the best possible service. Assemblyman William Groves said that he hoped the people would like the record of the Assemblymen to such an extent that they would be returned for another term.

Surrogate Parrot spoke for the entire ticket and he struck a popular chord when he said he regretted that feature of the primary law this year had prevented Plainfield from having a Republican representation on the Board of Freeholders, adding that it is not fair. Mr. Parrot said that there should be no partisanship in the conduct of the office he holds and declared that if the people desired he would continue to serve them faithfully.

Judge Codington, the mayoralty candidate, making his first public speech since the primaries, declared himself to be in favor of the improvements of the outlying streets of the city, better street lighting, and while the fire and police departments are excellent he thought they could be improved. He said that he was in favor of a more equitable tax assessment so that the small property-owner would have a fair chance. He touched on the water and sewer questions, asserting that he thought it too bad that the Mayor and Common Council is not in harmony regarding these matters. He expressed his disgust over the wrangling on these questions, and thought all should work hard for the best interests of the taxpayers, and if elected he promised to do his best to serve the taxpayers.

William R. Townsend, who is now seeking another term, said that if elected he would strive to fill the office of tax collector in a faithful manner, as in the past.

"I am not here to urge my own fitness for office, but I want to say just a word on what I regard as the dominant issue in American politics. I believe that the people as a whole, regardless of party, are progressive at heart and are chiefly interested not in tariffs and trusts and the other abstract issues, but in the fundamental rights of humanity and in the question whether democracy in this country is going to stand the test of political and commercial greed; and whether the people are going to be able to put honest and public spirited men into office and keep them there. The people are a little distrustful of platforms, and issues; and are groping about for rugged integrity and honesty of purpose, and a little less of politics and a little more substantial patriotism and disinterested public service.

"Applied to local conditions, this means that the people of Plainfield, while interested in our local questions, such as water, sewage, well-lighted streets, the public health and the public safety, are at bottom mainly concerned in getting a higher standard than ever before of integrity, industry, and non-partisan efficiency in the administration of city affairs. The time has gone by for average honesty and average efficiency. Public office is a public trust; but so also is citizenship, and voters as well as candidates must feel the touch of civic responsibility, if the people of this community are going to have not just a place to live in, but a city whose administration by the effective application of business principles to a business proposition, will commend their pride and their respect."

Francis J. Blatz, the councilmanic candidate from the Fourth ward, declared himself in favor of abolishing executive sessions of the Council, that there should be a "people's hour" when the citizens can appear before that body and present matters of interest to them. He believed the Council should take the people into its confidence. He felt sure that the Fourth ward is being neglected, especially as to street improvements and cited West Third street as an example. He also said that he favored better street lighting, and is opposed to the Fourth ward being made a "dumping ground" for everything. If elected he promised to put up an imaginary sign at the entrance to the ward, to read "No Dumping in the Fourth Ward."

The regular meeting of the First Ward Republican Club was held last evening in Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.'s office. The meeting was postponed until Friday night when the returns of a house to house canvass will be compared with the old registration lists.

NO VERDICT FOR BUSS IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

In the District Court this morning a jury of twelve men failed to find any cause for action in the case of William Buss, Sr., against Frank Stillwell, to secure payment to cover physician's bill made necessary by the alleged assault on Buss' son at the hands of Stillwell, early in June. The father claimed that his son was laid up and suffered severe pain from injuries sustained at the hands of Stillwell.

Stillwell claimed through his counsel, V. W. Nash, Jr., ahat he had in no way injured the Buss boy and had simply reprimanded him for throwing stones at his poultry.

After a deliberation of ten minutes the jury returned a verdict of no cause for action. The jury consisted of Hugh Todd, foreman; Cyrus Boice, Cormick McDonough, Joseph Sheppard, Theodore Gray, Fred McDonald, Frank Corriell, John Casey, James Flemming, Harry W. Marshall, Hudson Kitchell and George York.

DOCTRINE FOR SUFFRAGISTS

Miss Carpenter began by referring to the two great political parties which attended the Chicago convention and describing the beginning of the Progressive party. Miss Carpenter enlightened her audience regarding some aspects of immigration by describing the conditions as they now exist.

Miss Carpenter contrasted the superior industrial conditions of Germanywith the short-sighted policy of England wherefor three or four generations starvation wages have been paid resultingin marked physical deterioration of the race. The question of the minimum wage and the eight hour working day for women in factories was dwelt upon. Miss Carpenter closed her address with an appeal to women to stand for the protection of life.

The next speaker was Mrs. Frank Pattison, of Colonia, ex-president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and vice chairman of the Progressive party of Middlesex county. Women, said Mrs. Pattison, are the great aducators of public opinion. There should be no separate woman's committees but men and women should work side by side. Of the sixty-three countries of New York there are now, said she, twenty-three counties which are organized with one woman on each committee. Political work for women is now a social necessity, a religious opportunity and a peace motive and will prove to be a liberal education for all.

"See what you can do personally," said the speaker. "Go to your district committeeman and ask what you can do? He won't know, and you'll have to suggest it!"

Mrs. Pattison eulogized Roosevelt as the greatest genius who has ever been produced upon American soil, with Governor Johnson as a close second.

ALBERT H. ATTERBURY ON TARIFF BURDENS

Free Trade Night at the Wilson and Marshall Club.

A number of members of the Wilson and Marshall Club furnished the oratorical talent at the meeting of that organization last night in Sebring's Auditorium. Albert H. Atterbury talked on he "Burden of the Tariff," but his addressdwelt more on his own personal ideas and beliefs, than on the policy of the Democratic party. Mr. Atterbury and J. W. Harrison, the next speaker, are both free traders and spoke in support of tariff for revenue only.

H. F. Fox told of his own experience as a member of various committees during the McKinley administration appearingbefore the Ways and Means Committee. He termed tariff making a matter of bargaining among the Congressmen, who he said almost to a man are representing some large manufacturer or monopoly; the consumer has no one to represent his interests. To this fact he attributes the present high tariff rate.

Among theother members who made addresses were A. C. Pleydell and Councilmanic Candidate Perkins, of North Plainfield, and J. W. Harrison. E. Calvin Brodhead presided.

It was decided during the business session to hold several open air meetings at different sections of the city, Saturday night. Among the stops to be made will be at the intersections of Madison avenue and West Front street and Park avenue and Second street. The speakers will include H. F. Fox, Albert H. Atterbury and J. W. Harrison.

BIGOTRY IN POLITICS.

Time was when religious bigotry played an important part in deciding the fate of candidates for office and particularly was this most unfortunately true of the Presidency, the most exalted office to which any man on this mundane sphere can hope to aspire. But times change and men with them. As the years come and go we find that the people are becoming broader and bigger and better. Today, the Know-Nothing Party, for example, would find no place in American politics or in American life.

At the Progressives' dollar dinner last night, Walter M. Chandler, a New York lawyer, commented on this happy change. We might disagree with his claiming for the Progressives the credit for having sounded the death-knell to religious bigotry in politics and there is not the slightest question but that the nomination of a distinguished member of the Jewish faith for the Governorship of New York was a fine example of political courage and deserves the warmest commendation. As Mr. Chandler said: "No test of religious faith should be made in selecting men for office and I believe the time has come when either a Jew or a Catholic is fit to be President of the United States, provided he is honest, able and energetic."

The good Father Bogan, in the Messenger this week, presents a phase of this subject which is fitting to reproduce in this connection. He says:

"There has been so much talk of late concerning the Catholic in politics, and the 'Catholic vote' that it is positively refreshing to read the following pertinent editorial expression, which eminently sets forth the Catholic position, from our esteemed contemporary, America:

"'First of all, while there are some three million Catholic voters in the United States, there is, in the political sense, no "Catholic vote." Catholics may be, and are, Democrats and Republicans, even Prohibitionists, and are probably as divided about the merits of the various candidates in either party as are other citizens. Catholics have, and in their political affiliations are guided by, as large a variety of vews on the tariff, arbitration treaties, judiciary powers, capital and labor, electoral methods and executive authority as other Americans, and cast their votes accordingly. Politico-religious questions, which are remotely contingent, and which any candidate who is likely to become President could treat in only one way, have slight influence, if any, on their political action. It is not the Catholic clergy who deliver political harangues from the pulpit, and it is not for political but for religious and ethical instruction and the worship of their Maker that Catholics go to church.

"'Second, Catholic doctrine directs its adherents to cast their votes according to their moral and civic sense of what is best for the country's welfare. The Catholic church stands for social and civic purity, for public and private honesty. To her it was said, "The poor shall be always with you," and she stands for the protection of the poor and equal justice to the weak. For her own adherents, as for men of all creeds and sections, she claims equal justice in legislation and administration, no more and no less. Should injustice be inflicted in either branch Catholic voters would be unworthy both as Catholics and as citizens if they failed to record their resentment by their votes. Fortunately, their extraordinary growth in numbers and influence have made the need of so exercising their civil rights increasingly improbable.

"'Third, Catholics have a right to resent being made, owing to their increase in voting strength, the shuttlecock of parties or candidates. They judge candidates on their merits from the point of view of national needs and personal and political worth, and in turn they expect candidates to rely on their principles and merits and not on the advocacy of anti-Catholic bigots. They are not forgetful of officials who have done them justice while in power, since these have so far proven themselves true to the principles of the Constitution, and neither will they forget that such candidates as profit by and fail to repudiate anti-Catholic calumnies of their opponents are untrue to the first principles of American citizenship.'"

ELMER E. RUNYON.

To numberless people in this community, irrespective of creed or condition, the death of Elmer E. Runyon brings a sense of poignant personal loss, truly evidenced by the universal expressions of sorrow heard on every side today. The rich and poor alike; the great and the lowly, to all of whom he has ministered in darkest hours, are payng loyal and unaffected tribute to the memory of a kindly, gracious man who ever gave them of his best, and whose going to his long home leaves them sorely bereft.

As a citizen, no man in the city bore a more blameless reputation and the very nature of his business, bringing him as it did, into the presence of those newly stricken and despairing, called forth the display of a character, so gentle and sympathetic as to inspire the heart broken with new hope and courage.

Peace to his ashes, for in truth we shall not see his like again.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE AT TARRYTOWN

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Two women were burned to death; two others received injuries that may prove fatal and thirty persons narrowly escaped death in a fire that destroyed the three and four story flat building owned by Samuel Cohen, on Beekman avenue, North Tarrytown, today. The fire was marked by spectacular rescues by police and firemen who with clothes lines hurriedly stripped from poles in adjoining yards lowered men, women and children to the ground. The loss will exceed $50,000.

FIRE COMMITTEE WROTH OVER GRAFT INTIMATION

New Brunswick, Oct. 16.—Resenting the intimation that the committee had been "fixed" in its proposed purchase of a motor fire truck, members of the fire committee of the New Brunswick Common Council, in Council session, took the Liberty Hose Company committee to task for not making public at once the contents of a letter in which the intimation was made.

The fire committee's statement sets forth that C. J. Kuhn, Jr., chairman of the Liberty Hose Company committee, had received a letter from Charles H. Meigs, of the Kanawha Chemical Company, saying a Mr. Cross, of the Robinson Fire Apparatus Company, "had the fire committee fixed here in New Brunswick."

The letter should have been shown at once to the fire committee, the report states, instead of being kept by Mr. Kuhn until formal demand was made for it in committee of the whole October 11.

The committee further quoted a petition of Liberty Company of last February, asking for a motor truck and later asked for another make of machine. This alleged change of front is declared by the committee to be an evidence of insincerity on the part of the Liberty company.

The fire committee is composed of Aldermen Henry Seiffert, William Goodwin and F. W. Miller, Jr.

MRS. BECKER TESTIFIES IN ROSENTHAL CASE TODAY

New York, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Herman Rosenthal was the first witness to take the stand in the Becker trial this morning. She was dressed in conventional mourning and was pale and appeared to be very nervous and spoke in a tone which was scarcely audible. She testified that she knew Charles Becker, having met him first at the Elks' Club last Thanksgiving. Mrs. Rosenthal further testified that her husband and Becker had not been acquainted before that time.

Mrs. Rosenthal testified that the next meeting between herself, husband and Becker took place on New Year's eve. Becker put his arms around Herman's shoulder and said: "Herman how is things." Herman replied: "Not very good." Becker then said: "Well, Herman, don't worry, I'll fix you up and give you some money and everything will be all right." The next meeting took place at the Rosenthal house. The last time Mrs. Rosenthal saw Becker was when the latter raided the Rosenthal house. Mrs. Rosenthal was excused shortly before noon.

William Averst, chauffeur for Col. Stenberger, who drove Becker in the auto on the night of the murder was the next witness called. Mr. Moss had called for the wife of Jack Rose to come to the stand, but she did not report to her name.

The next witness after Averst was Anna Cletner, a sister of Jack Rose.

Just before recess Assistant District Attorney Moss announced that the prosecution expected to complete its case today.

AID SOCIETY SUPPER.

The first supper this season held by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening in the banquet room of the church was pronounced a decided success. More than 150 persons were served during the evening. An entertainment was furnished after the supper by a women's quartet made up of Mrs. Bender, Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Tugwell and Mrs. Moyer. They sang a number of selections and were encored repeatedly. Randall H. Trumpy also sang several tenor solos. Mrs. H. E. Parker read selections of James Whitcomb Riely's poems. The committee in charge of the supper was all the women who belongs to the Ladies' Aid Society, whose names began with the first three letters of the alphabet. Mrs. C. M. Anderson, wife of the pastor, acted as chairman of the committee.

L. V. F. RANDOLPH LECTURES ON BRAZIL AT HIGH SCHOOL

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph delivered the first of his series of three lectures before the student body of the Plainfield High School, this morning, with a travel talk on "Brazil." Mr. Randolph has traveled extensively.

His talk at the High School was delivered from an instructive point of view, and was a particularly interesting one to the pupils as Arthur V. Lindsey, a member of the senior class, has just left for his home in Brazil, where he intends to introduce certain American ideas. The speaker dwelt at length on the various industries of the warmer climate and the manner in which the natives live. His talk was illustrated by a number of stereopticon views taken during the course of his travels.

The second lecture will be delivered by Mr. Randolph on "Argentina and Chili" next Wednesday morning and on the following Wednesday he will talk on "Panama."

AT THE BECKER TRIAL.

Rev. Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was a keenly interested observer at the Becker trial in New York yesterday. He had a seat alongside District Attorney Whitman.

The New Aeolian Hall is Open

DEDICATION

This great building, which, in the sheer magnitude of its proportions, in its beauty and its completeness, surpasses any structure of its kind in the world, was made possible by the patronage and loyal support of the musical public of New York. It is, therefore, to the music-lovers of this great city that it is fittingly and respectfully dedicated.

SUCCESS in New York is hard to win. This city—with its opera and art treasures, its great museums and libraries, its vast buildings and commercial enterprises, its magnificent hotels, and the great ships coming to its doors—sets the standards for the world.

There are no commercial processes whatever by which a business can win large success in New York—can become the leading house in its line—except these: its goods must be the best, its methods must reflect honesty and fair dealing, its prices must represent true economy.

Loyally have the people of New York supported the Aeolian Company in its enterprise. In the growth of this business, from the modest first floor and basement at 13th Street and Broadway, a few years ago, to this present magnificent establishment, is reflected an unprecedented measure of public approval.

As a partial return for this support, as an acknowledgment of the obligation we feel we owe, we have erected this new building. In its every detail, we have attempted to create a structure in harmony with the highest ideals of musical art—an edifice of which New York could be justly proud, and which would reflect this city's cultured taste.

With all its imposing dignity and beauty, it is not, however, what the New Aeolian Hall is, but what it stands for, that has direct personal interest for the people of New York. Here is an establishment such as this city has always needed and never had. A great music house, centrally located, perfectly appointed and containing all the standard musical instruments demonstrated to be the best the world provides.

Here are modern instruments—the celebrated group of genuine Pianola Player-pianos, which in a few short years have revolutionized the music-industry. Here are famous old instruments—honored for generations—the magnificent Weber and the Steck Pianos, or the later Wheelock, Stuyvesant and the wonderful Stroud. Here is a Victor headquarters, surpassing in every detail any representation hitherto accorded to this widely-known and justly popular instrument.

Here are musical instruments for every need and for every purse. From the superb Steinway Grand Pianola-piano to the modest-priced Stroud, from the elaborate Aeolian Pipe Organ to the lowest-priced Victor Talking Machine, the best of every type and every grade is here.

And here The Aeolian Company pledges itself to perpetuate those principles upon which its vast business has been reared—principles which are the foundation stones of its marvelous success.

One price to all—the lowest. One quality throughout—the best.
Aeolian prices, represent the truest economy, the greatest value for the money—
Aeolian methods, reflect honesty, liberality and fair dealing—
Aeolian service, stands for promptness, courtesy, and complete satisfaction.

AN INVITATION

The New Aeolian Hall is in the nature of a public building. It is dedicated to the public and, in a sense, belongs to the public.

Its architectural features, its decorations, its color plans, are original and impressive, unlike anything hitherto seen in this country. It is an edifice to attract nation-wide attention.

From the moment its doors open at 8.30 Monday morning, October 14th, it will thenceforth be free to all.

You are cordially invited to avail yourself of the special arrangements made during this week, to entertain visitors. This invitation is not extended alone to possible or intending purchasers. Everyone will be made welcome.

FOURTH ESTATE LOOKS OVER "BAMBERGER'S"

Newspaper men Inspect New Home of Newark Firm—Brisbane Speaks.

With representatives of the press from newspapers from nearly every county in the State as well as several prominent journalists from New York present a preliminary press inspection of the huge new Bamberger structure at Newark, was made yesterday at the invitation of Louis Bamberger and Felix Fuld, head of the big dry goods firm. The party numbered about 150 and included Arthur Brisbane, of the New York Evening Journal; former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., Eugene Farrell, of the Newark Evening News; William C. Freeman, of the New York Evening Mail; William T. Hunt, of the Newark Sunday Call; Architect Jarvis Hunt, of Chicago, the designer of the building; Benedict Prietch, of the Freie Zeitung, and Walter S. Moeller, advertising manager for the Bamberger company.

After a leisurely tour from the rool to the fifth floor the party stopped for luncheon. Mr. Moeller was toastmaster and speeches were made by several of the party.

The inspection was personally conducted by Mr. Bamberger and Mr. Fuld, who explained the new features contained in the building and the many ingenious contrivances installed for the benefit of the store's patrons, which were described in the Press last Thursday.

A luncheon was served upon the arrival of the party at the fifth floor and the visitors gave themselves up to the hospitality of their hosts. The recess was marked by speeches by several of the guests. Mr. Moeller first introduced Mr. Brisbane, who generated merriment by his wit.

Mr. Brisbane raised a laugh when he referred to "the only excitement the women have"—that of going to the department stores and spending money.

"It is the problem of distribution with which we have to deal," said the speaker. "The problem of production is solved, but the problem of distribution is in its babyhood. Education is the distribution of knowledge; irrigation is the distribution of water, and advertising is the means employed to distribute goods. The bigger a business in a competitive form the better for the proprietor and the more advantageous for the customer."

"The advertising man talks to every customer before he comes into the store," said Mr. Brisbane. "He has to get a hearing and his work is harder than that of an editorial writer, who writes about what the people want to read about. The advertising man has to write what the people will see; what they will read; what they will understand, and—hardest of all—what they will believe."

The next speaker introduced by Mr. Moeller was "the architect of the great new Bamberger store—a modest man from Chicago, Jarvis Hunt."

Mr. Hunt made a pleasing speaker and followed Mr. Brisbane with many numerous quips.

"It isn't usually the case when an architect gets through with a building that the owner and the architect are on speaking terms.

"With the owners of this building we maintain the kindest feeling. Why our relations were so pleasant," said Mr. Hunt with a smile, "that we could have finished the building long ago but we wanted to string those pleasant relations out."

Mr. Freeman, of the Evening Mail, was introduced as "the champion of the cause of righteous advertising."

"I was born in New Jersey," said Mr. Freeman, "and so I rejoice when a Jerseyman succeeds. We have here a shining example of playing the square deal with the public. The dedication of this store means as much as the dedication of a church for the moral uplift of the community. With the business probity in practice by these men they are able to lift the moral standard every minute in the day. This building wouldn't amount to shucks if it were not dedicated to the straight, square business that it is. No man can do business without a legitimate profit. This institution is a credit to the industrial progress of the State of New Jersey."

Former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., spoke briefly, but feelingly of thfle great progress made by the Bamberger firm.

William T. Hunt, of the Sunday Call, stated that he received the first "ad" ever placed by the Bamberger company. He spoke in high terms of the manner in which the firm had conducted its business during its spectacular career.

A few remarks in closing were offered by Mr. Fuld. He thanked the guests for their tributes of praise and said he "was proud to admit that the things said about them were true." Mr. Fuld paid a tribute to Mr. Frank, the deceased member of the firm, saying that the present new structure was a conception of the great mind of the departed partner. Following the speeches the guests continued their tour of inspection through the lower floors of the building. George A. Ballentine and Leslie R. Fort, of Plainfield, were present at the dinner.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

MADE WITH MUSHROOMS.

FRESH mushrooms are generally plentiful in the autumn. If not the mushroom lover can fall back on the dried or canned variety.

A test of the genuineness of mushrooms is to place a washed and scoured silver coin in the water in which they are cooked. If the coin blackens there are poisonous mushrooms in the vessel and they must be thrown out.

Served on Toast.

Mushrooms on Toast.—Take two cupfuls of mushrooms, place them in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter rolled in a little flour. Add one teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of red pepper and a squeeze of lemon juice. Stew gently until the mushrooms are tender. Serve on toast.

Broiled Mushrooms.—Cut off the stems and mash the mushrooms. Place them in a greased fine wire broiler and broil gill side down for five minutes. Then turn and broil the other side. Brush the gill side while still in broiler with melted butter. Remove from the broiler to slices of buttered toast. Brush with butter on top. Season and serve.

Savory Viands.

Sauted Mushrooms.—After having washed, dried and chopped the mushrooms in large slices season them with salt and pepper and toss them with butter in a frying pan over a hot fire. Sprinkle with chopped parsley at the last moment and serve hot.

Grilled Mushrooms.—Remove the stalks and peel carefully. Spread the gill side liberally with butter. Dust with salt and pepper. Place on a grill over a clear fire and cook slowly until they are soft all through. They must be served on a very hot dish, which should not be uncovered until its contents are to be served. Each mushroom may be flavored with a few drops of anchovy sauce, a dash of red pepper or lemon juice or simple salt and pepper, according to taste.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Who does not thrill at the sound of the fife and the drum and instinctively run to the window, or the corner, if a small boy, when the blare of the trumpet is heard? All the world loves a show, and never more than in this education-mad twentieth century. We have learned that through the eye—that central gateway to the mind—man's innermost nature can be most quickly and surely reached. Hence, be the cause what it may, commercial, social, political, religious, humanitarian,—we have the parade—the pageant—the procession.

Even the little towns of staid New England are rousing themselves to prepare, months in advance, a picturesque, visual history of their past life and development, and a prophetic display of future possibilities. Witness the wonderful pageant of the six villages of Thetford in 1911, and the quadrennial pageants of Peterboro, N. H., both so productive of continuous artistic and humanitarian uplifht, as to seem like ever-widening circles of blessing.

Last Sunday afternoon in Jersey City, 20,000 Catholic men and boys marched in a procession, miles long, to show their loyalty to the Holy Name Society. The wise priest who addressed them seized the emotional stirring hour to arouse a nobler patriotism—a higher civic consciousness. "The people are beginning to recognize true men when they see them," he said, "and it behooves the children of the household of faith to be in the front rank of this progressive, triumphal march to civic probity and decency."

All over the world aroused womanhood is taking part in splendid processions, illustrating to the astonished and not always sympathetic masses, her needs and possibilities, and pleading for her complete freedom. And she is winning, with the parade as one of her best weapons of defence and offense. Now when she marches, people no longer sneer, but cheer. Last year, in summing up the result of the great Suffrage parade in New York, the New York Times said that at last the suffrage associations had proved that they were composed of more than leaders. "For those who take part in the procession it means the gaining of enthusiasm. As we march shoulder to shoulder with our fellow workers we feel that we are marching for a principle and each one gains and gives inspiration. The march is a demonstration of the solidarity of womanhood. Women of all ranks stand shoulder to shoulder, thus feeling the divine influence of democracy. We are marching together, and marching for one great cause."

On the afternoon of Saturday, October 26, the suffragists of New Jersey will gather at Newark to parade for their cause. Whether we be few or many on that occasion, we shall march with springing steps and joyous hearts, having in mind that fast approaching day, when shoulder to shoulder, and hand in hand with our best manhood we shall lead awakened throngs out of the mire and fog of superstition and prejudice, into the highlands and the pure air of freedom and opportunity.

We appeal to all broad-minded women, to all lovers of justice and true democracy to march with us on that day.

It is not nice to call any one a liar and yet we fancy that the shade of George Washington is shaking a warning finger at the editor of a certain Ladies Journal who so persistently distorts facts and reiterates exploded falsehoods. "The person who forges or circulates campaign lies against a cause, is guilty of a peculiarly mean act, because he exposes himself to no punishment, except being held up to public contempt. One of the worst offenders in this line for many years back, has been Edward W. Bok, and one of the most astonishing messes of campaign lies that he ever served up to his readers, is contained in the current issues of his magazine," says Alice Stone Blackwell, in the Woman's Journal of October 5. Read it and be convinced that Mr. Bok cannot be trusted to tell the truth about Equal Suffrage. Note especially what she has to say on "Suffrage and Liquor."

MORE CANARDS.

There was no truth whatever in the widely circulated story about Mrs. Pankhurst and Christabel being notified by the French authorities that they would be expelled from France if any disturbance took place during Mr. Asquith's visit. Mrs. Pankhurst was in England at the time, and neither she nor her daughter received any communication whatsoever from the French authorities.

The report that the Canadian immigration authorities were going to exclude militant suffragettes was also a pure fabrication. Miss Barbara Wylie has come over to organize a Canadian branch of Mrs. Pankhurst's society, and was allowed to land without objection.—Woman's Journal.

GIANTS ARE FAVORITES TODAY

Novel Situation as Boston's Fans Are Rooting For McGraw's Team.

Boston, Oct. 16.—Betting men, most of whom are from New York, are offering 5 to 3 that the Giants win the world's championship in today's game with the Red Sox. They have been unable to place any big wagers on McGraw's men, however, because confidence in the bean eaters has been severely shaken. As a matter of fact the owners of the Red Sox privately admitted after yesterday's game, which the Red Sox lost 11 to 4, that they are worrying themselves over the unexpected turn of affairs. The explosion of "Smoky Joe" Wood by the Giants was a body blow which has made the city of culture decidedly groggy. Furthermore, to add to the discomfiture of the Red Sox and their employers, the "loyal rooters," gas strong, who accompanied the Boston to the Polo grounds, have turned away from Stahl's men and are now rooting for the Giants.

BUNTS AND PUNTS

The Giants lost one series during the season, the Cubs beating them 13 games to 9.

Handsome Harry McIntire, the Cinder King, is free to sign and will listen to offers for his services.

Pitcher Pickett, of the Bloomington team in the Three-I League, pitched two no-hit no-run games this season.

The veteran player Kid Gleason, who has been coaching the Chicago White Sox, has several offers to become a manager.

Two brothers, Tom and Jim Drohan, of the Newanee team, are the leading pitchers of the season in the Central Association.

Ty Cobb has now hit for better than .400 in two seasons running, and declares that he can make the .400 class next year as well.

Manager George Stovell, who has gathered quite a bunch of promising players, believes that the Browns will travel in the first division next year.

"Red" Murray didn't get a hit in the world's series last year, but came across with the hit, in the big series this year, that scored the Giants' first run.

Walter Johnson, the great Washington pitcher, hit but one man all season. Martin, of the Highlanders, was the player. He stepped into one of Walter's fast ones and was beaned.

By keeping to his decision not to play with the Pirates the past season, Manager Fred Clarke won several suits of clothes. Friends of the Pirate leader, who thought he couldn't keep out of the game, were the victims.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

Two old Brooklyn catchers, Bill Bergen and Lou Ritter, showed their big league training this season. Bill was a whale with the Baltimore team, and Ritter caught every game played by the Utica New York State League champions.

Baseball loyalty of Harry Ackerland, who recently purchased Frank Chance's stock in the Chicago Cubs, runs three ways from the deck. His home is in Cincinnati, but he is located in Pittsburg, is a Pirate rooter and owns stock in the Cubs.

Dartmouth's second team has been giving the varsity eleven some hard jolts this season.

A younger brother of "Tad" and Howard Jones, the former Yale stars, is at Exeter Academy.

The Carlisle Indians are using their 1911 crise-cross again this year, but find the play harder to put over.

Coach Haughton allowed the Harvard football players a day off in order to attend the Red Sox-Giants game in Boston.

The Princeton Tigers are improving in their gridiron work right along and football critics predict another great year in football for old Nassau.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Did the Giants win again? Well, I should be annoyed and smoke a dill pickle.

Now if New York don't happen to win the series this afternoon we have some consolation in the fact that the Giants knocked Joe Wood out of the box anyway.

Fans on the street last night were knocking pieces of wood together. Their meaning was obvious.

Nearly every fan in town is singing the "I told you so" chorus, and those who were predicting the Giants' downfall three days ago are singing it loudest.

As a pitcher Hall proved himself a remarkably fine batter. While he didn't check the Giant onslaught, he made three hits in as many times at bat.

Mathewson apeared before the National Commission yesterday to plead for the players in the tie-game money. He was informed that it was impossible to change the rules drawn up and ratified by the two leagues.

Many fans wonder whatever becomes of the money that goes to the National Commission. They think it would be a fine idea to use this fund as an emergency one for old ball players who are in need of financial assistance.

No more baseball at Crescent Oval this year. It is getting too cold for the fans to turn out. The grand-stand looked as though someone had hit it with some limburger. A large part of it was without occupants.

Someone feels better now after getting all of that wisdom out of their cranium. Let us hope that he feels like he says he does. It certainly looks as though he was worrying considerably.

That Soothing Syrup company will have a full page advertisement for his benefit next Saturday afternoon. Watch the paper.

Certain young men of the town are beginning to wear a windy look and are absent from the city on frequent sight-seeing trips. Moral—Keep away from the fellow who owns a buzz wagon.

Wonder how those P. H. S. warriors like Orange? Hope they won't find a new variety of lemon growing out there.

Someone has suggested cracked ice. We might advise him to take the cracks out before he prescribes it.

P. H. S. ELEVEN OPENS SEASON AT ORANGE

Fifteen Pigskin Warriors Will Take the Initial Trip this Afternoon.

A squad of fifteen football warriors will be taken to Orange to represent the Plainfield High School team this afternoon in their initial gridiron struggle of the season. Regular practices have been held during the past month and the men, although decidedly light, are in the prime of condition and hope to make a favorable showing against the heavier and more experienced Orange team. The coaching department at P. H. S. has been in charge of Lindsey Best and George Linke and they have had the players out for a stiff drill every afternoon.

Monday's practice game with the Netherwood A. C. resulted rather disastrously for the High School eleven as William Peacock, who looked like the best choice for the halfback position, will be out of the game for some time to come with a badly sprained ankle sustained in that game. A number of the other players who have been showing up well in practice are ineligible to play because of scholarship deficiencies but a number of good substitutes are available and the team will not suffer to any great extent because of their absence from the lineup.

Those who have been selected by Captain Van Zandt to make up the team this afternoon are Monroe Good, Arthur Van Zandt, Joseph Green, Edward Jenkins, Harold McDowell, Eynon White, Warren Butler, Irving Schenck, Garret DuBois, Joseph Carty, Robert Gavett, James Noonan and James Herman. Peacock will make the trip but it is doubtful whether or not the coaches will take a chance on having his ankle injured any worse than it is at present. Of those making the trip Carty, Van Zandt, Peacock, White and Good are veterans and the rest are new men, although there is some promising material among their number.

PROGRESSIVE DOLLAR DINNER

He thought that it was merely calling the attention of the American people to the fact that they have progressed in the wrong direction from the principles of the early days, and that now they should go back to the theories and principles of the time of Jefferson and Lincoln. He said that the so-called radical statements now being made were echoes of warnings and teachings of the past, and quoted Washington, when on his death bed he warned the country of the great greed of some men, which would be harmful to the nation later. He also said that Jefferson opposed privileged monopoly, and that any Democrat who believes in Jeffedson must believe in Colonel Roosevelt. He said that the Progressives want to see the practice of government conform to the theory of government—that the people rule. The bosses have made this impossible.

"In a talk which I recently had with Colonel Roosevelt," said Mr. Chandler, "he showed that he had the highest reverence for the constitution, in so far as it declares that this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. But he does not believe that the present misrepresentative government is a reflection of the truth and righteousness which would naturally be expected to spring from the past. But the Colonel does not believe the constitution, as originally made, is perfect. Others have believed the same thing in the past, for has it not been amended? Roosevelt believes that he has a perfect right to his own ideas, and that he is at perfect liberty to advocate them. Did not Jefferson and Lincoln give expression to their ideas, of a character which today causes wonderment and admiration for them?"

Speaking of the Colonel's personality, Mr. Chandler said that he had the finest mental resources and was the bravest and greatest character, and the "biggest animal" in human form, that he had ever seen. He then quoted the Colonel on the question of liquor drinking, and what he had to say went to illustrate the truth of the statement made by the Colonel's physicians in Chicago last night, regarding his abstaining from the use of liquor. "I sat next to the Colonel at a dinner not so long ago. It was after he had been misrepresented in the public press as to his temperance qualities. The Colonel lifted a glass of champagne and said, 'Chandler, I have never tasted a glass of this in my life.' His is the most superb manhood physically, he is moral, temporate in thought and clean in body." This remark of Mr. Chandler's seemed to please those present as much as any which he made.

"Those who guide the government must not be hypocrites," continued the speaker. "Theodore Roosevelt is the greatest opponent of sham that this nation has had since Lincoln fell. He has courage incarnate. The bosses do not like him because they cannot control him.

"Common honesty of business is today demanded by the American people as the test of honesty in politics. In that scriptural text 'thou shalt not steal' the American public believes that it applies equally to the Monk Eastman gang on the east side of New York and to the Republican National Committee."

The speaker then told of the troubles they are having in New York to get a direct primary law. He said that the demand for the law in New York had forced Boss Murphy to name a respectable figure head, and Boss Barnes to nominate a man he did not want.

It was then that he launched into his remarks on the church and politics. He said that the Progressive party had sounded the death knell of bigotry in religion in New York State, and that the action there would be the same all over the country. "No test of religious faith should be made in selecting men for office, and I believe that the time has come when either a Jew or a Catholic is fit to be president of the United States if three questions can be answered in the affirmative about him. These are: Is he honest? Is he able? Is he energetic? Roosevelt is the greatest liberator of the times, and he does not pick a man for office because he is a Christian, Jew or Catholic.

"Some people say Roosevelt wants to be a king. After he came home from abroad I had a talk with him. He said that it was a much bigger and finer thing to be president than it was to be a king, and that he wouldn't want to wear a crown because he had more power as president."

Colonel Roosevelt, the speaker added, only wanted to see the initiative, referendum and recall enacted into law to use as a club on the man who does not keep his pre-election promises.

"If the common liberties were ever threatened in this country they would be preserved by the plain, blunt man, who will perpetuate them for generations unborn. That is the type of man who must have a square deal and he makes up the Progressive party. He is the man who builds the railroad tunnels, the acqueducts, the public buildings, and who works with his hands to earn his daily bread."

Mr. Chandler touched on the trust problem as it is being treated by the three parties, spoke about the high cost of living and said that it did not go up any faster in this country in proportion than it did in any other; said that the Progressive tariff solution is the only one which is right, and ended by saying that the Progressives might not win, but would surely give the Republican party the worst thrashing that it ever received on November 5 next.

A. M. Morrell, Progressive candidate for Freeholder, was the next speaker, and he briefly told the audience that if elected he would try to handle the affairs of the county as well as he did his business affairs.

Charles W. Ennis, the Progressive candidate for Congress in the Fifth district, was the next speaker, and he enthused the audience by saying that he believed the movement was going to win. He said that the present movement was a great moral one, and that as a result the old parties were alarmed. He said that he believed there were thousands of men who were saying nothing, but whom he believed were going to vote the Progressive ticket. "No movement for the benefit of all the people has ever failed. This one will succeed for its appeals to the young men who are coming into a clean party. Let us all get into politics now, and show that we are good citizens, and make this land of ours a much happier one, bright and glorious as it is." Mr. Ennis then said that he believed in men; that he believed the average man is honest; that every man wants to be as honest in his politics as in his business; that a man elected to office becomes a servant of the whole people; that every voter should have something to say in the rule of the country, and ended by saying that he stood by everyone of the fifty-one planks in the Progressive platform. He urged the support of the full county ticket, and then quoted a remark made by one candidate whom he knew who had said to him last week that he would give up all prospect of being elected himself gladly, if it would help in the selection of the head of the ticket.

H. W. Herrman was the last speaker and he appealed for the support of Roosevelt, saying that a vote for the Progressive party was not going to be one for anylist cause.

Grove P. Hinman offered a resolution, which was adopted, expressing regret at the illness of Mayor Moy, and on the motion of Dr. Lawson a telegram was ordered sent to Colonel Roosevelt sympathizing with him in his illness. During the evening several hymns were sung.

A GREAT RECORD.

Hard to Duplicate It In Plainfield.

Scores of representative citizens of Plainfield are testifying for Doan's Kidney Pills. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen is but one of the many that have preceded it and the hundreds that will follow. Read it:

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "You may continue to publish my endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills which I gave in August, 1905. I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I arose in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold, it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back always made my aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store, that I had any hope of getting rid of my trouble. This preparation made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since. I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in a while, however, and they keep my kidneys in good working order."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DR. STRONG PREACHES ON CHRISTIAN'S DAILY DUTY

As a complement to his sermon Sunday morning on "Our Helmet the Hope of Salvation," Rev. Dr. P. B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, discoursed in the evening from Matt. 10:38, "He that doth not take his cross and follow me is not worthy of me." The speaker said: "In the other reiterations of this statement we find additional light. In Luke 9 we find that we are to take up the cross 'daily;' in Luke 15, that we are to bear 'our own' cross. There is a danger, particularly on the part of young converts, to take up the cross bravely for a little time, and then grow weary and lay it down. This reactionary period must be guarded against, lest the young Christian never take it up again. We are to bear it daily, enduringly—our own cross. How gladly we would bear somebody else's cross for a while instead of our own. It would be so much easier. But these crosses are non-transferable, and He who gave us the privilege of carrying them, for it is indeed a privilege to have opportunity to prove our fidelity to our Redeemer, knows just how much we can bear, and will impose no more. Christ wants no spineless drones in his army. He himself was a hero, never found wanting in the face of a duty. He herocially bore His cross, infinitely greater and heavier than ours, and shall we shrink from ours and play the coward?

"After all, is cross-bearing a characteristic only of the Christian religion? In what line of activity can you find success achieved without the bearing of crosses? Is it in music, in sculpture, in business life, or even in amusements, such as the playing of baseball? With what struggle, and agony, and perseverance and heroism have men and women achieved along all these lines! Nothing that is worth anything is gained without effort. And failure comes because men have been unwilling to bear their cross, and have fallen out by the wayside.

"The Christian life affords opportunity for real true sportsmanship, in the highest sense of the word—it is the greatest and noblest contest of the ages. It is infinitely more than having one's name on the church roll; it is bearing the cross daily, bravely, heroically for His sake.

"There are good and valid reasons why we are to bear the cross. In the first place, we must bear it, or we shall be rejected by His. Then, there is the companionship in cross-bearing. The good and noble of all ages are in the race. When we think of Paul, with his innumerable sufferings and testings, of Livingston, of Paton; when we think of the stake, the rack, the cauldron, how unworthy we are to be named with them. Then there is our love for our Christ, and the great and eternal reward He offers, for the sake of these can we no be faithful and take up our cross and follow daily till the end. Let it be our comfort that the harder the struggle, the more arduous the tasks we have performed, the sweeter will be our reward after it is ended."

Lester Melick and his sister, Miss Belle Melick, were baptized at the close of the service.

THE FORUM.

SIZING UP CANDIDATES.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

An inference to be drawn from an examination of the official returns of the recent primary election is that many voters will not vote for candidates about whom they have no knowledge. Referring to the figures given in your columns showing the canvass of the Democratic vote for Union county, which is the only one at present available to me, but which doubtless reflects the attitude of many voters without respect to party affiliations, it would appear that 5,409 cast votes for Assembly nominees, 5,221 for Surrogate, 5,135 for Freeholders for the three year term, 4,844 for the two year term, and 4,839 for the one year term. Hence 570 cast votes for Assembly who did not vote for the one year Freeholders. In each of the Democratic and Republican columns of the ballot at the election in November there will appear for local offices (that is county and city) the names of seven candidates for the office of Freeholder, one for that of Surrogate, one for that of Coroner, one for Mayor, one in each ward for that of Councilman, one for Receiver of City Taxes and one for City Treasurer, thirteen in all for each party, or twenty-six for the two parties. If each of the other parties, the so-called Progressive, the Socialist, the Prohibition and the Labor, should make full nominations we should have seventy-eight names in all. Whether looked at from the partisan or the non-partisan standpoint, it is practically impossible for any voter to know anything about all these candidates, and the probability is, as I have before suggested, that many voters will only mark such names in his own party nomination list as are known to them, and simply pass the others over. But a still more important consideration is that very many may wish to put aside partisanship in connection with these offices and vote for the man whom they consider best qualified to fill the office.

Witnout some information as to the candidates no intelligent selection can be made. In the absence of some civic association organized on non-partisan lines to take up the matter of procuring and making public the necessary information, it has occurred to me that perhaps the Daily Press would be public spirited enough to render this service to voters and through them to the city and county, by compiling and publishing a directory of candidates, showing residence and length of same, age, occupation, education and record, if any, without any comment or expression of opinion as to qualification. A civic association might undertake to advise the voter as to his choice, but it would be somewhat outside of the proper function of a daily newspaper, and also probably against its business policy.

Such data would enable an inquiring voter to decide between candidates or would give him a starting point for further personal investigation.

I have limited this suggestion to county and city offices, as Presidential electors are mere instruments, having no independent function; the candidates for Congress are sufficiently well known, and the candidates for Assembly as they will participate in the election of a United States Senator will necessarily command a partisan vote. When the pending Constitutional amendment providing for popular election of Senators is adopted, candidates for the State Legislature can also be viewed from the non-partisan standpoint.

EDWARD C. PEARSON.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Two matches of the first round of the High School singles tennis tournament were played yesterday at the Watchung Tennis Club. Frank Dunning, a Junior, defeated Warren Townley, a Freshman, in two straight sets, 6-2, 7-5. Although the first set was easy for the winner he became unsteady in the second and let Townley run up four games in a row. Both players then fought hard for points and in the next three games Dunning came out on top. The playing was then very steady and thrilling until the last point was made giving the third classmen the decision.

Carroll Taylor, a "post-grad," and Richard Underhill, a Senior, then met, Taylor winning two straight sets, 6-4, 6-2. The first set was nip and tuck all the way but the last was entirely in Taylor's favor. This qualifies Taylor and Dunning for the second round which will be played on Friday.

Six members of the Botony class took a walk yesterday with Miss Love in search of specimens. They started about 1:30 and walked over the second mountain returning home about 6 p. m. These class walks are getting to be very popular. Those who enjoyed this hike were Elsie Debele, Lucy Douglas, Marion Doughty, Emma Ryno, Miss Love and Lester Chandler and Charles Roll.

The Housewives Delight

The most convenient, capacious and reliable kitchen range is the Newport combination coal and gas range. This is built in different styles and with firebox on either right or left hand as may suit best. This range has a large and effective water-back and conveniently placed dampers. Is easily cleaned and kept clean. The combination feature of the

is a great improvement. It economizes kitchen room and saves the housewife steps. It gives double cooking capacity at any time and adapts it perfectly to both winter and summer use. If you wish the highest efficiency in a kitchen range, coupled with good design and high finish, ask the BOYNTON man in your town about the Newport coal and gas range.

RANDOM THOUGHTS ON THE COLONEL

By GEORGE ADE

Here are a few random observations concerning the new Progressive Party and its candidate for Presiden

If I were picking out a roommate I might prefer Mr. Taft to the Colonel, because, with Mr. Taft, I would have a better chance of putting up the curtains and arranging the pictures to suit myself. In selecting a President to go up to Washington, representing my interests and coping with the shaggy wolves of practical politics, I prefer the Colonel.

The new party has singing at all of its meetings. Possibly you can remember when the crowd sang at a Republican rally. If I tried to sing in the Barnes choirs this year I believe I would choke.

Up at Chicago in June they told us, very plainly, "We are going to drive him out of the party." They got their wish and yet they don't seem happy.

A good many persons, especially those who wear overshoes in the summer time, object to the Colonel because he is scrappy and assertive. If the Colonel didn't happen to be just what he is, the sextons who make a business of embalming reformers would have laid him away twenty years ago.

They have been trying to get something on him ever since he bobbed up as a Police Commissioner in New York city. About all they have proved to date is that when he gets very mad he is not polite.

The deuige which swept away the Republican Congress and undermined the Republican Senate and littered the landscape with defunct stand-patters, gathered itself while the Colonel was in Africa, beyond the reach of the mail or the telegraph. If he went back to Africa tomorrow and remained for ten years, the voters at home would continue to repudiate the politicians who break their promises. Yet they say it is a "one-man" movement.

A good many of the old regulars in Washington used to believe that a really honest man wore a white necktie and would give two tens for a five. They hate the Colonel with a seething hatred because he is a foxy politician, whereas, in order to preserve the traditions of the lobby, he should prove his honesty by engaging Murray Crane as a guide.

The Progressive party has had the courage to declare, promptly and without faltering, for certain inevitable changes in our scheme of government, all founded on common sense and fair play. You will seldom meet in the north an old man ready to admit that he favored slavery fifty years ago. Even the free silver hosts have strangely vanished from the earth. Twenty years from now you will have dicffiulty in spotting the man who raved against the Progressive platform in 1912.

It is true that several persons who formerly held office have enlisted as members of the Progressive party. All sorts of people try to attach themselves to a winning cause. But the movement is not dominated by professional officeholders and, come to think of it, we haven't in our ranks nearly as many ex-holders of office as the Republican machine organization will have this time next year.

They say the Colonel wants to be King. Nonsense! Why should he want to be King when his followers already regard him as an Ace.

It is better to be a half block ahead of the parade than two miles in the rear.

The Wall Street conception of a perfectly good president is one who will never make a move for fear of upsetting a stack of chips.

The members of the new party may be traitors and ingrates but out here in the Midde West they are so serene in their infamy that some of them are still regarded as patriotic Democrats or Republicans.

Every non-producer, wearing an extra chin or two and sitting in a padded chair, waiting for the turn of a ticker to give him something for nothing, is against the Colonel and regards him as "dangerous."

We are now being shown a bewildering confusion of figures to prove that Taft was really the choice of a majority of Republican voters during the third week of June, 1912. The explainers are perspiring freely. It will take many a sheet of paper and many a lead pencil to convince the unbiased spectator on the side lines that the Colonel had no claim on any of those delegates.

—Many a man has found himself undone from trying to do others.

—Lots of people waive their rights, but pugilists also wave their lefts.

—The fellow who feels that he hasn't a friend in the world might just as well be a baseball umpire or a book agent.

IN READINESS TO BUILD ADDITION

Contract for Hospital Additions Goes to Alexander Milne of this City.

TOTAL BID IS $71,982

New Structures Will Include a Shelter Near Trolley for Visitors to the Institution—Three Funds to Cover the Expense.

The building committee of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital has awarded to Alexander Milne the contract for the construction of the new buildings at the hospital in accordance with the plans of Crow, Lewis & Wickenhofer, of New York, architects. There were seven bids in all and the fact that a Plainfield contractor has received the award is gratifying to the Board of Governors as well as all friends of the hospital.

The following firms submitted bids: Wills & Marvin Company, New York; W. H. Fissell, New York; M. Byrnes Building Company, Elizabeth; Alexander Milne, Frank T. McInerney, William H. Pangborn's Son and Michael Rimmer, of Plainfield. Two other out of town contractors and two other Plainfield contractors had plans and specifications, but did not submit bids. The contract prices are as follows:

Private room pavilion, $50,575.00; shelter, $568.00; obstetrical pavilion, $17,169.00; pathological laboratory, $3,670.00. Only the cost of the private room pavilion and the shelter will come out of the fund raised for the hospital during the campaign several months ago. The obstretrical pavilion will be erected from the funds received from the late Mrs. Minnie Closson Edgerton, and the pathological laboratory Mrs. Craig A. Marsh provides as a memorial to her late husband. All of these new buildings are to be of fireproof construction.

One new building will contain 16 private rooms and two semi-private wards which will accommated four to six beds each. The third floor of the building will be left unfinished at the present time. An obstetrical pavilion with accommodations for ward patients; also private room patients, with all the accessories necessary for the comfort and care of maternity cases. A laboratory building for pathological work, which is to be erected as a memorial to the late Craig A. Marsh and a shelter to be located on Park avenue, at the entrance to the hospital grounds for visitors using the trolley are planned.

While the new buildings are under construction, alterations and changes in the present administration building of the hospital will be made to provide a commodious and modern children's ward, to be located on the second floor of the administration building, making use of the floor now used for private room service. A full description of all contemplated changes in the present administration building as well as all details as to floor plans, construction and furnishing of the buildings will be given later.

CHAUFFEUR WHOSE CAR KILLED MAN UNDER BAIL

Elizabeth, Oct. 17 (Special).—Benjamin Urquhart, the chauffeur employed by George A. Bomann, of Hillside avenue, who was rearrested following his release on $300 bail, pending the result of injuries inflicted by the Bomann car on Fred Johansen, was arraigned before Judge E. S. Atwater here this morning and was released in $4,500 bail on a charge of manslaughter, Johansen having died. Bail was furnished by Urquhart's employer.

Urquhart was brought here yesterday following the death of Johansen, and placed in the county jail. Last night Mr. Bomann and S. S. Swackhamer came to Elizabeth and waited a long time for Judge Atwater. Being unable to see the judge they were obliged to wait until this morning to arrange for the release of Urquhart on bail.

COUNCIL COULD TAKE NO ACTION ON SEWER

Failure of State Board to Pass on Plans Ties Its Hands.

Believing that it would be possible to take some action on the joint trunk sewer proposition, an adjourned meeting of the Common Council was set for last night. But in view of the fact that the State Board of Health has failed to give a decision on the plans nothing could be done, and in accordance with a resolution by Councilman Holt the sewage matter was continued until the next meeting of the Council, which will be Monday night, November 4, unless something should develop that would necessitate the calling of an earlier meeting.

There were six members of the Council, just a quorum, present at last night's meeting and not much business was transacted. The heirs of the Harberger estate, which recently sold a portion of land at West Front street and Giraud avenue to Jacob Sachar, requested the Council to take steps to abolish a surface drainage ditch at the corner, which in heavy rains results in flooding the property. The matter was referred to Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman for an opinion.

Petitions for electric lights on Richmond street and in the vicinity of Richmond and East Second streets were referred to the light committee. Elliot T. Barrows, Howard C. Tracy and Michael Rimmer, commissioners appointed to assess benefits and damages in the widening of Madison avenue, have qualified, having been sworn into office. This fact was reported to the Council.

Charles A. Peterson, the lowest bidder, was given the contract for making the necessary repairs to the city sewage beds and a resolution, which was adopted, authorized that a contract be made with Mr. Peterson, and providing for the security to be furnished by the contractor. Mr. Gloak offered a resolution fixing Monday night, November 4, as the time bids will be received for building the extension to the sanitary sewers according to plans and specifications now on file. The Plainfield Plumbing, Paint and Supply Company filed a map of proposed realty improvements and it was referred to the street committee.

Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman in an opinion, which was requested, informed the Council that the court alone has the right to grant a liquor license to clubs and similar organizations, but explained that all but a small fee is returned to the city treasurer of the city in which such licenses are granted.

Albert H. Atterbury, of West Seventh street, in a communication to the Council, complained about the automobile stage, which is operated between this city and South Plainfield, going through West Seventh street. He made a request that the owner of the automobile be requested to go between the two places by the shortest route, which in Mr. Atterbury's opinion is not through Seventh street. The matter was referred to the public affairs committee.

CONGREGATIONALISTS SWELL CHURCH FUND

Thousand Dollars Toward Addition Subscribed at Meeting—$12,000 Needed.

The members and friends of the Congregational church were given an opportunity last night to see exterior and interior views of the proposed addition to be built on the church, when by aid of a stereopticon lantern they were thrown on a screen. The church has thus far raised about $14,000 toward the improvements, and about $12,000 more is needed. About $1,000 was subscribed toward the project last night.

The lowest bid received by the building committee for the work was $27,000 and the highest bid was $34,000. The addition to the church will provide a large and commodious Sunday-school room, together with other rooms for the meetings of various societies. The slides shown last night by Charles A. Rice, and explained by Frank A. Weeks, were prepared from the architect's plans and gave an excellent idea as to the proposed improvements. There was also an informal discussion among the members for the purpose of getting the fullest information as to the plans as outlined by the building committee.

NEWARK CLASSIS IN FIRST FALL SESSION

Elder Clark an After-Dinner Speaker—Letter to Dr. Schenck.

Rev. J. Y. Broek and Elder Robert Clark, of Trinity Reformed church; Rev. J. Tucker Landsdale and Rolland Leveridge, of Marconnier Reformed church; Rev. Royal A. Stout and James C. Hansen, of the Netherwood Reformed church, and Phillip Bach and James Zimmer, of the German Reformed church, attended the fall meeting of the Classis of Newark held at Newark yesterday. Elder Clark was one of the after-dinner speakers.

Rev. Royal A. Stout was made temporary clerk, while Rev. E. E. Davis, of Newark, was elected president. Rev. J. Y. Broek was elected president of the consistory of the German Reformed church until a regular pastor is installed. It is expected that an official call will be given to Rev. The Classis directed that a fellowship letter be sent to Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, former pastor of Trinity Reformed church. Rev. Mr. Broek was made chairman of the Church Extension Committee in place of Rev. H. M. Mellen, formerly of Newark, who has left the denomination to become pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Atlantic City. The spring meeting of Classis will be held at the First Reformed church, Orange, on the third Wednesday of April.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Representatives of the benevolent boards of the Reformed church in the United States, in session yesterday at Fifteenth and Race streets, laid plans for the "every member canvass" to be held next year as part of the celebration of three anniversaries, the most important of which is the 350th anniversary of the Heidelberg catechism.

The anniversary of the catechism will be celebrated in January, and the anniversaries of the home and foreign missionary boards will also be held in connection with it. The "every member canvass" is to be made during the month of April, and the church will also extend its efforts, particularly in this State, toward getting more accessions to the church from the Sunday-school, carrying out the motto of the recent State Sabbath School Association.

NEW DANCING SCHOOL.

Charles J. Brunell, of Flatbush, L. I., will open a dancing school in Debele Hall, North Plainfield. He brings out in his teaching all the artistic, genteel and dignified features of the dance, and is careful in selecting his pupils so that their associations on the dancing floor shall be the best.

ALLEGED BICYCLE THIEF RUN DOWN

Police Posse in Auto Capture Member of a Supposed Gang.

ON A STOLEN MOUNT

Companion of Captive Escapes on a Bicycle Belonging to Son of Knight Faucett—County Campaign by the Thieves.

In the capture last night of Ralph Rexford, who said he comes from Delaware county, N. Y., and that he has no home, his parents having died two years ago, the police believe they have one of a gang who have made a practise of stealing bicycles throughout Union county, selling them as they go from town to town. In a chase after the alleged thieves, in which Chief Kiely and two patrolmen took part, having pressed a passing auto into service, a man whom Rexford said goes by the name of Ronald Smith, escaped on a wheel stolen from the young son of Knight Faucett, proprietor of the Queen City Laundry, who lives at 502 East Second street, Rexford was held by City Judge De Meza this morning to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Faucett notified the police last night that two youths were stealing bicycles in the vicinity of his home, but although they had been prevented from getting away with the stolen bikes in some cases had succeeded in capturing his son's bicycle. The Chief and two of his men immediately started from headquarters on the chase in an auto. At North avenue, near Fillmore, the alleged thieves were noticed, mounted on bicycles. Seeing the police they branched off in different directions, but Rexford was captured, Smith escaping in the darkness. The wheel ridden by the prisoner proved to be the property of Patrick J. Melvin, the North avenue restaurant keeper who lives at 141 Berckman street. Melvin said the bicycle was stolen from his back porch.

According to the story Rexford told the police he met Smith while traveling on a freight train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad several days ago. He said his pal was well dressed and was amply supplied with funds. Outside of this information Rexford could give no further particulars of his associate.

After being in the hotel business for a quarter of a century, Mr. Staats retired five years ago, at that time being proprietor of the Hotel Kensington, in this city. Since then he has been manager of the Watchung Spring Water Company, in which he is a heavy stockholder.

COMPLETE THEIR PLANS FOR BIG POULTRY SHOW

Arrangements were completed last night by members of the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement, for the large poultry show to be held November 25-30, in Sebring's Auditorium. In the number and quality of the entries the show promises to compare with exhibits of inter-state fame and will mark Plainfield as one of the largest poultry centers of the East.

The members present last night assured the secretary, J. H. Kimball, that over 400 entries have been pledged, including all varieties. Many large poultry raisers from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts as well as New Jersey, have entered their prize winners. Besides the prizes mentioned in a recent edition of the Daily Press, donated by local business people, several new cups and prizes were offered last night to be contested for in the numerous classes.

HEMORRHAGES FATAL TO STEPHEN BOLAND

Warning Pains Unheeded—Dead Within Half-hour After Attack.

Stephen Boland, of 631 West Third street, died suddenly early this morning, at his home from hemorrhage of the lungs. He had complained for several days of a return of the pains that he was subjected to last spring when ill with pleurisy, but didn't think enough about them to call in a doctor. He attended to his regular work yesterday and upon returning home last evening complained of a soreness in his chest.

He retired about 9 o'clock, thinking that the pains would go away if he had a little sleep. At 1 o'clock he awoke up and severe hemorrhages of the lungs set in. His wife summoned a doctor but Boland died at 1:30.

Boland served in the British army during the South African war. He is survived by a wife and four children, the oldest of whom is six years and the youngest only ten days. The funeral will be held Saturday. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery. The exact time has not been arranged as yet.

WILL MEET IN OLDEST CHURCH

Eastern 7th-Day Baptist Association Convenes at New Market Tomorrow.

The seventy-sixth annual session of the Eastern Seventh-Day Baptist Association will be held with the church at New Market beginning tomorrow evening and continuing until Sunday evening. The association includes all the churches of the denomination in New Jersey, southeastern New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island.

The church at New Market, called the Piscataway church, is the oldest, having been established in 1705, two hundred and seven years ago. The first session of the Eastern Association was held with this church seventy-five years ago.

At the opening meeting tomorrow evening the address of welcome will be given by the local pastor, Rev. Henry N. Jordan, and the response to the welcome will be given by J. Denison Spicer, of Plainfield. The president of the association is Clarence W. Spicer, and the treasurer is Arthur J. Spicer, both of this city. The corresponding secretary is Jesse G. Burdick, of New Market. The recording secretary is Miss Ethel Rogers, also of New Market.

Delegates are expected from most of the fourteen churches which constitute the association. There will also be delegates from other associations, among them Rev. Darwin E. Lippincott, of Garwin, Iowa; Rev. L. D. Seager, of Salem, West Virginia, and Herbert L. Polan, of Alfred, New York.

Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, pastor of the Westerly, R. I., church, will preach on Sabbath (Saturday) morning, when it is expected the largest attendance will be present. The New Market people will entertain all the visiting delegates.

All the Sabbath services of the church in Plainfield will be suspended and the congregation will meet with the association at New Market.

FRUIT DEALER TO JOIN IN WAR AGAINST TURKS

Peter Foufas, a fruit dealer, of Somerset street, and a Greek by nationality, will show his patriotism by leaving his friends and family to return to Greece to enlist in the war against Turkey. Accompanied by several friends he will leave tomorrow morning from New York, with hundreds of loyal Greeks from different sections of the United States.

Foufas is well built and carries himself with military bearing. He has a good record as a soldier in the Greek army previous to coming to this country seven years ago.

In addition to Foufas and his party, forty-six Greeks from this city and fifteen from Morristown have responded to the letter sent them from the consul in New York, summoning them to the aid of their country. They will sail a day later than Foufas. A captain and other officers have been appointed to lead them. Nearly all of the older members of the band have seen service preceding their migration to this country.

DONATION PARTY.

The Springfield Methodist church will hold a donation party at the home of Mrs. W. Howard Toms, of Warrenville, on Tuesday evening, October 29.

CONSIDERS BERGEN HAS NOT ANSWERED HIM

Councilmanic Public Affairs Chairman Dissects Gifted Lawyer's Opinion.

George S. Clay, chairman of the Councilmanic public affairs committee, is not at all satisfied with Frank Bergen's answer to his question on the whistle blowing nuisance for he says the brilliant lawyer has failed to answer it. Therefore, he sends the following communication, the reply to which by Mr. Bergen will be published in the course of a few days:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

In the letter of Frank Bergen recently published by you, relating to the blowing of factory whistles in Plainfield, Mr. Bergen says he thinks "the notion that troubles Mr. Stillman and Mr. Clay is that if a general ordinance should be passed prohibiting the blowing of all whistles in Plainfield it might be unenforceable in some cases where the blowing of a particular whistle might not disturb the neighborhood."

I tried to make it plain in my letter to you that it was not necessary for me to consider the question whether the opinion of the Corporation Counsel was sound or not, in view of the fact that the Corporation Counsel has given an opinion to the effect that if an ordinance were passed by the Common Council prohibiting the blowing of factory whistles in Plainfield such an ordinance would in his opinion be held by the courts to be unreasonable and therefore void, it would not be proper for the Common Council to pass any ordinance on the subject. It seems to me, however, that what Mr. Bergen states in his letter rather confirms the view taken by Mr. Stillman on the subject.

I wish to add that the notion—if it may be called a notion—that troubles me is how Mr. Bergen would answer this question (which he failed to answer in his recent letter) namely: "Would you, Mr. Bergen, if you were the Corporation Counsel of the City of Plainfield, advise the Common Council, on the strength of the cases cited in your letter to the Plainfield Press, dated September 25, 1912, that the blowing of factory whistles in the City of Plainfield is a nuisance per se; that the Common Council has lawful power to pass an ordinance prohibiting the blowing of factory whistles in the City of Plainfield; and that if such an ordinance were passed and approved, it would, in your opinion, be sustained by the courts of New Jersey as a lawful exercise of the powers of the City?"

FATHER ROARS, BEAUX FLEE, WIFIE PHONES, POP PINCHED

Thomas Brennan, of 756 Webster place, objected to the lateness of the hour that his two daughters entertained their beaux last night, and voiced his sentiments in such a boisterous manner, that the young men took flight, his daughters shed tears in their embarassment and his wife telephoned the police. When appearing before City Judge De Meza this morning he was told to conduct the affairs of his family in an orderly manner in the future and sentence was suspended.

POLICE CAPTURE MADMAN.

Word came to the police late last night that a man, in the employ of the Truell Court, had suddenly gone mad. When Patrolman Wicht arrived on the scene he found a man, who gave his name as Vitolde Evirko, rolling on the sidewalk, pulling out his hair, and tearing the clothes from his body. He was placed with great difficulty in the padded cell at police headquarters, and will later be committed to Morris Plains Asylum.

CANNOT LEAVE BEFORE MONDAY

Doctors Said Roosevelt Was Improving, But Saturday is too Soon to Move.

SAYS HE FEELS "BULLY"

Former President Had Restful Night—No Signs of Complications—Temperature, Pulse and Respiration Are About Normal.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will not be able to leave Chicago before next Monday, if he is able to go then. He had hoped to get away on Saturday morning, but the doctors attending him say no.

At one o'clock this afternoon the following bulletin was given out at Mercy Hospital, concerning Colonel Roosevelt's condition:

"Pulse, temperature and respiration normal. Blood count has dropped to normal. Breathing seems easier. Signed, Murphy, Lambert and Terrell."

Drs. Murphy, Bevan and Terrell arrived at Mercy Hospital at 8:35 o'clock and immediately went to Colonel Roosevelt's room, where they remained for twenty minutes. When the doctors left the hospital it was announced that Mr. Roosevelt could not leave the institution before Monday. It was stated that he was making rapid progress toward recovery and that not the slightest sign of a complication had developed.

At the hospital this morning it was also stated that the Colonel had passed a good night and that his general condition continued excellent. His temperature at 6 o'clock was 98.4; pulse, 72; and respiration, 18; all nearly normal. He was given an alcohol bath and then breakfast, consisting of soft boiled eggs, bacon, buttered toast and tea. The Colonel was delighted with his condition. He slept about five and one-half hours, an average for him. He said, "I feel bully. At this rate of improvement it won't be long before I'll be out of here."

In an examination made at Mercy Hospital shortly before midnight the pulse and respiration were shown to be nearly normal, the condition good and the patient cheerful and resting well. That the surgeons themselves feel more hopeful is best evidenced by the admissions in a bit of repartee while the Colonel was being examined. As he was being rolled over the Colonel exclaimed with a grin:

"I move with greater agility than I have for a couple of days."

"We are all breathing more easier, too," came the quick reply from Dr. J. B. Murphy. The official bulletin after the examination showed the pulse to be 84, temperature 98.6, respiration 20.

Unless complications appear Colonel Roosevelt will be removed to Oyster Bay Saturday evening. This was decided upon at a conference between the surgeons and the Roosevelt family yesterday afternoon.

After making public the result of the examination Dr. Murphy said he saw no reason for remaining at the hospital overnight and that he would not return until morning. Every indication pointed, he said, that the patient would rest easily throughout the night.

Dr. T. A. Kreuscher of the hospital staff, who was detailed to watch the condition of the patient during the night, said, after the chief surgeon had gone:

"Colonel Roosevelt's condition shows remarkable improvement since he came here yesterday. He is a different man entirely His color is coming back and he is more vigorous. The colonel just told me that he had had a splendid day.

"I think Dr. Murphy is much pleased

FUNERAL OF LINEMAN WHO DIED FROM SHOCK

The funeral service of Frank Love, the lineman who was killed in Elizabeth, Tuesday, by grasping a heavily charged electric cable, was held at the home of his brother-in-law, John Kilner, 961 South Second street, this afternoon.

Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of Monroe Avenue Methodist church, officiated at the service. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery. The pall bearers were all members of the family.

NEW HEAD OF DREW.

Madison, Oct. 17 (Special).—To-day's annual celebration of Founders' Day at Drew Theological Seminary was made notable by the inauguration of Dr. Ezra Squier Tipple, the new president of the institution. Dr. Tipple is a graduate of Drew and for some years he has been professor of practical theology at the seminary. At the time of his appointment to the professorship he was pastor of Grace church in New York City.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Laurence Irving has produced "The Typhoon" in England.

A. H. Woods has the book of a comic opera, "The City of Broken Hearts."

Cohan and Harris are to produce a play this season, by Roy Atwell, called "The Frame-Up."

Alla Nazimova will appear in the title role of "Bella Donna" at Atlantic City, N. J., in November.

It is reported that Arnold Daly will return temporarily to vaudeville, presenting "A Comedy for Wives."

The play written by Louis N. Parker and Devere Stackpole for the use of Madame Simone is of a romantic order.

Sarah Truax, who is now playing in a stock company, may star next season under the management of the Shuberts.

It is said Sarah Bernhardt will come to America for a vaudeville season, according to her contracts with Martin Beck.

Oliver Morosco, a well known western manager, is to build a theatre in Los Angeles, Cal., solely for the production of new plays.

Adele Rowland has been engaged for a leading role in Sam Bernard's new production under the management of the Shuberts.

This winter there will be simultaneous productions of the play "Milestones" in New York, Paris, London, Chicago, Berlin, Vienna and Budapest.

Antoinette Walker, who had the leading feminine role in David Warfield's "Music Master," has been engaged for the cast of "The Yellow Jacket."

Shaw's drama, "Fanny's First Play," has made such a hit in New York that the Shuberts will organize another English company to present the piece in Chicago.

Henri Bernstein, author of "The Thief," is writing a play for Charles Frohman in English. As the author's mother is an American, this feat should not be so difficult.

"The Master of the House," the new modern American drama being presented by the Shuberts, is to be given both in England and Australia during the current season.

Winthrop Ames, who now controls the Little Theatre, is to have another house in New York, to be called the Gotham. It will seat 800 and will be opened about the holidays.

Helen Ware will appear under the Harris management this season in a play by Elmer B. Harris, called "The Trial Marriage." The piece will be produced after the coming elections.

William Hawtrey, who starred last season in "Dear Old Billy," will appear this season in Pinero's "Dandy Dick," in which he acted two years ago in England, Australia and elsewhere.

Rida Johnson Young has written a new musical comedy called "The Girl and the Miner," in which Helen Lovell will have the leading part. The music is by Jerome Kern and the lyrics by Paul West.

NOTED SOLDIER 85 YEARS OLD.

London, Oct. 17 (Special).—The observance a week or so ago of the 80th birthday of Lord Roberts served to call attention yesterday to the 85th birthday of another noted British soldier, General Sir William Gordon Cameron. General Cameron began his military career nearly 70 years ago and took part in almost every important war and military expedition in which British arms has been engaged from the Crimean war in the '50s until his retirement from the service in 1895.

CONGRESS OF PATHOLOGY.

Paris, Oct. 17 (Special).—Scores of noted medical scientists, representing nearly all of the leading nations of the world, are attending the first International Congress of Compared Pathology, which assembled in Paris today for a session of five days. The congress will give its attention not only to questions covering the whole series of diseases common to men and animals, but also to the relations that may exist between the diseases of different species.

NOMINEE QUITS RACE THEN REPENTS OF ACTION

Trenton, Oct. 17.—Claiming that a conspiracy had been entered into as a result of which he was induced to withdraw his nomination as a Progressive party candidate for Congress in the Third District, Mark O. Prentiss, of Metuchen, Tuesday applied to the Secretary of State to have his petition reinstated.

The request was the outcome of a meeting of the Raritan Roosevelt Club in Metuchen, at which there was a row and at which friends of Mr. Prentiss reached the conclusion that he had been unfairly treated.

The facts so far as disclosed here are that after receiving the regular Republican nomination in the district, Benjamin F. S. Brown, of Matawan, also secured the indorsement of the Progressive (Roosevelt) party. He and his friends are then alleged to have set about procuring the withdrawal of Mr. Prentiss, and it is in this connection that the charge of conspiracy and unfair methods were made.

H. P. Matthews, secretary of Mr. Prentiss, who made the application, said he had not been fully informed as to the nature of the charges. The case will be referred to the attorney general.

OLD LANDMARK GOES.

Linden, Oct. 17.—The old Titus Hotel, which formerly stood on Wood avenue, has been moved back into the nearby fields, where it has been abandoned. This old inn was a landmark of this township. With the coming of the Pennsylvania Railroad it has been moved away to erect a large passenger station on the site.

OCTOBER 17 IN HISTORY.

1777—British army under Burgoyne surrendered to the Americans at Saratoga.

1781—Richard M. Johnson, ninth vice president of the U. S., born at Brant's Station, Ky. Died at Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 19, 1850.

Plainfield, N. J., October 17, 1912.

HERE YOU ARE, MR. CLAY.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

In your editorial of October 8, which you are pleased to call an answer to my letter to you relating to Mr. Moy's candidacy for the office of Mayor, you state as follows:

"If Mr. Clay actually doesn't know that the City was in the clutches of a 'machine' we will mention names."

I wish to state, with the same solemnity as if I were under oath, that I do not know that the City of Plainfield was before or at the time Mr. Moy was elected, or has been since that time, in the clutches of a "machine," and such being the fact, I shall expect you to make good the offer contained in your editorial.

GEO. S. CLAY.

When our good friend, Mr. Clay, over his own signature solemnly denied that "some members of the Common Council" had attempted to humiliate Mayor Moy and to place obstacles in his way, it was only his high reputation that saved him from the "short and ugly word." But if he was actually ignorant of that fact, it is not altogether impossible that he has had no knowledge of a "machine" in this city, and we much prefer to give him credit for being perfectly sincere in his foregoing communication. It becomes our duty, however, in compliance with his request, to enlighten him.

Along about the time, Mr. Clay was the active head of the Parker Independent club, advocating Alton B. Parker for the Presidency, what was known as the MacMurray-McCardell combine was in control and had everything pretty much its own way. James T. MacMurray was the undisputed "boss" with Andrew McCardell as his chief lieutenant. For the inside history of how they ran things to suit themselves and their ring, we refer Mr. Clay to Mr. MacMurray. Better still, he might consult William S. Tyler, William Starr Bullock, Robert L. Lee, Clarence Murphy and J. Stephen Higham, then members of the Common Council, who not only would not "take orders," but waged an aggressive warfare on the "machine" with Mr. Tyler as their able leader. James F. Buckle was the mayor then and MacMurray and McCardell were on friendly terms with him for really he was considered a member of their organization.

Former Judge William N. Runyon, next to "The Two Macs" the chief figure of the "ring", went over to the anti-machine regiment and his stirring arraignment of the "organization" when delivering street corner speeches with Mr. Moy in favor of R. Henry Depew against Charles J. Fisk for the mayoralty are vividly recalled. As time went on, MacMurray "broke loose" and joined hands with the anti-machine faction. Eventually he became the field marshall of the Independents' forces and figured conspicuously in their councils.

Now, coming down to more recent local history, did Mr. Clay ever hear of Mayor Charles J. Fisk as head and front of the "machine," surrounded by Samuel P. T. Wilbur, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., William Newcorn, William N. Runyon, Andrew McCardell, James F. Buckle, Frank Randolph and Herbert Buxton, and with some smaller fry including F. L. Montgomery, John Cose, Roger Murray, George J. Tobin, Alexander D. Ayres and W. R. Townsend? We do not insinuate, much less charge, that any of these or any others have been guilty of political corruption in office or out of office. We simply state the fact, since we have been challenged to do so, that they are now or were members of the "machine."

During his first campaign for the mayoralty and when he and Runyon and others were stumping for Depew for that place, Mr. Moy vigorously denounced the "machine," making its existence his campaign issue and he spared no one in mentioning names. Many of those he attacked are referred to above. On that issue he won his fight, with MacMurray as his practical campaign manager, as we stated in a recent reply to Mr. Clay.

The Daily Press takes pleasure in referring Mr. Clay to any of the ones we have mentioned as to whether there is and has been a "machine" and whether they have not had things very much their own way in picking out candidates and seeing to it that they were put in office until the Geran law put a stop to that sort of thing.

They're "hollerin' " because Cyrus McCormick "anted up" for the Wilson campaign, but he's not the only Harvester Trust man who has opened his dough bag to help the anti-high tariff candidate's cause for didn't W. L. Saunders give up $500?

Plainfield's publicist and statesman, Roger F. Murray, is about due to take his pen in hand and figure it all out how William Howard Taft is to be re-elected. What on earth would we do without Roger?

Those who wish to obtain all the political news cannot afford to miss the Daily Press. Its policy is to publish accurate, thorough and above all unbiased reports.

BALKAN WAR IS FORMALLY DECLARED

Turks Reject Peace Offer of Powers and Bounce Bulgarian and Servian Ministers.

Constantinople, Oct. 17.—A formal declaration of war against Bulgaria and Servia was made today by the Ottoman government. The war minister ordered Turkish troops to invade both countries and the movement was at once begun. The Porte handed passports to the Servian and Bulgarian representatives and they left the country within three hours.

Athens, Oct. 17.—Two Greek gunboats today made a successful dash past the Turkish blockade at the narrow entrance to the Gulf of Arta, one side of which is Turkish and the other Greek. The Turkish fort at Prevesa which dominates the entrance directed a heavy fire on the war boats which was returned with spirit.

Constantinople, Oct. 17.—Turkey today rejected a second note from the powers suggesting a conference to mediate the Balkan difficulty.

Athens, Oct. 17.—Greece today severed diplomatic relations with Turkey, which is tantamont to a declaration of war. The fleet sailed today under sealed orders and early this morning fighting began between the Greek army and the Turkish forces stationed along the frontier.

London, Oct. 17.—A despatch from Sofia this afternoon said that it was believed that King Ferdinand, of Belgaria, who has left with his staff for the headquarters of the Bulgarian army near the Turkish frontier, would issue a proclamation to the nation or make a formal declaration of war from that position.

CRISIS FOR MADERO GOVT. IN MEXICO

Diaz Captured Vera Cruz Early Tuesday and Great Consternation is Felt.

Mexico City, Oct. 17.—The news of the capitulation of the City of Vera Cruz, including the garrison and naval fleet to Felix Diaz, caused consternation in government circles today, although vigorous efforts were made to minimize the importance of the event. Minister of War Pena immediately dispatched all available troops, numbering 500, to attack Vera Cruz, but it is doubtful whether they will reach that point in safety. It was rumored yesterday afternoon that Orizaba, the largest industrial centre in the State, and Corbobo and Jalapa had revolted and proclaimed Diaz president. A like rumor comes from Oaxaca, the birthplace of Porfirio Diaz. The capture of Vera Cruz took place at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning with Diaz at the head of only 200 men. All the federal wires are down between the capital and Vera Cruz, but the latest advices state that perfect quiet reigns in Vera Cruz, ailthough all public buildings and banks are closed.

Diaz is in supreme command, having ousted all federal officers and substituted his own men. The War Department has begun the mobilization of 2,000 men stationed at various points in Southeastern Mexico. The belief prevails here that Diaz has carefully planned his campaign, and that Madero faces the greatest crisis in his administration. Diaz's coup is believed to be the precursor of a general defection in the federal army. It is freely predicted that Mexico City would surrender without a struggle if Diaz marches upon it.

New York, Oct. 17.—A despatch from Mexico City says that President Madero has called for 3,000 volunteers to suppress the Diaz rebellion.

BECKER'S STOOL PIGEON ADMITS HE'S A PERJURER

New York, Oct. 17.—John Carney, a telephone operator in the Times building, was called by the prosecution as the first witness of the day in the Becker trial. He testified that on the morning of July 16 he was on duty there. The record sheet of the pay station was put in evidence. At 2:57 a. m. on that day, he testified, he made a connection with Audubon 8694, Becker's number. On cross-examination only one question was asked Carney. "Did you at 2:44 o'clock that morning make a connection with Audubon 363?" After an affirmative answer he was excused.

The second witness called was Lucius Haywood, a colored telephone boy at the Belleclaire apartments, the home of Becker, who testified that he remembered a call for Becker after midnight the night of the murder and that Becker went out after receiving it and he did not see him return.

Max Margolis admitted that he committed perjury in swearing that he made bets in a pool room on 37th street, but said he was made to do so. He admitted that Becker told him to get evidence against Rosenthal's place and he went around to try but failed to get in. Mr. Mc Intyre asked that Margolis be committed to the Tombs on his own confession of perjury, but Mr. Whitman said, "I'll attend to that with the case of Ferrick."

The prosecution in the trial did not rest as early today as was expected. If it rests this evening in time, Mr. Hart will make a brief opening for the defense and William Travers Jerome will be the first witness. It is understood that Police Commissioner Waldo will be called before the prosecution closes.

The association decided to send Mrs. Stevens to the annual session of the Mothers' Congress to be held at Riverton, Pa., November 8-9. Private funeral services for Miss Anna Judson Pray were held at 12 o'clock today at the late home, 517 West Fifth street. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, of which Miss Pray was a member, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"The Concert," which comes to the Plainfield theatre, Saturday, October 19, is a thorough adaptation of what, in the hands of the average tinker of plays, would have remained an essentially continental comedy of cross-purposes. This play, which David Belasco produces, takes rank with the best light comedies of the last twenty years. It is clean and proper in theme, and thoroughly amusing. It administers wholesome truths as to marital happiness, the means to attain it, and how to keep this happiness after you get it. Mr. Belasco sends the New York cast here headed by Leo Ditrichstein. Indeed, Mr. Ditrichstein has increased his fame and fortune since he became identified with the overwhelming success of "The Concert," as he is its American author and chief actor. He adapted the play from a German comedy of the same name and he has played its leading part in this country for the last three years. Leo Ditrichstein is credited with giving a really wonderful performance of the chief role, that of a musical genius who plays the piano divinely and gains the adoration of thousands of women—that sort of feminine hero-worship which has followed Paderekski and other virtuosos all over our fad-loving land. Isabel Irving is the leading woman.

It is an interesting fact that the most fascinating theme in Henry Miller's big New York success, "The Rainbow," is not an affair of the heart in the ordinary sense of that much misused phrase. As a matter of fact, there are three love stories in "The Rainbow," but the chief interest is furnished by the wholesome, tender, appealing camaraderie established between a girl and her father, who were strangers to one another prior to the opening of the story. The girl was taken away from her father when she was a mere baby because of an estrangement between husband and wife. When she returns to his home she is seventeen years old, and has grown into a beautiful, graceful, ingenuous young woman. The love that developes between the lonely father and his naive young daughter furnishes the most tender and charming episodes of "The Rainbow's" fascinating story. This big motif is the central theme of the play, and its development causes audiences to surrender absolutely to the beautiful story. The scenes between the two central characters tug at the heart-strings as strongly as did the big situations of Henry Miller's first great success, "Heartease." "The Rainbow" is a tender, wholesome, sparkling comedy, full of color, winsomeness and irresistable charm. It is exquisitely written and superbly played. It gives Henry Miller the most interesting and sympathetic role he has created since he became a star, and and his own fine acting is reinforced by the splendid support he receives from his big company of noted players. He is bringing the original Liberty theatre cast to the Plainfield theatre, Monday night, October 21, and will give the play here exactly as it was presented all last season in New York.

SENATOR BRIGGS MUST QUIT HIS CAMPAIGNING

Trenton, Oct. 17.—Upon the urgent advice of his physician and after consultation with two of the foremost specialists in this country United States Senator Frank O. Briggs yesterday went to Philadelphia, where he will spend the next three or four weeks in the private hospital there of Drs. Stengel and de Schweinitz.

For the past few months Senator Briggs has been in poor health and his recent campaign work and Senatorial duties have so reduced his vitality that an absolute rest is necessary. While the Senator's condition is not alarming his health demands special treatment and uninterrupted rest.

This situation means that the Senator's campaign for re-election will be dropped for the time being insofar as he is personally concerned. The Senator made a special trip to Philadelphia a few days ago to consult with Dr. Stengel and that noted specialist at once confirmed the advice of Senator Briggs' family physician that he must drop business and political cares for a month at least.

REARING HORSE TOPPLES BACKWARD AND IS KILLED

Somerville, Oct. 17 (Special).—E. L. Van Doren, a horseman of this place, lost a valuable horse last night while exercising the animal on Union avenue, between this place and Bound Brook. The horse, Moline, was valued at from $300 to $350.

A passing automobile going at great speed, suddenly shot past Moline on the road. The horse took fright and reared upon its hind legs, and losing its balance fell over backwards. It struck on its head and was killed instantly, never moving from its tracks. That Mr. Van-Doren escaped injury seems miraculous. No clue could be learned as to the owner of the automobile, as the car kept right on. The driver was probably ignorant of the accident.

HALLOWEEN CAKES.

FOR the Halloween festivity nut cakes are the most suitable. They may, of course, be of any kind you prefer, but they should be frosted and decorated to suit the demands of the season.

Appropriate ornaments for the cakes are the tiny cats, pumpkins, miniature vegetables, etc., that can be purchased at the confectioner's. A toy witch with her broomstick or a goddess holding up a horn of plenty will make a striking centerpiece for a cake.

For the Halloween Feast.

Mixed Nut Cakes.—Take three-fourths cupful of butter and cream it with one and a half cupfuls of brown sugar. Beat in with this the yolks of three eggs. Add one cupful of chopped walnut meats, one cupful of chopped cocoanut, one teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon, a half teaspoonful of powdered cloves and one and one-half cupful of seedless raisins. Dissolve one-half teaspoonful of soda in one-half cupful of warm water. Sift three cupfuls of flour and one teaspoonful baking powder together. Add water and flour alternately to butter and sugar. Stir in the well beaten whites of three eggs. Drop by spoonfuls several inches apart on to a greased pan. Bake in a quick oven.

Hickory Nut Cake.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of butter, one-half cupful of water, one and a half cupfuls of sifted flour, one-half cupful of cornstarch, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and the whites of six eggs or three whole eggs. Flavor with lemon. Bake in layers. For the filling use two cupfuls of light brown sugar to one-half cupful of water. Boil until it threads and stir in the whites of two eggs. Add one cupful of chopped nut meats.

Novel Cakes.

Hazelnut Cake.—Mince two ounces of hazelnut meats and half an ounce of sweet almonds together. Add three ounces of powdered and sifted sugar, the white of an egg beaten to a froth and as much flour as will bind them together. Roll the paste out until it is a quarter of an inch thick, stamp out into small cakes, place on well buttered tins and bake in a slow oven for twenty minutes.

Walnut Roll.—Take a pound and a quarter of English walnuts and two ounces of Brazil nuts. Chop these together after they have been shelled and skinned. Put one pound of icing sugar into a basin, part of the white of one egg, a little water and stir thoroughly. Put in part of the nuts, then more eggs and so on until the ingredients are well mixed. Stir in half a teaspoonful of almond flavoring and turn the mixture, which should be like a dry paste, out on a marble slab. Knead it well and shape into a roll about three inches thick. Set aside for twenty-four hours till thoroughly dry, then cut in slices.

Local activities in the Parent-Teachers Associations have begun for the year. Bryant-Lincoln schools held a meeting on October 2, at which Miss Addie Parker Jackson gave a timely talk on the Physical Welfare of the Child. This association has secured some prominent speakers for their work throughout the winter. The next meeting will be held in the Lincoln School on November 6. The Franklin - Stillman - Whittier Association have also planned a full program for the year. An executive meeting was held recently at the home of the president, Mrs. S. H. Voorhees, and the first meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 12. The Jefferson School Association held their first meeting yesterday.

Mrs. Hervey Doane spoke to the Parent-Teachers Association of the Roselle High School on Tuesday of this week. The attendance was very large and the grade or class room registering the largest number of mothers to represent that class, is entitled to the banner for the coming month. The enthusiasm shown in the work was noticeable while anyone attending the meeting could feel the spirit of cordiality between the mothers and teachers. The latter spoke frankly of the needs of the school and the mothers, assuming the deficiency as their own, both consulted how best the matter might be remedied.

The Board of Education of Pittsburg has decided after much discussion to formally adopt the plan of introducing dancing into the schools of the city. The plan having failed in Rochester and Cleveland makes a dissenting voice in every Board. But the failure is generally conceded to mismanagement and great success has been achieved in Chicago, where the dancing is now being held under municipal supervision.

One thing every parent should grasp, is that the centre for attack in the training of children is the will. All that happens in the home and all that is done for him must yield him a dividend of will-power. One simply must not ignore this. Duty to children is not fulfilled in giving your children a good time or doing things for them. Discipline, guidance, influence must play upon the will, or the child's life problem becomes an insolved enigma. To beget and train a strong will there must be over him a reasonable authority. No one can acquire will power who has not learned obedience. But much depends on the basis of this authority. It cannot rest long on mere physical prowess for the time comes when the child becomes the stronger and then such authority vanishes. It cannot rest on assumed infallibility of knowledge, for learning grows and the child of today may suddenly become wiser than his father or mother. It must not be a tyranny, for tyranny breeds fear, and fear dwarfs the soul. It must be rather such an authority as awakens loyalty—fidelity that is saturated with love. A will that is molded by such an authority will be strong. (W. H. Spence, on Education of the Parent.)

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Ray Parsh, a freshman, defeated Martin McDonough, a freshmen, in two straight sets of the High School tennis tournament yesterday, 6-2, 6-2, on the Park Club courts. Parsh had the advantage in both sets, but McDonough made him play hard for every point he made.

Augustus VanDeventer, a junior, was defeated by Thomas Featherstone, a senior, by default which gives "Tom" a chance in the second round. The second round will be played off tomorrow and the finals next Tuesday on the Watchung tennis club courts.

Four members of the High School took a hike last night over the mountain and stopped at the home of J. Atwood Giddings on the Valley road. After eating apples and drinking cider the boys started home on a run and arrived in the borough about ten o'clock. Those who took the hike were Newton Spencer, Duclos VanMater, Donald Ketcham and Frank Dunning.

The Junior Class held a meeting yesterday and decided definitely on a class pin. The colors are brown and gold.

Basketball Manager Carroll Taylor announces that his schedule is near completion. The borough five will run up against many fast teams and will enter two leagues, the city with Plainfield and the Somerset county with Bound Brook and Somerville. North Plainfield copped both leagues last season and will try hard to repeat the trick.

DELTA UPSILON.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17 (Special).—The Delta Upsilon fraternity began its convention here today as the guest of the University of Wisconsin chapter. The attendance is made up of 300 delegates representing nearly forty colleges. Delta Upsilon is one of the largest of the Greek letter fraternities, having a membership of nearly 10,000. It was founded at Williams College in 1834, as an anti-secret society, by a group of students which included Stephen J. Field, afterwards judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, and James A. Garfield, afterwards President.

PIERRE LOTI LEAVES.

New York, Oct. 17 (Special).—Pierre Loti, the distinguished French author and playwright who came over to attend the first performance in this city of his play, "The Daughter of Heaven," sailed for home today on the Provence. On the eve of his departure M. Loti expressed himself as highly pleased with what he had seen of America and the Americans.

RED SOX ARE HAILED WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

Get Title Through Snodgrass' Muff in Tenth Inning.

Boston, Oct. 17.—The Boston Red Sox climbed to the baseball pinnacle in a ten inning contest they beat the New York Giants by a score of 3 to 2 and became the champions of the diamond world. The championship became theirs in the most teeming and spectacular of all world's series, a series which included eight games and was won by four games to three. But the defeat was bitter. Mathewson, the wonderful veteran, pitched gamely and effectively.

As soon as the winning run was scored Manager McGraw of the Giants made a bee line for the Red Sox bench to congratulate Manager Stahl. McGraw had taken defeat in a sportsmanlike manner and was about to offer his hand to the Boston leader when a rowdy, stepping up behind McGraw, pushed him so hard that McGraw almost fell into the Red Sox pit. This treatment quickly riled McGraw, who turned upon his assailant and dealt him a stinging blow on the nose. A big crowd of Boston rooters promptly sided with the New York manager, who then shook hands with Stahl and said: "You've won the world's series and I wish you luck. We made errors that were fatal, but that is baseball, as you know. It has been a great series, but I am glad that it is over. The strain on my players was beginning to tell."

The Giants were a gloomy lot as they realized that they had been beaten out of the lion's share of the coin. Snodgrass looked as if he had lost his last friend on earth. He said he couldn't account for his muff of Engle's wallop. He declared that he judged the ball perfectly, but somehow the leather twisted out of his glove just as he was convinced that he had it cinched. Chief Meyers said that Mathewson deserved to win for he showed his best ability and worked like a Trojan.

COULON BACK IN RING.

New York, Oct. 17. (Special).—After being absent from the ring for some time, Johnny Coulon, bantam champion of the world, will make his reappearance tonight at the Garden Athletic Club in this city. His opponent will be "Kid" Williams, of Baltimore, who is regarded as a comer among the little fellows. Both fighters are in fine fettle and a lively setto is expected.

P. H. S. ELEVEN OPENS SEASON

Local Gridiron Warriors Succumb Before the Seton Hall College Eleven.

WEIGHT HANDICAPPED

Score 20 to 7—Forward Pass and Trick Formations Show up Well —Crippled Lineup—P. H. S. Coaching Shows to Advantage.

Playing under the greatest of disadvantages and with a crippled lineup, the Plainfield High School football eleven opened its gridiron season at South Orange, yesterday afternoon, going down before the Seton Hall College eleven for a 20 to 7 count. Although the score appears rather one-sided in print, the Orange aggregation had to fight with almost superhuman strength for every point they scored. The home team greatly outweighed the local players and had the knack of combining their weightiness with a sufficient portion of ability which kept the Plainfield tacklers constantly on the alert. Captain Van Zandt had to face the puzzling question of overcoming the weight advantage of the Orange players and he solved the problem by putting into play every trick and formation that the locals have mastered from the coaching received from Coaches Best and Linke, who accompanied the team to Orange yesterday.

Each time the local team's general chose to call for the execution of the difficult forward pass it worked for a goodly gain. Schenck carried it safely for a twice down on the initial attempt and when McDowell clung fast to a pretty heave from Van Zandt on the forty yard line he carried it safely over the whitewash, thereby eliminating P. H. S. from a coat of the kalsomine. Butler was selected to kick the goal and he did it in such a way as to pull the Plainfield eleven's score up to the seven mark.

The heavy and more experienced Orange team was held well in check by the visitors considering the handicaps the latter had to overcome and their last two scores were the result of exceedingly hard line bucking which the P. H. S. defense was too light to check. The Orange teams' first six points came as the result of an excusable blunder on the part of Herrman, who received the pigskin on Orange's five yard line and was tackled so hard that the ball was knocked out of his grasp and became the opponent's property on their four yard line. From this point the home aggregation scored their initial touchdown in three straight line plunges and easily kicked the goal.

Good proved to be a tower of strength to the P. H. S. back field, and it seemed as though the only way the heavy back could be stopped, when he got the oval, was to have an opposing tackler drop down in his path, and he made gain after gain which netted P. H. S. her first downs. Schenck, McDowell and Captain Van Zandt also played consistent games for the Queen City favorites and the latter's headwork at critical moments of play pulled off gain after gain. McDowell seemed to be down the field on every punt and was right on deck to stop the runner with the ball. Schenck proved a steady man on the defence and his position was the one strong spot on the line.

One of the students at Seton Hall who was a close observer of the game was Julian Linke, a former Plainfield High School student, and he was surprised by the quality of ball the team "from the old home town" displayed in comparison with that of some of the more heavier teams that have played against Seton Hall this year.

Owing to some fortgetfulness on the part of certain members of the football executive staff, no accurate lineup of the Orange eleven could be obtained and although the P. H. S. line of battle looks rather one-sided without some other eleven to balance it, the players who took the trip to Orange are given below with the list of Plainfield officials.

SCIENCE DISCLOSES HOW FAST JOHNSON PITCHES

Walter Johnson, star pitcher of the Washington Americans, and Nap Rucker, champion southpaw of the Brooklyns, recently established two new records. They succeeded in timing the speed of a pitched ball for the first time in the history of the world, and in order to do this made a record breaking run in an automobile from New York to Bridgeport, Connecticut, and return.

The trip was taken one Saturday morning and both pitchers had to be in New York for games that afternoon. They left New York at an early hour in a big Franklin touring car.

The distance traveled was 55 miles and in returning to New York the distance had to be made in less than two hours. This was a record run considering the fact that most of the 55 miles was over city pavements.

Johnson's best speed record in throwing a baseball, which was made in the test room of the Remington Arms U-M-C Company at Bridgeport, was 122 feet per second. The best that Rucker could do was 113 feet per second. The speed for a new government Colt .45 calibre automatic revolver is 800 feet per second, which is about 6½ times the speed of Johnson's pitched ball. A high-powered hunting rifle of .35 calibre has a velocity of 2000 feet per second, or about 16½ times Johnson's best record.

P. H. S. FOOTBALL PLAYER SUSTAINS BAD WRENCH

In the game with Seton Hall College yesterday afternoon, the Plainfield High School's chance of coming out victorious was greatly diminished by the absence of William Peacock, their heavy half-back, from the lineup. Peacock was injured in the practice game with the Netherwood A. C. on Parker Field Monday afternoon, and although he was on the sidelines at South Orange yesterday afternoon the trip caused him considerable exertion and the coaches took no chances on putting him into scrimmage.

Peacock is in bed today with a badly wrenched ankle and will probably remain there until Saturday. His ambitions are high, however, and the plucky little half-back says that he will be back in the game against Bernardsville Saturday if he has to play on one leg.

Chances seem to be against his ambitions, and it now looks as though he ought to be restrained from getting into Saturday's gridiron dual for it will probably make his injury worse and the High School will be forced to get along without his line bucking during some of the harder games.

If Peacock had been able to carry the oval yesterday afternoon P. H. S. would probably have made an even better showing against the heavy Orange eleven than they did.

FOR ADVANCEMENT OF NATIONAL GUARD

Winter School Will Be Held To Perfect Knowledge of Tactics.

Trenton, Oct. 17.—Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., has issued the order drawn by Major Johnson as his last official act, the enforcement of which will put the New Jersey national guard far in advance of other States in military efficiency. Governor Wilson signed the order, as its going into effect requires the signature of the commander-in-chief.

The members of the national guard are interested because the order provides for winter schools.

The order creates a department to be known as the "Department of Service Schools of the National Guard of New Jersey." The senior inspector-instructor detailed from the regular army, on duty in this State, will be the "director of service schools."

All other officers of the army detailed for duty with the organized militia of the State and such officers of the organized militia as may be from time to time designated will be assistants to the director.

The order establishes the following schools for officers, the sessions to be held from November to May, inclusive, each year: Armory schools, quartermasters' schools, medical schools, post-graduate schools and advanced schools.

All officers below field grade will be required to solve problems which will be sent out from the office of the director of service schools, or by the several inspector-instructors as may be designated. When completed each regimental officer will send his solution to the lieutenant colonel of his regiment (in absence of the lieutenant colonel, to a field officer designated by the regimental commander), and the officers of the special arms and staff corps, to the officer who prepared the problems. These officers will note their criticisms on each problem, and will value it as "excellent," "very good," "good," "fair," or "poor."

These problems will then be forwarded, by the lieutenant colonels through the regimental commander, and by all others direct, to the director of service schools, by whom after noting for file the grading, they will be returned with the approval solution to the officers concerned; or, if practicable, the officers will be assembled for discussion of problem by the director or one of his assistants, and the problem returned at that time.

When an officer has successfully completed a four years' course he will be given a certificate of proficiency signed by the governor of the State and countersigned by the adjutant general. The order provides a system of degrees for officers who have successfully passed the various tests.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The Chess Club is being organized and when all entries are received, a schedule will be prepared, giving all members an equal chance for the coveted title "Chess Champion."

There was gloom in Mr. Howe's classes until Col. Roosevelt's condition had been definitely decided upon. It need hardly be stated that Mr. Howe is a great "bull moose."

Coach Linke has discovered a new place kicker among his squad. This wonder is Joseph G. Carty, who did the kicking-off in yesterday's game.

In the continuation of the boys' doubles, Van Deventer and Moore defeated Goodrich and Dall, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4; Henderson and Mc Kay defeated Woodhull and Davenport, 6-1, 6-4, yesterday afternoon.

In the girls' doubles, Miss Pauline Gates and Miss Caroline Slauson defeated Miss Elsa Schwed and Miss Gwendolin Stanton by the score of 6-2, 6-2.

ACCIDENTS MARRED AUTO "BOOM" TRIP

Somerville Merchants' Advertising Tour Proved Exciting.

Somerville, Oct. 17 (Special).—Accidents marred the "boom" auto trip by the Somerville Merchants' Association through Somerset and Hunterdon counties yesterday, as a result of which a young lad received a bad cut on his head, and M. H. Burke, of the firm of M. H. Burke & Co., is in the Somerset Hospital, suffering from a dislocated hip. A. Potter, also of Somerville, probably saved his life by jumping out of the car involved before it turned turtle.

The first accident was at Whitehouse, when the machine of Dr. G. W. Voorhees struck a boy, Arthur Reed, aged nine years, son of Aaron Reed, of Whitehouse. He was hit over the left eye. The injury was not serious.

Just as the cars were leaving Whitehouse Station, and had proceeded about three miles on the road toward Flemington, the worst accident of the trip happened. The autos, to the number of about twenty-five, were going at a slow rate of speed, when Mayor Steele's hat blew off. He was in one of the autos well in front, and the car dropped back to get the hat. In returning to his place in the line the chauffeur started around the procession on the right. Harold Hardwick, who was driving the car belonging to A. G. Swinton, of Somerville, shot out of the line and attempted to pass the procession on the left. The mayor's car and the Swinton car, occupied by the chauffeur and A. Potter and M. H. Burke, of Somerville, crashed. The Swinton car was knocked out of its course, and swerving to the left, ran up a steep bank, broke the left front wheel and then turned turtle on the right-hand side of the road almost in front of a number of other autos which were stopped just in time to prevent a series of accidents. Mr. Potter jumped from the machine before it turned over, but Mr. Burke was not so fortunate, and he fell with the machine.

The ambulance from Somerville was sent for and Mr. Burke was taken to Somerset Hospital. This morning it was stated that he had sustained a dislocated hip and that it will probably be five or six weeks before he will be out.

Short parades were held at Annandale, Clinton, High Bridge, Whitehouse and Flemington. At the latter place dinner was served at the Hotel Flemington, at the conclusion of which a number of addresses were made. These included a speech by Mayor Steele, Samuel Ayres, F. G. Thomas, Milton Labaw and others. The return trip was made by way of Larison's Corner, Reaville, Three Bridges, Neshanic and Raritan.

THE REINFORCEMENTS FORGOT TO ARRIVE

T. R. WILL LEAVE MONDAY

with my improved condition,' was the way the colonel put it."

Mrs. Roosevelt spent the entire evening reading to the colonel up to the time Dr. Murphy came. She then bid the colonel good night and retired.

When Dr. Kreuscher and Miss Fitzgerald, the nurse, had made the colonel comfortable for the night the patient expressed concern for the health of the nurse and advised her to go to sleep. He told her he would call her if he needed her. The colonel then switched on the reading lamp and said that as he did not feel sleepy he would while away the time with his books.

The nurse had only been gone a few minutes, however, when she received a call from the colonel. The patient apologetically said that the hospital nightshirt was not comfortable and requested her to get his pajamas. The request was granted, and then she retired a second time.

Worst Known on Friday.

The surgeons received the result of the last X ray examination in the afternoon. The picture shows the bullet lodged up against the fourth rib. It could not be determined by the doctors in this picture whether the rib had been splintered or not. In fact, there was a division of opinion of the medical men in this particular.

The surgeons also expressed the belief that Friday will settle definitely whether the bullet fired by Schrank will cause trouble. If there are no symptoms of blood poisoning by that time the surgeons believe that nature will segregate the bullet from the adjoining tissues and that there will be no danger of blood poisoning.

It was evident that in all probability the bullet will never be extracted.

From midnight the colonel had slept and read Macauley's essays alternately. A few minutes after 7 o'clock the nurse took a clinical record of his condition which showed a normal temperature of 98.6, pulse 74, a drop of eighteen beats during the night, and respiration 18. With this detail out of the way the colonel called for his breakfast of bacon and eggs and toast and tea. While this was being prepared Dr. Terrell, who had spent the night in an adjoining room, came in, looked the patient over, suggested that he take a sponge bath and chatted with him.

Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Theodore, Jr., on their arrival were met at the Englewood station by Mrs. Alice Longworth and Mrs. Medill McCormick. Mrs. Roosevelt was the first to alight and as she stepped rapidly off the train, assisted by Dr. Alexander Lambert, the Roosevelt family physician, who has accompanied the party from New York, Mrs. Longworth pushed forward, embraced and reassured her there was nothing to worry about.

"I am so relieved," she exclaimed. "I feared that they were keeping something back from me as to his real condition. Now I know there is no danger. His being taken to a hospital after the first reassuring message was disconcerting."

When Mrs. Roosevelt reached the hospital the colonel greeted his wife with a gay "Hello."

After greeting the children the colonel again reassured the whole family by having read the last of the bulletins of the surgeons. The husband and father attempted to tell the family just "how it happened," but a warning came through the doorway from one of the doctors that the patient must not excite himself unnecessarily and the talk was limited to family circle happenings.

Asks For Books to Read.

During the early afternoon Dr. Lambert, Dr. W. A. Evans, former health commissioner of Chicago, and Dr. Woods Hutchinson called on the colonel. After a few minutes' chat the patient expressed a wish for some books to read, telling Dr. Lambert to get some volumes on nature study, "that I can learn something from them without knowing that I am studying or making an effort."

Drs. Lambert and Evans immediately departed for the downtown district, returning in about two hours with several volumes of nature study, travel and fiction. This supply was augmented by the arrival at the hospital of a box of books from "two women admirers" during the afternoon.

Other visitors were Father E. J. Vattman and Colonel Cecil Lyon. "I talked with the colonel for five minutes," said Colonel Lyon. "During that time we talked of everything under the sun. He's all right, all right."

Colonel Lyon hinted that Colonel Roosevelt expected to be back in the campaign at the end of two weeks. "When a man becomes president of the United States does he thereby 'cinch' the position of head of his family?" queried one visitor, with a mischievous glance at Mrs. Roosevelt.

"No," was the colonel's quick retort, "not by a long shot."

The colonel's son-in-law, Nicholas Longworth, was another early afternoon visitor. He remained only a few minutes. His cousin, Philip Roosevelt, also called.

In the middle of the afternoon an X ray photograph of the colonel's side was taken to ascertain, if possible, the exact location of the bullet. The colonel dropped off to sleep afterward and slept for more than an hour. On awakening he made several corrections in the manuscript of the speech of Albert J. Beveridge at Louisville.

In the early evening Mrs. Longworth and Theodore, Jr., called again for a few minutes, after which the colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt had dinner together, and they spent the early evening together alone, only nurses and surgeons being permitted to enter the sick chamber.

Bullets Not Poisoned.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—One great cause of anxiety was removed for the physicians who are caring for Colonel Roosevelt when it was learned positively that John Schrank, his assailant, had not poisoned the bullets with which he fired at the colonel. This was learned in the report of Dean E. W. Sommer of Marquette university's medical department to Judge N. J. Neelan, the district court judge who ordered a chemical examination of the bullets in Schrank's gun.

The report of Professor Sommer was easily the chief development of the day in Milwaukee. Schrank's day was quiet, but the authorities are preparing to make a secret study of him by alienists, to make certain that the state will win on the issue of insanity, if this were to be brought in as defense.

"They have taken thirty pictures of me since the shooting and I have told the newspaper men all that I ever knew, so do not let any one in to see me," said Schrank to Sheriff Arnold when a reporter tried to get an interview with him.

Schrank has not selected a lawyer to represent him in the trial. When asked about it he said that he would think about one and when the time came he might have one selected. The prisoner slept well Tuesday night and was good natured yesterday when his breakfast was brought to him. He drank a cup of coffee and ate some bread and molasses.

"He is a fine prisoner," said Jailer Roth, who is one of the oldest jailers in the country. "He is pleasant."

Roosevelt Saved Schrank.

Chicago, Oct. 17. — That Colonel Roosevelt, with the assassin's bullet in his body, saved the man who tried to murder him from being choked to death right there and then, is the statement of Elbert E. Martin, the colonel's stenographer, who threw himself on top of Schrank in the hope of catching the bullet.

"I would have killed him," said Martin, "if the colonel hadn't called to me to stop and bring the man to him." And every man who heard Martin make that statement and noted his husky physique believed him.

"It is a mistake," said Martin, "to say that I jumped for the assassin after the shot was fired. I saw the man raise the gun as I was putting my foot on the step of the automobile. How quickly the whole thing was done I suppose I never will be able to tell, but as the thought went through my mind that it was really a revolver in the man's hand I threw myself into the air toward the man, who was about five feet away, pushing off from the auto to get a sort of springboard effect. As far as I can recollect, there were two things in my mind. A man thinks as fast as I thought then only once in his life.

"My first thought—it's funny to speak of having first thoughts under these circumstances—was, if possible, to reach the man and bear down on him before he fired. My second thought was to take the bullet myself if he fired before I reached him.

"He fired while I was in the air—that's just about what happened, for it couldn't have been more than half a second from the time when I, seeing the gun, leaped to the time I landed on him and we went down to the pavement together.

"My arm, from old wrestling practice—any wrestler will tell you it's a natural thing to do—went around his neck in half Nelson. As we struck the pavement he tried to slip the gun in between us, and I knew that meant that he intended to shoot me.

"I got my left hand to the muzzle of the gun as a first precaution, turned it in on him and then broke his hold. With the gun in my left hand and my half Nelson backed by a strength that I never realized that I had, I commenced to force his head back to break his neck. If Colonel Roosevelt hadn't stopped me I would have killed him."

Roosevelt's Message to Party.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Following is the message dictated by Colonel Roosevelt, to his party and delivered by Senator Beveridge to an audience in Louisville, Ky., last night:

"It matters little about me, but it matters all about the cause we fight for. If one soldier who happens to carry the flag is stricken another will take it from his hands and carry it on. One after another the standard bearers may be laid low, but the standard itself can never fall. You know that personally I did not want ever to be a candidate for office again. And you know that only the call that came to the men of the sixties made me answer it in our day as they did more nobly in their day. And now, as then, it is not important whether one leader lives or dies. It is important only that the cause shall live and win. Tell the people not to worry about me, for if I go down another will take my place. For always the army is true. Always the cause is there, and it is the cause for which the people care, for it is the people's cause."

RYAN TO TESTIFY MONDAY.

Senate Campaign Inquiry to Continue All Next Week.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Thomas F. Ryan will appear next Monday before the senate committee investigating campaign funds. The committee has informally agreed that the inquiry will go along until the end of next week, if necessary, to hear all witnesses who desire to be heard.

The charges made by Ogden L. Mills of the Republican committee of New York county when he was a witness has aroused the friends of Colonel Roosevelt. Comptroller Prendergast has intimated to the committee that he may want to appear and County Chairman S. S. Koenig may be called as the result of charges made before the committee by S. Aronwitz.

EXPECT GIBSON INDICTMENT.

District Attorney Rogers Looks For True Bill Against Lawyer.

New York, Oct. 17.—Practically all the evidence against Burton W. Gibson, charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosa Szabo at Greenwood Lake, July 16, has been presented to the Orange county grand jury. District Attorney Otto Rogers looks for a true bill against the New York attorney when the jury reports early next week.

The testimony of Dr. O. H. Schultze, coroner's physician, was heard by the jury. The prosecution depends upon his testimony not only for an indictment but for a conviction as well. If an indictment is found Gibson will be placed on trial in Newburg early in December.

MACFARLAND ON STAND.

Accused of Poisoning Wife to Marry Affinity, Florence Bromley.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 17.—For five hours and a half Allison M. MacFarland, accused of killing his wife by cyanide of potassium poisoning, faced the jury in the court of oyer and terminer in Newark who will decide his fate and told his story of the poison mystery. The accused murderer did not testify to anything that he has already explained in statements he has given out since his arrest, but he was forced to tell his love for Miss Florence Bromley, his affinity, of Philadelphia, and the tender sayings in the "Bunny letters."

MacFarland was called to the stand at 11.26 o'clock yesterday morning and, with the exception of an hour's recess for lunch between 1 and 2 o'clock and another recess of five minutes in the middle of the afternoon, he testified during the remainder of the day. It was after 6 o'clock when adjournment was taken and MacFarland was still on the stand. He was called again this morning.

The witness was asked if his wife ever used the bromide, and MacFarland replied that he once gave it to her for a headache on a hot day.

Weather Forecast.

Fair, slightly warmer today. Tomorrow, warmer in eastern portion; moderate winds becoming southerly.

BECKER FIGHTING TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Defense Will Be Gamblers Killed Rosenthal.

HIS WIFE TO TAKE STAND

Accused Policeman May Also Be Witness—Cross Examination by McIntyre of Mrs. Rosenthal, Slain Gambler's Widow, Halted by Defendant.

New York, Oct. 17.—It is expected that the defense will open late today in the trial of Lieutenant Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. There was an episode in the trial yesterday that will hardly be forgotten by those who looked and listened. That was when Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal, the widow of the murdered gambler, looked steadfastly at Becker and swore that she was present when Becker in the Elks' club, a few months before the murder, put his arm around her husband's shoulders and said: "Cheer up Everything will be all right."

The jurors who had been following every word of Mrs. Rosenthal's composed but earnest story were on tiptoe as they leaned toward the witness. Several turned their heads and watched Becker's face as Mrs. Rosenthal kept on with her testimony about the raid that the lieutenant made on the gambling house and the reply he made to her surprised questions as to what it all meant. "It had to be Herman or me. Tell Herman he don't owe me anything. Tell him to go down and see that man and tell him we are square."

For the first time since the trial Lieutenant Becker's eyes roved from a witness. He looked toward the ceiling or at the table in front of him, and when Mrs. Rosenthal at times turned from the jurors to fix her eyes on him he looked away. The muscles of his throat were moving as if he was swallowing hard. And when Mr. McIntyre a little later would have persisted with the cross examination of Mrs. Rosenthal, Becker asked his lawyer to stop.

Defense to Be Heard Today.

With the testimony of Mrs. Rosenthal and with the testimony of numerous disinterested witnesses that Becker and Rose, in the months before the murder, met at Rose's house, at the Union Square hotel and at Luchow's restaurant and that Becker was in communication with Rose after the murder, the state approached the completion of its case.

The district attorney will put on the stand today a few more witnesses for the purpose of additionally corroborating details of the testimony of Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps. Mr. McIntyre will then ask that the defendant be discharged on the ground that the state has failed to make a case. If the motion is denied—and there is every likelihood that it will be—Becker's chief counsel will be required to make his opening address to the jury and to call the witnesses for the defense. The line of defense has been plainly indicated. Becker's counsel will try to show that Rosenthal was murdered by gamblers who were afraid that his "squeal" would put them out of business.

The district attorney yesterday struck his most effective blows against the defense. The intensely interesting and highly colored narratives of the four informers has furnished the theatrical features of the trial—these and the convincing story told by Mrs. Rosenthal. They were like the episodes of the big act of a well constructed drama. But the testimony of the succeeding witnesses, the many who furnished corroboration, was the explanatory final act, the connecting links of the story.

Becker and Rose Friends.

By these witnesses the state showed that Lieutenant Becker and Jack Rose were for a long time preceding the murder on the most intimate and friendly terms, whatever way their affairs pointed. Becker and his wife dined with the Roses. Becker and Rose met in restaurants little frequented by uptown gamblers and spoke cautiously when eavesdroppers were by. A waiter saw Rose give money to Becker on two occasions.

There was a witness to swear that he heard Becker in the Tombs say that after the sensation blew over the public would give him a pension for killing a "damned skunk." There was corroboration of Rose's story that John W. Hart, Becker's lawyer, visited Rose on the second night of the murder, gaining admission to Rose's hiding place with the initials "J. H.," his own with the "W." omitted.

No amount of cross examination could shake those corroborative stories

Colonel Dictates Statement to Followers and Wants Appointments to Continue Fight—Is Anxious to Resume Campaigh.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Reassuring advices have come from the bedside of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, at Mercy Hospital, today. It is the most important day of any since the would-be assassin's bullet was fired at him on Monday night, for if blood poisoning or other complications do not set in before midnight the doctors will consider him out of danger.

Continued improvement in the condition of Colonel Roosevelt was reported in the official bulletin issued by the physicians at the Mercy Hospital this morning. The following was given out at 9:15 o'clock: "Pulse, 70; temperature 98.4; respiration, 18; pain in chest diminished; breathing freer; general condition so good that he will be allowed to sit up for an hour today. His convalescence is progressing favorably and unless some latent affection manifests itself his progress should be rapid."

Colonel Roosevelt expects to go to Oyster Bay next Monday or Tuesday on one of the slower trains over the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—At 11:35 o'clock this morning Colonel Roosevelt sat in a rocking chair and received his running mate, Governor Johnson, of California.

The first announcement as to the Colonel's condition was made early this morning, when it was stated, before the physicians arrived, that further improvement was noted over his condition of last night.

It was said at the Mercy Hospital early last night that Colonel Roosevelt is greatly improved and that his recovery is assured unless complications set in.

CONGRESSMAN BEDE WILL BE A SPEAKER

National Committee Sends "Roosevelt Trailer" to Help G. O. P. Here.

The Republican City Executive Committee at its meeting last night made final arrangements for the mass meeting to be held at the Plainfield theatre tonight. It was announced that in addition to Judge Fullerton, of Orange county, New York, and former City Judge William N. Runyon, the Congressional candidate, both of whom will speak, former Congressman J. Former State Senator Charles A. Reed will preside at tonight's meeting, at which time he will also have something to say about the issues of the campaign.

Judge William Newcorn, chairman of the local committee, completed the appointment of the advisory committee comprising thirty-six in all, or two representatives from each district in the city. Councilman Ralph I. Tolles was chosen chairman and Horace G. Adams secretary of this committee. A list of about seventy-five Republicans were chosen to act as vice presidents for tonight's meeting and the Republican clubs in nearby towns were also invited to attend the meeting.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON MAY SPEAK IN PLAINFIELD

The executive committee of the local Progressive party will hold a meeting tomorrow night to further plans for a mass meeting to be held in this city soon. The party expects to have as a speaker at one of its large mass meetings, Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, who is the candidate for Vice President on the Progressive ticket.

Efforts were being made to secure Theddore Roosevelt as a speaker, but since the shooting incident in Milwaukee, he has been obliged to cancel all engagements and it is doubtful whether he will do any more campaigning, at least, for the present.

PARISH HOUSE IS OPEN TO PUBLIC

'Plains and Fanwood People Inspect Gift of Dr. and Miss Coles.

MANY ON THE ROLLS

Membership of Close to 200 When the Opening Reception is Over—Features of the Exercises—List of Officers.

The Scotch Plains Memorial Parish House, the gift of Dr. J. Ackerman Coles and Miss Emilie S. Coles to the residents of Scotch Plains and Fanwood, was formally opened to the public last night. The program was an informal one, the idea being to give everyone a chance to get acquainted and inspect the building and its equipment. If the opening is to be taken as a criterion, the success of the Parish House is assured, as there was hardly a corporal's guard among the stay-at-homes in the borough or village. The chairman of the membership committee, A. D. Beckon, was kept busy enrolling members, 190 names being listed.

The program of the evening opened with a selection by the orchestra, under the leadership of Martin A. Korff. S. Dana Townsend, chairman of the entertainments, introduced Rev. Edward Gabler, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, who read the scripture. Rev. Dr. C. C. Carroll, pastor of the Methodist church, read a letter from Dr. Coles and his sister, who were unable to be present on account of illness. Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews offered prayer. Miss Henrietta Harbeson sang two solos; Spencer Talmadge, president of the council, gave a five-minute talk on the work, what the council expected to do, and asked for the support of the residents. Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, chairman of the house committee, gave out information regarding enrollment and privileges of the members. The program closed with selections by the orchestra, after which the building was opened for inspection.

The building itself has played a prominent part in the history of the 'Plains for several generations. It was first the meeting house of the Baptist church. When the present handsome structure was built the old building was moved from Park avenue to its present location and remodeled into the village school Here it was that the fathers and grandfathers, the mothers and grandmothers of the present generation, who are to enjoy the privileges of the Parish House, learned their three R's. When the present school building was built, Dr. Coles purchased the old building, having agreed to do so providing the taxpayers would vote the necessary money to erect a modern school.

The building remained idle for sometime. An Italian mission was opened and was maintained for several years, but this was eventually given up. Over a year ago Dr. Coles and his sister, through Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church, made an offer to remodel the building, equip it along the lines of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and present it to the town as a memorial to their late father, Dr. Abraham Coles, and their grandfather, Dennis Coles, the place to be non-sectarian, every man, woman and child in Scotch Plains and Fanwood being allowed to enjoy the privileges of the house. Mr. Mathiews, who is deeply interested in work among the young people, aroused enthusiasm and the offer was accepted. Many of the leading citizens of both towns pledging financial as well as moral support. The result was that when Dr. Coles' gift was opened to the public last night the residents found that they possessed something decidedly worth while to the community.

The officers of the Parish House, council and committee heads are as follows:

President, Spencer Tallmadge; vice president, Samuel Hollingsworth; secretary, William F. Ward; treasurer, Thomas Norton. Members of the Council, John Bornman, Alfred D. Beeken, James D. Cleaver, Wallis A. Cattelle, Edward Gabler, William I. Guest, John Z. Hatfield, Edward L. Hand, Burton P. Hall, William H. Hoar, Samuel Hollingsworth, E. W. D. Johnston, Philip Jahn, Ray T. Beeken; Finance Committee, Burton P. Hall; Entertainment Committee, S. Dana Townsend; Bowling Committee, William I. Guest; Athletic Committee, Edward L. Hand; Gymnasium Committee, Ray T. Munger; Women's Committee, Frank W. Westcott.

VERDICT OF $3,000 AGAINST BROKAW

Auto Victim and Her Husband Recover in Circuit Court Suit.

$1,000 FOR MR. BEATTY

Jury Awards Him Compensation for Loss of Wife's Services and Companionship—Mrs. Beatty Said to Be Permanently Injured.

Elizabeth, Oct. 18 (Special).—After an hour's deliberation the jury in the case of Noble Beatty and his wife, Mrs. Blanche Beatty, of this city, against Clarence B. Brokaw, of Plainfield, decided today in the Circuit Court that Brokaw owed the Beatteys $3,000 in compensation for the injuries inflicted on the wife by Brokaw's automobile. Mrs. Beatty was awarded $2,000 for the hurts she sustained, and her husband was allowed $1,000 to pay for the expenses the accident incurred and the loss of his wife's services and companionship.

Mrs. Beatty was struck by the Brokaw automobile in Elizabeth several months ago. The car was driven by Brokaw. He was cleared of criminal responsibility for the accident, but the report of the police did not affect the suit for damage started by the Beattys. It is said that Brokaw offered to settle with Mrs. Beatty, but the amount was not satisfactory.

Mrs. Beatty is said to have been permanently injured. It was stated in the course of the trial that she would be unable to use her jaw and one arm with the same facility as before the accident.

Winfield S. Angleman, of Plainfield, was Brokaw's counsel. Alfred A. Stein was counsel for the plaintiffs.

BEDMINISTER BRIDGE SITE IS UNDECIDED

Somerset Freeholders Refuse to Order New Structure Until Residents Agree.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders held an adjourned meeting at the Court House, at Somerville, yesterday, which might easily be termed a warm session. The meeting was called to receive bids for the construction of a bridge at Bedminster and also for the building of a bridge in Hillsborough township. The new bridge in Bedminster township is desired to replace a structure that is not considered safe, and it was over this bridge that a scrap developed.

The residents of Bernards and Bedminster township, to the number of several hundred, have petitioned the Freeholders to build the new structure about 100 feet from the present site further down the stream. The State Supervisor of Roads wants the county to straighten the road at this point and this will necessitate changing the site. Freeholder Poulson, who represents Bedminster township, declines to sanction the removal of the bridge and wants the new structure put on the site of the old one. The members decided not to build a new bridge there until the residents of the neighborhood could agree on the site question and voted to repair the old structure. Mr. Poulson declined to serve on the committee, and Messrs. Hoagland, Dilts, Smith, Brown and Director Douglass were named as such committee.

The bid of Gano & Sutton, Neshanic, for the Van Cleef bridge, amesite arch, $3,900, was accepted.

The Central Railroad Company wishes the county to make a considerable fill at the crossing near Finderne in order that an overhead bridge may replace the grade crossing at that place. The railroads only wants to do the fill on its right of way. The expense of making the fill from the railroad south to Groendyke's corner will be considerable, and the county officials are in no hurry to undertake the work. The clerk was directed to notify the railroad officials to do their part of the work before the county would do anything.

GUESTS FROM OUT OF TOWN AT FIRST DANCE OF N. N. S.

The first annual dance of the N. N. S. was held in Abrams' auditorium last night. There were about one hundred couples present to enjoy the program, comprising twenty-four regular and several extra dances, many being the latest song hits. Naylor's orchestra furnished the music for dancing.

Herman Shrager was floor manager, assisted by Jacob Stierer. There were guests present from Paterson, New Brounswick, Somerville, Perth Amboy, Elzabeth, Bound Brook and Dunellen. There was also present delegations from the Y. M. H. A., R. S. P. L. G., and the L. H. B. A. The hall was attractive decorated with paper streamers and Chinese lanterns. The committee in charge of the affair comprised Herman Shrager, chairman; the Misses Rose Davidson, Sadie Rothberg, Bessie Adelberg and Jacob Stierer, Philip Moskovitz and Leo Berse. The officers of the club are: President, Herman Shrager; vice president, Miss Rose Davidson; secretary, Philip Moskovitz; treasurer, Jacob Stierer.

City Judge DeMeza this morning ordered Joseph Riordon, of 118 East Fourth street, to leave town and suspended sentence, when he appeared in court on a charge preferred by John Whitaker, of 29 Clinton avenue. The latter said Riordon followed him last night when he was escorting a young woman from a dance in Sebring's auditorium. When asked to explain his actions by Whitaker a near-fight followed. The arrival of a policeman stopped the row.

$10,000 FIRE IN NAGLE'S STORE

Defective Stove Pipe Believed to Have Started Damaging Blaze.

DRUGGIST OVERCOME

Partly Succumbs to the Effect of Smoke When Rescuing Diplomas From Laboratory—Firemen Have Hard Job Reaching Flames.

A fire having its origin in the cellar of the corner building at 332 West Front street, occupied by Clayton M. Nagle, a druggist, broke out shortly after 8 o'clock this morning causing damage estimated to the amount of $10,000. Sparks issuing from a defective stove pipe shortly after Mr. Nagle had kindled a fire in the furnace, started the blaze.

The single passageway to the cellar from the rear yard was difficult to reach, the firemen having to cut their way to the flames with axes, which necessitated the destroying of considerable property. The building is owned by Frank L. Clark, of Seventh street and Central avenue.

The cellar in the immediate vicinity of the steam heating plant was used by the druggist as a storeroom and was piled high with boxes filled with excelsior; kegs of vaseline, and cans of various drugs. The crowded condition of the basement hampered the work of the fire-fighters to a large degree.

Mr. Nagle was partly overcome with smoke while atempting to save his diplomas, which hung around his laboratory.

Soon after starting the furnace, Mr. Nagle returned to his pharmacy to wait upon a customer and noticing smoke coming through the cracks of the floor sent his clerk, George Gildersleeve, of 435 East Sixth street, to turn in the alarm. When the apparatus arrived the cellar ceiling was a mass of fire and considerable stock had become ignited. The floor had to be torn up and windows broken to reach the flames. By good work the firemen succeeded in confining the fire to the cellar and first floor.

When the second alarm was sounded Captain Daly, of headquarters, and William Gaub, of No. 1 Engine House, who have been enjoying vacations, responded and assisted their fellow firemen. Martin Connaughton, of No. 2, who had a day off, also jumped into uniform. Employes of the local gas company, who ran into the smoke filled basement to disconnect the gas service, later helped the firemen.

After the fire Mr. Nagle warmly commended the fire department on their efficient work. He said he was protected by insurance to the amount of $7,000.

GIRL INJURED BY FALL INTO STREET EXCAVATION

Miss Mary Beale, of Somerset street, was severely injured Wednesday night by a fall on Verdon street. She was coming out of a house, after making a visit to a friend, and stepped on what she thought was the sidewalk. New walks are being laid and excavations to a depth of at least a foot have been necessary.

It was into one of these excavations that Miss Beale stepped. The street was dark, as there is no light at Summit avenue and Verdon street. Dr. Buchannan was called by John King, at whose house Miss Beale was visiting. He found Miss Beale suffering from an injury to her leg and internal hurts.

This morning Miss Beale was still confined to her bed but a slight improvement over her condition yesterday was noticed by the doctor.

FUNERAL OF STEPHEN BOLAND.

The funeral service of Stephen Boland, who died yesterday, will be held at his late home, 631 West Third street, tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock, and at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, where a high mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The High School singles tennis tournament is progressing and it is expected that the finals will be run off next Monday afternoon. In the first round yesterday "Ted" Layton, a sophomore, defeated Charles Roll, a freshman, in two straight sets 6-1, 6-0. The match was played on the winner's private court, which was to his advantage, but he also showed himself superior in every way.

In the first round of the tournament, Duclos Van Mater, a sophomore, defeated Elmer French, a sophomore, in two straight sets, 8-6, 6-2

Van Mater and Layton have been matched for the second round and it looks like a hard fight to qualify for the semi-finals.

The first match of the second round was played yesterday at the Watchung Tennis Club, when Frank Dunning, a junior, defeated Carroll Taylor, the only past-graduate entrant, 6-1, 6-4. This qualifies Dunning for the semi-finals.

Augustus Van Deventer, a junior, and Roy Parsh, a freshman, are matched for the second round.

Two new rules went into effect in High School yesterday. Hereafter there will be no opening exercises on Thursday morning. The other rule is that only one class meeting a week may be held. This meeting must be held on Thursday morning between 8 and 8:30.

Now that baseball is over the members of the High School harp on politics and a popular vote will be taken in the various classes.

Two changes have been made in the junior play cast. August Van Deventer will not take part, but J. Atwood Giddings will take his place as "Bob Acres." On account of illness, Miss Anna Warnock has been compelled to retire, her place being taken by Miss Jennie Sears. At the regular rehearsal last night both took their parts very well and will undoubtedly add to the cast.

COLLEGE MEN TO PARADE.

New York, Oct. 18 (Special).—What promises to be the biggest campaign parade the metropolis has seen since the famous "Sound Money" demonstration in 1896 is scheduled for tomorrow, when the Woodrow Wilson College Men's League will march in procession down Fifth avenue. Candidates on the national and State tickets will head the line. More than 1,000 students are expected to be brought in from Princeton alone, and Yale, Columbia and other colleges within a radius of one hundred miles or so of New York are also expected to participate. Other Democratic organizations will also have detachments in line.

—The school of experience grants mighty few holidays.

UTILITY BOARD OBJECTS TO DUNELLEN MEASURE

Trenton, Oct. 18.—Objecting to several features of the ordinance passed by Dunellen last May granting a franchise to the New York Telephone Company, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners has handed down a memorandum withholding its approval of the ordinance in its present form.

The memorandum suggests a number of amendments, and if these are incorporated by the Borough Council the board has signified its willingness to approve the ordinance. One of the amendments insisted upon is that the provision reserving the power of the board should be broadened so as to apply to any commission which may succeed to its powers and duties, and should be extended so as to include both overhead and underground systems.

The board also insists that the ordinance should be made applicable in its terms to all existing and future local rights of the company. Provision should be made, the board holds, for the giving of notice by the company to Dunellen before the beginning of any work.

If it is desired to retain the section as to the readjustment of the terms of the grant, the board holds that it should be reframed so as to make it clear that it is not the intent in readjustment to limit the municipality to the amount of free service now provided for.

To faciliate the disposition of the case which has been hanging fire for some time the board will, if desired by the municipality and the company, direct its counsel to co-operate with their representatives in framing amendments to the ordinance conforming to its conclusions.

DEED INCH-WIDE-FIFTY-FEET-LONG LAND STRIP

Morristown, Oct. 18.—A deed for possibly the smallest piece of land ever conveyed in this vicinity has just been lodged for record in the county clerk's office. The tract measures one inch, more or less, front and rear, by fifty feet in length, fronting on Speedwell avenue. The conveyance was made by Elias M. Genung and wife to David and Henry I. Sainy. Mr. Genung some years ago erected a cement block buiulding on his Speedwell avenue property, but kept one inch inside his boundary line. A few months ago the adjoining wooden buildings were destroyed by fire and Sainy Brothers purchased the tract and are erecting a hollow tile structure. They desired to build up to the Genung building and not have an air space between, consequently negotiated for the purchase of the one-inch lot. The price is named as "$1 and other considerations."

CLUE TO ROBBERS.

The local police are investigating a report coming from the Westfield authorities of a robbery committed yesterday at 810 South avenue, Westfield. The only strangers seen in the neighborhood of the robbery were two men selling clocks and representing themselves as agents of the newspaper. The company say none of their agents were in Westfield recently, that territory having been covered.

Plainfield, N. J., October 18, 1912.

FOR YOUR CITY'S SAKE.

Addressing a Republican mass meeting here a few nights ago, Surrogate George T. Parrot, a candidate for re-election, expressed his regret that Plainfield was without Freeholder representation on the party's ticket and he placed the blame on the primary laws. In this he was entirely correct for the statutes make no provision as to apportioning the candidates to certain sections of the county and nothing prevents all seven being chosen from a single municipality if the trick is so worked.

But all that concerns Plainfield is the fact that if the Republican Freeholder ticket is triumphant at the polls, this city will be robbed of representation on the Board, in whose custody is the county's affairs and at whose disposal are all the tax moneys for county work, including roads, bridges and the like. And this is most important when it is remembered that Plainfield contributes double the amount of any other municipality save only Elizabeth.

It is a matter of little concern whether a Freeholder is a Republican, Democrat or what not politically provided he discharges his duties satisfactorily, but it is of great concern that our interests are looked after by a local man on the Board. It so happens that on the county ticket are two Plainfieldeis aspiring to be chosen Freeholders, Thomas J. Hughes and James J. McCann. Their ability to properly perform the duties if elected is not questioned. The interests of our city are paramount to a mere party label. The day has passed when voters are so hide-bound that they will not cut their ticket when in their judgment it is the proper thing to do. The people do too much thinking to suit the bosses nowadays; they are guided by what they consider best for their country, their State, their county and their city. We believe that the people here will make sure Plainfield has representation on the County Freeholder Board.

The farmers of this country ought to be deeply interested in the policy of protection. It has given them a great market for their products, and made it possible for them to demand prices that has "put them on easy street," to use a common expression. —Trenton State Gazette.

Yes, put the farmers on "easy street," and everybody else "on the bum." If that's your best card for "Protection," so-called, none of that for us.

Says the Trenton True American: "Jersey City is continuing its crusade against the soft coal smoke nuisance. More indictments have been found against the railroads and there appears to be trouble ahead for those that refuse to heed the lesson of the Supreme Court's recent decision. Other cities may remain inactive, but they will wish success to the North Jersey town."

Charles Arthur Reed, once a power in Somerset county politics and known to fame as a leader of State-wide importance, apparently does not believe in the truth of the saying that one can't "come back." He makes his debut tonight at a local Republican mass meeting in the role of presiding officer.

"Roosevelt luck" is a phrase which has long since gone down in history. Fate always seems to have favored him, however dangerous his position. The thick manuscript in his pocket undoubtedly saved his life, for the force of the bullet was sufficiently deadened by contact with it to spare him from a fatal blow.

All the country will applaud Woodrow Wilson for the spirit of fair play he shows in announcing that under the present distressing circumstances he will quit the stump as speedily as possible cancelling all engagements save those for the next few days which it is now too late to recall.

The amendment to the "Morals, Peace and Good Order" ordinance provides that "Dry leaves may be burned in the gutters of streets during the forenoon of any week day, but all debris resulting from said burning must be removed within twelve hours of daylight after said leaves are burned."

Our Democratic friend, William L. Saunders, judging by his eagerness to "get at" those espousing the Republican tariff principle, appears to be itching for a good scrap. It would be interesting, and moreover instructive, to hear him debate the question with some well-informed Republican.

Why should not any honest newspaper, having the best interests of Plainfield at heart, support the local candidates of the Democratic party for places on the Freeholder Board when they are denied that privilege on the Republican ticket?

The last opportunity to register will be presented nexxt Tuesday. Remember, if you are not registered you cannot vote at the Presidential election. Don't take the word of someone else, see to it personally that your name is on the list.

William Crow vacated his store at East Second street and Watchung avenue and the G. O. P. has taken possession. So the passersby are greeted by these signs: "William Crow," "Republican Headquarters." But why rub it in?

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be Hugh F. Fox. We promise to say that his editorial will be well worth reading.

Our friend, George S. Clay, appears to have been as sound asleep politically speaking, as a Rip Van Winkle.

The only way to register is to register—Elizabeth Journal.

Marvellous!

EXPECT COMMISSION TO ORDER ADDITIONAL TRAIN

The Public Utilities Commission of the State of New Jersey will give their adjourned hearing to the Passaic and Delaware Commuters on the question of increased train service at the Court House in Newark on Friday morning, October 25, at ten o'clock. There is reason to believe that the appeal of the public will be granted and that the railroad company will be required to put on at least one additional train in the evening. This will probably be a train connecting at Summit with the train which leaves Barclay street, New York, at 9:15, Hoboken at 9:30 and Summit at 10:17.

Immediately following this hearing the Commission will give a hearing to the citizens of New Providence Township who desire the appointment of a permanent station agent and other improvement at Berkeley Heights. It is hoped that a strong representation of the citizens will attend the hearing.

GOFF SCORES COUNSEL AT THE BECKER TRIAL

And Orders Witness From the Stand—Jerome Not Allowed to Testify.

New York, Oct. 18.—William Travers Jerome, former district attorney, was the first witness called when the Becker trial was resumed this morning. His testimony was ruled out by Judge Goff, however, and Mr. Jerome left the stand without saying a word.

Before the trial began this morning Justice Goff announced that tomorrow's court session would begin at 10 a. m. and close at 1 p. m., the afternoon vacation being granted so that the members of the jury can register.

Police Commissioner Waldo followed ex-District Attorney Jerome on the stand. Frank H. Roberts, superintendent of the Belle Claire Court apartment, where Becker lived, followed Commissioner Waldo on the stand. He was only asked a few questions and was excused.

Alexander Luban, brother of Morris Luban, was the next witness. He admitted on cross-examination that he had paid $500 fine for smuggling a necklace, but swore he would not believe his brother Morris on oath. After him, Morris Goodwin took the stand and swore he would not believe Morris Luban under oath. During the cross-examination of Goodwin, Mr. Hart frequently asked to have the answers read by the stenographer. Justice Goff accused Mr. Hart of bad faith. "All the jurors hear and you ought to," said Justice Goff. Mr. Hart protested against the statements of the court and Justice Goff said, "Oh, don't talk so much." A moment later Justice Goff ordered the witness from the chair because of improper conduct of counsel.

F. H. Hawley, a reporter for the Evening Sun, was the next witness called.

New York, Oct. 18.—Thomas Coupe, the Rosenthal murder eye witness who left New York because he feared for his life, he said, arrived here today on the Steamship Mauretania to testify at the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker.

The Custom House has been opened and business is being conducted under the supervision of Diaz's men. Railroad communication between Mexocia City and Vera Cruz is completely interrupted.

An unconfirmed rumor is current that General Higino Aguilar, a Diazist, made a peaceful capture of Puebla, the capital of the State of the same name, the garrison going over to the rebels. The latest advices are that all the captains of the various gunboats in Vera Cruz Harbor are prisoners of Diaz.

SPEND AND BE SPENT.
(By Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring.)

In one of the editions of the Evening Mail Tuesday there appeared at the top of the page this quotation from the speech of Theodore Roosevelt delivered in Carnegie Hall last March:

"The leader, for the time being, whoever he may be, is but an instrument to be used until broken, and then cast aside, and if he is worth his salt, he will care no more when he is broken than a soldier cares when he is sent where his life is in forfeit in order that the victory may be won. In the long fight for righteousness, the watchword for all of us is 'spend and be spent.' It is a little matter whether any one fails or succeeds, the cause shall not fail. It is the cause of mankind."

These words are in entire accord with the words he spoke in Milwaukee after he had been shot. Listen to them and ponder well. "First of all, I want to say this about myself, I have altogether too many important things to think of to pay any heed or feel any concern over my own death." What are these important things he felt concerned about? Here they are in his own words, "I believe in the Progressive Movement—a movement for the betterment of mankind, the movement for making life a little easier for all our people, a movement to try to take the burdens off the man and especially the women in this country, who is the most oppressed, I am absorbed in the success of that movement."

Dr. Lyman Abbott in a recent article in the Outlook, who has known him intimately for thirteen years, says this regarding his character and his ideals. "Most enigmatical men cease to be enigmas if you can get the key to their character. The key to Mr. Roosevelt's character is his vital interest in his fellowmen. His belief in the common people is not merely a political principle, it is a fundamental faith." All this makes it quite evident except to those who are to be blinded with prejudice, that this most efficient man of our nation is not aiming to be a dictator or an emperor.

DISPUTED BOUNDARY POINT FOUND ON HIGHLAND FARM

The information comes from a credible source that the Boundary Commission which was appointed by Judge Case of Somerville to settle the age-long boundary dispute between Warren and North Plainfield townships has succeeded in positively identifying the mathematically exact tri-township point, where the townships of New Providence, Warren and North Plainfield meet, and where the disputed boundary line begins.

It is, of course, on Highland Farm, the property of William Henry Rogers. An indestructible landmark will be placed there, and other will be at the other end of the boundary, and then the line will be run definitively from the one to the other; after which, woe be unto anyone who ventures to reopen the veritable dispute.

FIRST HOME GAME FOR P. H. S. ELEVEN

Bernardsville High School Will Inaugurate Parker Field Football Season.

Plainfield High School football followers will get their first peep at their favorites tomorrow afternoon at Parker Field, whe the local school boys take a whack at the Bernardsville High School elecen in the first home game of the season. The P. H. S. coaches have their players groomed to a finish for the struggle and it looks as a victory was on the way. Several positions on the team are in need of a little bolstering, however, and it will make the men now in these places go their best to keep off the offensive work of the visitors.

Peacock was still in bed this afternoon but he declares that nothing will keep him out of the fray tomorrow and if the coaches decide to take any chances, the P. H. S. rooters will probably find him back in the right halfback position, in place of Jenkins, who has been used to fill in. Several of the most promising players are ineligible because of scholarship deficiencies but the fact that "Rube" Good will be able to play Saturday football this fall has greatly lightened the hearts of those in charge of the gridiron representatives. Good was one of the best ground gainers at Orange last Wednesday and his weight will serve to bolster up the otherwise light eleven.

FIVE-BACK TOURNAMENT BEGINS AT THE PARK CLUB

SCHOLASTIC TENNIS CHAMPIONS HONORED

Princeton Club Vice-President Present Briggs and Van Deventer With Trophies.

Plainfield High School acquired more honors this morning, when Samuel T. Carter, Jr., presented Philip Van Deventer and Arthur W. Briggs with handsome loving cups in behalf of the Plainfield Princeton Club. These trophies were the prizes for the winner and runner-up in the Interscholastic Tennis Tournament held under the auspices of the Princeton Club.

In the contest there were thirty-five entries from most of the local schools, North Plainfield High and Leal's being the most extensively represented, but quality is far better than quantity, and both prizes fell to members of the local High School.

In his speech, Mr. Carter put particular emphasis on the fair play and friendly spirit shown by every boy entered.

He also spoke in detail of Briggs' fine losing spirit, and called it the spirit that would win the next time.

SOME MEN ARE LUCKY--KELLER, FOR INSTANCE

He is Going Hunting With the Renowned Mr. Mathewson of N. Y.

Thomas H. Keller, formerly of Plainfield, dropped into town today to call on his friends. He has just returned from Boston, where he saw the Red Sox win the world's baseball championship. Tom was, as he has always been, a great Giant rooter and he backed McGraw's men to win the championship. In his opinion Mathewson should have won the games he pitched, but it was that ever-present word "if" that interferred.

Speaking of the last contest, Mr. Keller declared that "Big Six" never pitched a better game in his life and under ordinary conditions would have won without any trouble. He says that while the fans were blaming Snodgrass for his misplay, Mathewson displayed his big heartedness by telling Snodgrass to "forget it; will do better next year."

About November 1 a party comprising Mr. Keller, Christy Mathewson, Charles Dodd, warden of the Union county jail, and Walter Bass, formerly of Plainfield, will leave for "Camp Bryan," at Havelock, N. C., where they will spend some time hunting on a preserve.

NEW BOUND BROOK STATIONS FOR THE CENTRAL RAILROAD

Two railroad stations will be built immediately at Bound Brook by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The design is what is known as twin stations. The westbound building will be 30x86 feet and the eastbound 18x50 feet. The former building will have a large waiting room, baggage room and ladies' retiring room. The eastbound station will have much the same accommodations. Both buildings will have red pressed brick fronts on all sides, with limestone trimmings. All the floors will be laid in mosaic excepting the baggage room.

The contract for the buildings has been awarded to the Merrick Fireproofing Company, of 1 Broadway, New York. Ernest Merrick, the president of this company, is a resident of Elizabeth. His company has just finished the beautiful building of the Elizabeth Orphan Asylum, on Salem avenue, and it was largely on account of the satisfactory work done on that contract that the Central Railroad awarded the contract to the same company for the Bound Brook stations.

PIERCE WORKS HARD TO SAVE HIS CROSSING BILL

Trenton, Oct. 18.—Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Union county, introducer of last winter's grade-crossing bill, which was held to be void by the Supreme Court, presented yesterday a second petition for a reargument in the matter before the Supreme Court.

Senator Pierce presented the original petition for a reargument a week ago.

The application for a reargument yesterday was signed by President of the Senate John D. Prince, Senators Edge, Smalley and Pierce and Assemblymen White, Anderson, Babcock, Groves, Thompson and Watson.

The petition presented yesterday sets as a precedent in the present application for a reargument the case of the Governors of the State for leave to be heard in the United States Supreme Court in the famous federal rate case, when the rights of the States were affected.

The Latest Great Labor Trial

PERHAPS the greatest labor trial since that of the McNamaras at Los Angeles is that now in progress at Salem, Mass., in which Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovanitti are the prisoners at the bar. The case grows out of the famous Lawrence textile strike, in which William D. Haywood and other prominent leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World figured. Among these were Ettor and Giovanitti. The charge on which they are being tried is that of being accessories in the murder of Anna Lopizzo, a mill employee, who was killed in one of the riots between the strikers and those taking their places or remaining at work in the mills. The two I. W. W. leaders were indicted by the grand jury, and their trial was set for Sept. 30. Mr. Haywood, as head of the I. W. W., threatened to call a general strike as a protest against the trial of his fellow workers, and members of the organization throughout the world have been contributing to a defense fund of $50,000, according to leaders, while extra telephone and telegraph wires have been run into the courthouse and other accommodations provided for a large number of press representatives.

On Sept. 23 the two prisoners won the preliminary contest in their fight for freedom. Judge Quinn of the superior court, in giving his decision on the defendants' petition for a bill of particulars, ruled that the government should submit to counsel for the defendants what it is alleged the defendants did or said between Jan. 13 and Jan. 29, 1912, bearing upon this case.

I. W. W. leaders from all over the country have been flocking into Lawrence in order, according to reports, to make preparations for the calling of a general strike expressing the disapproval of laboring men toward the state's treatment of the two leaders. It was announced that a convention would be called at an early date, at which William D. Haywood would be present and at which the final plans would be considered.

Members of the I. W. W. are being kept informed of the progress of the trial, and Haywood and many of the other leaders are watching the case.

New Empress of Japan.

Since the death of Mutsuhito the world has been vastly interested in the person and character of his son and successor, Yoshihito, and his empress, Sadako. Of the empress but little is known, except that she has already captivated the hearts of her subjects.

She is of the same royal blood as the emperor, but removed a number of degrees. Her great-grandfather, who reigned for thirty years as mikado, was also the great-grandfather of the present mikado.

Empress Sadako has been given all the culture that both Japanese and western systems of education could furnish. She was for several years a pupil in the school for young women of the court circle founded by the former empress.

To accomplish this we have not lowered the quality, but have gained price concessions by giving larger orders.

Hundreds and hundreds of these crisp, new Blouses for tomorrow—in styles for conservative women as well as those who want the most extreme dictate of fashion.

BROADWAY NEW YORK THIRTY-THIRD ST.

NEW ASTOR BABY JOHN JACOB VI.

Posthumous Son Said to Resemble Father.

TO INHERIT THREE MILLIONS.

Will May Be Broken In Its Favor. Mother a Survivor of Titanic Wreck In Which the Father, Colonel John Jacob Astor, Went Down.

Don't you wish you had been a $3,000,000 baby? That is the amount left in trust for the new Astor baby, to whom Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, survivor of the Titanic disaster, in which her husband, Colonel John Jacob Astor, lost his life last April, gave birth at 8:15 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 14. The baby, who will be the sixth to bear the name of the founder of the Astor fortune, is said to be strong, well formed and to bear a striking resemblance to his father. He weighs seven and three-quarter pounds.

Mrs. Astor received many messages of congratulation from her friends and relatives, among them being a cablegram from Vincent Astor, at present with his mother, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, on a motor trip on the European continent. Shortly after the receipt of the cablegram an immense box of American Beauty roses came to Mrs. Astor from a Fifth avenue florist, bearing the name of Vincent Astor.

The public interest that centered around the posthumous child of Colonel Astor had been responsible for a new institution, "the birth watch." It is said that Mrs. Astor herself was in favor of going to the country for the event, but that she was persuaded to go to New York by Vincent Astor, who thought the proper place for an Astor heir to be born was in the Astor home.

Baby Is Sixth John Jacob Astor.

The new arrival is the sixth of the Astor name, this being the fifth generation since the great-great-grandfather came to America from Germany. The fifth John Jacob Astor has been christened already in the youngest generation—a son of William Waldorf Astor, who has become a citizen of England.

The first John Jacob Astor was born in the village of Waldorf, Germany, in July, 1764, and died in New York in March, 1848. His son, John Jacob Astor II., who was weak mentally, was born in 1795 and died in 1834 without issue. John Jacob Astor III., son of William B. Astor, died in December, 1887. John Jacob Astor IV., his nephew, was the Colonel Astor who died on the Titanic, and he was the only son of William B. Astor II. William Waldorf Astor, whose young son is the fifth to bear the name, is a cousin of the late Colonel Astor and son of John Jacob Astor III.

Colonel Astor directed that in the event that he should be survived by any child or children other than his son, William Vincent Astor, and his daughter, Ava Alice Muriel Astor, each child who should survive him should be made the beneficiary of a $3,000,000 trust fund until attaining majority. This was the smallest provision made in his will, which left $5,000,000 until death or remarriage to his widow, $5,000,000 to Miss Muriel Astor, and the bulk of his estate to William Vincent Astor outright.

Roosevelt Family Involved.

Although the new Astor baby is to receive a $3,000,000 start in life from the moment of birth, its real share in the estate is practically much larger. The will directed James Roosevelt Roosevelt, brother-in-law of Colonel Astor; Nicholas Biddle and Douglas Robinson, brother-in-law of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, as trustees of Colonel Astor's last testament, to set aside parts of his realty or personalty for the creation of the trust fund of $3,000,000.

Even should the trustees elect to make up the trust fund entirely of personality, instead of following the Astor custom of making real estate investments, it was pointed out recently that at compound interest at 6 per cent the child would have about $10,000,000 on attaining majority. If the trust fund is made up of realty in New York city two or three times this sum would not be too much to expect in twenty-one years.

Nevertheless there is persistent talk that an attempt will be made to break Colonel Astor's will so that his new son may inherit a larger share. It is one of the peculiarities of probate law that an infant may wait until his majority to attack his father's will as regards personal property, but a distribution of real property must be attacked immediately. This provision had its origin in the desire of the courts to make sales of real estate final and to prevent the clouding of titles by lawsuits brought long afterward by heirs. Any attack on the Astor will in behalf of the new Astor baby must be made this year.

Japs Extend Coal Market.

The recent coal miners' strike in the United Kingdom helped Japanese coal to extend its market from Singapore to Colombo. Once Fushun coal has obtained a foothold in the new field it is unlikely that it will be ousted therefrom completely.

—"Necessity knows no law," quoted the Wise Guy. "And yet a lawyer is sometimes a necessity," added the Simple Mug.

Three Able Political Lieutenants

SECOND only to the three chairmen of the national committees, the men who will be in active control of the presidential campaign are William G. McAdoo, vice chairman and during the illness of Chairman McCombs acting chairman of the Democratic national committee; George W. Perkins, chairman of the Progressive executive committee, and William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the advisory committee of the Republican national committee.

Mr. McAdoo is the man who built the tunnels under the Hudson river at New York. He is a lawyer who was born in Georgia forty-eight years ago, educated in the University of Tennessee, was deputy clerk of the United States circuit court, was a practicing attorney in Tennessee and removed to New York in 1892. He has been since 1903 at the head of the company constructing and operating the Hudson tunnels, in which capacity he is responsible for the motto, "The public be pleased."

William Barnes, Jr., has been general of the forces fighting Theodore Roosevelt in the state of New York and was floor leader of the Taft forces in the Republican national convention. Mr. Barnes is owner and editor of the Albany Journal, chairman of the Republican state committee of the state of New York, defender of the federal constitution and bill of rights and able citizen generally. He does not belong at all to the ordinary type of political boss, being a graduate of Harvard, a nephew of Thurlow Weed and something of a philosopher withal.

George W. Perkins was formerly a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan and is still a director in various corporations and railroads. He got his start as an active force in the New York Life Insurance company, being at one time in charge of the agents. He himself says that he is active in the new party because he believes in its principles and because he wants to make this a better country for his children. He withdrew from Mr. Morgan's firm some years ago and, it is said, intends to sever most of his business connections and to devote his time and money henceforth to advancing progressive politics.

JUNIORS HAVE HAD BIG TWELVEMONTH

All arrangements have been perfected for the forty-fouth annual session of the State Council of New Jersey, Junior Order United American Mechanics, which will be held in Trenton next Wednesday and Thursday.

That the order is highly prosperous and progressive is shown by the annual report issued today by State Council Secretary William H. Miers, of this city. This report shows that during the fiscal year ending on June 30 last, the membership in this State reached 58,919 and the total worth of the subordinate councils totaling $1,307,316.57. There are now 312 councils in the State, of which Mercer county has 15, with a membership of 3,776 and a financial standing of $75,627.77.

During the year the receipts amounted to $875,727.85, and the disbursements included $141,742.94 for sick benefits, $185,058.40 for funeral benefits, $190,926.82 paid to funeral benefit associations, and $141,731.88 expended for investments.

The councils of Mercer county gained 313 members during the year, and increased their financial standing by $9,892.06 during the same period. The order throughout the State gained 1,751 new members, and added $65,804.32 to its financial worth.

During the past year 153 orphan children of deceased members were assisted from the orphans' fund. A funeral fund was organized last May.

The session will be inaugurated in a fitting manner by a parade to be held next Wednesday morning. State delegates and the uniformed rank will participate.

In the evening there will be a banquet at Hildebrecht's, among the invited guests being Senator Martine, Senator Briggs, former Governor Stokes and the City Commissioners.

THE GREATER STORE AS A FASHION CENTRE

The new store is pre-eminently the fashion centre of the metropolitan district. Indeed, why shouldn't it be? Is this not the newest of the country's great stores? Have not our buyers and commissionaires been conducting a six month's world search of new goods? Did not our great removal sale, which is still fresh in the minds of everyone, enable us to dispose of every dollars' worth of surplus merchandise in the old store which we vacated one week ago tomorrow night? Have we not promised you repeatedly that the new store should be new in everything but the policy? The new store is new—in construction, in interior fittings, in stocks. The great new building glorifies its wares and is in turn glorified by them. The great Gothic structure with its broad aisles and its rich appointments is a fitting resting place for exquisite things in wearing apparel which our buying organization has gathered together with such discrimination and care. The beautiful new store is a charming frame for the most lavish fashion picture that Newark ever gazed upon. If you have not yet visited Newark's great style show, by all means do so Saturday.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

FOR HALLOWEEN PARTIES.

THE good old customs of Halloween must be observed if there are youngsters in the family, and so at this season parties are popular.

The Halloween feast should be featured with fruits, nuts and vegetables. Without the traditional jack-o'-lantern cut from a pumpkin no Halloween party is complete. Amusing souvenirs may be fashioned with turnips, parsnips and carrots.

Suitable Decorations.

Autumn leaves and berrries, plenty of candles and heaping dishes of nuts and fruits are about all that is necessary to put on the Halloween table, although the feast may include cakes, candies and anything else that you choose.

If the party is to be a more elaborate one the following suggestions may be useful:

For Drinking Healths.

Witches Punch.—Take the juice of a dozen ripe oranges, a half dozen lemons, a pineapple and extract the juice from these and strain. Add to this one-half cupful of ginger, one pound of sugar dissolved in a cup of water and a cup of strong tea. Mix and set away ready to use. Get an old fashioned kettle or caldron, set it on three cross sticks, arranged gypsy fashion, pour the punch over a block of ice set in a bowl that will just fit inside the kettle. Place the bowl in the kettle and dress the latter with autumn leaves and berries.

Pie and Cake.

Goblin Pies.—Bake small individual pumpkin pies. Use dried currants or cranberries for eyes, nose and mouth. Place a frill of paper around the pie dish to look like a cap.

Jack-o'-lantern Ice Cream.—Make a plain ice cream and color it orange. Freeze and shape in molds to look like pumpkins. Outline features with melted chocolate to form a jack-o'-lantern.

Witch Cat Cake.—Bake an ordinary spice cake, to which add finely chopped raisins and citron and place a ring, a thimble and dime in the batter. When baked cover with plain white icing and decorate the top with a witch in red, a row of toy black cats and chocolate icing.

Anna Thompson.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

High Velvet Girdles Will Freshen Up a Last Season's Gown.

A great many satin gowns, both for afternoon and evening, have high girdles of velvet. Sometimes they are finished with little straight sashes richly embroidered.

Many suits of fancy velours and wool sponge cloth are seen this season. Long velours coats will be trimmed with fur, satin, moire, heavy lace or hand embroidery.

The exercise suit is so generally useful that it makes an important feature of the wardrobe. This one shows the newest features. The blouse can be worn in middy style, loose over the bloomers. JUDIC CHOLLET.

PLAITS THE THING.

This Picked Up Drapery Extremely Coquettish.

FROCK OF BLUE CHIFFON.

Simple enough in general design is this little frock of machine plaited blue chiffon over a buttoned cassock gown of white charmeuse. Particularly chic, too, is the hat worn with it of black velvet and the smart little patent leather boots with buttoned cloth tops, which complete the gay costume.

SMOCKING EFFECTIVE.

Blouses Trimmed In This Fashion Smart For the Small Boy.

One of the very prettiest ideas in the way of trimming is smocking. This is an easy stitch to learn and a little of it can work wonders in lending an air of distinction to the dress. A fascinating little frock was made from the good old Holland linen, which withstands so successfully the assaults of hard usage. A fullness at the neck was taken care of by the smocking, which appeared again on the litle wristband. A lovely golden brown silk was chosen to work this smocking and the result was not only a thoroughly practical gown, but an artistic and pretty one as well.

The English smocked blouses for the little lad are quite the newest fad and they are wonderfully good looking. The wash materials and the serges are both used for these blouses. Sometimes the smocking is used to lend the yoke effect, again it appears only at the neck in the front. Another model shows the smocking from the shoulder well over the round of the arm, in fact quite to the elbow. The blouses are often allowed to fall straight, although they may be confined by a belt. The little bloomers complete this costume, which is really as attractive as it is novel.

A New Type of Sleeve.

The tremendous vogue of lace this autumn is responsible for some very charming effects in sleeves for afternoon gowns. Most attractive among the several new features of this costume of slate gray satin are its sleeves of embroidered white net and point d'esprit, banded top and bottom with black chantilly and falling over narrow elbow sleeves of plain net, trimmed with gray satin and white point d'esprit.

Such a sleeve effect is excellent for bringing a last year's frock up to the minute in style.

velvet band encircles the crown, a tailored bow of the same catching up the brim at the side.

The other hat is a turban. The baggy crown is of dark velvet, while the brim and lower part of the turban is of white plush. A braid flower adorns the front of the chapeau.

A French Dish.

Chicken With Stuffed Olives.—This is a very tasty way of serving stewed chicken. Use a plump chicken, cutting it into joints. Fry in a saute pan with butter. Then pour off the oil and add a minced onion. Let this cook a little, then moisten with some brown stock and well seasoned sauce. Cover the pan and stew for thirty-five minutes. About fifteen minutes before serving add twenty stuffed olives and serve on a crouton of fried bread. Pour on the sauce and serve.

SENATOR HEYBURN.

Succumbs to Attack of Heart Failure in Washington Apartment.

SEN. HEYBURN DIES OF HEART FAILURE.

Another Vacancy in Upper Branch of Congress.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Weldon Brinton Heyburn, United States senator from Idaho, died at his apartment in the Wyoming here last night. The senator had been suffering for several months from heart trouble and grave concern had been expressed over his condition for a week or more.

Mr. Heyburn had the reputation of being one of the hardest working and also on occasion one of the most stubborn men in congress. He was born in Delaware county, Pa., May 23, 1852. His parents were Quakers. He was admitted to the bar in 1876. From the day of his entering congress he earned the reputation of being a virile and able speaker.

Senator Heyburn's term would not have expired until March 3, 1915, and his death throws another senatorship open to the Democrats in the coming election. This makes a total of thirty-four seats in the senate that will be at stake in the November election.

THREAT TO SHOOT WILSON.

Wilmington Police Guard Him Closely Because of Woman's Tale.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 18.—A threat made by an Italian to shoot Governor Wilson resulted in a strong police guard at the meeting in the opera house when the governor spoke here last night.

Chief of Police Black received word from Mrs. Sarah Hudson of 300 Lombard street that her sister, Mrs. Hattie Whitson, had heard the threat. She did not know the man's name, but gave his description. He said: "Wilson is coming here, and he will get a bullet through him the same as Roosevelt did. I will put one in him."

The police are said to know the name of the Italian, but they refuse to give it.

Oscar Straus, Nominee of Progressives For Governor of New York

OSCAR S. STRAUS, who has been named by the Progressive party in New York state as its candidate for governor, has enjoyed a career of peculiar distinction. Born in the little town of Otterberg, in Rhenish Bavaria, on Dec. 23, 1850, he was destined to become one of the merchant princes of the new world and to be called to positions of high trust by five different presidents of the United States. He has been a cabinet minister under one and a representative at a foreign court under four others, while, in addition, he has enjoyed the privilege of standing as a delegate of a nation before such an august tribunal as The Hague court of international arbitration.

His parents were small sheep raisers and merchants in the little town where he was born and were in prosperous circumstances until, in 1852, when he was only two years old, his father, Lazarus Straus, incurred the displeasure of the government for the part he had taken in the German parliamentary insurrection of 1848. The family fortune was lost and Lazarus Straus was obliged to flee to America, where he settled in the village of Talbotton, Ga. Two years later he sent for his wife and family, so that Oscar Straus was four years of age when, with his mother and two elder brothers, Isidor and Nathan, he came to America. His father succeeded in establishing a prosperous business as a general storekeeper in Talbotton and gave his three sons an excellent education.

When he was thirteen years of age his parents removed to Columbus, O., and at the close of the civil war the family removed to New York, where his father established the importing house of L. Straus & Sons. Oscar Straus was graduated with honors from Columbia college and in 1871 completed his course of study at the Columbia law school. He practiced his profession for a brief period and in 1881 he became a member of his father's firm with his two brothers. Later the three brothers became copartners in two of the large department stores in New York.

In 1884 Oscar Straus was prominent in the merchants' movement which had for its purpose the nomination of Grover Cleveland for president. Upon Mr. Cleveland's election Mr. Straus was appointed minister to Turkey. When he began his work there he distinguished himself by bringing about the reopening of the sixty American mission schools, which had been closed for years, and also succeeded in establishing the most friendly relations between the two governments, resulting in immense development of our Turkish commerce.

President Harrison upon his election urged him to remain in Constantinople, which he consentetd to do. President McKinley again persuaded him to accept the mission. When Theodore Roosevelt was elected president in 1904 he had already decided upon the addition of a new departement in his cabinet, and in 1905 he called Mr. Straus to the position of secretary of commerce and labor.

In April, 1909, when the crisis in the Turkish empire had become acute and the whole world was aghast at the atrocities in Asia Minor, Mr. Straus was urgently requested by President Taft again to take charge of American interests at the Turkish capital.

Mr. Straus was the founder of the National Civic federation, of which he has been vice president. As such he has been called upon to act as arbitrator in more than one dispute between capital and labor. He is chairman of the board of arbitration which is to settle the dispute between the fifty-two eastern railways and their engineers over an increase in wages aggregating more than $7,000,000 a year and changes in working conditions.

For several years Mr. Straus was president of the New York board of trade and transportation, and he has also been president of the American Social Science association and one of the vice presidents of the American Society of International Law. In 1908 he organized the national bureau of commerce.

He has been especially prominent in various enterprises for the uplifting of the Hebrew people.

TEDDY BEGINS TO MEND

"The colonel is reacting rapidly to his normal temperature, and we are all much pleased with his condition," is the way Chief Surgeon John B. Murphy put it.

The last official bulletin of the night, shortly before midnight, gave the pulse 82, temperature 98.8, respiration 20.

"The patient is resting quietly. The breathing is perceptibly easier and he feels as well as could possibly be expected under the circumstances."

The bulletin adds:

"When the doctors had finished their examination and departed the colonel asked for his shaving apparatus. His usual bath followed and then he retired for the night."

The crucial period is expected to be reached tonight. If no trace of septic poisoning develops by that time, the doctors say, it will be a case of marking time during the tedious period of the wound healing and that in a week's time at least it will be possible to move the colonel to his home in Oyster Bay. The doctors make the authoritative statement that the patient will be kept in Chicago until the middle of next week.

The steady improvement of the colonel is attributed in part to the firm manner of Mrs. Roosevelt in taking charge of the sickroom.

The colonel is confident that ten days' time will see him taking part in the campaign again. The most eventful event of yesterday for him was to issue the first statement since the attack in Milwaukee. It was in reply to a speech by W. J. Bryan.

The next important event in the day for the colonel was to devise a plan with Miss Jane Addams for a trial of woman's suffrage in the District of Columbia.

A program of quiet and rest will be the order for the colonel. Probably his only guest, aside from the members of his family, will be his running mate on the Progressive ticket, Governor Hiram Johnson. Governor Johnson is scheduled to make a speech in Chicago tonight, and the Progressive managers arranged for an interview with the colonel.

Colonel Dictates Statement.

Colonel Roosevelt late in the afternoon issued a signed statement, the first since the attack on him in Milwaukee. In his perusal of the morning newspapers his attention was attracted to the Franklin (Ind.) speech of Colonel William J. Bryan. With the "consent" of Mrs. Roosevelt he summoned a stenographer and made reply to Mr. Bryan as follows:

"I wish to express my cordial agreement with the manly and proper statement of Mr. Bryan at Franklin, Ind., when in arguing for a continuance of the discussion of the issues at stake in this contest he said: 'The issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of an assassin. Neither Colonel Roosevelt nor his friends could ask that the discussion should be turned away from the principles that are involved. If he is elected president it should be because of what he has done in the past and what he proposes to do hereafter.'

"I wish to point out, however, that neither I nor my friends have asked that the discussion be turned away from the principles that are involved. On the contrary, we emphatically demand that the discussion be carried on precisely as if I had not been shot. I shall be sorry if Mr. Wilson does not keep on the stump, and I feel that he owes it to himself and the American people to continue on the stump.

"I wish to make one more comment on Mr. Bryan's statement. It is, of course, perfectly true that in voting for me or against me consideration must be paid to what I have done in the past and to what I propose to do. But it seems to me far more important that consideration should be paid to what the Progressive party proposes to do.

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the fact upon which we Progressives insist, that the welfare of any one man in this fight is wholly immaterial compared to the great and fundamental issues involved in the triumph of the principles for which our cause stands. If I had been killed the fight would have gone on exactly the same. Governor Johnson, Senator Beveridge, Mr. Straus, Senator Bristow, Miss Jane Addams, Gifford Pinchot, Judge Ben Lindsay, Raymond Robbins, Mr. Prendergast and the hundred of other men now on the stump are preaching the doctrines that I have been preaching and stand for and represent just the same cause. They would have continued the fight in exactly the same way if I had been killed, and they are continuing it in just the same way now that I am for the moment laid up.

"So far as my opponents are concerned, whatever with truth and propriety have been said against me and my cause before I was shot can with equal truth and equal propriety be said against me, and it now should be so said, and the things that cannot be said now are merely the things that ought not to have been said before. This is not a contest about any man; it is a contest concerning principles.

"If my broken rib heals fast enough to relieve my breathing I shall hope to be able to make one or two speeches yet in this campaign. In any event if I am not able to make them the men I have mentioned above and the hundreds like them will be stating our case every night to the end of the campaign, and I trust our opponents will be stating their case also.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Mrs. Roosevelt Takes Charge.

With the load of anxiety caused by a belief that the bulletins of the surgeons were holding something back removed from her mind and having enjoyed a refreshing night's sleep, Mrs. Roosevelt took full charge of the sickroom yesterday and ruled the colonel with an iron hand, limiting his callers to the members of the family circle and a few others.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S ROOM.

Crosses Indicate Location of Patient's Quarters in Mercy Hospital.

It was not until afternoon that the colonel became aware of the fact that his wife was acting as an intermediary. The colonel expostulated mildly because he was not given an opportunity to say anything about it by saying: "This fight for the rule of the people is all a sham. Here I am a victim of machine rule myself."

But the protest was without avail.

When the morning bulletin was given out Dr. Lambert explained to the newspaper men that there was no significance in the phrase contained therein that "the bullet will not be removed at present."

"It depends on two things," said the doctor, "whether the bullet is ever removed. One is if it starts causing trouble. The other is if Colonel Roosevelt had rather carry his 'souvenir' in his pocket than in his chest."

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was the first of the children to call. He came at 9:30 and helped the stenographers in arranging the sheaf of telegrams which had been received during the night. With a pocketful of those which he felt the colonel would be most anxious to know had arrived he went into his father's apartments. The greeting of father and son was such as might have taken place upon their meeting at the breakfast table in their own home. His mother joined them from her apartment adjoining, and the son inquired how she rested.

"Well, pretty good, considering I was in a new place."

MARCONI'S EYE REMOVED.

Famous Inventor Was Threatened With Blindness Following Auto Accident.

Spezzia, Oct. 18.—Guiglielmo Marconi's right eye, which was injured in an automobile accident on Sept. 25 last has been removed. A consultation of physicians had resulted in the decision that the removal of the eye was indispensable, as the famous wireless inventor was threatened with total blindness.

Professor Fuchs, the celebrated oculist of the University of Vienna, was summoned in hot haste, and he performed the operation, which it is stated was successful. He was assisted by Professor Bayardi of Turin university and two naval surgeons. Signor Marconi stood the very painful operation without flinching. His wife, who was very much affected, his sister-in-law and a friend, the Marquis Solari, were present during the operation. Signor Marconi's condition is satisfactory.

Sweaters for Men, Women and Children

The foundation of this Sweater Sale was laid a year ago. An arrangement made with a well known manufacture in the Fall of 1911 was advantageous to him and ourselves—for him it was not as much a matter of profit as employment for his help during the dull season—and it enables us to place before our patrons values which would be impossible otherwise.

Furthermore, these garments show the superiority which leisurely, careful production alone will give them.

Men's Heavy Weight Worsted Coat Sweaters, in Oxford gray and brown. They have two pockets and buttons to match and the non-tearable buttonholes; $3.50 values $2.49

Women's Rough neck Sweaters of white and gray, made of heavy wool yarn; new mannish models; all sizes, at $3.85

Men's Pure Zephyr Worsted Yarn Coat Sweaters in Oxford gray; 2 pockets and non-tearable buttonholes; this is a garment the most particular man will appreciate; $7.00 values $5.00

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION.

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life, from housekeeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in the great games, with charming tales of life at the girls' colleges. But the Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common foibles or caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than four cents a week the Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine ideals, increase of knowledge. Names rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in the Companion's Announcement for 1913, which will be sent upon request—with samples of the paper, to those not familiar with it. Every new subscriber for 1913 will receive free all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1912; also, free, the Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent colors—the most beautiful of all Companion souvenirs. NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

"Milestones," the delightful play of three generations, by Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblauch, is packing the Liberty theatre, in ew York, to the doors at every performance. As anticipated, it has proved to be the season's most conspicuous and talked about dramatic success. The work of the brilliant English novelist and essayist, Arnold Bennett, and of him collaborator, Edward Knoblauch, hte American playwright who has given "Kismet" to the stage, realizes the highest ideals of dramatic art. It is a play of sentiment that will appeal to all people and all ages. It holds the audience in a constant state of expectancy as the story develops in accordance with the finest traditions of the stage. Although it deals with three generations of English folk from 1860 to the present time, it is in reality a play of the day and hour. As one writer has said, "Milestones" is like some rare and ingenious fabric woven by master hands at the loom of life. Three generations cross in warp and woof and yet no skein is tangled and no connecting thread of insterett snapped. The purpose of the play is to show the tendency of the new generation to revolt when it reaches the marrying age. It shows how elderly married persons forget that they themselves once were young and, perhaps, headstrong and grow reproving when they see themselves over again in their own children.

"Little Miss Brown" frisks blithely along at the Firty-eighth street theatre, with no likelihood of cessation for many weeks to come. The career of this farcial comedy was enlivened on Thursday by what the management described as a "Brown matinee," to which all the Miss Browns in the city directory were bidden by pecial invitation printed in brown ink upon a brown tinted card. Not all the Brown girls who attended were "little Miss Brown," for some were medium and some quite colossal, but the entire party, which completely filled the theatre, gave numerous evidences of hearty approval. Miss Madge Kennedy, who demurely assumes the title role in Mr. Bartholomae's play, was viewed with the keenest delight as a wholly charming representative of the Brown family, and was recalled again and again. At the evening performances duruing the week the auudience room constantly has been thronged with laughing spectators, among whom many well known hotel men have been conspicuous, hugely enjoying the humorous aspect of day clerks as depicted in this piece, and appreciating the fidelity of the hotel scenes in which the story is laid. The matinees at the Forty-eighth street theatre are given on Thursdays and Saturdays, with popular prices in effect on Thursdays.

BATTLE MEMORIAL.

Saratoga, N. Y., Oct. 18 (Special).—In the village of Schuylerville, where the British army under Lord Burgoyne was surrendered to the Americans under Gen. Gates one hundred and thirty-five years ago, following the victorious battle of Saratoga, there was unveiled today a handsome monument to commemorate that event, which, next to the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, was the most important American victory of the Revolution. Official representatives of all of the thirteen original States took part in the dedication program. Preceding the unveiling exercises there was a military parade, in which regular troops from Fort Ethan Allen and companies of militia and semi-military organizations of several States took part. The oration at the unveiling was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Henry MacCracken, chancellor emoritus of New York University. Governor Dix delivered an address accepting the monument in behalf of the State of New York.

SEES BIG T. R. VOTE.

Summit, Oct. 18.—That the Progressives will poll a large vote in Union county is the opinion of Romeyn Berry, of this city, who is a candidate for the Assembly on the Roosevelt ticket. Mr. Berry said yesterday that in his tour through the county he had found the Progressive spirit active, particularly in those cities which have manufacturing interests. He mentioned Elizabeth, where, he said, a large number of the Singer sewing machine employes were for the Progressive candidate. Mr. Berry went on to say that in the large machine shops at Garwood he had also found a strong sentiment for Roosevelt. He declared, too, that there had been a large turning toward the former President within the last few days. It is expected that there will be a large turnout at the Progressive mass meeting to be held in the Beechwood Music Hall next Monday night. The women of the community have been invited to be present.

Frank Burke and family have removed from West Third street to West Fifth street.

PRENTISS OUT OF RACE; MASON HITS 'T. R. BOSSES'

Metuchen, Oct. 18.—The trouble in the Raritan Roosevelt Club, that started over the reported forced withdrawal of Mark O. Prentiss from the race for Congress in favor of Benjamin F. S. Brown, of Matawan, the regular Republican nominee, is apparently over, so far as the Progressives are concerned.

Prentiss has issued a statement to the press, in which he states that he will not remain in the contest. William Dinwiddie, chairman of the Progressive county executive committee, has recalled his resignation as president of the club, and at the last meeting of the Raritan Roosevelt Club, Charles A. Bloomfield offered a motion to once and for all drop the entire subject and it was carried unanimously.

While the Progressive leaders refuse to discuss the matter, Rev. James G. Mason, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and running for State Senator on the Prohibition ticket, is using it for a campaign argument.

"There are bosses in all political parties except the Prohibition party," he told voters, adding: "I have inside informatioin regarding the squabble in the Progressive ranks over the withdrawal of Mark O. Prentiss, erstwhile candidate for Congress on the Progressive ticket. Mark Prentiss is my friend. He is a member of my church. He was forced to withdraw by former Governor Fort, assisted by William Dinwiddie, the Middlesex boss of the Progressive party. The trouble with Prentiss was that his heart was big but his pocketbook was lean." To to reporter, Mr. Mason said that Prentiss was expected to contribute $2,400 to the Progressive campaign fund, which he refused to do, and which caused a lot of trouble. Mason says the Progressive party has a lot of bosses in it and cannot possibly elect a single candidate in Middlesex county. The Progressives held a mass meeting in the High School auditorium last night.

In a recent civil service examination for factory inspectors, men specialized for dierent classes of inspection passed. For mechanical appliance inspectors mechanics alone qualified; for ventilation inspectors exports on the subject secured the positions and for structural iron work and all the other classes, and expert in each trade was made an inspector.

100 Per Cent Heating Efficiency

Square Pot Furnaces consume to fine ash every pound of combustible fuel fed to them. They deliver to the hot-air flues for transmission about the house, every available heat unit in the fuel. They regulate with certainty for either mild or severe weather. They need little care—never clog with burned-out cinders, and give as good results on a minimum amount of fuel as others do fired to capacity.

For economical heating, install a Square Pot Furnace.

The Central Railroad Company has changed the name of Finderne station to Manville. Application has been made to the postal authorities to change the name of the postoffice accordingly

Changing the name of this station is a compliment to the Johns-Manville Company, which will shortly move its plant from Brooklyn to a point near Finderne. This concern will give employment to about 3,000 men. Several real estate companies have been formed and a large number of houses are being erected at Manville to accommodate the factory operators.

AUTUMNAL LEAF DAY OBSERVED BY PUPILS

New Providence, Oct. 18.—Autumnal Leaf Day was observed in the New Providence Township public schools Wednesday with appropriate exercises pertaining to the usefulness of the leaves to mankind. All of the classrooms were handsomely decorated in the varicolored leaves of all the varieties of trees found in this latitude. The effect was the prettiest ever seen since Leaf Day was originated in the township schools several years ago by the principal.

The decorations were in charge of the different pupils of the grades and an intense rivalry was exhibited as a committee of five pupils from the higher grades had been selected to decide which was the best decorated room. The committee consisted of Martha Radzio, Emily Hickson, Hortense Shaffer, Carl Radzio and Michael Radzio. The judges awarded the honor to Mrs. Lillian Erickson's room, which included the third and fourth grades.

At the close of the afternoon session all pupils above the second grade were required to write stories about the leaves from their own personal observation and the short talks on leaves given to them by their teachers during the day.

Mrs. C. L. Jeter, of Belmont avenue, is visiting Mrs. C. W. Moorman, at Lynchburg, Va.

BECKER DEFENSE SCORES A POINT

Justice Goff Excludes Bank Accounts of Defendant.

STATE'S CASE IS CLOSED.

Former District Attorney Jerome Will Be Important Witness For Defense, Which Begins Today—Expect to Call Forty Witnesses.

New York, Oct. 18.—After Justice Goff refused to permit District Attorney Whitman to try to prove that Lieutenant Becker, with no other apparent income than his salary of $2,250 a year as a lieutenant of police, deposited upward of $60,000 in savings banks during the months that Jack Rose is alleged to have been his collector, the state rested its case in the Becker trial.

It was the only important advantage that the defense secured since the trial began on Oct. 7. The testimony had gone steadily against Lieutenant Becker from the first day. The district attorney had hoped to clinch his case by showing the jury a money motive for the murder and showing that it was Becker's fear of Rosenthal's exposures would stop the flow of graft and would drive him from the police department that prompted the killing, but Justice Goff held that there was no evidence to show that Rosenthal knew that Becker was depositing large sums secured by blackmailing gamblers.

It was true, said Justice Goff, that the affidavit made by Rosenthal a few days before the murder contained a statement that Becker was getting large sums of money, but a statement, in the opinion of the court, was too inferential to be a legal basis for the introduction of such evidence as Becker's bank accounts.

Becker Eager to Testify.

John F. McIntyre said today that Becker is eager to testify and that he may be allowed to have his way, but that no definite decision had been reached. The matter was a ticklish one. There was a possibility that with Becker on the stand the district attorney, privileged on cross examination to go into Becker's whole life, might find some way to get in evidence the records of the bank accounts and to bring out other damaging facts.

John W. Hart, for the defense, will make the opening address to the jury. The address to the jury is expected to be rather brief. Mr. McIntyre thought that about half an hour would be long enough to outline the case for the defense.

The prosecution put about forty witnesses on the stand. The defense expects to have about an equal number. Justice Goff has driven the trial forward with such speed that possibly another week will see Becker's fate in the hands of the jury.

The case for the state went forward steadily and convincingly. Points in the testimony of Rose and Schepps were corroborated. "Lefty Louie's" wife swore that Rose and Schepps had called on the gunmen in their apartment in the Southern boulevard and that her husband had told her that Rose and Schepps were there to talk about Jack Zelig. Rose had sworn that he went to the gunmen to tell them that it would be all right with Zelig if Rosenthal was murdered. From one of Becker's hangers-on testimony was produced that the raid on Rosenthal's gambling house was a fake raid. Mr. McIntyre insisted that this witness, Max Margolies, be arrested for perjury, but Justice Goff declined to take such action.

After making his successful argument against the introduction of Becker's bank accounts Mr. McIntyre made two motions, both formal efforts to secure the dismissal of the indictment and the discharge of the defendant on the ground that the state had failed to show that Lieutenant Becker had any connection with the murder. These motions Justice Goff promptly denied.

It is understood that an important witness for the defense will be former District Attorney Jerome.

JOHN F. M'INTYRE.

Becker's Counsel Scores Heavily by Excluding Client's Bankbooks.

John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for Lieutenant Charles Becker, won a smashing victory for his client when he succeeded in balking the state's efforts to get the huge bank accounts of the indicted police officer in evidence. The jury was excused and led into an anteroom while he and Assistant District Attorney Moss fought out the point before Justice Goff. Mr. McIntyre's most convincing argument was that the prosecution would have to show that the money in Becker's accounts not only came from Rosenthal, but that Rosenthal knew about it before the bank accounts could be connected with any motive in the case. Justice Goff thought so well of this argument that despite the most strenuous protests of Mr. Moss he ruled against permitting the Becker bank accounts to go into evidence.

MACFARLAND MAY KNOW FATE TODAY

Case All In, Justice Gummere Delivers Charge.

HEAR DEFENDANT'S STORY

Says He Was Arranging With Wife For Divorce—Admits Intimacy With Florence Bromley—Explains Passages In Letters Written by Girl.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 18.—The case of Allison M. MacFarland, who is on trial here for the second time for the murder of his wife on Oct. 18, 1911, went to the jury today.

MacFarland was on the witness stand in his own defense for six hours yesterday. He told of his life from the time of his birth in Thomaston, Me., thirty-five years ago, up to the time of the death of his wife. His narrative included his relations with Florence Bromley, the young Philadelphia woman who wrote the "Bunny" letters. He also told of his troubles with his wife and read two letters from her written from her father's home in Maine, in which she begged that he send for her and the two children. And he told of the talks he had had with his wife about a divorce.

MacFarland at the resumption of the trial took up again the reading of the "Bunny" letters. In one of them "Bunny" wrote, referring to an outing in the spring of 1911, "You said something at that time that paralyzed me with fear when you spoke of somebody dying." MacFarland explained that this referred to a threat made by "Bunny" to kill herself. In her next letter Miss Bromley said that she had changed her mind about dying and that she would never give MacFarland up. In another letter she wrote: "Oh, Christmas! I am looking forward to this coming Christmas as I have to no other, for I know I am going to have you for a Christmas present." This, MacFarland explained, was in response to a letter from him in which he had told "Bunny" he practically had everything arranged for a divorce.

In one of Mrs. MacFarland's letters, written from Maine, she says, "Perhaps Mrs. Bromley wants to make trouble so that you can be free to marry Florence, but as long as I live it shall never be."

Under cross examination MacFarland admitted intimacy with Miss Bromley and said he had offered to give his wife statutory evidence on which to base a suit for divorce. He admitted that here was no silverware in his home on which to use cyanide of potassium for cleaning purposes, but said he had some in pawn in Philadelphia and had intended to bring it home. For more than two years prior to Mrs. MacFarland's death, he said, there had been no marital relations between him and his wife.

Florence Bromley came here from Philadelphia to testify. She was not put on the stand, however.

Both sides summed up last night. Chief Justice Gummere charged the jury this morning.

Just So.

"I thought you said you couldn't live without me," sneered the girl.

"So I did," answered the man.

"Yet you're living."

"No; I'm not. Just boarding; that's all."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

JULES VEDRINES.

Frenchman Who Is Known as the "Greatest Living Air Man."

Jules Vedrines, the French aviator who recently won the James Gordon Bennett cup at Chicago, is known as the "greatest living air man."

Vedrines flew 128.8 miles in 1 hour, 10 minutes and 57 seconds. The course was 4.14 miles, and it required thirty circuits to cover the distance stipulated in the terms of the race for which the cup was given. He made the first lap in 2 minutes and 24.57 seconds. Then he gradually began to speed up. At the sixteenth lap he was making the circuit within a few decimal points of 2 minutes 20 seconds, and he kept this rate up, except in the eighteenth and twentieth laps when he lost time at the turns until he reached the twenty-fourth lap. He reeled that off in 2 minutes 20.24 seconds. This was the fastest lap in the race.

After winning the Bennett cup Vedrines made an exhibition flight, in which he established a new world's speed record for twenty kilometers. The English equivalent for twenty kilometers is 12.4 miles. Vedrines covered that distance in three laps round the course in the astonishing time of 6 minutes 55.05 seconds. His average speed during the three laps was a trifle faster than 1.79 miles a minute. His rate per hour was nearly 107½ miles.

Vedrines flew a little slower than this in winning the cup. His fastest lap was made at the rate of about 105½ miles per hour.

MOTHER FAINTS WHEN SNODGRASS DROPS BALL

Los Angeles, Oct. 18.—Overcome by emotion when the electrical score board at a local theatre showed Fred Snodgrass' muff of the fly which cost the New York Giants the world's championship title, Mrs. Snodgrass, mother of the New York outfielder, fainted. Mrs. Snodgrass is an ardent fan.

BEDIENT'S FIRST MOUND JOB BROUGHT HIM $1.50

Hugh Bedient, the Red Sox twirler, who beat the Giants one game and worked seven innings against New York in the last game of the big series in addition to taking part in a tie game, began his baseball career in Warren, Pa., with Falconer High School team.

Bedient was with Providence last season, having been turned over to the Grays by the Red Sox. He got off to a poor start and was sold to Jersey City for $500 in the middle of the season. Providence asked that he be allowed to stay with the Grays, and the request was granted by President Jim Lillis, of the Skeeters.

This spring Jimmy McAleer bought Bedient from the Pests for about $12,000 in players.

While pitching for the Falconer High School he attracted the attention of R. J. Schumacher, manager of the Warren team. Schumacher booked two games with the Meadville Intercollegiates and telephoned to Bedient:

"I have two games on for today, but only one pitcher. I will give you $1 and expenses to twirl afternoon game."

"Make it $1.50 and I'll go," was Bedient's reply.

Bedient's terms were accepted and he won the first game he ever twirled for money. Later he pitched a twenty-two inning game at Corry, Pa., and fanned twenty-four batters

PETS PLAY AT AMUSEMENT PARK

Washington Americans Will Be Their Opponents in After Season Game.

LOCALS ARE CONFIDENT

Successes Against Athletics Have Given Them Confidence—Washington Will Have Regular Team—Large Number of Fans Will Go.

No baseball is carded for Plainfield tomorrow afternoon but a large number of local fans are preparing to take the trip over to New Brunswick with the Pets who play their last game of the season together. Manager Dorflinger will stack his nine beauties up against the Washington team, of the American League, and a fine game is expected. Amusement Park in New Brunswick has been selected for the scene of the fray because of the facilities it offers to a large crowd of fans and as the journey is not a very long one and there is a good game scheduled at the end of the trip, Manager Dorflinger expects to have the same faithful crowd that inhabits Crescent Oval every Saturday afternoon, rooting for his aggregation on the Brunsdick diamond.

Jack Martin will play short for the Pets and as the Washington twirlers have put them over the pan to him before he says that he is out to show Griffith's crew that he can bat in a Plainfield uniform as well as in Yankee regalia.

Washington has been playing sensational ball in the big league this year and have made an enviable string of consecutive victories, which has made them famous. Plainfield players have shown they can play ball against American League teams before and Dorflinger says that he looks for a victory. The Philadelphia Athletics, former champions of the wrold, were defeated by the Pets to the tune of 11 to 0 in the first contest but went away with a 2 to 0 victory in the second.

MARQUARD IS LEADING PITCHER IN BIG SERIES

Seventy-three regulation innings were required to decide the world's baseball championship in Boston's favor. While the eight games total seventy-five innings, two are erased because one team or the other failed to take its time at bat. Rube Marquard, the brilliant southpaw of the New York Giants, is the leading pitcher for the series.

He won both his games. Hugh Bedient, of the Red Sox, also has a clean record. He won one game and pitched seven innings of Wednesday's contest, but is not credited with the victory, for when taken out to allow a pinch hitter to bat for him, the score was tie. Joe Wood has won three games and lost one for the Sox.

Christy Mathewson, although he pitched wonderful ball, met defeat in two of the three of his starrs, the other contest resulting in a tie. In the matter of the most effectiveness, Bedient leads, he having allowed only eleven hits in the eighteen innings he performed on the mound.

The records of the pitchers, including the 6 to 6 tie game, are as follows:

	W.	L.	T.	H.	R.		Pc

LOCAL GOLFERS WIN HONORS AT WESTFIELD

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of This City, Winner of the Gross Prize.

For the last time this season the members of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association visited a New Jersey course yesterday for the purpose of competing in a one-day tournament. About forty of the fair wilders of driver and iron visited Westfield, and the principal winner of the day proved to be Mrs. D. C. Arnold, of the home organization, whose card of 91, 9-82, won the chief net prize. Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of this city, had 88, 5-83, but as her score won the gross prize the second net fell to Mrs. C. J. S. Fraser, of Cranford, who had 93, 3-85. The results were unusually close.

As for the special prizes, a special award was put up for the competitor making the greatest number of holes made in strokes under par. Mrs. Fraser was the winner with four such holes. Mrs. Stockton's score of ten in the approaching and putting contest was sufficient to win for her.

There was also a driving competition in which prizes were offered for the woman making the best average for the best single drive. Mrs. N. P. Rogers, of this city, had the best average distance, 152 yards, while the best single effort was Mrs. Arnold's drive of 163 yards—fine distance for a woman.

HOLY CROSS HAS STIFF GAME ON TAP

Crescent A. C. Will Open its Season at Cricket Field Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Crescent A. C., of Milltown, will open the season against the Holy Cross eleven at Cricket Field tomorrow afternoon and one of the hardest games of the season is expected by the local players who have been holding hard drills all the week in preparation for the big fray. Coach Hamilton says that a number of shifts are due to take place in his lineup before they take the field tomorrow afternoon as a number of the regulars have not been as faithful to the practices as he wants them to be and some penalties may be inflicted.

Manager Junker, of the visiting eleven, is very desirous of starting off the season with a victory and will bring his strongest lineup to Plainfield.

The Crescent A. C. does not make a specialty of football but every year the club turns out a crackerjack basketball team and local followers of this popular indoor game have probably heard of the Crescent A. C. Company M. games, which fill the Somerville armory to the limit every season. The Crescents held the basketball championship of the State for a number of years until the title was finally annexed by the Company M aggregation, who now hold it. The athletic club has some of the finest athletes of the State enrolled among its number and they can play football equally as well as they can play the indoor game.

The Elks' Bowling League opened last night, New Brunswick bowling at New Brunswick, Newark at Rutherford, Hoboken at Paterson and Rahway at New York. The Plainfield five lost all three games at New Brunswick, but this is not strange as it has never been known to win a game on the New Brunswick alleys, and the latter has never won a game on the Plainfield alleys. The Rutherford team took two of the three games in the opener. Hoboken took three straight from Paterson, while the New York five took three games from Rahway.

Francis J. Blatz did the best work for Plainfield, putting up scores of 182, 188 and 184. Campbell bowled 170, 188 and 140. The New Brunswick five put up several double centuries. The scores for the Plainfield-New Brunswick match follow:

Advertising Pulls—It Doesn't Jerk

That is if it is put together rightly and placed in the right mediums. Under such conditions it is certain to influence your business to the betterment of it if you will only have the courage to "keep at it."

How did John Wanamaker and our other commercial kings build up their vast enterprises? Simply by good business ability and—Advertising constantly—keeping at it. You woudn't apply a liniment with a feather would you, you rub it in—just the same with advertising, except that you keep on rubbing it in and the harder and longer you do the rubbing the greater the returns.

We once read in a country paper the following: "If you have a prosperous business, advertise and keep it—if not advertise and get it. If you can't find the necessary time to devote to advertising your business properly phone us. We have an expert who will put up your "Copy" that will bring sure results.

TALKS WITH JOHNSON

Only Danger Now is From Lockjaw, and That is Slight—Doctors Say it Will Take Two Weeks for Wound to Heal Completely.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Colonel Roosevelt's improvement at Mercy Hospital, where he was taken after being shot, has been so steady that he likely will be taken to his home in Oyster Bay on Monday or Tuesday. It is calculated that he will be back in the campaign again the last week before election.

At 9:30 o'clock this morning the following bulletin was given out at the Mercy Hospital on Roosevelt's condition: Pulse, 86; temperature, 98; respiration, 20; breathing, easier; resting well; condition good; convalescing satisfactorily."

Bulletins issued by the surgeons in attendance upon him at Mercy hospital last night and early today show that the colonel's pulse and temperature are normal. His improvement was so pronounced yesterday and his spirits were so high that he was permitted to sit up for the first time and to plunge into the campaign with Governor Hiram Johnson, his running mate on the Progressive ticket, who paid him a visit.

An hour later when the surgeons called for the early afternoon examination the colonel did not show the least fatigue and his condition was so favorable that the doctors decided to omit the usual bulletin and granted him permission to sit up for an hour

COAL DEALERS LIST 1,172 PEOPLE WHO ARE 'POOR PAY'

The members of the Plainfield Coal Merchants' Association received copies yesterday of what they term "The Coal Merchants' Bible." It contains a list of names of Plainfielders who are either unworthy of credit or are considered doubtful. There have been other lists, but this is the only official one ever published by the association.

The list comprises 1,772 names, and many of the Plainfielders whose names appear in the book have been reported by as many as five coal dealers as being unworthy of credit, while others have been reported a less number of times. The book has been prepared and printed for the sole guidance of members of the association.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD STREET MEETINGS TONIGHT

Two outdoor meetings will be held tonight under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall club, when Albert H. Atterbury, Hugh F. Fox and J. W. Harrison will talk on the tariff issue. They will speak from an automobile at 8:15 on the corner of Second street and Park avenue, and at 9 o'clock on the corner of Front street and Madison avenue.

The speakers will be taken from one place to the other in former Mayor William L. Saunders' open automobile from which they will talk. They are all students of the question and their speeches will be short and pointed in their purpose of getting the essentials of the question before the audience in a few minutes.

In accordance with its annual custom the Y. M. C. A. will send a delegation of older boys to the New Jersey State conference which meets at Summit, Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week. The conference will include delegates from numerous religious organizations throughout the State and the gathering this year will be marked by an unusually appropriate program, arranged by Charles T. Kilborne, of East Orange, the chairman.

The Plainfield delegation will be in charge of C. William Bingaman, who has taken a group of boys to the State conferences four times before. He will be assisted by Frederick M. Smith, of Central avenue, a graduate of Rutgers College, who is actively engaged in boys' work. Eight delegates will be taken to represent Plainfield and will include Frank Dunning, Holmes Clawson, Esty Fostar, Myrton Glover, Andrew Hetfield, William Peacock, Roger Stewart and Arthur Stout.

The subjects to be considered are as follows: "The Sunday School and Young Men's Christian Association Co-operating," "The High School Student Christian Movement," "The High School Boys' Influence With His Companions," "Your Personality," "The Program or Work With Wage Earning Boys," "The Development of Leaders," "How to Make Outdoor Life Worth While."

The Princeton College quartet will be in attendance and sing at each of the sessions.

On Saturday afternoon four sectional conferences will be held, one in the interest of grammar school boys, the second for high school students, another for boys who are employed, and the last for workers with boys.

Henry E. Park, of Lakewood, will preside, and Ivan P. Flood, of Newark, will present a paper on "How to Discover, Enlist and Train Leaders." This will be followed by a paper on "The Survey of the City of Camden," by B. M. Hendrick, and a representative from Trenton will tell of the "Sex Instruction Campaign" conducted there recently. This conference will close with an address on "How to Make Outdoor Life Worth While to Boys," by Colonel Moulthorp.

Schuyler Line, of this city, has been chosen as secretary of the conference and as he has had the previous experience of two conferences he is well qualified to fill the position.

W. N. Runyon, W. R. Codington and Others Review Past Achievements.

FULLERTON HITS 'T. R.'

Former Senator Reed as Chairman Contrasts Conditions During Last Democratic Administration With Those of the Present Time.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon, candidate for Congress; former City Jurge William R. Codington, candidate for Mayor, and Judge Henry Fullerton, of Orange county, New York, were the speakers at a Republican mass meeting held at the Plainfield theatre, last night, under the auspices of the local Republican organization. J. Adam Bede, of Minnesota, who it was announced would be one of the speakers, failed to appear. During the evening a telegram was received from the committee stating that Mr. Bede had arrived in New York from Chicago, was ill and would not be able to come to Plainfield.

Former State Senator Charles A. Reed, who has taken up his residence in this city, was introduced as the chairman of the meeting. Judge Codington confied himself chiefly to local issues, and at the same time making a strong appeal for votes in support of the regular Republican ticket. Judge Runyon gave a strong endorsement of President Taft, reviewing briefly some of his achievements and referring impressively to many of the fine qualities which he said were to be found in his character as a man and as President, while Judge Fullerton devoted his talk al-

CONSIDER APPOINTMENT OF BOROUGH SCHOOL COP

Several weeks ago the Board of Education of North Plainfield requested the Common Council to provide a marshal to be stationed at the Somerset School building while the pupils are coming and leaving. In speaking of the subject at the Council meeting last night Councilman Milne said this would incur an expense of $500 more per year on the borough; the granting of this request would necessitate the employment of another man. The Councilman said in his opinion the janitor or the assistant janitor of the different schools could perform the duty. A resolution was adopted authorizing the Police Committee to confer with the Board of Education on the matter.

Walter M. Dennis, was appointed marshal by Mayor Robert Clark, to serve until January 1, 1912. Bills to the amount of $782.12 were ordered paid. The sewer question was ordered laid over until the next meeting of the Council. resolution was adopted to make an effort to have the bridges at Grove street over Green Brook, and at Rock View Terrace, over Stony Brook, replaced by modern structures.

CONVENTION SERMON BY REV. C. A. BURDICK

Seventh-Day Baptist Assemblage Receives Nominating Committee's Report.

The seventy-sixth annual session of the Eastern Association of the Seventh Day Baptist church was continued at the New Market church this morning, with a sermon by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick. The features of this afternoon's session will include a chalk talk by Rev. Edwin Shaw, message from Sabbath-school Board, Rev. E. D. Van Horn; message from Young People's Board, Rev. H. C. Van Horn and a vesper service conducted by Rev. Edwin Shaw. There will be two addresses this evening, one by Rev. James L. Skaggs and the other on the "Men and Religion Forward Movement," by John H. Auston.

The principal business of the afternoon meeting yesterday was the report of the nomination committee, report of committee on petitions, report of the corresponding secretary, an address from the Women's Board, a message from the Educational Society and an address by Rev. L. D. Seager, delegate from the Southern Association.

The nomination committee named the officers and delegates for the coming year. They are John H. Austin, president; A. R. Crandall, vice president; Miss Anna Crandall, recording secretary; Herbert Swinney, corresponding secretary; Arthur J. Spicer, treasurer and engrossing clerk; Rev. E. D. Van Horn, delegate to the Central, Western and Northwestern Association conventions for 1913, with Rev. C. A. Burdick as alternate; Rev. H. C. VanHorn, delegate to the Southeastern and Southwestern Associations conventions, with Rev. Edwin Shaw as alternate.

The committee on petitions announced that the convention of the Eastern Association would be held in the Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church at Westerly, R. I., next year.

The report of the corresponding secretary, J. G. Burdick, told of the evangelistic work done by the association during the year. It also told of the increase of membership in the churches of the association.

The plan of the interchange of pastors, inaugurated by the executive committee, has proven successful and it is possible that this work will be turned over to a missionary committee next year.

Mrs. O. U. Whitford delivered an address on the Women's Board. She emphasized two points that all progressive work is based on, They were the education and agitation of the present and coming generations.

The message from the Educational Society was delivered by Herbert L. Polan. He spoke on the colleges of the denomination, of the equipment of the colleges as to building, faculty and endowment. He spoke of the advantage of small colleges and the general increase of the student body and what increase of endowment was necessary so that the colleges can handle the work properly. He told of the three things the colleges stand for in true manhood as developed in the physical, intellectual and spiritual man.

Rev. L. D. Seager's address was based on the topic of "Conservation." He spoke of conserving the inner forces of the child and of the young man and woman by parental training and interest.

The afternoon session was adjourned at the completion of Rev. Mr. Seager's address until last evening at 7:45 o'clock when the regular Friday evening services were held.

Rev. E. D. Van Horn preached the sermon of the evening. Rev. Jesse E. Hutchins conducted a conference or testimonial meeting.

Special music was furnished for the evening service by a male quartet composed of Frank Burdick, Leslie Randolph, Milton Randolph and Rev. H. N. Jordan.

BOROUGH COUNCIL PROTESTS TAXES

Asserts Valuations Show Discrimination Against North Plainfield.

QUIZ BOARD MEMBERS

Andrew Kenney Says He is at Work on Plan to Equalize Taxation—Cooley Defends County Official—Some Figures.

Dr. Justus H. Cooley, tax assessor of North Plainfield, and Andrew E. Kenney, a member of the Somerset County Tax Board, appeared before the Common Council of North Plainfield last night, and endeavored to disprove the charges made by that body that the borough had been discriminated against in the matter of tax rates. The members of the Council in a resolution adopted last night asserted the net value of the borough's ratables had increased $164,800 over last year, whereas property is generally conceded to have decreased in value. This amount represents an increase of 14½ per cent. for North Plainfield, whereas throughout the rest of the county an increase of only 6 3-16 per cent. has been made. The latter figures are the foundation for the Council's protests.

Upon the suggestion of Councilman Milne, a public hearing and meeting will be held in the Council chambers, on Friday, October 25, in which all taxpayers will be invited to attend and voice their sentiments.

If through the efforts of the Council a reduction of the ratables is affected, it will not alter the amount of the tax bill for 1912, but a credit

BOYS OF Y. M. C. A. RALLY; PREPARE FOR NEW SEASON

A Boys' Department rally was held at the Y. M. C. A. this morning. It was attended by 69 active members who were entertained with short talks by C. William Bingeman, boys' secretary, and Herbert E. Parker, general secretary. Mr. Bingaman outlined the plans he has compiled for an active season and urged the co-operation of every member in the department work. A junior league will be formed, similar to last years', and each of the six contesting teams will be named after a well known college.

As an all around trophy for the team running up the highest point score a loving cup will be offered and the members on the winning team will have their names inscribed on the cup which will be placed in the Y. M. C. A. trophy case.

At the conclusion of the younger boys' meeting, Mr. Bingaman held a conference with the older High School boys and plans were discussed for a busy indoor term for the high school gymnasts. A special class has been arranged for that grade and an all-around competition similar to that in the younger boys' classes will be inaugurated in the High School division.

BARN BURNS DOWN; STOCK IS DESTROYED

Horse and Pigs Victims of Suspicious Fire—Flames Work Swiftly.

A fire of supposed incendiary origin destroyed a large frame barn owned by Mrs. John Ryan, on Fourth street, the other side of Rock avenue, just over the city line, last evening at 7 o'clock. When the fire was discovered by the family, who were seated at the dinner table, it had gained such a headway that nothing could be done to save the contents of the structure. The roof of the building fell in before any one had a chance to rescue the horse and pigs that were housed in it.

Somebody sent in an alarm from box 49, Clinton avenue and South Second street, to which the city fire department responded, but when it was found that the fire was outside the city limits the recall was sounded.

The family and a number of neighbors formed a bucket brigade but it was of no avail. The flames had gained such headway that the building collapsed within fifteen minutes after the blaze was discovered.

It is said that a man, about six feet tall, wearing a brown suit and a slouch hat, with one arm in a sling, who had been seen hanging about the building for the past two or three days, and had chased children on their way to and from school, had been seen a short time before the fire broke out running down Fourth street toward the city.

A horse valued at $150, several pigs, eight tons of hay and a wagon were burned in the conflagration. There was no insurance.

FIRE HORSES COLLAPSE APTER LONG, HARD RUN

Responding to fire alarm box 49 last night, the horses pulling the apparatus from Engine House No. 1, collapsed at the Pond Tool Works, it is thought from exhaustion. The animals are apparently none the worse for their mishap this morning, however.

It is said by witnesses that Captain Feiring, the driver, galloped his horses the entire distance, and entered the narrow street along the Tond Tool Works in advance of the auto truck. He continued at breakneck speed, it is alleged, regardless of the fact, that he should have slowed up and pulled to one side to let the speedier apparatus go by.

POLICE LOOK INTO ACCIDENT IN WHICH AUTO HURT GIRL

The police are investigating the accident in which Eleanor J. Bucklin, the 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Bucklin was run down yesterday by an automobile driven by a woman, breaking her left leg below the knee cap and spraining her back. It is said that the driver of the machine did not stop immediately after the accident, which took place on West Front street near Elmwood avenue, but returned a few minutes later with the license tag of the car reversed so as to make reading impossible unless someone lifted it up. Miss Vincent, of 170 Liberty street, took that trouble, she said, and notified the police.

BORO POLICE ROUND UP YOUTHFUL BEER THIEVES

The police of North Plainfield rounded up a gang of boys, ranging in ages from 15 to 17 years, yesterday, charging them with stealing bottled beer from the wagon of a local brewery. Tony Ammond, of Duer street, has been arrested on the charge of receiving stolen goods, having purchased, it is said, some of the stolen beer from the boys at the bargain price of "two-for-five." All of the defendants were told to appear before Recorder Gano this morning, but Harvey Drake and William Sprague were the only ones to obey. The others accused of the thefts are George Trotter, Frank Wyckoff, Clarence Wyckoff and Dick James, all of North Plainfield.

Numerous complaints have come to the police recently, of petty robberies of a similar nature. George Cooper, of Grove street, had a case stolen from his cellar about two weeks ago.

PHILIP L. H. STADLMAIR.

Philip L. H. Stadlmair, aged 39 years, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 120 Washington street. He had been a resident of this city but a short time. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Rev. J. Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, will officiate.

BERGEN'S REPLY TO GEO. S. CLAY

IF HE WERE COUNSEL

One of State's Ablest Lawyers Tells Councilmanic Public Affairs Committee What He Would Advise Were He City's Counsel.

Replying to the query of George S. Clay, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Common Council, whether he would advise the passage of an ordinance to stop the factory whistle nuisance were he Plainfield's Common Council, Frank Bergen says that he would. Following is Mr. Bergen's answer:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

I have your letter of the 16th enclosing a letter from Mr. Clay in which he asks how I would answer this question: "Would you, if you were the corporation counsel of the city of Plainfield, advise the Common Council, on the strength of the cases cited in your letter to the Plainfield Press, dated September 25, 1912, that the blowing of factory whistles in the city of Plainfield is a nuisance per se; that the Common Council has lawful power to pass an ordinance prohibiting the blowing of factory whistles in the city of Plainfield; and that if such an ordinance were passed and approved, it would, in your opinion, be sustained by the courts of New Jersey as a lawful exercise of the powers of the city?"

My reply to that question is: "Yes, I would."

Very truly yours,
FRANK BERGEN.

MOY UNWILLING TO O. K. $300,000 H. S. ADDITION

At the adjourned meeting of the Board of School Estimate at the Plainfield High School, last night, a new proposition was received regarding the proposed addition and other improvements planned for the High School, but no vote was taken on this proposition, nor on the one providing for an appropriation of $300,000.

The new proposition came from the American Concrete Steel Company, through its president, Mr. Stimpson. The company offered to build the addition for a sum considerably below that of $300,000. A committee of two will be named to inquire further into the proposition.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy expressed himself as being unwilling to vote for an expenditure of $300,000 for High School improvements when there is such an urgent need for a new school in Netherwood.

SHADE TREE "BLIGHT" PROVES TO BE NEGLECT

Trenton, Oct. 19.—After an investigation of shade tree conditions in Palmyra and Riverton, State Forester Alfred Gaskill has reached the conclusion that the reported blight which is supposed to have killed hundreds of maple trees of both the sugar and silver varieties, is not a blight at all and is not nearly so dangerous as the local authorities have believed.

Failure to select the trees best adapted for the localities, together with lack of proper care, are the two factors which Mr. Gaskill believes have been primarily responsible for the loss which has been attributed to blight.

In Palmyra, Mr. Gaskill found that the sugar maples have been very much neglected and that in most instances they lacked proper nourishment. In Riverton the silver maples which were extensively planted were not adapted to the warm, porous soil. In general, lack of continuous care had contributed to present conditions.

Mr. Gaskill was firmly convinced that the destruction of the trees was not due to any dangerous disease, blight or insect pest. He is anxious to have it understood that both he and Dr. Cook, the State plant pathologist, are willing at any time to respond to calls from communities and to make a study of the situation regarding shade or other trees. Such a course, he believes, will avoid many unnecessary scares which are sometimes occasioned by the belief that trees are afflicted with some dangerous blight.

The State forester has arranged to address a meeting of the Atlantic City Business Men's League next Friday. The league is trying to arouse a sentiment favorable to a systematic planting of shade trees in Atlantic City.

WELL DESERVED.

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Plainfield People.

One kidney remedy never fails.

Plainfield people rely upon it.

That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Plainfield testimony proves it always reliable.

Mrs. Ernest Dorflinger, 400 Clinton avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I hold just as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today as I have for years. The cure they made in my case has been permanent and consequently I am glad to confirm my former testimonial." (Statement given January 19, 1911.)

On August 28, 1905, Mrs. Dorflinger gave the following account of her experience with Doan's Kidney Pills: "The first symptom of kidney trouble in my case was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's Drug Store, I began their use. Before long my condition improved and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills until I was cured."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

David Belasco will present "The Concert" at the Plainfield theatre tonight, sending his entire New York cast headed by Leo Ditrichstein. "The Concert" is a comedy in three acts by Herman Bahr, a Viennese man of letters. It was originally produced in Germany three years ago where it is still being played. Mr. Belasco lost no time in securing the rights and set Leo Ditrichstein at work to adapt it for the American stage. When Mr. Ditrichstein finished the task Mr. Belasco engaged him to play the leading part—an eccentric musical genius—and he has acted that part throughout the phenomenal three years run "The Concert" has enjoyed since its first memorable performance at the Belasco theatre in New York. There is only one company presenting "The Concert" and playgoers can be certain that Mr. Belasco has lived up to his high reputation. Isabel Irving is the leading woman. The story of "The Concert" is built around the doings of a musical genius and it is one of his escapades with a woman other than his wife that gives the play its name. This stage musician is very fond of the adoration of women but his sensible wife keeps him out of trouble. "The Concert" is rare comedy—one of the delights of the season not to be overlooked.

"Get Rich Quick Wallingford," which has been described as "an evening of laughter in four convulsions," comes to the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, October 24. "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" is a typical Cohan show with music and dancing omitted. George Randolph Chester's famous Wallingford stories furnished the inspiration for this unusual comedy that played 412 consecutive performances on Broadway, 375 in Chicago and resulted in a remarkably successful season for each of the road companies sent out last winter. "The Play's the Thing" is the motto of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," which is a case of "all star parts" instead of an "all star cast." Wallingford, Blackie Daw and two or three other characters familiar to the readers of the Chester stories, and several incidents found in the book from which the comedy takes its name, have been combined with a score or more of the quaint but always true to life types that Geo. M. Cohan has met during his busy life and made actors of without consulting them.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, OCTOBER 19, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Hugh F. Fox, a New York lawyer, who is active in movements and associations for the welfare of Plainfield, is the contributing editor for today.

POTENTIAL PLAINFIELD.

The city of Seattle had an exhibit at the recent International Hygiene Congress that filled its rivals with envy. Among its features were charts showing that the death rate in Seattle, both among adults and infants, is the lowest in the country. The secretary of their Board of Health who demonstrated the exhibit, was full of entuhsiasm, backed by facts and figures as to the resources of his city, its health and recreation features, climatic advantages, shipping facilities, and in short, a wealth of information that enabled him to answer any questions. It was the best bit of city-boosting that could be conceived, which, of course, was the intention.

It is certainly significant that a city like Seattle should be willing to spend thousands of dollars to exploit itself in this effective manner, and particularly that its health-status should figure as the factor of supreme advertising value.

The Public Health movement has received a tremendous impetus in recent years through the educational work of such organizations as the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, the American Public Health Association, and the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality. The new school of Eugenics has made it clear that a large part of the social cost of crime and insanity is directly due to hereditary taint, through our failure to segregate the feeble-minded and control the spread of venereal diseases.

Labor legislation and the development of the organized labor movement are indirectly responsible for the way in which physical fitness is being emphasized by the large employers. The fixing of responsibility for all industrial accidents upon the employer is forcing him to take all possible precautions; while the eight-hour day leads to a speeding-up process that puts a premium upon human efficiency.

Ten years ago the social reformer was regarded as a theorist, but the quiet, persistent educational campaign which has been waged in the name of social service has had so marked an effect that it has written its creed into the platform of all the political parties. At the close of the nineteenth century books on sociology and economics were published without hope of profit, and were to be found only in reference libraries or in the hands of special students. Today we are being deluged with such books, and publishers are making money out of them! Societies for the study of municipal government, and for the promotion of political and social science have increased their membership by thousands; while their annual or occasional gatherings are actually regarded by the newspapers as having news value.

The people are hungry for knowledge about themselves and their affairs, and have become socially self-conscious. Now that the Public Health movement has "arrived," the cranks and cormorants are, of course, trying to turn it to their own advantage in all sorts of ways, but the scientists are fortunately on their guard, and it is not likely that the professional agitator will be able to get very far.

Is there any reason why the City of Plainfield should not have as low a death rate as the City of Seattle? The splendid work that has been done here by the Hospital, the Anti-Tuberculosis Association and the Visiting Nurses' Bureau, has already shown some results in this connection, and the compulsory medical inspection of our public school children will uncover many physical defects that can be easily remedied. There is need of an extension of this work to our parochial schools, and for the development of more home treatment of sick people, together with provision for the care of convalescents. In a general way, we are proud of Plainfield. We know that our public and private schools are excellent, though it is true that they lack provision for industrial training. The Police, Fire and Health Departments are, we believe, honest and efficient, and our Licensing System is perfect. We have good water, good streets, good train service, and on the whole, we can claim that Plainfield is a thoroughly well-built and attractive place of residence with beautiful country surrounding us. Together with these great advantages we also know that our private garbage system is disgracefully crude, and that all our public utilities are still in the hands of unregulated private monopolies. But it is not an easy matter for the average man or woman to get precise facts about our communal affairs, and we have little or no basis for comparison with other cities. The unit-cost of the services we pay for with our taxes has not been worked out for us. We ought to know the cost per child of our educational system, the amount invested in school plants, and the cost of lighting and heating in each separate building. We ought to be able to see at a glance what our ratio of expense is for police and fire protection, and how it compares with other places. The annual reports of our municipal officers and departments contain much useful information, but it is unrelated, and published for the most part in such form that it is soon mislaid and forgotten. The list could be extended considerably, and I merely cite these by way of suggestion. Until all of the facts relating to our city government and civic needs are assembled in convenient form, budget-making cannot be scientific. The city of Plainfield is a corporation, and we as its stockholders are entitled to a ready-reference manual which will enable us to know how our affairs are being handled, what the business of the corporation is costing us, and whether we are getting as much for our money as other places of the size.

The City of Plainfield should publish a Year-Book!

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

I saw in your reply to Councilman Clay that you named me as having been one of the Republican machine in our city before the passage of the Geran Law.

I believe that an honest confession is good for the soul, therefore, I am persuaded to confess that at one time I was one of the members of the Republican City and County Committee, which I take it you would therefore brand me as being a member on as you put it one of the "small fry" of the machine.

I will also confess that while a member of these organizations and consequently a member of the Republican machine on as you say one of the "small fry" of the machine, I was probably the chief culprit of the crime of imposing upon the citizens and taxpayers of our beautiful city the nomination of the late Rev. Wm. R. Richards as a member of the Board of Education; the nomination of Elliot T. Barrows and Leslie M. Daniel as members of the Common Council from the Third ward (men whom I at that time believed would faithfully, wisely and honorably represent the Third ward and I desire to say, now, after their services have been rendered, I have no reason to change my original opinion); the nomination of Ernest R. Ackerman for the State Senate. I committed these crimes (I call them crimes as I believe many inconsistent persons believe, that almost any act of any member of the so-called Republican machine is necessarily a crime against the public) without consulting the then political boss of most of the city of Plainfield.

If these crimes operated against the best interests of our city, I desire now to publicly apologize to our citizens.

As you saw fit to inform the public that I was one of the "small fry" of the Republican machine, I trust, in fairness to me, you will give this confession of my guilt and my apology to the citizens of our city the same publicity.

Tailored Suits Inspired by Paris
Price $29.50 to $37.50
Worth $45 to $57

Any store could buy the large quantity of gowns, wraps and suits included in this extraordinary presentation.

But only a store with the outlet of Wanamaker's in two great cities could sell such a quantity quickly.

For the very reason that we can sell these garments at once without interfering with our regular stocks and service—the prices are brought down to less than wholesale; the manufacturers in one deal turned their stocks into money and were free to go again to Paris or turn to the creation of new things.

The Paris Gowns

These are from one of the greatest and wisest importers of European fashions in this country.

He searches Europe many times each year. He is making ready now to sail within a few days in order to gather fashions for early southern wear.

The 82 models that he turned over to us are hand-made gowns of chiffons and satins which by their loveliness and exquisite daintiness appeal to the most cultivated taste.

Blues so soft in tone that they can hardly be called blue. Pink the shade of an ocean shell. The delicate bloom of an orchid and all the other soft evening colors.

$32.50, regularly $60 and $67.50
$45, regularly $75 $55, regularly $82
$78 and $90, regularly $100 and $135
$100, regularly $187

The Tailored Suits After Bernard Models

They have a different story to tell.

The original model was imported direct by ourselves.

It was so successful—both in Paris and here—that we set at work to reproduce it at the very lowest possible price for our Golden October Special.

By cooperation with the manufacturer we can now offer
—the $45 and $52 Suits for $29.50
—the $57 Suits for $37.50

The $29.50 are diagonal cheviot; the $37.50 are corduroy and velveteen.

Both are made with a cutaway coat long in the back and shorter in the front; trimmed with silk collar edged with velvet and either with braid ornaments or with long satin buttonholes and braid covered buttons.

French Evening Wraps

Forty evening coats of brocaded velvet, the fashionable plush in sulphur, ruby red, cream white and other marvelous French colors, also the new moire in colors and white.

Majority are trimmed with fur.

The Evening Gowns Inspired by Paris Fashions

Thirty styles including brocades, charmeuse, white and colored satin, lace and marquisette and chiffon draped satin gowns ornamented with rhinestones and pearls.

Either without any duplicates or if the one model is repeated, the color is different, so that no one may be annoyed by seeing the double of the costume she selects.

They come from one of the greatest operators on women's costumes in all America. In the quantity of the materials for which he contracts direct from the mills, and in his great importations of embroideries, laces, velvets and embroidered tunics no other manufacturer in this country approaches his orders.

Absolutely every model that we received earlier from this manufacturer has been sold and not one remains in stock.

It is quite a privilege therefore, to get these to sell now for $29.50 to $75, instead of $40 to $115.

The Great Golden Special in Dress Fabrics Monday

The Entire Mill Stock of $2.50 and $3 Worumbo Broadcloth at $1.55 Yard

Because the manufacturer for technical reasons is discontinuing these qualities

Four superb broadcloths are included in this purchase which will be offered at the same time in both our stores, New York and Philadelphia.

In addition to black, the colors include all the many street shades now used for limousine wraps, tailored suits, walking coats, luncheon and afternoon dresses, and young girls' clothes and children's coats.

The Name "WORUMBO" has stood for many years on fabrics, for that which Sterling stands on silver.

This is the first time, we believe, that Worumbo broadcloth of these qualities has ever been offered for less than $2.50 a yard; nearly three-quarters of the lot has never been sold for less than $3 a yard.

Worumbo fabrics will continue to be woven—just as fine as they are now—but these special $2.50 and $3 grades of Worumbo broadcloth will be discontinued and these are the fabrics we are now privileged—exclusively to sell for $1.55 yard.

Every yard of Worumbo broadcloth of these grades that remained in the makers' stockroom is included in the sale.

There will be no duplicates of these qualities after this lot is exhausted.

DEBS WILL SPEAK IN ELIZABETH TOMORROW

Socialist Leader Described as the "Voice of the Unsatisfied."

Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President, who will speak at Proctor's Broad street theatre, Elizabeth, tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., can best be described in the words of James Whitcomb Riley:

"An' there's 'Gene Debs, a man 'at stands
An' jes holds out in his two hands,
As warm a heart as ever beat
Betwixt here an' the Judgment Seat."

There are no idle words, as anyone who has ever had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Debs speak can testify. He has been described as the best beloved man of any in the United States since Abraham Lincoln.

Some men are national; others are international. Debs is universal. Every man is his neighbor, his brother. The family next door is not nearer to him than is the distant dweller of earth's remotest realm. He is so devoid of spiritual provincialism that physical proximity does not affect him. He is in soul-propinquity with the entire human race.

Debs is more than man. He is the Voice of the Unsatisfied and the Spirit of Unrest. He is the voice proclaiming the Message of the Masses. He is an articulate sentiment, a personified principle—an Idea Incarnate. He expresses what others feel. He speaks for those who have not learned the language of revolt.

Debs is personified Democracy—that is, he lives it. His own life is his best lesson. With all his magnificent mentality, there is just one familiar thing he never has been able to understand—a theory. Life to him is an aggregation of facts, which facts he labors unceasingly to adjust in rational relation to the human family.

They say Debs is a dreamer—a visionary. He is. He dreams the divinest of dreams. He dreams of "the golden dawning of a grander day." His vision forecasts a reign of justice and the race redeemed. Speed the day when his dreams shall be gloriously realized, his splendid vision verified!

When the Ideal Society shall have been ushered in, we will know it for the realized dream of Debs.

The general admission will be 15 cents, reserved seats 25 cents and box seats 50 cents.

BIBLE SCHOOL ADDRESS.

A pleasure is in store for the members of the First Baptist church Bible school who will have an opportunity at the regular session of the school tomorrow at 2:30 to hear Miss Violet Jewell, of White Plains, N. Y. Miss Jewell has been heard many times this fall in New York, and the opportunity for Plainfielders to hear her will undoubtedly be availed of by many, especially those who enjoy the leading by cornet of congregational singing.

HIS BIRTHDAY BRINGS TO HIM $25,000,000

Huge Fortune for Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt on 35th Natal Day.

New York, Oct. 19 (Special).—A birthday present of twenty-five million dollars! That is certainly "going some," even in these days of high prices and big figures. Nevertheless, $25,000,000 is approximately the amount that Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt is to receive by virtue of the fact that he reaches his thirty-fifth birthday anniversary tomorrow. This sum represents the half of Vanderbilt's patrimony willed to him by his father, Cornelius Vanderbilt. The latter was displeased with the marriage of his oldest son, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and when he died in 1899 he left a will that cut off Cornelius, Jr., with a paltry million or two and gave the bulk of the family fortune to the second son, Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The fortune was estimated in round figures at $50,000,000. Half of it came into possession of young Vanderbilt on his thirtieth birthday. The other half he is now to receive upon attaining his thirty-fifth year.

With the addition of $25,000,000 to his personal fortune the suzerain of the house of Vanderbilt will be promoted to the first grade in the school of American multi-millionaires. After tomorrow he will be the richest man of his age in all the country. But things move very rapidly nowadays and the distinction of being the wealthiest young man will not long rest with young Vanderbilt. Less than one month hence Vincent Astor will attain his majority and in consequence will come into possession of the wealth left by his father, the late John Jacob Astor. According to the most authoritative estimates the fortune of young Vincent Astor will amount to $100,000,000 or more, which will give him a rating above that of almost every other American millionaire excepting John D. Rockefeller.

In the opinion of those who keep ab on such matters, Alfred G. Vanderbilt has probably come closer to living up to his income than any of the other "big" New York millionaires, such as the Rockefellers, Goulds, Astors and Morgans. In common parlance, Alfred G. is what is known as a "good spender." He maintains town and country houses on both sides of the Atlantic, has one of the finest establishments of show horses in the world and goes the limit in about every variety of expensive pastime from yachting to automobiling. According to popular report he pays a rental in excess of $150,000 for his suite of apartments in the new Hotel Vanderbilt, in this city, for the pleasure of occupying the rooms six or eight weeks in the year. So, all things considered, the income that will fall from his additional $25,000,000 will probably be very welcome to a young man of Mr. Vanderbilt's extravagant tastes. And the more so since his family expenses have been increased by the addition of a little daughter, born only a few weeks ago to the second Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who before her marriage was Mrs. Smith Hollis McKim and before that was Miss Emerson, of Baltimore, daughter of the man who sold out his little drug store and went into the business of making a well-known cure for that "morning after" feeling, and whose wisdom has been rewarded by a fortune of several million dollars reaped from the sale of the little blue bottles and their contents.

WHITING CHALLENGES GOVERNOR'S SINCERITY

Metuchen, Oct. 19.—Challenging the sincerity of Governor Wilson and criticising his policies, Warden D. Whiting, of Newark, made what he termed his own speech in New Jersey during this campaign, at a county Progressive rally in the High School auditorium yesterday night.

Mrs. Frank Ambler Dotson, vice chairman of the Middlesex County Progressive executive committee, who also spoke, said the Progressive party stands for all the good points in the platforms of the other parties, combined with some original and valuable reforms of its own. She said the women should support the Progressive party because it is the party that is out to help women.

"The Democratic party," said Mr. Whiting, "cannot, as at present constituted, make a sincere campaign. It has three irreconcilable elements, ultra-conservatism personified in Harmon, of Ohio; ultra-radicalism personified in Bryan, of Nebraska, and ultra-bossism personified in Murphy, Sheehan, McCombs and Sullivan.

Mr. Whiting said that notwithstanding the scholarship and intellectuality of Governor Wilson, an inquiry into his political integrity could fairly be made. He declared the Governor had changed his mind on certain economic theories, and went into detail on two subjects, State and national.

Touching on the Pierce grade crossing bill, the speaker said the Governor had talked one way, when votes were needed, and acted the opposite, when he vetoed the bill, because of the burden of crossing abolition on the railroads.

The national subject was trusts. Mr. Whiting said the Governor had attacked Roosevelt's theory of trust control, but had failed to act in this State, where many trusts have been chartered. Nothing has been done to curb them or right them, said the speaker.

A crusade will be held at the Plainfield Rescue Mission at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, Mrs. Henry Thomas being the leader.

SPEAKERS PRAISE MR. TAFT

most entirely to a discussion of the tariff and an arraignment of Woodrow Wilson. Occasionally he referred to Roosevelt.

On one occasion the mention of Roosevelt's name brought forth applause from one ardent supporter of the former President, who sat in the rear of the theatre. This incident led Judge Fullerton to remark that he thought the outburst "came with mighty bad grace, especially as Roosevelt was now promising to do things which he did not do throughout the seven years he was President." The meeting at this time was further enlivened when a man in the audience jumped up and walking out said: "I can't stand any more of this." As he was passing out, Judge Fullerton gave him a parting shot by saying: "If you cannot stand it, you get right out." Both of these incidents produced much applause.

In his introductory remarks, Mr. Reed remarked upon the apparently small audience. He said that he had seen the house fuller than it was at present. "It makes me feel almost like a suffragette when I see so many women present," added Mr. Reed. "When I was helping to run things across the brook we filled up things. I am sorry to find that some of our friends have answered the mystic call of the 'Bull Moose,' but they will come back, as the Scripture says: 'There is more joy in Heaven over one sinner that returns than over the ninenty-nine that did not go astray.'"

Mr. Reed after explaining what the Republican party stands for, referred to the third party, the Progressives, which he said was not one of principle, but of men—one man. He regretted the recent disaster in Milwaukee which befell the former Republican leader and great American, but added, "had that bullet found its mark, where would the Progressive party be? This reminds me of the boy who was a Progressive because he wanted a woodchuck that a man had shot and had no use for. The new party wants the woodchuck."

Recalling the days when Grover Cleveland was president, Mr. Reed also cited the fact that mills were shut down, merchants suffered and soup houses were opened. He declared that there never was a time since Plainfield has been on the map when there was so much money on deposit in the local banks as now, and he was afraid that the people were going to kill the goose that laid the golden egg.

Judge Codington appealed to the voters to elect men to office who would represent the entire city, a Council that would be in harmony with the Mayor. Telling a story about a young man who had sent word to his father to make his home in the town in which he was living because they elected the worst people to office, Judge Codington said that was not the case here, although the people do sometimes makes mistakes. He expressed the hope that Judge Runyon would receive the vote of every citizen for Congress, adding that he is not only worthy, but qualified for the office.

Judge William N. Runyon, the second speaker, after expressing his appreciation for the generous applause which greeted him, explaining that epithets seemed to be more popular these days than applause, asked the audience how many had read the editorial in the Plainfield Daily Press the previous night. "My friend Morrow gave me a clean bill of health," said Judge Runyon. "He convicted me of having worked for the Republican party, for which I am very proud, but how handsome and magnanimous he was in mentioning our band of heroes, from 'The Two Macs' down to our little collector among the small fry, when he says that they never did anything wrong. But he was modest in leaving his own name out of the list."

Continuing, Judge Runyon lauded President Taft for his past achievements, referring to his part in the reciprocity measure, the fact that Arizona and New Mexico had been added to the Union. He said that his policy was not one of standing still and that he liked him for his sincere purpose, for his determination to protect the Constitution, and then recalled what had been accomplished by the President through times of peace and war, and he declared that while men die principles will always live.

The speaker said that his success or failure can't mean much, but that the principle will live and whatever the result he would be satisfied to accept the will of the majority. He asked the people to vote according to the conscientious convictions, not with the idea of "getting square" with someone. He said that he hoped before the campaign was over to present the testimony of David E. Titsworth before the Senate investigation committee regarding the purpose of taking the duty off of printing presses and tools, which would mean that this business could not go on. In conclusion, Judge Runyon appealed to the voters to cast their ballots honestly, and not to undermine Taft and vote for Wilson, if they did not believe in the latter. He renewed his allegiance to the President as the same man when Roosevelt said that he was the best fitted man for the office.

Judge Fullerton, the last speaker, discussed the question of the tariff for more than an hour, quoting statistics and figures to show that the Republican party had given the people of the country that which was for their best interest. He attacked Woodrow Wilson saying that he was opposed to every principle of protection, and that while New Jersey was known as the "mother of trusts" Governor Wilson was never known to do or say anything toward curbing these trusts. He concluded his talk referring to the high cost of living, explaiing some of the causes according to his opinion. During the evening a local brass band discoursed popular airs, interspersing the speeches.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

FRUIT WITH A CEREAL.

DESSERTS which are delicious and easy to digest may be made with fresh fruits combined with a cereal. Rice is a favorite for this purpose, but farina, tapioca, cornstarch and sago also make nice desserts.

Berries, sliced bananas or peaches, figs or dates cut into pieces, oranges or grapes are excellent combined with any of the cereals.

Most of these desserts taste better served with milk or cream and sugar.

Desserts With Rice.

Peaches and Rice.—Boil some rice in milk for an hour and when it becomes quite firm add sugar to taste, some essence of vanilla and two yolks of eggs. Stir on the fire until the eggs are set and then fill a border mold. Stew some peaches for a few minutes. Turn out the rice, dish up the peaches on it and decorate with candied cherries and blanched almonds. Serve either hot or cold.

Baked Apple With Rice.—Take some firm ripe apples, cut off a thin slice from the top and scoop out each, leaving a shell about one-half inch thick. Half fill with cooked rice. Make a sirup by boiling the scooped out apples with just enough water to prevent scorching, a little cinnamon and for a dozen apples half a cupful of maple sugar. Fill each apple with the sirup. Place in a pan in the oven and bake.

Attractive In Appearance.

Plums With Rice.—Cook the rice in milk until it is tender and dry. Add a pinch of salt while it is cooking; also sugar enough to make it sweet. Pour into a border mold to set. When ready to serve turn it out carefully and fill the center with plums, canned or fresh. The fruit must be stewed. Pour a little of the sirup over the rice and heap whipped cream over the plums. The stones should be removed from the fruit and the kernels simmered ten minutes in a little thin sirup and then mixed with the fruit.

Peaches With Tapioca.—Take a half dozen good sized peaches, peel, stone and slice these. Heat one and a half cupfuls of water in a double boiler, add salt and stir in a quarter cupful of tapioca. Boil until clear, then pour the peaches with juice into a well buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with four tablespoonfuls of sugar, then pour on the hot tapioca. Bake for about twenty-five minutes, but do not let the top brown. This will keep for several days. If baked in too small a quantity it does not do as well.

Anna Thompson.

MILLINERY MATTERS.

Last Season's Hats Are Easily Brought Up to Date.

The taffeta craze makes it simple and easy to renovate last season's hats, whose brims or crowns have become worn, faded or sunburned.

Large buttons in sets of three and five are the usual fastenings for the crossover fronts of tailored suits.

Velvet ribbon is playing an important part in the decorative schemes of both evening and day dresses.

EMPIRE COAT.

The empire line is always becoming to little children. This coat includes that feature and at the same time gives long unbroken lines at the back and front. It is cut in one with the sleeves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for children of four, six and eight years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7219, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19 (Special).—Although election day itself is only three weeks off, the national campaign occasions no more excitement than it did two months ago. As yet there are no indications of the proverbial "whirlwind finish." The candidates, Roosevelt and Johnson, Wilson and Marshall, with a host of lesser lights who have been intrusted by the several parties with the work of spell-binding, will continue on the stump, but as the entire country has now been pretty well covered it is hardly to be expected that the campaign tours will attract more attention than heretofore.

So far as his plans have been announced President Taft has no important public engagements for the week. It is expected he will journey on Saturday to Cambridge Springs, Pa., to deliver the principal address at the dedication of the Polish National Alliance College there. The institution is the first college of the Polish National Alliance in this country and the total membership of 100,000 of that organization scattered throughout the United States will unite to make the dedication a memorable event.

Another event of the week of interest in educational circles will be the inauguration of Dr. Stratton D. Brooks as president of the University of Oklahoma. The inauguration will take place Monday and will be made the occasion for a gathering of noted educators from all parts of the country.

The Commerce Court has fixed Thursday as the time for hearing arguments on the constitutionality of the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission requiring the oil pipe line companies to file schedules of their rates for transporting oil.

REPLY TO P. H. S. LITERARY EDITOR

Genuine Facts Are so Appalling to Him That He is Dazed.

In last month's issue of the literary organ of the Plainfield High School there appears an article, evidently coming from the pen of some fame-seeking individual, trampling on and criticising an item of news which appeared in these columns some time ago. The writer refers in question to the conditions of athletics in the local High School which was such as to call forth open criticism from a number of students actively engaged in every line of sport at that institution.

The P. H. S. literary digestor refers to the facts set forth in the Daily Press news item as an "outrageous distortion." We fail to find a single so-called distortion throughout the entire article and although the P. H. S. writer has mentioned several points he has failed utterly to offer any specific instances of proof.

It would have been better for the Oracle board to have let a man handle and refute this article who has some knowledge as to the existant athletic conditions and not to have placed it in the hands of one who writes because he has the power of rebuttle through hearsay. What is still more, the author of that particular editorial was not a member of the Plainfield High School at the time the Daily Press article was published and therefore knew absolutely nothing of the athletic conditions. He entered school this term some few days after the item was published and immediately busied himself with compiling an answer, the facts for which he gained through hearsay. Upon what grounds has a non-member of the school the power to judge things that are existing where he is not present, and what right has he got to refute a statement concerning circumstances with which he has no direct affiliations?

The P. H. S. writer refers with particular emphasis to the "dispised athletic board, so soon to be overthrown." This is a voluntary disclosure on the part of the writer setting forth a direct dissension in athletics and the author commits himself openly when he refers in such a way to an athletic board elected by the students at large. What right has an individual to make such a wide, sweeping statement as this and to predict the wiping out of the present board of directors?

This is the first instance we have heard of any dissension among the board, itself, but the writer certainly asserts it in his editorial. The present athletic board, in our estimation, is one of the best the school has ever been represented by and the uprising against them, if there is any in progress, is the work of a clique that has for some time held a monopoly over P. H. S. athletics. Every member of the present board is an all-around athlete and each is possessed with such judicial faculties as will make them capable of deciding any question that may arise.

Practically the only reason we can see for the author's accusations or the slightest apology for his acts is the author's personal "dispise" and the work this new organization has done toward shattering the clique to which the author belongs. To take out his anger the person in question immediately sets forth the statement publicly that the "dispised athletic board will be overthrown." Plain, everyday reasoning will bring to light the underlying idea in all this. If a board is nominated and elected by a majority of the athletic association members' votes, why does it necessarily have to be overthrown and what influence has an individual in counteracting the popular vote?

It is really too bad that the author missed his favorite soothing syrup advertisement because of the large amount of space that was given over to the discussion of this vital topic but if he will put in his personal application we will be glad to advise him as to the merits of an not altogether unheard of cure for peevishness, for that is the only way his case can be diagnosed. Of course we know that some men have made themselves famous through anarchy, but anarchy applied to an athletic board may produce fatal after effects for the plotter.

We certainly feel highly flattered to think that the P. H. S. writer felt that our little dissertation dealing with High School athletics was really worthy the dignity of a reply and we hope that no harm will befall him while he is engaged in the task of "overthrowing the dispised athletic board," but we would strongly advise his thinking more seriously of the task before he takes a step towards its accomplishment.

The ambitious P. H. S. author says that "no football team could have made as great a success as last year's P. H. S. team, if there had been dissension among the players." He can be excused to some extent for this statement because of the fact that he personally is not a fellow who inquires deeply into athletic conditions and he therefore had no knowledge of last year's dissatisfaction. We have authenic ground for making a statement to the effect that there was dissension among the football players. During a recent consultation with two members of the High School faculty, who give over a large portion of their time to High School athletics, they readily admitted that there was constant dissatisfaction expressed by the eleven members of last year's squad. Why then does a High School pupil come back and publicly deny the admissions of his superiors?

He then goes on in direct contradiction of his preliminary statement and says, "the fact that the Board of Directors was elected by a majority of the male section of the school would seem to indicate that it was good for something." Why then does he refer to it as "dispised," and want to overthrow it? Does it not seem a little inconsistent on his part to come back in this fashion and shower the board with bouquets?

The remaining portion of the High School writer's sarcasm is too ludicrous to "merit the dignity of a reply." It is really too bad, however, that he had to stoop so low as to involve a Y. M. C. A. basketball team in his accusations and take his "spleen" out in that fashion.—Sporting Editor.

TO HEAR CANDIDATE.

Rev. W. H. Brannigan, of Peterboro, N. H., a candidate for the pulpit of All Soul's Unitarian church, will preach at the church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. Sunday-school will be held immediately after the preaching service.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

With the Colonel's condition and the Becker trial taking up the public interest it is pretty hard to interest anyone in football.

Manager Janke, of the P. H. S. eleven, is having kind of rough sledding in compiling a schedule. It was necessary for him to call the game with Bernardsville, scheduled for this afternoon, off.

It is strange that a football player always happens around when any man of prominence is shot. It never happened otherwise.

Someone said that every cloud has a silver lining. The lining of the Giants' cloud was the silver they received and the cloud—well that was the spirits of the Giant's enthusiasts after they had lost all.

No baseball in town today. Well, it may rain anyway, but in case it does not we will have an awfully strange feeling without the usual array of box scores.

What has become of the R. G. E. aggregation since they got the silver mug?

Bobby Veach, the Indianapolis player, played sensational ball after joining the Detroit Tigers, and will no doubt be on the job in Tigerville next season.

Baseball fans never have witnessed any better ball playing than the article put up by Captain Heine Wagner, of the Red Sox, in the Red Sox-Giants series.

They charged little Josh Devore, of the Giants, with being a quitter in the world's series of 1911, but Devore's work in the big series this fall made the knockers put the soft pedal on their chatter.

One of the ground rules for the world's series reads: "If a ball hit a policeman standing in the outfield, the ball would still be in play, just as if it had hit a fence." Coppers have had to stand for a whole lot, but this is the first time they have been classed among the fences.

New Haven fans will see their first bouts of the season Oct. 28.

NETHERWOOD A. C. OPEN FOR ALL ENGAGEMENTS

A number of local High School players have gotten together and organized a football team to be known as the Netherwood A. C. and are making preparations to open the season the first part of next week. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon, Craig Blair, of 519 Park avenue, was elected manager and he is desirous of getting into communication with managers of gridiron elevens averaging 125 pounds.

The Netherwood A. C. team is an exceedingly fast one and is open for engagements on any week day. The lineup consists of local schoolboys and they have been practising for some time past, playing their first game of the season against the Plainfield High School eleven last Monday afternoon.

CHINESE FIELD DISCUSSED AT C. E. COUNTY CONFERENCE

The principal speaker at the missionary conference of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union held in the First Presbyterian church last evening was Mrs. Williams, a missionary in China, who is lecturing in the interest of her field. She says that there are wonderful opportunities at the present time in the new republic.

Miss Harriet Halloway spoke on Chinese missions, what is being done by the missionaries and their needs.

Miss Julia Kerr, of Elizabeth, chairman of the Union County Union and of the missionary committee of Union county, delivered an interesting talk on the work done in China by missionaries.

As a result of last night's meeting classes will be started in the different societies in the local Christian Endeavor Union for the study of missions.

A social hour, with refreshments served by the Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church, followed the meeting.

BORO COUNCIL PROTEST TAXES

can be secured in next year's figures.

Last night's session was enlivened by frequent tilts between Councilman W. J. Buttfield and Mr. Kenney. The former asked the Tax Board member if the rumors that he was instrumental in placing the high tax on North Plainfield property was true. Mr. Kenney replied, "Gentlemen, I will let Dr. Cooley answer that question."

Dr. Cooley told the councilmen that all members of the Tax Board were unanimous in their opinion that North Plainfield had never been assessed as high as was fair in preceding years, but to his knowledge Mr. Kenney had striven for equalization of tax rates throughout the entire county.

"As far as I can remember," he continued, "Mr. Kenney had very little to say in the assessment of property in the borough, with the exception of his own house, which he objected to his fellow members of the board had been taxed too low."

Mr. Buttfield started proceedings regarding the tax matters by reading a lengthy resolution, which was later adopted, setting forth the claims of unfairness in the high standard of ratables throughout the borough. The resolution asserted that the county had been under heavy expense during the last decade, and that in order to make up for this expenditure, the citizens of North Plainfield had been selected by the Tax Board to make up this amount, as the municipality that would be the least liable to object.

The resolution set forth that the ratables in the borough had increased 94 per cent. since 1904, whereas the balance of the county had been taxed at an increase of only 56 per cent. North Plainfield contributions for State and county purposes, it was asserted, had been fixed this year at $42,526, an increase of $5,684, which meant $3,284 more than the borough would have been called upon to pay if its ratables had been advanced in the same ratio as the rest of the county.

Councilman Buttfield recalled that the taxes raised in 1912 above the amount they should have been, were sufficient to more than pay for the interest on the sewer bonds.

Dr. Cooley was first to respond to the invitation to defend the Tax Board. He called the attention to various increases in the value of property in the borough, mentioning the silk mill recently erected, and land along the Green Brook road, which had in previous years been assessed as farm land, whereas it has now been divided into building lots in a number of cases and was taxed as such, making an increase of about five per cent. He said the County Tax Board had toured the borough on July 24, and had in a few cases given an example of the amount certain properties should be assessed, and wanted increases to take place in the rest of the borough in correspondence. This increase he asserted amounted to about 10 per cent. He defended the right to assess property as high as is fair, provided the valuation is not placed over the real selling price or worth of the said properties. He apologized for not presenting the tax books to the Common Council, as quoted in the law, but said he had misinterpreted the statute in this case.

Mr. Kenney rose on the question submitted by Councilman Woolston, "Is the borough taxed higher than the rest of the county?" He said he had come to the meeting as a citizen of North Plainfield to exchange ideas, and not as an authorized delegate to defend any actions of the County Tax Board. He said in part:

"It is not altogether to my satisfaction, gentlemen, the way work of assessing property is being conducted, and I have been at work lately drafting a plan of equal taxation throughout the county, which I am prepared, however, to explain tonight. It has been my aim to be fair to all and to discriminate against none. In my opinion you are enjoying fair taxation in comparison with the balance of Somerset county."

Continuing he gave statements of the amount assessed on numerous classes of property in Somerville and Bound Brook, intending to show that the borough had not been discriminated against, but rather enjoyed a reasonable valuation. He repeatedly claimed that property in other parts of the county does not compare in value with that of North Plainfield.

Mr. Kenney cited instances where a number of properties, especially lots, were assessed far below what they should be. He made a comparison of the Grant avenue home of George J. Tobin, which is assessed at $11,250 by the Union County Tax office, whereas the property of H. A. McGee, of North Plainfield, which is considered, he said, to be worth double, but is only taxed at $12,000.

The speaker was interrupted by Mr. Buttfield, when he said that Bound Brook property was assessed at 70 to 80 per cent. of the true value, where the borough property was taxed at 50 to 60 per cent. of its true worth. The Councilman said:

"Do you think, Mr. Keney, that that is fair to the taxpayers of Bound Brook? It seems that we are not the only ones discriminated against."

Mr. Kenney repeated that he was not present as a representative of the board, nor to invite inquisition, but merely there to exchange ideas with the Council.

Mr. Buttfield cited instances where Bridgewater farms have been sold and resold at 10 per cent. gain, whereas the ratables have decreased 1¼ per cent. Mr. Kenney was asked to explain this. He said he would be glad to do so at any time the Council would confer in a joint session with the Tax Board.

To place the Common Council on record as officially objecting to the high ratables imposed on the borough, a resolution was adopted against the alleged "unjust share of the burden of taxation."

Some interesting comparison of ratables are given below, upon which the borough council is basing the claim of unfair taxation:

Bedminster, including Peapack and Gladstone Borough—1911, $1,931,550; 1912, $2,015,917; increase, $84,367; per cent., 4⅜.

Bernards — 1911, $5,309,676; 1912, $5,545,864; increase $236,188; per cent., 4½.

Bridgewater—1911, $3,295,789; 1912, $3,254,165; decrease, $41,624; per cent., 1¼.

Franklin — 1911, $2,297,453; 1912, $2,815,938; increase, $118,480; per cent, 5 3-16.

North Plainfield Borough—1911, $4,368,825; 1912, $4,983,625; increase, $614,800; per cent., 14 1-16.

Somerville Borough—1911, $4,159,384; 1912, $4,293,286; increase, $133,902; per cent., 3 3-16.

Total for entire county leaving out North Plainfield—1911, $25,758,384; 1912, $27,349,993; increase, $1,591,898; per cent., 6 3-16.

REAL ECONOMY IN HOUSE HEATING MAY BE OBTAINED

The term "economical," applied to a heating system for public or private buildings, means more than a mere saving in fuel consumption.

A truly economical heating system, of course, saves at the coal bin; but more than that, it must also make light demands upon the time of the person attending it. It must give complete combustion in a free-burning fire-box, delivering the maximum of heat from its minimum of fuel and have capacity enough to reach the farthest radiator or register in the building.

Probably no heaters before the public today are better entitled to the designation "economical" than Square Pot Boilers and Furnaces.

This is owing largely to an exclusive feature which is a distinct advance in heater construction. Both Square Pot Furnaces and Square Pot Boilers are built with firepots square at bottom but round at top. This form of firebox clears of ash and cinder freely, without clogging, and consequently always allows a full supply of air to reach the fire. As a result, boilers and furnaces made by Boynton Furnace Co. never hold dead fire and always deliver a full quota of heat. It is easily to be seen that, this being the case, less coal will be needed in a "Square Pot" than in a heater whose firebox retains so much dead ash as to smother out the fire. —Advertisement.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BOY DIES SUDDENLY IN CONVULSIONS

Bronson Randolph, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard E. Randolph, of Albert street, died last night, at 10:30 o'clock, of convulsions. He had been in apparently good health up to within a half-hour of his death.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

In the only match of the semi-finale of the High School tennis tournament Frank Dunning, a junior, defeated Ray Parsh, a freshman, in two straight sets, 6-0, 6-1. The match was played on the Watchung Tennis Club courts. Martin McDonough was referee. Dunning will play in the finals for the school championship.

In the final match of the preliminaries Duclos VanMater, a sophomore, defeated Theodore Layton, his classmate, in two straight sets, 6-1, 6-0. Although the loser had the advantage of playing on his own court it was an off-day for him. On the other hand VanMater took advantage of this and pounded the ball across the net every time for points that counted.

The Junior class or the sophomores will be the class to have the school champion. "Duke" VanMater of the sophomores and "June" Dunning, the third classmen will fight for highest honors next Monday afternoon at 2; at the Watchung Tennis Club.

Upon previous arrangement any member of the faculty will be allowed to challenge the school champion but in case the latter should be defeated he will still continue to hold his prize.

The winner will have to look out for Professor Webster.

The sophomore class has decided to have dues of ten cents a month. All the classes in High School now have dues including the freshmen. Never before has this occurred. Before only the two upper classes were taxed.

ROOSEVELT HOME MONDAY

again in the afternoon. The evening examination, despite that it was the most exacting the colonel had put in since arriving at the hospital, showed even further improved condition.

Danger of Tetanus.

In his talks with the doctors the colonel insisted that he was well enough to go home Sunday, but the surgeons would not listen to this early departure. They were willing to concede that danger from blood poisoning was probably passed, but they said there was still danger from tetanus, a full eight days being the medical time for lockjaw to develop. The doctors have guarded against possibility of lockjaw by administering antitoxin. There is still danger from this source, however.

Dr. Murphy also told the colonel that there is danger of poisoning developing in any open wound though it may be healing rapidly. Barring any possible setback, the colonel's wound will not be completely healed for two weeks or more.

Governor Johnson arrived at the hospital shortly before noon yesterday and he left the sickroom with this parting injunction from the colonel:

"Keep the fight going full blast, Johnson; do not let our boys slack up in their work because I can't be with them for a few days. Tell the people you speak to I wish I could be out there working with you myself and that I certainly will be as soon as my doctors will let me."

Johnson Tells of Visit.

"He looks fine," said Governor Johnson. "I told him so, and I also told him not to worry—that we are doing fine; that the people were awakening to the fact that our work was not a voice in the dark calling idly, but a challenge to them to arise to their own responsibilities.

"He laughed and told me I was making an argument to him in so speaking and suggested I save that to give to my audience.

"I suggested that he be in no hurry to get away from the hospital and that he had better see that he did not spoil his chances of regaining health quickly by attempting to get up and around too soon. I tried not to excite him, but when we talked we got to feeling pretty strongly and Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Johnson had to stop us."

During the visit Colonel Roosevelt sat up in bed, for the first time since his removal to the hospital.

The afternoon was spent quietly, only members of the family circle being admitted to the sickroom. The colonel took a couple of naps and read until the doctors came in the evening.

Chief Surgeon Murphy and his associates issued the following bulletin on the condition of Colonel Roosevelt at 6:45 last night:

"The records show the pulse to be 76, temperature 98. The colonel is entirely free from pain. He sat up two hours without fatigue or distress."

When this report was read to him the colonel again insisted that he would be able to leave the hospital by Monday at the latest. Late in the afternoon while the colonel was sleeping Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Longworth went motoring. It was the first time Mrs. Roosevelt had stepped outside the hospital since arriving.

FORT NONSENSE PARK.

A commendable step has been taken in Morristown for the preservation of the site of the historic Revolutionary earthwork known as Fort Nonsense and its transformation into a public park. The Fort Nonsense Park Association has been organized, membership in it being based on a written pledge subscribing one dollar or more toward a fund for purchasing twenty-six acres of land, at a cost of $26,400.

The officers of the association are Francis E. Woodruff, chairman; Robert D. Foote, treasurer; and Henry C. Pitney, secretary.

A PLAINFIELD vs. A NEW YORK ACCOUNT

The advantages to residents of Plainfield and vicinity of maintaining a bank account in The State Trust Company are so numerous that no argument should be necessary to convince those who are now keeping their accounts in New York. Liberal interest rates (3% and 4%), the free collection of out of town checks and the New York checking privilege are but a few of the many advantages that such an account affords. On the other hand a New York account means inconvenience in making deposits, charges on out of town checks and in any many instances no interest on balances.

We offer our splendid facilities to any one who is willing to overcome habit and profit thereby.

T. R. ON HIS WAY TO OYSTER BAY

Condition Warranted His Leaving Mercy Hospital —Started at 8:08 a. m.

JOHNSON TO FILL DATES

Colonel is Forbidden by Doctors to Make Any Speeches for Two Weeks and Running Mate Takes up Eastern Schedule.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 21.—Drs. Lambert and Terrell, Colonel Roosevelt's physicians, issued the following bulletin from the train at noon:

"Colonel Roosevelt is resting well and is very comfortable."

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt left for Oyster Bay on the 8:08 o'clock train over the Pennsylvania Railroad this morning. The start from the hospital for the railroad station was made at 7:22 o'clock.

The train had hardly pulled out of the station before it was stopped by a wreck in the yards, so that it was after 8:30 when the Colonel actually got away. The collision was between two Burlington trains, and the engineer of one was killed.

Accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel, Theodore Junior, Dr. Alexander Lambert, the Roosevelt family physician; Dr. Scurry Terrell, the specialist, who accompanied the Colonel on his speaking tour and who was with him when the bullet from Schrank's pistol in Milwaukee brought the speaking tour to an end, and the Colonel's two secretaries, E. R. Martin and Albert McGrath, the former President will arrive in New York tomorrow morning. The private car is attached to one of the Pennsylvania Railroad's regular trains, and on its arrival in New York will be switched to an Oyster Bay train.

At 7:10 o'clock, shortly before the Colonel left, the following was issued at the Mercy Hospital on the condition of Theodore Roosevelt: Pulse, temperature and respiration normal. Wound still discharging serum. Less infiltration. Point of bullet location sensitive to pressure. Position of bullet now distinctly located. General condition satisfactory. (Signed) Murphy, Bevan, Terrell, Lambert and McCauley.

Following the instructions of his physicians, Colonel Roosevelt put in a day of rest yesterday in Mercy Hospital preparatory to leaving for his home in Oyster Bay. The rest brought him complete recovery from the slight setback of Saturday, caused by overexertion.

WONDER IF FREEHOLDERS ARE PROUD OF THIS BRIDGE

A valuable horse, owned and driven by Hays Potter, of Stirling, while crossing the bridge to Sycamore avenue, Saturday, ran his right front leg through a hole in one of the planks, breaking that member above the knee. The animal was looked over by Dr. A. Machan, veterinary surgeon, of East Second street, who ordered the beast shot. Patrolman Muir was the executioner.

OLD MAN'S ASSAILANT IS FINED TEN DOLLARS

John Crowley, 45 years old, of Rock avenue, who assaulted 67-year-old John Nelson, of 550 West Second street, on October 13, and who has been held since the attack to await the result of his victim's injuries, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or be committed to the county jail for forty days by City Judge De Meza, this morning.

Nelson claimed that Crowley owed him $2.75 back salary, and when he called at his home to get the amount, Crowley attacked him, inflicting injuries about the head and face and kicking him about the body. Crowley admitted he had been drinking.

Jacob Abrams, Nathan Aaron, Louis Rothberg, Arthur Richards, Joseph Carty and Sam Rothberg attended a "Middy Dance" given under the auspices of the Young Women's Hebrew Association, held at Perth Amboy, yesterday. The trip to and from the dance was made in Abrams' automobile.

PERRY VEEN.

MICHAEL QUINN DEAD AT AGE OF SIXTY-FIVE

Skilled and Noted as Raiser of Fine Horses—Funeral Wednesday.

Michael Quinn, of Park avenue, died yesterday morning of kidney trouble in his 65th year. He had been under the care of Dr. Norman Probasco for the past month for gastric ulcers. That affliction was cured but complications set in and developed into a chronic kidney affliction.

Mr. Quinn was widely known locally. He conducted a blacksmithing and storage warehouse business on East Fourth street for more than forty years.

About eighteen years ago he retired from active service and moved to Park avenue, beyond the Driving Park, where he started a stock farm. A number of horses that he raised won prizes for trotting and ribbons at various horse shows in this section. One of the horses he reared was Axion who won a blue ribbon in one of the first horse shows in this city. Axion, owned by Dr. Voorhees, of Somerville, was pronounced a perfect horse. The horse was sold to an Australian of title.

About five years ago Mr. Quinn sold his property on Park avenue and moved to West Fifth street, but a year later he purchased the Brower estate on Park avenue, where he spent his last days. He is survived by a widow and four children: Alice M., M. Katherine, Loretta R. and Thomas F. Quinn, all of this city.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday. Solemn High Mass will be held at St. Mary's church. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

WILLIAM GILLETTE PROGRESSIVE APOSTLE

Actor-Playwright Will Be Chief Speaker at Wednesday Night's Rally.

William Gillette, the actor, will be the chief speaker at the mass meeting in Reform Hall, Wednesday night, which has been arranged by the Progressive party. There will also be one or two other speakers of prominence, and Mayor G. W. V. Moy will probably inaugurate his campaign for the mayoralty at that time. Mr. Gillette is probably one of the best known actors on the stage today, one of his recent successes being as the star in "Jim the Penman." Early in the campaign he became a Progressive and at the solicitation of the National Progressive committee, consented to take the stump in behalf of the Progressive ticket.

Thus far Mayor Moy has not made any public utterance regarding the local campaign or in behalf of the city ticket, but it is expected that he will have some interesting things to say Wednesday night in an appeal to the voters to support the candidates placed in nomination by the party in Plainfield.

BOY CYCLIST RUN DOWN AND HURT BY AUTO CAR

While riding a bicycle on West Front street, near Clinton avenue, yesterday afternoon, Wilson Terrall, 16 years old, of 130 Lafayette road, Perth Amboy, was struck by an automobile, owned and driven by John Daly, of 29 First avenue, Highland Park, New Brunswick. The boy received injuries about the body and was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital by Mr. Daly in the machine.

When arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning, Daly was held in $200 to appear next Monday, on a technical charge of reckless driving. Eye witnesses say the accident was unavoidable.

CLAN MASQUERADE DANCE.

Clan Mackenzie, No. 204, O. S. C., will hold an entertainment and Hallowe'en masquerade dance Friday night, November 1, in Sebring's auditorium. Unique and weird costumes appropriate to Hallowe'en will be worn by the lads and lassies in an effort to win prizes to be awarded by the clan to the masqueraders appearing in the most attractive apparel. The program will be an enjoyable one and the decorations elaborate.

FUNERAL OF B. D. RANDOLPH.

The funeral service of Bronson Dunn Randolph, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard E. Randolph, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the parents on Albert street. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

G. O. P. IN THIRD WARD PERFECT ORGANIZATION

John J. Carroll Chosen President and Albert A. Tilney Sec'y and Treasurer.

An enthusiastic meeting of Republicans of all four districts of the Third ward was held on Saturday night and the Third Ward Republican Club was formally organized. This was done on a suggestion of the Republican City Committee that ward organizations be effected.

John J. Carroll was selected as president and Albert A. Tilney as secretary and treasurer. Arrangements are now being made to hold a ward meeting and smoker when plans will be perfected to get out all the Republican vote on election day.

From reports furnished by some of the more active workers in the various election districts, it was assured that Leighton Calkins, the Third ward Republican nominee for Council, is certain of election. The usual Republican majority in that ward is also assured according to the G. O. P. workers.

CHURCHWOMEN TO ORGANIZE INTERDENOMINATIONAL CLASS

A meeting to organize a Women's Interdenominational Federation for Home and Foreign Mission Study will be held at the First Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All women who are interested in missions are earnestly requested to be present.

The idea of forming such a federation originated with some of the earnest Christian women of the local churches who have heard of the success of similar federations in other cities. It is believed that through the co-operation of the women of the various churches more effective work can be accomplished.

FIGURES FAVOR GRAVITY ROUTE

Councilman Holt Compares Estimated Cost of the Two Sewerage Systems.

ANNUAL SAVING $1,669

Charges for Pumping Figured on a Basis of 4,000,000 Gallons, a Total Likely to Be Increased Within a Few Years.

In support of a plan for a gravity route for the proposed trunk line sewer to be built by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, Councilman F. L. Holt has prepared a statement, giving figures, to show why that route is favored by a majority of the Council and the Joint Sewage Commission. This statement clears up much of the misunderstanding that has existed as a result of the discussion of the subject. It is as follows:

"The direct route was estimated to cost $107,300; the gravity route was estimated to cost $140,200.

"The annual cost of pumping 4,000,000 gallons, which would be required if the direct route were adopted, was estimated to be $3,150.

"One way of figuring is to capitalize this cost at $63,000 at 5 per cent. per annum, this added to the cost of the direct route would give a total cost of that route of $170,300.

"A comparison of the annual cost is as follows:

"Direct route—4½% interest on a bond issue of $107,300; $4,828; operating expenses, $3,150; total annual cost, $7,978.

Indirect route—4½% interest on a bond issue of $140,200, $6,309; deducting this from the annual cost of the direct route, $7,978, the difference is $1,669.

"The annual saving of $1,669 in favor of the gravity route would, if invested at compound interest as a sinking fund, amount in thirty-six years to $143,850, thus more than paying the entire cost of the plant in that time.

"In addition to the above considerations, the pumping charges are estimated for only 4,000,000 gallons and this capacity would probably be exceeded within a few years, in which case the annual pumping charges would also increase. Futhermore, we are advised by the engineer that pumps for the pumping of sewage do not reach a very high percentage of efficiency, and are subject to delays, breakages and contingent expenses.

"The representatives from Plainfield upon this sewer commission were exceedingly reluctant to adopt the indirect gravity route, naturally preferring the direct route, and it was only after an examination extending over some weeks that they were finally forced to the conclusion that the indirect gravity route was decidedly preferable. In this connection I may say that all loose talk about the possibility of reaching the proposed works by a direct, gravity line on the south side of Green Brook, rests upon no foundation of fact, as we are advised both by the negineers and by Mr. Gavett, city engineer of sewers, that there is no such route.

"While it is true that the adoption of the indirect gravity route requires an initial expenditure of $33,000 more than the direct route, of which Plainfield bears 68%, no impartial judge can doubt, I think, that in view of annual saving as well as the avoidance of the necessary difficulties incident to pumping large quantities of sewage, that the gravity route is decidedly preferable."

APPEAL OF THEATRE IS EMOTIONAL, NOT LITERARY

Literary merit, according to Henry Miller, never hurt a good play and never made a bad one. "The primary appeal of the theatre is emotional rather than literary," insists Mr. Miller, whose beautiful play, "The Rainbow," which scored an overwhelming success in New York last season, possesses both emotional and literary values. "For a time, and in recent years, there was a spasm among a certain percentage of theatregoers born of a sense of obligation toward the 'high-brow' drama, and, browbeaten as they were by the uplifters, they maintained that attitude for a number of years. But today, as far as my observance goes, these same theatregoers have discarded all subserviance as to their dramatic farce and with an entire lack of shame are indulging their own tastes." "The Rainbow" will be seen at the Plainfield theatre tonight.

HARRY MOORE ON HONEYMOON TOUR

MARRIED LAST FRIDAY

Mrs. Amelia Rothar, of Brooklyn, Aged 32, the Bride—He is 60—Wedding Announcement Surprises Friends of Couple.

Harry Moore, formerly of Duer street, the borough, and Mrs. Amelia Rothar, of Brooklyn, were married Friday night in Brooklyn, and they left yesterday morning on an extended wedding trip to Panama. Upon their return they will reside at 26 Netherwood avenue, where Mr. Moore is building a handsome dwelling. They will be "at home" after December 15.

The announcement of the marriage came in the nature of a surprise to the many friends and acquaintances not only of the bridegroom, but of the bride. Mr. Moore was a widower, his first wife having died a year ago last August, and the bride was a widow. The couple, it is said, met about a year ago. She is about 32 years of age, while Mr. Moore is about 60 years old.

Mr. Moore is a member of the New York Produce Exchange and has been a resident of Plainfield practically all his life. He has been attendant at the Park Avenue Baptist church. Mrs. Moore is an Episcopalian, being a communicant of a Brooklyn church.

DESPERATE BAND AT BAY IN CITY COURT

Actor-Author Enacts a Scene to Explain a Concealed Weapon.

James Dample, colored, formerly of Baltimore, Md., porter in Truell Court, for three years an embryo author, playright and actor, enacted a drama in the City Court this morning entitled "A Trip to Coney," to illustrate the reason he carried a loaded revolver Saturday night, as he set out for New York. He was arrested by Patrolman McGinley, who noticed him entering the North Avenue station with the pistol-butt sticking from his coat pocket.

When his name was called in court Dample, looking every bit an actor, with several gleaming "diamonds," loud clothes and a cane, immediately began to enact his exciting drama "A Trip to Coney," which he wrote during leisure hours at Truell Court, to demonstrate how the hero held a band of villans at bay at the point of a gun. The "testimony" was enjoyed immensely by the court spectators.

When the curtain was lowered, Dample said in answer to questions by the court, that he had been rehearsing his play in a New York moving picture theatre for four days, but had forgotten the all-important revolver. He said he came here to get the weapon, which he had stored in his trunk in Truell Court, and in his hurry to catch a return train to the metropolis, forgot to examine the weapon to see whether it was loaded or not. Sentence was suspended.

WHISKEY FOR NEURALGIA.

George Compton, of Newark, an umbrella mender, who was arrested Saturday night charged with being intoxicated, told City Judge De Meza this morning, that he was suffering with neuralgia, and resorted to whiskey to deaden the pain. Sentence was suspended, providing he left Plainfield immediately, which he promised to do.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SERVICE.

The meeting of the Young People's Society of Hope chapel held last evening, was largely attended and was featured by special music by the choir and the Misses Emily Goddard and Eunice Eckert. The Rev. F. L. Greene, pastor, delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

James Hegeman, of Brooklyn, spent the week-end with his cousin, Walter Swain, of Craig place.

MISS CLYDE SLATER BRIDE OF NEWARKER

Elaborate Decorations Mark Nuptials—Will Live in Netherwood Avenue.

Surrounded by friends and members of her family, amid elaborate floral and autumnal decorations, Miss Clyde May Slater, daughter of Mrs. Ida M. Slater, became the bride of Louis Victor Price, of Newark, Saturday, at her home 202 Watchung avenue, North Plainfield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Followng the wedding feast, the newly wedded couple left for their honeymoon, and upon their return will reside at 28 Netherwood avenue.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon, trimmed with Irish point lace and carried bridal roses. Miss Slater was given away by her father, to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Miss Ethel King. Mrs. Slater wore black satin, trimmed with lace and jet beads.

Among the guests were a number of graduates of the North Plainfield High School class of 1903, of which Miss Slater was a member. The gifts to the bride were numerous and beautiful and included a check of substantial amount from Mr. Slater.

Included in the guests were Mrs. Alonzo Price, mother of the groom; F. Mortimer Slater, a brother of the bride; Mrs. Catherine Slater, the Misses Mabel Stevens, Ethel King, Ida Fountain and Mary Neal, all of the borough; the Misses Margaret and Agnes Miller, of Brooklyn; Arthur Price, of Newark, and George Stoettner, of this city.

DR. STRONG PREACHES TO KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Sounds Call for War on Wickedness, Having a Vision of Triumph.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., upon the invitation of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, attended the service at the First Baptist church, last night, the sermon by the pastor being especially directed to its members. Dr. Strong took for his text the words of Jehu, recorded in II Kings 10:15, "Is thy heart right, as my heart is with thy heart; if it be, give me thy hand."

"The import of the question," said Dr. Strong, "is, 'are you in sympathy with me, as representing a good cause, as I am with you? Then give me thy hand.' It is my especial delight to address men as men, and if there is any particular class that I covet for the cause of Jesus Christ, who I represent, it is men. It is a sublime and noble thing to live in these days to the watchword of 'Onward Christian soldiers, marching as to war, with the Cross of Jesus going on before!'

"It means giving heart and hand to the cause. If the heart is ring, to bring for enlistment in the King's army, it will be a repentant, a believing and a pure heart. No other heart will be acceptable to the King. How closely allied are the heart and the hand. As from the heart are the issues of life, so in the hand we find the token of affection, of faith, of power, of reverence, of conquest. We clasp the hands in prayer, we raise them in benediction, and it is sweet to know that the last attitude in which the Saviour was seen by mortal man was in that with hands upturned in blessing.

"More than for anything else, the hand stands for achievement. The stamp 'hand-made' might properly be put on every article we have to use, every building, every bit of mechanism in every field of activity, for after all does not the hand account for the making of the original tools and the manipulating of the machinery with which every article is made?

"The hand, too, really stands for the personality, so fitly does it represent it, as when we say 'All hands were lost,' or 'All hands turned out.' Give me thy hand, the token of your affection, your action, your personality, for the cause of King Immanuel, and against the mighty array of wickedness, intemperance and impurity let us hurl the flower of manhood, faithfully waging the battle until that time when the church militant shall be the church triumphant."

TRAIN VICTIM LOST BOTH LEGS

Says He Doesn't Know How the Accident Came About.

ON WAY TO NEW YORK

All He Can Recollect, Ferrat Avers, Is That He Stood at Tracks as Freight Approached—May Recover.

Alexander Ferrat, aged 20 years, of 347 East Forty-first street, New York City, is at Muhlenberg Hospital with both legs off, the result of an accident on the railroad near Dunellen, last night, but the young man cannot explain how the accident happened. In a statement this morning he said that he was standing at the Dunellen station of the New Jersey Central when a freight train came along going east. He does not know, he told the hospital attendants, whether the train struck him as he walked along the tracks, or whether he tried to jump on it.

The crew of the train, which was stopped, rendered such assistance as possible and had the victim removed to the hospital. After an operation was performed it was said that his chances for recovery were excellent.

Ferrat was on his way from Scranton, Pa., to New York. There is a suspicion that he was stealing a ride on a train, dropped asleep and fell off. This could not be confirmed. The young man had nothing to say about his parents, but gave the hospital authorities the name of Frank Greecat, of 347 East 41st street, as his uncle. The latter has been informed of Ferrat's accident.

STERLING GIRL AUTOIST MUST EXPLAIN ACCIDENT

Through information furnished the police by Miss Vincent, of 170 Liberty street, Miss Katherine Puker, of Stirling, was brought before City Judge De Meza this morning, on the charge of having run down 12-year-old Eleanor J. Bucklin, of 23 Albert street, last Friday. She furnished $200 bail for her appearance in court Monday, October 28.

Eleanor was riding a bicycle on West Front street, near Elmwood place, when hit by an automobile owned and driven by Miss Puker. It is said by witnesses that Miss Puker jumped from her car immediately after the accident and reversed her license tag, so as to make the reading of the numbers impossible. When asked about this Miss Puker denied turning the tag.

They held the undivided attention of the crowd and frequently their were greeted with applause and cheers.

The discussion was confined to the support of Wilson and Marshall, but the State and local nominees were not overlooked, an appeal being made to the voters to support the entire Democratic ticket.

BALKS CIVIL SERVICE MOVE.

Elizabeth, Oct. 21.—The efforts of employes of the city who are at work in the various departments in the city hall to protect themselves by means of civil service were temporarily twarted Friday night by City Council, which body failed to meet because of the lack of a quorum. Eight Democrats, one Socialist and one Republican were present. The Republicans, accused of playing politics, decided to keep away. As a result of a recent agitation by out-of-the-city municipal employes, the local men decided to submit the civil service question to the voters at the coming election, as the law provides. To do this it was necessary to have the indorsement of the Mayor and City Council. A special meeting of the governing body was set for Friday night. Those behind the movement are today threatening to secure a writ of mandamus to be served on City Clerk Kenah, asking him to call Council together. He says he will keep his office open for the purpose. The employes want Council to act on the matter before tonight. County Clerk James C. Calvert has not set any time as to when the referendum vote shall be filed with him to be placed on the ballots, but believes the time is about up. He is ready to have the ballots printed immediately.

REMEMBERS TRAFALGAR.

London, Oct. 21 (Special).—Today was the 107th anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar and the death of Lord Nelson, and the occasion was observed in London and many parts of the country. The Nelson Column in Trafalgar Square was, as usual, decorated and large crowds gathered there to see the large number of floral tributes which had been placed there on behalf of many branches of the Navy League in all parts of the world, and of relatives and friends of officers and others who served under Nelson in the famous battle. Wreaths were also placed on the Nelson monument in St. Paul's Cathedral.

VICTORIOUS BULGARS RUSHING ADRIANOPLE

Turks Massed There, Awaiting Renewed Onslaught.

London, Oct. 21.—The Bulgars are pushing on steadily in their advance upon Adrianople, where the Turks have massed one division of their army. Encouraged by their victory at Mustapha Pasha, the door to Adrianople on the northern frontier, one division of the army of Bulgaria is pushing along both banks of the Meritza. The right wing is moving across the heights commanding the valley of Arda, and the advancing guard is capturing and blowing up bridges on the roads to Adrianople.

A second division of the Bulgars is said to be shelling Kirk-Killisseh, where already there has been severe fighting, and the capture of that town, thirty-two miles from Adrianople, is said to be imminent.

Another commander of the Balkan forces is said to have committed suicide. This time it was a colonel who ended his life because he got out of touch with his command.

This is the fourth case of self destruction on the part of the commanders of the troops of the little states.

GIRL KILLS A MAN IN PLAY.

Points a Supposedly Unloaded Gun at Teaser and Pulls the Trigger.

Mahwah, N. J., Oct. 21.—Leo Hammond, a boarder in the home of John Harris, was shot to death as a result of his constant teasing of fifteen-year-old Alice Winters, who works in the Harris household. The girl is the daughter of a neighboring farmer, and after she had cleared off the dinner table and washed the dishes she sat down on the front porch to talk with the boarders for a few moments before going home.

Hammond, who was there with the other boarders, teased the girl about the boys of the neighborhood, calling them "yokels" and "rubes." She endured the chaffing good naturedly, but pretended to become greatly enraged under the constant fire. Laughingly she declared that if he did not stop she would surely shoot him.

Then, springing up, she rushed into the hallway and seized a shotgun that was always kept in readiness there for chicken hawks. Still laughing, and not dreaming that it was loaded, she leveled the gun at the young man and pulled both triggers.

HIT BY BODY TRAIN HURLS.

Chicago Youth Badly Hurt as Express Victim Is Thrown In the Air.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Frank Schaefer, nineteen years old, suffered injuries which may cause his death when he was struck by a man's body hurled fifty feet through the air by a fast Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train at Riverside, a suburb. The body was that of Frank Johnson, of whom little was known.

Walter Ardon, the only witness to the accident, thought Schaefer had been struck by a mail bag and ran for a night watchman. The two found Johnson's body and Schaefer lying near it suffering from concussion of the brain and probably internal injuries. The engineer failed to see the accident and reached Aurora before he was notified of it.

Find Ensign Butler's Body.

New York, Oct. 21.—The body of Ensign Andes H. Butler (U. S. N.), who was drowned on the morning of Sunday, Oct. 13, while he and some of his fellow ensigns were returning to the battleship Nebraska, was found by the river police. They had been looking for the body all week and found it floating on the surface in midstream off One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, in the North river.

REGISTER TOMORROW.

In municipalities of over 5,000 inhabitants, tomorrow will be the last day to register for the general election to be held on Tuesday, November 5. The election is an unusually important one for a President and Vice President of this Republic are to be chosen and moreover many minor, but nevertheless big offices, are to be filled. The people of this State are called upon to say who they prefer for United States Senator and they they will do this by electing a Legislature favorable to a given candidate for that exalted position.

In addition to a surrogate, a congressman is to be picked in the Fifth district and three Assemblymen and a board of seven freeholders are to be selected for Union county, and right here in our own city, a mayor, treasurer, collector and councilmen are to be elected.

In North Plainfield, the voters will cast their ballots, in addition to the Presidential nominations, for a congresman, an assemblyman, a surrogate and for councilmen.

For all of these offices men who have the ability to properly discharge the duties should be chosen and it is therefore the duty of every qualified voter to register his choice. To do so, the voter's name must be on the polling lists by the time the several district registry boards finish their task tomorrow night.

The polls will be open from 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon until 9 o'clock tomorrow night. A list of the polling places will be found in the news columns today. Do not neglect to register.

From the testimony heard at the North Plainfield Council's meeting on Friday night, it is quite clear that North Plainfield and Bound Brook are having it put over them in the matter of assessed valuations. There appears to be one rule for them and another, and a much lighter one, for the rest of Somerset county. What justice is there in assessing one locality at a certain percentage and another, a more favored locality, at a lesser percentage? Isn't it about time that the county board entrusted to equalize taxes really equalized them?

What a great debt the people of Plainfield owe to Roger F. Murray. According to his own modest claim he was responsible for the nomination of the late beloved Dr. Richards for school director; for Elliot T. Barrows for councilman and for Ernest R. Ackerman, for State Senator, three highly valued public officials. And Roger did it all. We can imagine that Barrows and Ackerman are tickled to death to learn at this late day that Roger was their political god-father.

"Tom" Watson has bolted Wilson giving as his reason that the Governor has been made an honorary member of the Knights of Columbus. His excuse shows that the former vice presidential candidate of the Populists, has no place in American life where intolerant bigots have become an absent quantity.

The New Brunswick Home News tried the experiment on Saturday of having its paper conducted by women, with Miss Emma McCoy, president of the New Brunswick Study Club, as editor. If those women can vote as well as they demonstrate their ability to run a daily paper, give them the ballot.

Robert J. Collier and his much peeved retiring editor, Norman Hapgood, are fighting a duel of words through the newspapers. Collier's seems to be trying to go one better on the General Sickles family in airing its domestic tribulations for the edification of the public.

The chairman of the three respective parties in the Empire State are alike positively certain of victory for their presidential and gubernatorial nominees. Isn't it a pity that so much money has to be spent, therefore, to go through the form of an election.

Chicago clergyman says there are 3,000,000 abnormal people in the United States. We can imagine that Mr. Hilles will consider that too low an estimate when the election returns come in.

If you are at all uncertain where you should register, read carefully the bounds of the various districts as published in the news columns today.

PERKINS ISSUES "DEFI"

Progressive Leader Challenges Penrose to Prove He Handed out $3,000,000 to Bull Moose Cause—Testimony Before Clapp Com.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Testifying before the Clapp Investigating Committee, this morning, Thomas F. Ryan said that he contributed nearly $500,000 to the Democratic National Campaign of 1904 to keep it from collapsing. This he stated was in spite of the fact that he was opposed to the candidacy of Alton B. Parker. He favored the late Senator A. P. Gorman, of Maryland. George W. Perkins followed Mr. Ryan on the stand.

Mr. Perkins said that he contributed between $50,000, $75,000 and $80,000 in 1904 and added that J. P. Morgan and Co. gave $150,000. He said he knew nothing of the Harriman fund. Senator Clapp asked what he had contributed this year. Mr. Perkins said that he contributed $15,000 to the New York State Convention; $22,500 to Treasurer E. H. Hooker; $32,500 to the Washington office; $16,000 toward taking polls in New York and Brooklyn; $19,500 sent to other States, and $17,500 to E. W. Sims: a total of $123,000.

Mr. Perkins hotly denied the charge that he had underwritten the Roosevelt campaign to the extent of $3,000,000, and demanded that Senator Penrose, the Taft leader in Pennsylvania, should be made to give his ground for the charge.

AN ERROR CORRECTED.

Owing to a slip in the type, an error was made in Saturday's edition of the Daily Press in the account of the North Plainfield Common Council meeting. The increase in the valuation of taxable property in 1912 over the previous year was stated to be $164,800 whereas it should have been $614,800, the mistake being in the placing of the "1" before the "6." The correct amount was shown, however, in the table of comparison at the end of the item. Also Bridgewater farms have been sold at 100 per cent. profit, instead of at 10 per cent. gain, as quoted.

TRENTON DAY IN BIBLE SCHOOLS NEXT SUNDAY

Trenton, Oct. 21.—Two thousand Sunday-schools in New Jersey will observe next Sunday, October 27, as "Trenton Day" as a special pre-convention plan to inform the four hundred thousand Sunday-school members of the State of the Trenton convention, which meets in this city Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, November 12, 13 and 14. The publicity committee of the Trenton committee have sent to every superintendent throughout the State a program setting forth several facts regarding the advanced Sunday-school work in the borders of New Jersey, the manner in which the Trenton Sunday-schools will entertain the visitors, and some features of the program which has been arranged for the three days' sessions.

Already a large number of superintendents have sent in to the Trenton committee word that they will observe next Sunday in their Sunday-schools as "Trenton Day" and will use the five-minute program to interest the teachers and older members of their schools as to the possibilities of the convention. One of the features on the "Trenton Day" program is the cordial invitation that the twelve thousand members of the Trenton Sunday-schools extend to the workers throughout the State. It is expected that "Trenton Day" will gain additional delegates for the convention, which is being planned on the largest scale of any similar religious gathering ever held in the State.

The delegates to the convention will be entertained on the Harvard plan. Several hundred Trenton homes will be opened for the guests at the convention, and lodging and breakfast will be given at the uniform rate of one dollar.

CLERGYMAN LIKENS ROOSEVELT TO ELIJAH

"T. R. Wouldn't Have Hidden Under a Juniper Tree," Says Wife.

"What Doest Thou Here Elijah" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. Gabriel Maguire at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, and during the discourse the preacher said that Elijah in many respects reminded him of Theodore Roosevelt. He added, "My wife does not agree with me for she says that Roosevelt would never have hidden under a juniper tree, as Elijah did."

Mr. Maguire said that the name of Elijah meant Almighty God. He described the storm and the earthquake, but said that God was not in either one, but was in the still small voice. The two points emphasized by the preacher were: "God speaks to man," and "Doing the important things." He asked those present what they were doing for the church, the greatest living organization through which God reaches a sin-cursed world. He declared that what a person does influences people more than what they say, and he drew other hopeful lessons from the story of Elijah.

SABBATARIANS END CONVENTION

Seventy-sixth Session of Eastern Assn. Closes at New Market.

SOCIAL PURITY PLEA

Dr. A. C. Prentice Tells Delegates How Children of Future Generations May Be Given a Better Chance—840 Meals.

The seventy-sixth annual session of the Eastern Association Seventh Day Baptist churches, was brought to a close last evening with a devotional meeting. Rev. Theodore L. Gardiner conducted a prayer and praise service. Rev. R. J. Severance, delegate from the Western Association, addressed the meeting and Rev. L. D. Seager delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion. Special music was sung by a male quartet, composed of Frank Burdick, Leslie Randolph, Milton Randolph and Rev. H. N. Jordan.

Rev. James L. Skaggs addressed the convention Saturday evening. He spoke of the small rural church and touched upon their strength and weakness of the attitude of the stronger and larger churches in support of the weaker and smaller ones. He emphasized the fact that from the small churches most often come the ministers and strong religious workers.

William C. Hubbard and John H. Austin delivered addresses on the "Men and Religion Forward Movement."

William M. Stillman delivered a message from the Field Work Tract Board yesterday morning. The points he touched upon were first, the exchange of pastors; second, the employment of a field secretary; and, third, of a closer cooperation of the denominational boards of the church.

D. E. Titsworth spoke for the Publication Tract Board. He said that a greater interest in the denominational publications was necessary and urged the members of the churches to get busy and increase the publication circulation lists.

C. Layton Ford spoke on "Secular Opportunities of Sabbath Keepers." He emphasized conviction and loyalty to a principle and determination to win at whatever odds, and the character of persons loyal to their conviction and principles.

Rev. Theodore L. Gardiner spoke on the Tract Society Work. He reviewed the work of the past year and made an appeal to the people for their support.

At the afternoon session following an address by Rev. E. B. Saunders on the Missionary Board Work, Dr. A. C. Prentice spoke on "An Equal Chance." He spoke of the terrible mortality among children because of the ignorance or carelessness of parents regarding proper care and also of the imperfect teaching regarding sex hygiene. He pleaded for greater social purity and suggested preventive measures, designed to give the child an equal chance in physical health as in moral and spiritual life.

"Individual Cooperation" was the topic of W. B. Davis' address. His chief thought was that everyone should be an active worker in the church and not a laggard.

The report of the secretary showed that 840 meals had been served to the visitors and delegates of the convention during the three days of its session, and a total of about 150 delegates and visitors were present from the churches of the Eastern and other associations.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

CELERY AND CHEESE.

As a substitute for meat, cheese cooked with vegetables may be used in many an emergency. Celery, a vegetable which many housewives content themselves with serving with salt or as a salad, may be cooked with cheese in a variety of ways that will be appreciated.

Nutritious Foods.

Scalloped Celery with Cheese.—Boil some celery in water to which a little salt has been added. Drain, cut into small pieces. Put alternate layers of the celery and grated cheese, cracker crumbs seasoned with salt, pepper and butter, into a baking dish. When the dish is full add a cupful of white sauce and cover with cracker crumbs well buttered. Bake until crumbs are brown.

Celery Cheese Sticks.—Take crisp celery sticks and two ounces of cream cheese with which minced olives or pimentos have been mixed. Cut the celery into four inch lengths and fill the cavity with cheese. These sticks are used in place of wafers.

Nice Luncheon Dishes.

Celery and Cheese au Gratin.—Cook the stalks of white celery until tender in boiling salted water. Mix with a good cream sauce and some parmesan cheese. Fill patty shells or individual ramekins with this and cover with fine buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven.

Celery Tips and Cream Cheese.—A neufchatel cheese, a tablespoonful of finely chopped pecans, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt and pepper to taste are required for this. Of the celery take the small centers or the deep grooved pieces that are short. Mix the cheese with the nuts, salt and pepper. If it is dry add a little cold milk. Fill into the grooves in the celery and sprinkle with the chopped parsley. Serve on a cheese plate around crackers.

Celery and Cheese.—Stew celery until tender and cut into inch pieces. Take one cup of the celery water and add it to a rich white sauce. Stir into this sauce enough grated cheese to make it yellow in color. Put the prepared celery into a baking dish, pour the sauce over it and cover with breadcrumbs that have been browned in melted butter. Heat in the oven a few minutes.

FASHION FANCIES.

The New Furs Are Deliciously Soft. Exquisite Ribbons.

The new furs are so light and supple that the wearer might imagine herself in a coat of feathers.

Ribbons with printed floral designs, like the French fabrics of the eighteenth century, are largely employed.

Some waists are made with plaited sections, not only on their fronts and backs, but also on their sleeves.

Belts are high in favor on coat dresses and skirts. Usually the belt is placed just across the back to hold in a little fullness.

Almost every variation of the simple blouse is worn this season, but the one made with Robespierre collar and front closing is an unquestioned favorite. Here is a model that can be made quite dressy and elaborate by the use of lace frills or quite simple, as desired.

JOHN SCHRANK.

Roosevelt Assassin Will Not Be Tried Until After Election.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

"John Schrank will not be brought to trial before the middle of November unless something unforeseen happens," said Sheriff William A. Arnold of Milwaukee, commenting on a report from Chicago that Colonel Roosevelt's assailant would be placed on trial next Wednesday. "There is absolutely no truth in the report that Schrank will be brought to trial next week." District Attorney Zabel said later. He repeated his previous statement that Schrank would not be tried until after election.

In connection with the departure of the colonel his plans for the rest of the campaign, the subject of the animated conference Saturday between the presidential candidate and Governor Hiram Johnson, his running mate, developed today.

Governor Johnson will fill all of the eastern dates scheduled for the colonel and will act as his direct personal representative. In compliance with this arrangement Governor Johnson left for New York instead of going to California, as he had intended. It also developed that the colonel's doctors have practically forbidden him to make any speeches in the next two weeks, and, though the colonel had indicated an intention of attending the Madison Square Garden rally the last week of the campaign, it is doubtful if he does more than sit on the platform.

The doctors made two examinations yesterday of the patient, and both showed continued improvement. The night bulletin made public at 8 o'clock showed pulse 72, temperature 98.2 and respiration 78. It continued:

"General condition good, blood count normal, respiratory movement comfortable. The general condition of the patient justifies his leaving the hospital for his home in Oyster Bay, but it is deemed advisable in order to lessen the possibility of complications that he should not be disturbed in any way and he will not be allowed to see any one en route. He will be in charge of Drs. Alexander Lambert and Scurry L. Terrell throughout the journey."

TRUCE IN LITTLE FALLS ROW.

Governor Dix Warns Authorities Not to Hinder Free Speech.

Little Falls, N. Y., Oct. 21.—After nearly a week of turbulence, due to the clashing between the local police and Socialist agitators, this city experienced a peaceful Sunday, due in great part perhaps to the truce which was patched up between the city authorities and the Socialists represented by Mayor Lunn and various members of his Schenectady cabinet. The citizens of Little Falls are gratified that the rumpus has been settled, for the feeling between some local people and the Socialists who invaded the city to aid the strikers in the Phoenix mills in their fight for increased wages had become extremely bitter, and violence was imminent when the dove of peace descended.

A messenger arrived here from Albany and personally served on Mayor S. Hall and Sheriff Leon Moon each a letter from Governor Dix in which the executive suggested to these officials that possibly they were exceeding their authority in arresting Socialist orators merely because the latter addressed crowds.

CHILD FALLS 35 FEET.

Son of Milton L'Ecluse Escapes From Crib and Fractures His Skull.

Huntington, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Milton L'Ecluse, Jr., the four-year-old son of Milton L'Ecluse, president of the real estate firm of L'Ecluse, Washburn & Co., of 18 East Thirty-fourth street, New York, scrambled over the side of his crib, where he had been placed for a morning nap, and then, having climbed over the four foot railing of the veranda, fell thirty-five feet to a stone pavement.

Mr. L'Ecluse called his little boy to luncheon and not finding him looked around the grounds and came upon the child bleeding on the walk. He rushed him to the Nassau hospital at Mineola. The doctors at the hospital say he has a serious fracture of the skull.

Kentucky Tree Day Nov. 13.

GENERAL FELIX DIAZ.

Former Mexican President Is Said to Be Backing Nephew.

Code dispatches to the state department at Washington confirmed the reports that ex-President Porfirio Diaz of Mexico is lending financial and moral support to the revolution inaugurated recently by his nephew, General Felix Diaz, against the Madero government. The dispatches were from several sources, but the principal one came from Arnold Shanklin, American consul general at the City of Mexico.

FEAR FOR AMERICANS IN NEW DIAZ REVOLT

To Insist on Open Line of Communication.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Viewing the Diaz insurrection on the gulf coast of Mexico as by far the most serious movement against the Madero government that has yet appeared, the United States government took precautions to insure the safety of Americans in southern Mexico. The Mexican government was informed through the American embassy at the City of Mexico that the United States will insist upon communication between the capital and the port of Tampico on the east coast being kept open regardless of circumstances.

The situation in the south of Mexico is likened to which has existed in China during the late revolution.

The powers then insisted on exercising their treaty right of using the soldiers to keep the railroad from Tientsin to Peking, thus assuring all foreigners a means of exit from the Chinese capital. While no immediate apprehension is entertained here that the situation in Mexico will become as serious as was that in China, the insistence that communication between the City of Mexico and Tampico be kept open is regarded as wise at this time.

It is not probable that such a situation will arise as to make it necessary for the United States to use its own forces in maintaining communication between the City of Mexico and Tampico. Felix Diaz is not only known to be strongly pro-American in his inclinations, but he is also a man of much higher standards than the brigands who have been exasperating the United States by their operations along the Mexican border.

Secretary of State Knox and Assistant Secretary Huntington Wilson were at the department early today, and there took place an extended conference on the entire Mexican situation, in which the ambassador took a prominent part. It is extremely unlikely, however, that the conference will result in any considerable change in the course of action of the United States with regard to the disturbances in the southern republic.

While it is admitted that the success of Diaz would probably result in at least a temporary cessation of disorders, the administration is not at all convinced that he is big enough or strong to hold in check the increasingly large lawless element.

AUTO EXPLOSION BURNS 40.

They Were Members of the Crowd That Watched the Blazing Car.

Petaluma, Cal., Oct. 21.—Forty persons were burned severely in an automobile explosion here which may cost the lives of Mayor Zartman of this town and three others.

A crowd gathered about a burning automobile that had been dragged from a garage. Mayor Zartman, who is a former chief of the fire department, responded to the fire alarm and attacked the blaze with a chemical extinguisher. The mayor was thrown forty feet by the explosion which followed.

James Mott, Maurice and W. Brandon were enveloped in flames and rescued a few moments later at the point of death. The crowd was swept by a blast of flame, and several persons were trampled upon in the panic.

Lightning Lengthens Body.

Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 21.—George D. Pittman, a rancher, who was struck by lightning near Wilcox, measured five feet eight inches in height before death and six feet afterward. His vertebrae were uncoupled by the shock. Pittman's hair was singed at the back of the neck, where the bolt entered. His neck was broken and shoulders crushed.

M'INTYRE TO PUT BECKER ON STAND

Jury Will Hear Story of Accused Policeman.

SAY VALLON FIRED SHOTS

Defense Will Produce Witnesses That It Was Vallon and Not Gunmen Who Killed Rosenthal—McIntyre Is Closely Guarded.

New York, Oct. 21.—John F. McIntyre announced that Lieutenant Becker, on trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, will take the stand in his own defense. He says that the question as to whether Mrs. Becker will be called hinges largely upon what her husband is permitted or compelled to testify to.

The defense will make an effort this week to put in testimony tending to show that it was not one of the "gunmen" who fired the shot which killed Herman Rosenthal, but Harry Vallon, one of the state's witnesses, who, according to the stipulation presented by the district attorney on Saturday, received a grant of immunity from the state. Mr. McIntyre declined to go into details about the testimony which might be offered regarding Vallon beyond saying that witnesses had offered themselves against Vallon.

The case probably will go over to the first of next week. Mr. McIntyre said that he did not believe he would be able to finish the taking of testimony by the defense with the cross examination by Wednesday night, as had been announced Saturday.

Sleuths Guarding McIntyre.

Mr. McIntyre had but one complaint to make regarding the conduct of the trial and that was the holding of night sessions. He said the holding of these sessions had necessitated his staying up the better part of the night every night to go over the testimony of the preceding day and prepare for the following day, and he was sorely distressed for lack of sleep. The chief counsel will make another request to Justice Goff that the trial be confined to the daytime.

Since receiving the threat against his life a week ago Mr. McIntyre has employed a private detective agency to protect him, and two detectives are now watching him constantly. These detectives wait about the court while it is in session, and when the session is over they escort Mr. McIntyre to his home. They also call for him and escort him to the court. In addition to the private detectives, Mr. McIntyre a week ago called the attention of police headquarters to the matter, and central office detectives watch him while he is within the precincts of the criminal courts building.

There was a rumor about town that witnesses are being examined before the grand jury with regard to the alleged grafting operations of Lieutenant Becker and an indictment against Becker in this connection was likely soon.

CRAZED BY EFFORT TO TALK.

Deaf Mute Had Learned a Few Words After Years of Silence.

Greenwich, Conn., Oct. 21.—Hiram Black, a deaf mute, thirty-five years old, has apparently become crazed through his efforts to learn to talk. Up to last year Black could not say a word, but about Christmas time he had acquired the ability to say a few words, such as "Good morning," "Nice day," "Going to rain." He could not tell how he learned to speak, but expressed himself as satisfied that some day he would talk fluently.

In the past week he had shown evidence of a weakened mind and Robert Marling, his uncle, with whom he lived, appealed to officials for protection. Sheriff Finnegan took Black to the Givens sanitarium for ten days' observation upon an order of Judge Tierney of the Greenwich probate court.

JOB HEDGES LAID UP.

He's Tired Out and Has a Cold—May Discontinue Speeches.

New York, Oct. 21.—Job E. Hedges, the Republican candidate for governor, is under the care of a physician at the Hotel Martinique. His strenuous work on Saturday night, when in the tour of the city he made twenty-five speeches, lasting well into Sunday morning, and a severe cold which he caught on his last up state trip, have forced Mr. Hedges to discontinue his speechmaking for a time at least.

Mr. Hedges was scheduled to leave this morning on another up state trip. It will be postponed if his condition does not improve.

HOLY CROSS TEAM HAS WALK OVER

As Opponents in Football, the Crescent A. C. Eleven Proves Easy.

LOCALS SCORE AT WILL

Score 51 to 0—Many Plays Tried Out —All Are Worker For Good Gains —New Sweaters Arrive—Forward Pass Proves Valuable as Gainer.

Holy Cross had things all their own way on Cricket Field, Saturday afternoon, walking away with the much heralded Crescent A. C. eleven, who were playing their initial game of the 1912 season. There was nothing to the contest but the local church boys, who plowed from one end of the field to the other, only stopping long enough to kick a goal after a touchdown had been scored. The contest proved nothing more than a practice game and Hamilton took advantage of the opportunity to give all his recruits a good tryout.

When the opposing aggregation came on the field after a long delay the borough players took one look at the husky Milltown players and buckled their armor on tighter. Hamilton, however, was not phased in the least and spurred his warriors on to a stiff preliminary practice. What perhaps was the greatest life giver to the local team happened just before the game was called, when Manager Doyle appeared on the field with eleven brand new jerseys tucked under his arm. The Holy Cross players could not disgrace themselves and their new regalia by losing the first game in company with the new outfit so they piled up a count of 51 to 0.

Every trick play and formation was given a tryout and they invariably worked for a goodly gain. Forward passing was used more in this contest than in any of the three preceding games and both sides took greater chances on the popular ground gainer. Holy Cross had the knack of getting the forwards away on trick formations which seemed to greatly bewilder the opposition and one of the local ends was generally waiting far out on the end to receive the oval. Clarke proved himself particularly adept at this, and time after time he caught the ball and raced toward the scoring station full tilt.

Lack of practice was the cause assigned by the Crescent A. C. manager for his team's poor showing but he says he looks for a come-back later in the season and hopes to even up matters at that time. The out of town players had the weight with them and had they had the coaching and practice that the local favorites have been given the game might have been more interesting to the spectators who follow up the Holy Cross duals from the sidelines.

The visiting fullback, Kuhlthau, was the whole show for the visitors and time after time he pushed his weighty frame through the line for a goodly gain. The same set of warriors who have started in all of the boroughites' previous struggles occupied the centre of the stage again Saturday and their work both on the defense and offense showed much improvement. Ricketts and Nash as usual were the most reliable ground gainers with Captain Wilson and "Shake" Clarke traveling not very far in arrears. Clarke made most of his gains on forward passes and got in a number of beautiful tackles which checked timely rallies on the part of the visitors. In one instance the heavy Milltown fullback caught the ball on the kick off and Clarke made a running grab for him. Both runners came together full tilt and as Clarke was not prepared for the impact it laid him out for some time.

Hamilton tried out a new man in the line Saturday and although this was his initial appearance he played a steady and consistent article of football. Bremble was right on deck when a man got loose and seemed to have the method of throwing a runner drilled down to a nicety. A number of penalties were inflicted on the visiting aggregation for offside play and most of these were probably due to the bewilderment the Holy Cross trick plays caused the Milltown eleven. Ruttledge was a tower of strength to the boroughites' defense and when he hit a man coming through the line the runner seemed to rebound fully two feet at every impact.

ECHOES FROM RECENT WORLD SERIES GAMES

Ready-made Alibis for the More Rabid of the Fans.

FOR GIANT FANS.

First Game.

NEW YORK, 3; BOSTON, 4.

IF Devore and Snodgrass had not misjudged Speaker's hit in the sixth inning and allowed it to go for a triplet he batter might not have scored on the next play.

IF Meyers had caught Hooper's foul in the seventh inning the batter would not have paved the way to the winning three-run rally.

Second Game.

NEW YORK, 6; BOSTON, 6.

IF Fletcher had not muffed Yerkes' drive in the first inning the Red Sox might have been retired before they scored three runs.

IF Fletcher, in the eighth inning, had not allowed Gardner's hit to filter through him, Lewis would not have scored from second on the error and again tied the score.

Fouth Game.

NEW YORK, 1; BOSTON, 3.

IF Tesreau had not made a wild pitch in the second inning Speaker would not have scored.

IF Yerkes had not made an almost impossible play on McCormick's pinch hit in the seventh Fletcher would not have been cut down at the plate when he attempted to score from second.

Fifth Game.

NEW YORK, 1; BOSTON, 2.

IF Snodgrass had not misjudged Yerkes' line drive in the third inning and allowed it to go as a triple, and Doyle had not fumbled Speaker's roller, Boston would not have made their winning two runs.

Eighth Game.

NEW YORK, 2; BOSTON, 3.

IF Snodgrass had caught Engle's little pinch hit pop fly in the tenth inning, and Meyers and Merkle had not bailed up a foul, and Murray and Snodgrass got mixed up on Stahl's hit, Hendrickes' double would not have scored the tieing run.

FOR RED SOX ROOTERS.

Second Game.

BOSTON, 6; NEW YORK, 6.

IF Lewis had not dropped an easy fly by Snodgrass in the eighth inning the Giants would not have come through with a three-run rally, and the Sox would have won.

Third Game.

BOSTON, 1; NEW YORK, 2.

IF Gardner had given a better exhibition of base running in the ninth inning he might have tied the score when Fletcher and Devore played his hit so badly.

Sixth Game.

BOSTON, 2; NEW YORK, 5.

IF O'Brien had not made a balk in the fist inning the Giants would not have begun their big rally. Five runs came after two men were out.

IF Collins had been selected to pitch instead of O'Brien the Sox would have won, as the latter did not allow the Giants another run in the seven innings he twirled.

IF Snodgrass had not made one of the best catches of the series in the fourth inning, when he pulled a remarkable catch and stopped a promising-looking rally. The catch robbed Wagner of a triple, which would have scored two runs and left the Sox only one run behind.

Seventh Game.

BOSTON, 4; NEW YORK, 11.

IF the wind had not blown a long hit away from Lewis the Giants would not have scored six runs in the first inning, which practically won the game for them.

IF Wood had not taken a double wind-up with Devore and Doyle on base the runners would not have pulled the double steal.

IF the Red Sox had not been too confident, Wood in particular. The Giants got away on the jump and caught the Sox off balance, scoring enough runs in the first inning to win before the American Leaguers could recover.

YALE-PRINCETON TICKET DEMAND OVERWHELMING

The Princeton University Athletic Association announced Saturday night that 28,357 seats will be sold for the Yale-Princeton football game here on November 16. Of this number it is estimated that 18,000 will be reserved for the followers of the Tigers, while the rest will go to the supporters of the Blue.

The demand for seats in the Princeton stands has become so heavy that the share of tickets for each undergraduate has been cut from four seats to three.

MIGHTY IN DEFEAT.

Like the Old Guard at Waterloo, Christy Mathewson died, but did not surrender. He lost like a gentleman, calm, unfaltering, indomitably courageous, pitching his heart out, and by his crafty wisdom and splendid selfmastery holding back defeat time after time when his wavering comrades broke behind him. Sympathy may say "Poor Matty!" but the youth of the land have a not unworthy idol in this young-old master of his craft, who, by his spirit, held youth to even terms and proved that brains and heart win finer victories than show in the score. He is the greatest of them all.

ATHLETIC ASSN. MEETING.

BASKETBALL DOINGS ACROSS THE WATER

N. P. H. S. Athletes Hope to Duplicate Their Feats of Last Year.

Basketball is the main topic of discussion in the borough High School just at present and those directly interested are planning to get an early start at their favorite sport. As the boroughites did not enter into the gridiron game this season, they are particularly anxious to start something besides tennis going, along the sporting lines. Although they put no representative football eleven to contest the interscholastic title with P. H. S. the athletes from the other side of the water are confident of repeating their successes on the court last year and claim they can see not the slightest mist in their way for taking the measure of local amateur quintets as they did last year.

Not only did the team from "Canada" romp away with the interscholastic title but they also annexed the cup significant of the supremacy of Somerset county and the players are now burdened with two sets of medals which they received as rewards for their basketball prowess. Probably the greater part of the ability which the N. P. H. S. athletes displayed in winning their laurels was drilled into them by faculty director George Webster, who is again on deck to take up the coaching burden this fall. Mr. Webster has shown his efficiency as a coach during his connection with the borough High School in the aggregations he has turned out, and the coaches of the team are particularly rosy because of his presence on the sidelines again this season.

Some difficulty has been encountered in securing a court for the team to practice on this year and although the athletic board has a number of halls under consideration it has not definitely decided to select any one, as yet. The choice, however, seems to rest between Debele's Hall, which was used last year, and the German Athletic Club's building on Somerset street. Last year Debele's Hall was not altogether satisfactory because of the lack of heating facilities, the length of the hall, which was much larger than the average team was accustomed to, and the condition of the floor, which was used for dancing, and was too slippery for the fast game of basketball. Sengerbund Hall seems the most likely place for the games just at present, and this count affords a splendid place for followers to witness the game and at the same time gives the players a better chance to show the kind of a game they can put up.

SOMERVILLE LICKED BY A SINGLE PLAYER

At Any Rate, Mason's Strength is Her Chief Excuse for Defeat.

Captain Mason, of the Bound Brook High School football team, was assigned as the main cause of Bound Brook's 20 to 7 victory over the Somerville High School team Saturday afternoon and the defeated warrfors claim that their only weakness lay in the fact that they could not seem to stop the onrushes of the Bound Brook fullback. Mason, who weighs close to 190 pounds, is considered one of the best school boy backs playing the game and he ripped the opposing line like so much paper. Freeza also played a brilliant game for the winners, scoring two touchdowns and getting a number of spectacular tackles on the run.

For the losers, Robert Bowlby was the whole show and saved his team from a shutout by making their lone touchdown and kicking the goal. All of Bound Brook's points were the direct result of straight line bucking and every rush netted them a goodly gain. This is the first time this season that the Somerville eleven's goal line has been crossed, as both of their previous games have resulted in victories.

FRANK CHANCE GETS NO BASEBALL CONTRACT FOR 1913

Frank L. Chance, whose contract as manager of the Chicago National League Baseball Club expired with the close of the city championship series, Friday, declared last night that President Murphy had not offered him a new contract and that he had no definite plans for the future. He said that he probably would carry out his determination to permanently retire from baseball.

He will leave for his home at Glendora, Cal., in a few weeks to spend the winter. President Murphy declined to discuss the question of who will manage the team next year.

HOUNDS KEEP WELL TOGETHER ON WEEKLY WATCHUNG HUNT

The weekly chase of the Watchung Hunt Club Saturday afternoon covered a distance of about fifteen miles. The hounds were met at the New Brooklyn Pond and were thrown in on the Delafield farm. The chase continued over the Kissler, Waldron, Smith farms, a check being made on the Hamilton farm. The hounds were again taken up and thrown in on the Griscom farm, crossing the Tappen, Randolph, McCullough, Hadley, Wooden, Dunham and Haberdank farms, a second check being made on the Hadley farm.

The going was good and the hounds kept so well together that a blanket would have covered them throughout the entire run. The following rode: R. C. Finch, M. F. H.; L. B. Smith, C. E. S. Bellows, R. H. Tower, J. J. O'Donohue, J. S. Casey, William Mitchell and Huntsman Harrison.

P. C. C. GOLFERS WIN SWEEPING VICTORY

20 to 1 Was the Score of Return Match with Cranford.

The Plainfield Country Club played a return team match with the Cranford Golf Club on the local course Saturday afternoon, and scored an overwhelming victory. The score was 20 to 1. It was a fourball match, and Messrs. Marston and Hansel were the only pair to score a point. A peculiar fact was that four of the best players in the local club were the only ones who failed to secure points. They were Will T. Glenney, Frank O. Reinhart, W. Lester Glenney and Morris J. Dumont. The summary of the match follows:

Plainfield Country Club—Will T. Glenney and Frank O. Reinhart, 0; W. Lester Glenney and Morris J. Dumont, 0; A. J. Watson and H. R. Stockton, 1; Dudley H. Barrows and R. S. Rowland, 3; Leighton Calkins and S. D. Lounsbery, 3; C. B. Morgan and George F. Schoonmaker, 3; H. E. Butler and S. H. Patterson, 1; H. D. Hibbard and J. E. Erickson, 3; W. H. Rogers and D. O. Rogers, 3; Arthur Murphy and L. G. Carman, 3; total, 20.

Cranford Golf Club—Wild and Smith, 0; Marston and Hansel, 1; Hinman and Wetherell, 0; Conroy and Kendall, 0; Wasson and Barrow, 0; Ryan and Gellatly and C. J. S. Fraser and H. A. Sinclair, 0; H. van Saun and G. F. Bates, 0; C. L. Emmons and A. Stark, 0; W. Stone and J. H. Fraser, 0; total, 1.

There was also the finals for the defeated eight of the third sixteen in the championship competition, H. G. Phillips defeating J. P. Stevens, 2 up (22 holes). This match was a close and exciting one from the start, and it was necessary to play four extra holes to reach a decision.

WEEKLY CUP EVENTS AT PARK GOLF CLUB COURSE

The only event at the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon, was the weekly competition for the President's and Oakmont cups. There was a large field out, but only six players returned cards. One of these was that of former State Senator Charles A. Reed, who was at one time a very familiar figure on the club course. He played an excellent game Saturday, making a net score of 85, and tieing with W. V. Byard for first place. These scores were returned:

Charles A. Reed, 95, 10-85; W. V. Byard, 98, 13-85; C. J. Hand, 110, 23-87; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 92, 5-87; C. H. Morse, 100, 9-91; William P. Taylor, 88, plus 5-93.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Walter Creighton, who is playing the role of the butler in "Fanny's First Play," at William Collier's Comedy theatre, New York, is the son of the late Dr. Mandell Creighton, who was Bishop of London at the time of his death. Mr. Creighton at first planned to enter the medical profession and went to Cambridge University for that purpose. He finally persuaded his father to let him go on the stage.

Mlle. Dazie, the noted danseuse who is appearing in "The Merry Countess," at the Casino theatre, New York, is adding a new accomplishment to her list of varied attainments. She always wants to have some novelty on hand and is now learning to play the drum, taking lessons from the regular drummer of the Casino theatre orchestra. She says she has an idea for a new vaudeville act, to be staged some time in the indefinite future, and that the drum will then manifest its usefulness.

The transfer of "The Master of the House" from the 39th Street theatre to the Lyric theatre appears to have been an unusually wise move as is indicated by the great increase of business. The orchestra patronage remains as large as before, while the gallery and the balcony business has greatly increased. People who attend performances of "The Master of the House" will see the fallacy of the assertion so frequently made that "there are no more galleries" in New York. This is one of these rare hits that appeal to all classes of theatregoers.

TRADE BOARD TO DINE.

Rahway, Oct. 21.—Among those who will speak at the Rahway Board of Trade's banquet Thursday, October 31, in the Rahway Hotel, are United States Senator James E. Martine, Congressman William E. Tuttle, Jr., E. McLane Harding, consulting engineer for the New York Harbor's Commission, and Curtis R. Burnett, president of the Newark Board of Trade, who will speak on "Deep Waterways."

HONOR OF KAISORIN.

Berlin, Oct. 21 (Special).—Preparations on a scale of great magnificance have been completed for the gala concert to be given tomorrow in honor of the fifty-fourth birthday anniversary of the German Empress. The Emperor himself has given personal attention to all of the details of the arrangements. A long list of celebrated singers, headed by Enrico Caruso, will participate in the program.

SOCCER TEAM LOST TO FAST NEWARKERS

Alley Boys Played Aggressively and Kept Plainfield on Defense.

The Plainfield A. F. C. met defeat Saturday for the first time this season, in an Intercity Amateur Soccer League game, when the Alley Boys, a strong aggregation from Newark, kept them on the defensive during the entire contest, winning by the score of 2 to 0.

The good form of the locals which was so pronounced at the beginning of the season, was totally lacking in Saturday's game, whereas the Alley Boys, using their usual aggressive tactics, kept the ball in their opponent's territory throughout the session. Both scores were made in the last half, after repeated attempts at scoring had failed in the opening round.

W. H. S. TEAM DISBANDED.

The Westfield High School football team has been disbanded on account of the members of that eleven being deficient in their studies. Manager Janke, of the P. H. S. football team, had arranged two games with Westfield, one of them for this Wednesday. Although the Westfield eleven cannot play under the name of their High School, it will schedule games as an independent team.

GATES A BUDDING STAR.

Leroy Gates, a former Plainfield public school boy and later of Leal's, is on the varsity football squad at Rutgers, although this is his first year at that institution, and despite the fact that he did not play football to any extent at Plainfield.

MACFARLAND WILL NOT MARRY NOW

Wants to Establish Home For Miss Bromley.

ALSO FOR HIS CHILDREN.

Girl's Father Says He Does Not Want Her to Wed MacFarland—Girl, Called on Telephone, Refuses to Talk of Her Plans.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 21.—Allison M. MacFarland announced in Newark that he would not marry Miss Bromley for many months. His reason was set forth as a desire to first establish a home for her and the two children who were left motherless when the first Mrs. MacFarland died from cyanide of potassium poisoning.

In his statement MacFarland says: "It will be some time before Miss Bromley and I are married. It will not be for a year at least. When I have established a home I want both my children with me. I don't know what I am going to do, whether I can get a position or not. I'll have to wait and see what the developments are."

It is expected that MacFarland will make his home in Hammonton, N. J., with Andrew MacFarland, his eighty-year-old uncle, who has stuck to him through all his troubles.

Miss Bromley Home.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—The parents of Florence Bromley are now the main figures in the remarkable drama which includes Allison M. MacFarland, acquitted at Newark on Friday afternoon of the charge of murdering his wife, Evelyn, on Oct. 18, 1911. John Bromley, the father, a well to do business man, with offices at 1118 Chestnut street, after directing his daughter to come home after the trial with the threat of never again receiving her under his roof because the idea of her marrying MacFarland was repulsive to him, succeeded in keeping the girl shut up in the Bromley house at 4237 Viola street, a quiet thoroughfare running parallel to Parkside avenue in West Philadelphia.

But whether Miss Bromley will abide by the determination of her parents that "she must not marry MacFarland" is not at all certain, judging from a short interview with her over the telephone last night.

"Yes, this is Florence Bromley," she answered, "and I am at home with my folks. My father wanted me to come here and I did so."

"Are you going to marry MacFarland?" she was asked.

"Goodby," she called. "I am not going to talk a word more. All I want is to have this case dropped from the newspapers. Goodby," and she rang off.

BOILER BURSTS, TWO HURT.

Cap of Feed Pump Explodes, Scalding Laborers—Traffic Delayed.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 21.—Two men were painfully scalded and the entire trolley system of the Trenton and Mercer County Traction company in Trenton and throughout the county was completely tied up by the bursting of the top cap of a boiler feed pump at the power house.

The men injured are Ernest Tyrell, chief engineer of the power house, and Albert Scott, an oiler. In spite of serious scalds about his arms and chest, Tyrell labored for two hours after the accident to make repairs to the pump, but the damage was to such an extent that a new head for the pump had to be ordered from Newark. Every trolley car of the local company was completely stalled by the accident and many thousands of people were required to walk long distances.

THIRD RAIL KILLS MAN.

Laborer Accidentally Puts Hands on Iron When Replacing Ties.

Woodbury, N. J., Oct. 21.—Giuseppi Dematria, twenty-six years old, a section hand at Sewell, accidentally placed his hand on the third rail and was killed. He was in the act of replacing a tie.

A peculiar incident to the accident is the fact that Dematria had continually been warning his associates from getting too near the rail. Dematria was placed on a train and rushed toward Camden, as it was believed there was a spark of life remaining, but when the train reached Westville the man was dead, and the remains were brought to the morgue in this city.

Aged Sportsman Beats Young Blood.

Medford, N. J., Oct. 21.—That seventy-five years has not robbed his eye of its cunning nor his trigger finger of its agility was demonstrated this week by Japeth Bowker, veteran sportsman, of Burlington county when during a visit with friends at Manoin, Pa., he bested twenty crack shots of Philadelphia and vicinity in a ten bird match. In previous practice he had shot at six birds and killed them all. When he came to the trap in the match he hit the ten straight, making sixteen clean consecutive shots.

Few Woodcock Are Killed.

Millville, N. J., Oct. 21.—Few woodcocks have been killed during the opening days of the season and the birds are said to be scarcer than for many years.

—He—"You are the only girl I ever loved." She—"You don't expect me to believe that, do you?" He—"Certainly not."

A PLAINFIELD vs. A NEW YORK ACCOUNT

The advantages to residents of Plainfield and vicinity of maintaining a bank account in The State Trust Company are so numerous that no argument should be necessary to convince those who are now keeping their accounts in New York. Liberal interest rates (3% and 4%), the free collection of out of town checks and the New York checking privilege are but a few of the many advantages that such an account affords. On the other hand a New York account means inconvenience in making deposits, charges on out of town checks and in any many instances no interest on balances.

We offer our splendid facilities to any one who is willing to overcome habit and profit thereby.

SAUNDERS TURNS TO WOOL TARIFF

Answers Arguments of D. L. Moore at Wilson and Marshall Meeting.

WOOLLEN RATES STIFF

Advance in Wages, Free Trader Says, Merely Followed General Rise, and Anyway, Textile Workers got Mighty Little to Start With.

With the entrance of D. Lewis Moore into the tariff discussion between former State Senator Ackerman and W. L. Saunders, the latter finds himself with two opponents to answer. He attended to Mr. Moore last night at a meeting of the North Plainfield Wilson and Marshall Club. After paying a compliment to Mr. Moore, who has had forty years' manufacturing experience on his fitness to discuss the subject, Mr. Saunders said in part:

"There are two or three things of little importance that outdo the woollen industry in tariff figures, but apart from this the duties of woollen cloth are the highest in the world. Some wearing apparel composed wholly or in part of wool under the present law actually pays a duty of over 200 per cent., another grade pays 170 per cent., another—blankets, covering certain specifications, 182 per cent., and so on. Duties on steel products are somewhere around 40 per cent.

"Mr. Moore states that in the textile industry employees' wages have been advanced 60 to 70 per cent. since 1898. I shall not dispute this. It follows pretty closely the general rate of advance of common labor; that is, labor used in the street and on the farm, labor that does not require skill or experience. In the northwest the advance has been even greater—in fact common labor has advanced there about 100 per cent. Equal and even greater advances have been made in such unprotected industries as brick laborers, masons, structural iron workers, plumbers, electricians, etc.

"The textile industry must have started from a very low basis when an advance of from 60 to 70 per cent. in wages has brought it to the present level. President Taft's Tariff Board reports on the wool schedule (page 985) that out of thirty thousand operatives in woollen and worsted mills in the United States over one-half were earning under 14 cents an hour, a price lower than that of common albor in the United States.

"Commissioner of Labor Neill, reporting on the Lawrence mills, said that about one-third of the mill workers covered by his investigation were earning less than $7 a week, many of them earning less. As the result of a recent strike certain small increases in wages were given to these employees. Commissioner Neill's report showed that the average wages for all employees in full time work was a little less than $9 a week.

"Mr. Moore contradicts me in the statement that 'the price of labor does not necessarily affect the cost' and he says that in textile fabrics the labor cost is from 40 to 60 per cent. of the total cost.

"I fear that he has not read my statement carefully. My quotations were from the Synopsis of President Taft's Tariff Board. This synopsis was read in the Senate, and while it is quite vague some things are brought out very clearly. On page 1, Schedule I (Cotton Manufacturers) the Tariff Board States:

"'Wages and earnings are not necessarily an index of the labor cost of any particular process of manufacture.'

"And again:

"'In the case of a large variety of plain goods the labor cost of turning yarn into cloth in the United States is not greater, and in some cases is lower, than in England.'"

Continuing Mr. Saunders quoted numerous instances where the Tariff Board made statements bearing out his views and assertions, and showing in some cases the duty on goods is greater than the total cost of manufacture in the United States.

In conclusion he said:

"I regret that Mr. Moore takes so pessimistic a view of the prospects and I trust it may install some hope for the future in his mind if he will ask himself the question, whether or not it is reasonable to say, as he does in his letter, that 'there is no doubt that Mr. Wilson will be elected,' and while Republicans, Democrats and Bull Moosers are saying this, and everybody knows that it is true and that the chances favor a tidal wave of Democracy, yet business continues to get better, not worse. Iron and steel prices are going up, the stock market shows strength. How can this be consistent with the alarm that this country will see a greater panic than they have ever seen?'

"Mr. Moore says:

"'I know Mr. Wilson will succeed in dispersing all labor associations, etc.' If this is so, why should the great textile manufacturers oppose Wilson?"

T. R. ARRIVES AT OYSTER BAY HOME

Bears up Well on Journey From Chicago—Will Talk Oct. 30 in New York.

New York, Oct. 22.—Colonel Roosevelt is back at his home in Oyster Bay. His special train got into this city this morning and immediately proceeded to Oyster Bay. It was declared that Mr. Roosevelt had not suffered any ill effects from the edious trip from Chicago.

When the Colonel's party reached New York shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, Doctors Lambert and Terrell said that the Colonel had stood the trip well and that his condition was good.

The car was transferred in the Pennsylvania Railroad station to a special Long Island Railroad train from which Mr. Roosevelt was taken at Syosset, Long Island, at 9:30 o'clock. He walked to an automobile unassisted and was taken to Oyster Bay in the machine.

Colonel Roosevelt arrived at Oyster Bay shortly before ten o'clock this morning. He had been joined in New York by Dr. Joseph A. Blake and Dr. George E. Brewer. The following statement was issued at Oyster Bay by the physicians:

"Colonel Roosevelt has stood the trip well but we believe him in no condition to stand the excitement of receiving his friends at Oyster Bay. He deeply appreciates their interest in his welfare. We regret the necessity of avoiding landing at Oyster Bay but deemed it better for him to go direct to Sagamore Hill without coming here."

SANITARIUM TO BE DEDICATED NOV. 18

Catholic and Protestant Clergy Will Speak—Ready for Applications.

The Bonnie Burn committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders, and the Board of Governors from the sanitorium, held a joint session at Bonnie Burn, yesterday afternoon, to discuss plans for the formal dedication of the new county institution. Monday, November 18, was fixed upon as the date for the affair. On that day the freeholders will formally turn over the sanitorium to the Board of Governors.

There will be a suitable program to be announced later. The committee in charge propose to invite a representative of the Protestant and Catholic clergy, who will speak, as well as county officials.

The sanitorium has reached that state of completeness that applications for patients for admission can now be made to Dr. J. F. Runnells, the superintendent. It is hoped by November 1 to have everything in readiness for the opening of the institution.

MACHINISTS' LEADER IS CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Hugh V. Reilly, the business agent for the International Association of Machinists, District 47, who is widely known throughout the State as well as in this city, is the Socialist candidate for mayor of Newark, and it is said that he is receiving not only the support of Socialists, but others in his campaign fight. By the nature of his business Mr. Reilly is brought in contact constantly with laboring men and skilled mechanics.

During the years that Mr. Reilly has been business agent for the machinist's union, he has been successful in his efforts to better the condition of machinists. Whenever trouble has arisen, he has been able to adjust differences with satisfaction to both the men and the manufacturers. Just now Mr. Reilly is conducting an aggressive campaign in Newark.

AIM FOR RECORD RALLY IN BORO

Democrats Set Out to Make Their Meeting the Biggest Ever.

KATZENBACH TO SPEAK

Wilson Convert Will Also Address the Prospective Assembled Multitude—All Kinds of Candidates to Be on View.

Members of the Wilson and Marshall Club of North Plainfield completed arrangements last night for a large mass meeting to take place Monday, October 28, in Saengerbund Hall. It is expected that the demonstration will be the largest of its kind ever held in the borough. Among the speakers will be F. S. Katzenbach, of Trenton; ex-Mayor W. L. Saunders; Judge Holmes, formerly a stanch Republican and noted orator of the Middle West, but now a strong supporter of Governor Wilson; Azariah M. Beekman, candidate for Assembly; Allan B. Walsh, Congressional candidate; Calvin McMurtry, who is running for surrogate of Somerset county, and George La Monte. It is probable that Senator James E. Martine will be on hand.

The vice presidents will be Samuel Townsend, Augustus Van Deventer, Joseph N. Howell, H. A. Woodruff, Joseph O. Osgood, Arthur C. Pleydell, M. E. Culver, J. N. Lewin, I. H. Boehm, George Hummer, Richard H. McCullough, Henry Nischwitz, J. W. Conroy, Cormick McDonough, H. A. Woodruff, Dr. P. J. Zeglio, Dr. F. J. Hughes, Dr. Charles R. Thiers, Charles Doughty, Manning F. Gano, A. E. Kenney, Elston M. French, W. L. Saunders, A. A. Cannon, Frank Mobus, David Bodine, L. E. Kenney and George Kirch. Councilmanic Candidates Lewin and Perkins are assisting the executive committee in making the arrangements.

David Bodine presided at the meeting last night, calling on A. A. Cannon for the first address. Mr. Cannon spoke on the textile manufactures of New England in connection with Mr. Saunders' discussions on the tariff with Mr. Moore and ex-Senator Ackerman.

Charles Doughty, formerly superintendent of the silk mill, said that from actual experience he knows wages in that industry are lower today than at any time during the history of the business, regardless of the increased cost of living. He discussed various phases of the campaign, and called for the support of Woodrow Wilson for the presidency, as well as for all local candidates on the Democratic ticket.

READY TO REPORT ON CHEAPER SCHOOL PLAN

J. Herbert Case, representing the Board of Education, and Charles C. Randolph, representing the Common Council, both of whom are members of the Board of School Estimate, to whom was referred the new proposition received from the American Concrete Company to erect the proposed addition to the High School at a less figure than $300,000, will make their report at a meeting of the board tomorrow night.

The estimated cost of the proposed improvements according to the plans was $300,000, instead of $40,000, as originally proposed because the board decided that it would be advisable to provide for a twenty-four room addition, instead of twelve. There is some opposition to expending so much money at this time. When the new proposition was received the board thought so well of it that it was decided to refer it to a special committee for investigation.

In between the reporting of the returns, superb moving pictures will be shown.

GILLETTE OFFERED SERVICES ON STUMP

Actor Volunteered When Roosevelt Campaign Opened—Here Tomorrow.

William Gillette, who will speak tomorrow night at the Progressive mass meeting at Reform Hall, has a reputation as an actor and playwright which is an enviable one on both sides of the Atlantic and he has never been in politics until this fall. He went into the Speakers' Bureau at Progressive National headquarters, at Hotel Manhattan one day in September and offered his services for what they worth.

He said that he had never had any experience on the political platform, but that he was so strong in his advocacy of the Progressive party's ideas that he wanted to do what he could to persuade others and he felt that the stump was the place where he could be most useful. Those in charge of the Progressive party's campaign welcomed Mr. Gillette warmly and plans were put in motion immediately to furnish the most effective itinerary that could be made for him.

Mr. Gillette, who perhaps made his greatest success as "Sherlock Holmes," began his stage career while he was still a student at Yale in 1875. He received his education at Harvard and Yale and at the Massachusetts Institute of Fine Arts, and while he was still in college his first stage appearance was made in New Orleans in "Across the Continent." The following year he went on the stage professionally, appearing at the Boston Museum in a succession of plays beginning with "In a Gilded Cage." A long list of successes followed throughout Mr. Gillette's professional career, including "The Private Secretary," "Too Much Johnson," "Held by the Enemy," "Secret Service" and finally "Sherlock Holmes," which was a play written by himself from the stories of Doctor A. Conan Doyle.

He retired from the stage in the spring of 1909.

Mr. Gillette's itinerary is spread over the Eastern part of the United States and he will appear in one State a day, including Providence, R. I., Plainfield, Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Sinkovitch, of New York, who is a lecturer on civic problems, suffrage and settlement work, will also speak tomorrow night and her presence will no doubt attract many women.

BIG K. C. MEETING.

The largest meeting of Knights of Columbus ever held in Elizabeth took place Sunday afternoon when 1,000 members held a union meeting in the Kean Building headquarters. The second and third degrees were conferred on about 100 members. State Deputy Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne, being in charge of the degree work. District deputies were present from Jersey City, Hoboken, Plainfield, Bayonne, New Brunswick and Camden and delegations were present from Somerville, Perth Amboy, Chrome, Woodbridge, Plainfield and Easton, Pa.

GREASE CAUGHT FIRE.

A pan of grease became ignited in the home of Harvey Fisk, 115 Park avenue, shortly after noon today, while the midday meal was being prepared, and an alarm of fire was telephoned to headquarters. The auto truck responded, but when it arrived at the house the flames had been extinguished.

BORO EDUCATION BOARD.

The Board of Education of North Plainfield will meet Monday, October 28, to transact several matters of importance. It is expected the question of health and sanitary conditions in the schools will be discussed.

CHURCH SALE.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a sale of cakes, rusks, bread, pies and candy in the church parlors Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

RUNYON SPOKE.

William N. Runyon, Republican candidate for Congress from the Fifth district, spoke at Netcong and Boonton last night.

Borough Taxes Must Be Paid As Usual.

The fact that the Borough Council is appealing against this year's assessments does not change the necessity of individuals to pay tax bills as rendered. A late amendment of the laws allows the County Board of Taxation, in making the annual apportionment of State and County taxes, to add to or deduct from the total ratables of each taxing district the amount of increases or deductions made on appeal to the State or County Board or by the courts. In this manner the taxpayer will get return in 1913 any overpayment he may make this year. ***

MONDAY CLUB IS TOLD HOW TO STAIN GLASS

Processes, Ancient and Modern, Explained by Fred'k S. Lamb.

Frederick Stymatz Lamb gave an illustrated lecture yesterday afternoon, before the members of the Monday Afternoon Club, on "Stained Glass," which was decidedly interesting to all those present. He explained, aided by stereopticon views, the different stages in the manufacture of the product, and of the methods used. He gave examples of the process used in the twelfth century. His illustrations of the designs and decorative panels of the late John La Fate, the noted stained glass artist, were particularly interesting.

Mrs. J. Sperry Hanson read the report of the survey committee, which took a survey of the members interested in civic and philanthropic work, and the local and State institutions they are in favor of helping. The results showed all of the members to be interested in some charitable organization or institution, Muhlenberg Hospital leading in the vote for local institutions; the Child Labor Association was the largest favored among the State organizations. Mrs. Eugene H. Hatch filed the report of the social committee. The president, Mrs. Hugh F. Fox, presided.

The remaining lectures on the schedule are as follows: November 4, Frederick Stymatz Lamb, "Lessons from Expositions;" November 18, Arthur W. Dow, of Columbia, "Art in Every-day Life;" December 2, Arthur W. Dow, "Japanese Color Prints."

The lectures will be held at the Hartridge Auditorium at 3:45 p. m.

HOW CANDIDATES VIEW QUESTIONS

Daily Press Offers Its News Columns to Nominees to State Their Positions.

ON PROBLEMS OF CITY

Twelve Queries Put to Mayoralty and Councilmanic Aspirants and Their Replies Are to Be Published for Benefit of Voters.

With no expense to the candidates, the Plainfield Daily Press offers the respective mayoralty and councilmanic nominees the opportunity to let the people know where they stand on the more important problems confronting the municipality.

For this purpose, they are invited to use the news columns of this paper. Twelve questions are put to them and in answering each they are at liberty to express themselves freely up to a limit of 100 words. They will be found on this page.

Copies of these questions, with a request that they be answered as speedily as possible, were mailed to the Republican, Democratic and Progressive nominees today by mail. Replies will be received up to next Monday morning, October 28.

Replies will be published thereafter in the order of their receipt, excepting the mayoralty which will be published simultaneously.

As ample time is given to frame the answers, failure to answer will necessarily be taken as a refusal. This is an opportunity which should not be missed by the candidates.

BRICK PAVEMENT TO GET MUCH NEEDED WASHING

Autoists having had so much trouble running their cars over the brick pavement, Mayor G. W. V. Moy gave instructions to Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett this morning to have the pavement thoroughly flushed and washed off. Mr. Moy, while walking through Park avenue, this morning, had his attention called to the skidding of automobiles, several accidents of a minor nature being narrowly avoided. He then communicated with Mr. Gavett.

There is scarcely a day passes now but that some automobile does not skid about on the brick pavement, and drivers, no matter how carefully they handle their cars, find it difficult to escap trouble of this nature.

Scene from the most talked of play, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," at the Plainfield Theatre, Thursday Night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"Get Rich Quick Wallingford" one of the series of "money" plays (the others being "The Fortune Hunter" and "The Little Millionaire") that have brought wealth to Cohan & Harris, comes to the Plainfield theatre, Thursday night, October 24. J. Rufus Wallingford was never known to give people much for their money until Geo. M. Cohan reformed him by means of his remarkable dramatization of George Randolph Chester's Wallingford stories, which began several years ago and are still appearing monthly in a well known magazine. However since Mr. Cohan made an honest man of the clever and lovable rascal in the last act of his comedy Wallingford has been giving thousands of men, women and children many times the value of their coin, payable in good, honest laughter. Cohan & Harris have two companies presenting the comedy this season. The principal one, made up of many of the original players, will be seen in this city.

The anatomy of the chameleon is one of the strangest things in natural history and the eye is the most curious part of it. The peculiar characteristic of the eye is not merely its form and structure but its movements. In order to enable the human eye to appreciate fully just how wonderful these movements are, the chameleon's eye in motion, while magnified 68,400 times, will be shown by Lyman H. Howe, at the Plainfield theatre, Friday and Saturday, October 25 and 26. An ordinary photograph could not reveal it adequately no matter how greatly it was magnified, because a "still" photograph could not reproduce the amazing movements of the chameleon's eye. Mr. Howe's reproduction shows the eye rolling in every direction, back and forth, up and down, or from whatever direction enemies might approach. It is a revelation of a very interesting bit of nature's secrets because it shows how perfectly nature has endowed the chameleon to "play possum" not only with regard to changing its colors to prevent enemies from locating it, but also by means of these revolving eyes which enable this unique creature to keep a constant "look out" for enemies without the necessity of betraying its location by turning its head. The views are a very convincing demonstration of the fact that in the realm of science and natural history, Mr. Howe's reproductions are as superior as those illustrative of travel. An infinite variety of scenes of Paris and its environs, including the historic Palace of Versailles with its wonderful fountains and a trip along the picturesque rivers of France—all presented in the myriad hues and tints of nature; the burial of the Maine; whaling; a thrilling race between a hydroplane and a fleet of the swiftest motor boats, including the 800 horse power Ursula, and the bee industry, are only a few of the many other big features to be presented.

A FREE PRESS.

We are living in a progressive age, an age when men think for themselves and dare to do right. Never in the world's history has the independent spirit been so manifest as it is in this day. It is so with the newspaper as with the individual. The daily public print, like the man with a collar about its neck has no place in the American life. They are free and their opinions are no longer forced upon them in spite of party labels.

When the new ownership and new management of this paper assumed control of the Plainfield Daily Press at the beginning of the present year, the policy of the paper in the future was declared to be independent. It was stated editorially that "this paper will not be a political organ. Such newspapers no longer have influence." And that is undeniable. Almost weekly, newspapers are breaking away from parties and are announcing their allegiance to the people first, last and all the time. Their duty to the public they recognize is paramount to a political party. They constitute a public utility whose business, yea, its trust, it is to furnish the people with unbiased and fullsome news and opinions not prompted by personal, selfish or partisan feeling. Such should be their sole purpose.

Dwelling on the growing freedom of the press, the Newark Evening News expresses some timely, some instructive, thoughts. It says:

"Evidence continues to accumulate day by day, month my month and year by year of the growth of political independence in New Jersey A bit of confirmation of this statement is found in recent developments in the newspaper field in Trenton. Only a short time ago, the Trenton True American, for seventy-seven years the leading Democratic organ in the State, announced that it would no longer be a partisan paper, but would be a newspaper not committed to the support of any party. Now the Trenton State Gazette, which declares that "for more than half a century it has been recognized as the 'organ' of the Republican party," has proclaimed its political independence. From now on, it says, it will "treat public questions without political bias and give the news of the day without regard for personal friendship."

If these promises of these heretofore party papers are to be kept, as they probably will be, there will be no party organ left at Trenton, for the only other daily published there—the Times—has long been free from party control, and has been independent in the best sense of that term.

"If there is another State capital in the country where a similar condition exists, the fact has escaped attention. Party organs have flourished at the seats of State government from time immemorial. The organs have played the party tunes and have grinned like monkeys when the expected coin was contributed. It was only a short time ago that the Trenton True American was the recipient of party "spoils" whenever the Democratic party was in power. Similarly The State Gazette prospered financially when it received the bulk of the 'patronage' of Republican administrations. The profits growing out of this subsidy of newspapers were large. There were 'graft' scandals that arose as a consequence, and made the organs weak in the esteem of everybody, except the bosses and hide-bound partizans.

"The situation was not peculiar to Trenton. The conditions at the Jersey capital were simply a miniature of those prevailing at Albany, for instance, where a Republican party boss, owning his party organ, not only takes fat contracts from the State, but has an arrangement whereby he receives a twenty-five per cent. rake-off on all contracts secured from Democratic officials by his supposed-to-be political rival.

"But there is hope that the reform just inaugurated in Trenton will spread, for the day of the progressive policy has arrived in this country as well as in New Jersey. 'The trend of the times,' as The State Gazette acknowledges, 'is in the direction of independence of thought and independence of action.' If any person doubts the correctness of this assertion, let him wait until November 5 for additional evidence that will be convincing."

"The truth shall make you free."

Unless you personally registered on September 10 or September 24, you must do so today if you want to vote at the general election on November 5. The mere fact that you voted at the primaries does not entitle you to vote at the election. If you are a Progressive you had no primary but nevertheless you must be registered. All the information you desire on this subject will be found on the first page today.

MAY HOLD A PORKLESS PIG ROAST AT DUNELLEN

"What became of the pig?" is the question asked by the members of the Raritan Club of each other. The club decided to hold a pig roast at Dunellen tonight and appointed a member to purchase a pig, which he did, and turn it over to a butcher to fix up for them.

This morning when the butcher went to look for the porker he discovered that somebody had been there before him. The pig was gone.

Sale of Boys' 4.00 to 5.00 New Fall Suits at 2.98

Parents, here is an offering of boys' clothing that is not likely to be equaled this season—boys' 4.00, 4.50 and 5.00 suits at 2.98 each! It is a most unusual sale—an opportunity you really can not afford to miss. "Why is the big value?" do you ask. It's a short story: A certain manufacturer had four hundred suits, in small lots, which he closed out at a big loss. We secured them at a price which enables us to sell these suits at less than we could buy them under usual market conditions. Norfolk and double-breasted styles, in sizes 6 to 17 years; made of cassimeres and cheviots in newest fall patterns; coats bottom faced; peg top knickers. Stylish model suits—made to retail at 4.00, 4.50 and 5.00 —sale price.....2.98

Come early and pick out the pattern you like and the size your boy requires. You will never regret the little money you invest in these good clothes.

Women's 3.50 "Pembroke" Shoes, 285

There are two big features of this sale: First, every pair is stamped "Pembroke Shoe, 3.50." Second, that if these shoes were made today, at the present cost of leather, their value would be 4.00 a pair. Last summer, during the "off season" with this factory, we contracted to have made several thousand pairs of "Pembroke" 3.50 shoes at a special price. We had in mind at that time the opening of the new store, desiring to give our patrons the best value possible. The shoes speak for themselves. No good judge of shoe leather needs to look for the 3.50 stamp to see that these are 3.50 shoes. Made on the newest lasts, of gunmetal and patent colt, with cloth and kid tops, also russia calf. Lace and button styles. Oak tanned leather soles; hand-sewed (Goodyear process) soles. A big value at 3.50; special selling price, pair.....2.85

POLICEMEN GET BACK FINES PAID TO THE P. S. C.

Justice Swayze has rendered a decision in the test case brought in Jersey City relative to allowing policemen to ride on trolley cars without paying. He decides that they can ride free whether in uniform or not. Some time ago the Public Service Corporation revoked all the pass books and issued an order against allowing policemen to ride on trolley cars without paying.

It was stated that the Public Service Corporation agreed to refund to policemen any money paid by them as fares, provided the court decided that the men had a right to ride free.

FRESH FRUIT PUDDINGS.

A FRUIT pudding makes a substantial yet dainty finish for a rather light meal. As these puddings, if made with puff paste, are apt to be somewhat hard to digest it is the part of wisdom not to have them with food that may tax the stomach heavily.

With Favorite Fruits.

Orange Pudding.—Take six seedless oranges, six eggs, one cup of cracker crumbs, a cupful and a half of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Soak the crumbs in a cup of water for an hour, grate in the yellow rind of three oranges and squeeze in the juice of the six; beat two tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream with the sugar; add the yolks of the eggs beaten light and foamy and the whites of three beaten stiff; stir into the egg and sugar mixture and beat again; add the orange and cracker and pour into a large pudding dish buttered and dredged with sugar. Bake in a moderate oven for an hour, then take out and spread lightly with a meringue made by beating the whites of three eggs and three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Let the oven cool and set the pudding in for the meringue to brown.

Apple Pudding.—Take two cups of breadcrumbs, a cup of brown sugar, a tablespoonful of butter, a quarter of a teasponful of ground cinnamon, four tart apples and a cup and a quarter of hot water. Butter a baking dish and line the dish with one-half the apples. These should have been washed, pared quartered and cored. Then add one-half the breadcrumbs, the rest of the apples and breadcrumbs. Spread the sugar over the top and the butter in small pieces over that. Sprinkle the cinnamon over all. Pour the water in the center of the dish and bake.

Seasonable Desserts.

Quince Pudding.—Take two tablespoonfuls of gelatin, one cupful of boiling water, one cupful of whipped cream, one and a half cupfuls of strained stewed quinces, the strained juice of one orange, grated rind and strained juice of half a lemon and one cupful of sugar. Dissolve the gelatin with the boiling water, then add the strained quinces, sugar, lemon and orange juices, mix and fold in the whipped cream, then pour into a wet mold. Serve with whipped and sweetened cream flavored with vanilla.

Peach Pudding.—Take six large peaches. Peel and stone these and fill the centers with maraschino cherries. Put them on the ice to cool. Make a custard of one cupful of milk with one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, yolks of three eggs and a tiny piece of butter. When this is cold flavor it with almonds. Line a dish with slices of sponge cake or lady fingers and put in the peaches, then the custard. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and then add them to one-half of a cupful of cream whipped stiff. Sweeten and flavor. Cover the custard with a garnish of cherries and serve cold.

Anna Thompson.

T. R. ARRIVES HOME.

Dr. Lambert said the colonel would be allowed to speak for half an hour at Madison Square Garden Oct. 30.

"If you will allow him to speak for half an hour he will keep on," some one suggested.

"That's all right about that," said Dr Lambert. "I will be there, and I'll ring the bell on him."

The bullet has been definitely located It lies between the third and fourth ribs on the right side and is imbedded in the major pectoral muscle, half an inch above the fourth rib. Assured of its position by the last X ray picture Dr. Lambert inserted his finger in the wound and touched the missile.

'It's a little tender there," said Roosevelt and expressed satisfaction when told the doctors knew where the bullet had lodged.

"The lead will not be extracted now," said Dr. Lambert, "but later on it will be up to the colonel whether he wants to carry it in his chest or his vest pocket."

Silent Crowds Greet Train.

Throughout the day on the train the colonel wished more than once to greet the numerous but silent crowds that waited him along the route. Instead of the noisy receptions that marked his trip west, there was a subdued murmur of sympathy when the train rolled into the station, and the colonel, who formerly had never missed an opportunity of addressing the crowds, shut off his disappointment by passing most of the time in sleep. Only once, at Lima, O., was there an attempt to a demonstration.

That Colonel Roosevelt felt very keenly his inability to greet the crowds was shown by the following statement given out on the train:

"Colonel Roosevelt expressed his regret that while passing through Ohio on the day on which he was to have spoken here he is unable to meet the sympathetic friends who gather at different stops to greet him. He would like to take advantage of his opportunity to ask his friends throughout the state to give their support heartily to the Progressive ticket and particularly to Arthur L. Garford, the Progressive candidate for governor, whom Colonel Roosevelt esteems as exactly the type of man whom all good citizens should most heartily welcome to leadership in this great fight for high ideals."

During the day Drs. Lambert and Terrell, attending Roosevelt, issued two bulletins, one at 9 o'clock and another at 2:40 o'clock. They were:

"Colonel Roosevelt is resting well and is very comfortable. Pulse, respiration and temperature normal."

Colonel Roosevelt has managed to get considerable sleep and stands the journey well. Dr. Lambert says there was slight oozing from the wound today, but this is a very good thing for the patient. He is in excellent condition, and the oozing will serve to drain the wound and thus decrease the chances of infection.

Police Guarded Train.

Owing to the precautions taken by those in charge of the trip Colonel Roosevelt escaped large gatherings of people in Chicago. He was taken out of the Twenty-sixth street side of the hospital instead of the main entrance and to the Twelfth street station instead of to the Union station.

Elaborate precautions were taken by Pittsburgh to guard the colonel when he passed through that city Fifty police and twenty detectives jointly guarded the car in which he was riding. Detectives were scattered about the railroad station, and the gate openings on the platform were guarded by police and detectives.

The train arrived at Allegheny station at 9:30 o'clock last night and moved at once through the Union station and to East Liberty. Superintendent of Police McQuade and a squad of detectives boarded the train at Allegheny and remained with it until it passed East Liberty station. At each of the three necessary stops, Allegheny station, Union station and East Liberty, the train was surrounded by fifty patrolmen.

GERMAN EMPRESS' BIRTHDAY.

MACFARLAND IS NOT TO GET BABIES

Wife's Parents Won't Give Them Up Willingly.

ARE HAPPY IN ROCKLAND

If MacFarland Marries Miss Bromley Parents of Dead Woman Declare His Home Will Not Be Worthy One For Children.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 22.—Allison MacFarland, acquitted of the charge of slaying his wife and free to marry the "other woman," Florence Bromley, has yet to face another legal struggle, if he attempts to carry out his stated plan for recovering the custody of his two little children.

In spite of the tragic background of their innocent lives, Robert and Ruth MacFarland, aged seven and two, have been the happiest babies in Rockland, Me., since the return last Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Crockett, the parents of their dead mother.

The Crocketts, a venerable couple, had testified in the trial of MacFarland, and they returned heavy hearted.

While the children, who have been in their care since the tragedy, were playing around their knees, Mr and Mrs. Crockett declared they would not let the little ones go back to their father without a contest in the courts

Even before they left this city they took the precaution of consulting a lawyer and were advised that probably the courts would sustain their claim.

They have changed completely their attitude of confidence toward MacFarland since the revelations at his trial When he was arrested they were eager to defend him, but the story of his relations with Miss Bromley convinced them, they declare, that if MacFarland is to marry the woman of the "Bunny" letters his home will not be a worthy one for the boy and girl.

When Mr. Crockett was told of MacFarland's statement that he intended to take back his children as soon as he should be married to Miss Bromley, he said:

"We will not give up the children willingly We are both deeply attached to them, and it would be a terrible grief to have them taken away.

"However, I do not believe MacFarland will make an attempt to recover them. We are advised that he would have to obtain the consent of a court in order to do so and that such consent might be difficult to obtain."

As for the children, there seemed to be no doubt of their perfect contentment.

AUTO KILLS YOUTH.

Ride Without Owner's Permission Proves Fatal to Hoboken Youth.

Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 22.—While riding in an automobile owned by Richard Stevens of Castle Point, which had been taken out without the owner's permission and was being driven by a man who not only did not have a license, but knew little about operating it, Harry Luehs, twenty years of age, of 1033 Washington street, this city, was so badly injured that he died in Christ hospital in Jersey City shortly after the accident. He had been thrown from the machine against a tree, fracturing his skull.

The youth who was driving the machine, George Vogel, twenty years of age, of 225 Hudson street, this city, was arrested and charged with violating the state automobile law. The accident happened on the Castle Point estate of Mr. Stevens.

BEAR SCARE IN NEW JERSEY.

Women Frightened and Men Folks Shy About Going Out Nights.

Branchville, N. J., Oct. 22.—The first wild black deer seen here in many years is now making itself comfortable among the Walpack township farms The women are exceedingly timid since the news got around and the men don't like the idea of going on lonely trips at night.

The bear so far has confined his depredations to chicken coops and sheep folds and to all appearances is as much afraid of humans as humans are afraid of him. Shotguns are being taken down from their racks a little ahead of the season and shells with buckshot charges are in demand. It is suspected the bear comes from the Pennsylvania mountains.

SHOW HOLDS UP JOHNSON.

Speaks After Play Ends—Plans to Utilize Roosevelt's Material.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 22.—Governor Johnson planned a tentative schedule of the dates Colonel Roosevelt would have filled had he not been shot and a few others and made the opening address here of a final two weeks' campaign in six eastern states.

The meeting was an innovation. A play was given in a theater and at its close the governor spoke. Governor Wilson's labor record was his main topic. This was a subject Colonel Roosevelt had just begun to handle when he was shot. It was learned that all the material Colonel Roosevelt was to have used would be utilized by Governor Johnson in future addresses.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

By defeating Duclos VanMater, a sophomore, in three straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, yesterday at the Watchung Tennis Club, Frank Dunning, a junior, won the singles tennis championship of the North Plainfield High School. He will receive a handsome silver medal, presented by the High School Athletic Association.

At a meeting of the Girls' Athletic Association yesterday all girls were urged to report for the first basketball practice. A number of girls responded and the prospects for the coming season are bright. Manager Elsie Debele has a pleasing schedule.

About a dozen husky fellows answered the first call for basketball candidates yesterday and Captain Townley is well pleased. Those who are certain of making positions are Townley and Burner, guards; Carroll Taylor, forward, and Dunning, center. One forward position is yet to be filled.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

POLICEMEN GET BACK FINES PAID TO THE P. S. C.

Justice Swayze has rendered a decision in the test case brought in Jersey City relative to allowing policemen to ride on trolley cars without paying. He decides that they can ride free whether in uniform or not. Some time ago the Public Service Corporation revoked all the pass books and issued an order against allowing policemen to ride on trolley cars without paying.

It was stated that the Public Service Corporation agreed to refund to policemen any money paid by them as fares, provided the court decided that the men had a right to ride free.

P. O. OF A. PARTY.

Mrs. Theodore Vanpelt, of Grant avenue, will entertain the members of Camp I. P. O. of A. at her home tomorrow and wants all members to be present. Any visiting members will be cordially welcomed. Take the Fourth street trolley leaving the transfer station at 10:15 a. m. If stormy the party will be held on Thursday.

FRESH FRUIT PUDDINGS.

A FRUIT pudding makes a substantial yet dainty finish for a rather light meal. As these puddings, if made with puff paste, are apt to be somewhat hard to digest it is the part of wisdom not to have them with food that may tax the stomach heavily.

With Favorite Fruits.

Orange Pudding.—Take six seedless oranges, six eggs, one cup of cracker crumbs, a cupful and a half of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Soak the crumbs in a cup of water for an hour, grate in the yellow rind of three oranges and squeeze in the juice of the six; beat two tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream with the sugar; add the yolks of the eggs beaten light and foamy and the whites of three beaten stiff; stir into the egg and sugar mixture and beat again; add the orange and cracker and pour into a large pudding dish buttered and dredged with sugar. Bake in a moderate oven for an hour, then take out and spread lightly with a meringue made by beating the whites of three eggs and three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Let the oven cool and set the pudding in for the meringue to brown.

Apple Pudding.—Take two cups of breadcrumbs, a cup of brown sugar, a tablespoonful of butter, a quarter of a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, four tart apples and a cup and a quarter of hot water. Butter a baking dish and line the dish with one-half the apples. These should have been washed, pared quartered and cored. Then add one-half the breadcrumbs, the rest of the apples and breadcrumbs. Spread the sugar over the top and the butter in small pieces over that. Sprinkle the cinnamon over all. Pour the water in the center of the dish and bake.

Seasonable Desserts.

Quince Pudding.—Take two tablespoonfuls of gelatin, one cupful of boiling water, one cupful of whipped cream, one and a half cupfuls of strained stewed quinces, the strained juice of one orange, grated rind and strained juice of half a lemon and one cupful of sugar. Dissolve the gelatin with the boiling water, then add the strained quinces, sugar, lemon and orange juices, mix and fold in the whipped cream, then pour into a wet mold. Serve with whipped and sweetened cream flavored with vanilla.

Peach Pudding.—Take six large peaches. Peel and stone these and fill the centers with maraschino cherries. Put them on the ice to cool. Make a custard of one cupful of milk with one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, yolks of three eggs and a tiny piece of butter. When this is cold flavor it with almonds. Line a dish with slices of sponge cake or lady fingers and put in the peaches, then the custard. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and then add them to one-half of a cuptul of cream whipped stiff. Sweeten and flavor. Cover the custard with a garnish of cherries and serve cold.

Dr. Lambert said the colonel would be allowed to speak for half an hour at Madison Square Garden Oct. 30.

"If you will allow him to speak for half an hour he will keep on," some one suggested.

"That's all right about that," said Dr Lambert. "I will be there, and I'll ring the bell on him."

The bullet has been definitely located It lies between the third and fourth ribs on the right side and is imbedded in the major pectoral muscle, half an inch above the fourth rib. Assured of its position by the last X ray picture Dr. Lambert inserted his finger in the wound and touched the missile.

'It's a little tender there," said Roosevelt and expressed satisfaction when told the doctors knew where the bullet had lodged.

"The lead will not be extracted now," said Dr. Lambert, "but later on it will be up to the colonel whether he wants to carry it in his chest or his vest pocket."

Silent Crowds Greet Train.

Throughout the day on the train the colonel wished more than once to greet the numerous but silent crowds that waited him along the route. Instead of the noisy receptions that marked his trip west, there was a subdued murmur of sympathy when the train rolled into the station, and the colonel, who formerly had never missed an opportunity of addressing the crowds, shut off his disappointment by passing most of the time in sleep. Only once, at Lima, O., was there an attempt to a demonstration.

That Colonel Roosevelt felt very keenly his inability to greet the crowds was shown by the following statement given out on the train:

"Colonel Roosevelt expressed his regret that while passing through Ohio on the day on which he was to have spoken here he is unable to meet the sympathetic friends who gather at different stops to greet him. He would like to take advantage of his opportunity to ask his friends throughout the state to give their support heartily to the Progressive ticket and particularly to Arthur L. Garford, the Progressive candidate for governor, whom Colonel Roosevelt esteems as exactly the type of man whom all good citizens should most heartily welcome to leadership in this great fight for high ideals."

During the day Drs. Lambert and Terrell, attending Roosevelt, issued two bulletins, one at 9 o'clock and another at 2:40 o'clock. They were:

"Colonel Roosevelt is resting well and is very comfortable. Pulse, respiration and temperature normal."

Colonel Roosevelt has managed to get considerable sleep and stands the journey well. Dr. Lambert says there was slight oozing from the wound today, but this is a very good thing for the patient. He is in excellent condition, and the oozing will serve to drain the wound and thus decrease the chances of infection.

Police Guarded Train.

Owing to the precautions taken by those in charge of the trip Colonel Roosevelt escaped large gatherings of people in Chicago. He was taken out of the Twenty-sixth street side of the hospital instead of the main entrance and to the Twelfth street station instead of to the Union station.

Elaborate precautions were taken by Pittsburgh to guard the colonel when he passed through that city Fifty police and twenty detectives jointly guarded the car in which he was riding. Detectives were scattered about the railroad station, and the gate openings on the platform were guarded by police and detectives.

The train arrived at Allegheny station at 9:30 o'clock last night and moved at once through the Union station and to East Liberty. Superintendent of Police McQuade and a squad of detectives boarded the train at Allegheny and remained with it until it passed East Liberty station. At each of the three necessary stops, Allegheny station, Union station and East Liberty, the train was surrounded by fifty patrolmen.

GERMAN EMPRESS' BIRTHDAY.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 22.—Allison MacFarland, acquitted of the charge of slaying his wife and free to marry the "other woman," Florence Bromley, has yet to face another legal struggle, if he attempts to carry out his stated plan for recovering the custody of his two little children.

In spite of the tragic background of their innocent lives, Robert and Ruth MacFarland, aged seven and two, have been the happiest babies in Rockland, Me., since the return last Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Crockett, the parents of their dead mother.

The Crocketts, a venerable couple, had testified in the trial of MacFarland, and they returned heavy hearted.

While the children, who have been in their care since the tragedy, were playing around their knees, Mr. and Mrs. Crockett declared they would not let the little ones go back to their father without a contest in the courts.

Even before they left this city they took the precaution of consulting a lawyer and were advised that probably the courts would sustain their claim.

They have changed completely their attitude of confidence toward MacFarland since the revelations at his trial. When he was arrested they were eager to defend him, but the story of his relations with Miss Bromley convinced them, they declare, that if MacFarland is to marry the woman of the "Bunny" letters his home will not be a worthy one for the boy and girl.

When Mr. Crockett was told of MacFarland's statement that he intended to take back his children as soon as he should be married to Miss Bromley, he said:

"We will not give up the children willingly. We are both deeply attached to them, and it would be a terrible grief to have them taken away.

"However, I do not believe MacFarland will make an attempt to recover them. We are advised that he would have to obtain the consent of a court in order to do so and that such consent might be difficult to obtain."

As for the children, there seemed to be no doubt of their perfect contentment.

AUTO KILLS YOUTH.

Ride Without Owner's Permission Proves Fatal to Hoboken Youth.

Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 22.—While riding in an automobile owned by Richard Stevens of Castle Point, which had been taken out without the owner's permission and was being driven by a man who not only did not have a license, but knew little about operating it, Harry Luebs, twenty years of age, of 1033 Washington street, this city, was so badly injured that he died in Christ hospital in Jersey City shortly after the accident. He had been thrown from the machine against a tree, fracturing his skull.

The youth who was driving the machine, George Vogel, twenty years of age, of 225 Hudson street, this city, was arrested and charged with violating the state automobile law. The accident happened on the Castle Point estate of Mr. Stevens.

BEAR SCARE IN NEW JERSEY.

Women Frightened and Men Folks Shy About Going Out Nights.

Branchville, N. J., Oct. 22.—The first wild black deer seen here in many years is now making itself comfortable among the Walpack township farms. The women are exceedingly timid since the news got around and the men don't like the idea of going on lonely trips at night.

The bear so far has confined his depredations to chicken coops and sheep folds and to all appearances is as much afraid of humans as humans are afraid of him. Shotguns are being taken down from their racks a little ahead of the season and shells with buckshot charges are in demand. It is suspected the bear comes from the Pennsylvania mountains.

SHOW HOLDS UP JOHNSON.

Speaks After Play Ends—Plans to Utilize Roosevelt's Material.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 22.—Governor Johnson planned a tentative schedule of the dates Colonel Roosevelt would have filled had he not been shot and a few others and made the opening address here of a final two weeks' campaign in six eastern states.

The meeting was an innovation. A play was given in a theater and at its close the governor spoke. Governor Wilson's labor record was his main topic. This was a subject Colonel Roosevelt had just begun to handle when he was shot. It was learned that all the material Colonel Roosevelt was to have used would be utilized by Governor Johnson in future addresses.

BASEBALL'S 1912 ROLL OF HONOR

Cobb and Zimmerman Lead the Leagues in Batting.

WOOD TOPS ALL PITCHERS.

Boston Americans' Star Pitcher Has the Best Twirling Average—Milan Is Greatest Bag Pilferer—Pirates Best Batting Club.

All the old warhorses have their names enrolled on the baseball roll of honor for the 1912 season. You'll find the Cobbs, Speakers, Woods, Doyles, Mathewsons, Bakers and Zimmermans—they're all there—heading the big leagues.

Ty Cobb just simply murdered the ball this year. The Detroit star had 227 hits for an average of .414. No wonder they call him the greatest man on the diamond today. Cobb didn't restrict his energies to batting alone, for in base stealing and run getting Tyrus was right around the leaders.

Joseph Wood of Boston led the pitchers in the American league with an average of .827.

It is peculiar that the pennant winning Giants and Red Sox were not the best hitting and fielding clubs in their leagues. The Pirates carried off these honors in the National, while the Athletics did the same thing in the junior organization.

In the National league Zimmerman of the Cubs led the league with a grand average of .363. Larry Doyle was also a long distance batter, with ten circuit clouts to his credit.

The National league had thirty-two hitting over .300, the Giants supplying four of that number. The Pittsburgh club carried off the batting honors with ten men hitting over .300.

The Pirates ranked first in club batting, Giants second and Chicago third, while the Cincinnati Reds brought up the rear.

Zimmerman was the slugger in chief, while O. Wilson was second, Wagner third, Cravath fourth and Larry Doyle fifth.

Pittsburgh was the best fielding club, with an average of .971. Fielding was the main weakness of the Giants throughout the season, for the best the New Yorkers could do was to land in next to last place with an average of .954.

It was on the bases that McGraw's men stood out brilliantly, for of the ten leading base stealers the Giants were responsible for five—Merkle, Murray, Doyle, Snodgrass and Herzog.

Hendrix of Pittsburgh was the league's star pitcher, with .727. "Big Jeff" Tesreau closely pressed him for the title with .720.

The National league had more Swat Mulligans than its rival, for only twenty-eight players hit over .300 per cent in the American league against thirty-two for the National.

Cobb and Jackson were tied for the greatest number of hits. Each made 227, although Jackson played in fourteen more games than the Detroit wonder. "Home Run" Baker finished the year with .352 per cent. He pulled off ten cleanup wallops during the year.

The Athletics led in fielding with .953 per cent, and the lowly New Yorkers were flanked with .938.

The speedy Milan topped Cobb in base stealing. Milan pilfered eighty-six, while Cobb annexed sixty.

Eddie Collins was the best run getter and was followed by Speaker, Cobb, Jackson and Baker, all players of more or less ability.

The Athletics did the best club batting for .282 per cent. The St. Louis Browns finished in last place with a total of .247 per cent.

Jackson was the heavy slugger, clouting for 107 extra bases.

The hero of the world's series was Jake Stahl, manager of the Bostons. Stahl played consistently good ball all through and outgeneraled Johnny McGraw. Herzog of the Giants led both teams in batting.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Aftermath of the baseball season. Hope chapel will feed tonight and receive the silver trophy they earned for their meritorious work on the diamond during the 1912 season. Here's to the Sunday-school champs of 1912!

The Chapelties had to put up a superior brand of ball to take the cup out of the grasp of the other lively contestors and have well earned their laurel wreath.

As a side issue the season just closed tended to produce some good orators among the S. S. leaguers.

It has been said that Acting Captain Johnny Heron, of the Hope chapel basketball team, has been holding up his practice until after the big "feed" is over. Wise idea, Johnny, you may have to scout around for some new players if the benqueters don't recover. (No reflections on the feminine culinary department).

Manager Grisley, of the P. H. S. basketball team, has scheduled eleven stiff battles thus far and has many more good games pending. The season will probably open the second week in December, when Somerville comes here.

Grisley is also the game booker for the Hope chapel five. It does not look as though there ought to be any managerial conflicts between these two quintets.

Manager Hetfield, of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax team, has also been heard from. He is swamped with communications from outside teams and says his season will probably open November 2. The Ajax will use the Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday nights as they did last year.

Carroll Taylor is again manager of the N. P. H. S. five and as the boroughites have had no football, they will probably start the season about the first of November, too.

Why not ring in 1912 with a preliminary appetizer between the N. P. H. S. team and the Ajax. Both fives have the same lineup as they had last year.

Westfield High School has curtailed football for the present season. It is rumored that every member of the eleven is "down" in the same subject. Awful! We sympathize with you, Mt. Ararat.

It is about time that P. H. S. football schedule was resumed. The local warriors will need some practice before they stack up against Phillipsburg next Saturday. This is the only eleven that scored on P. H. S. last year. Wonder what they will do on this trip?

Philosophical Phelix Says:

Owing to the disbandment of the Westfield team Manager Janke was forced to scout around for a substitute for tomorrow afternoon. The busy little manager has signed up Essex Fells. (The game will be played there).

I know how you feel. I am just as tired of writing these "Bunts" as you are of reading them, but I made it a point to write a little bit more today as I will probably need some time to recuperate after that Hope chapel banquet tonight.

FOOTBALL "GRITS"

Swarthmore plays at home next Saturday with Johns Hopkins. The Baltimoreans held E. and M. to a low score on Saturday.

Captain Thorpe and his Carlisle teammates journey to Washington next Saturday to play Coach Eddie Bennis' Georgetown University eleven. The Indians are big favorites in the national capital.

Princeton freshmen succeeded in doing something that other teams have tried for more than two years. The Tiger cubs beat Mercersburg Academy on the latter's gridiron scoring two touchdowns against Coach Kennedy's boys.

"Tiny" Maxwell, the famous Swarthmore guard of years ago, has been selected to officiate in some of the big games in and around Pittsburg.

Villanova College, the team which went through last season without scoring a single point, triumphed over Catholic University at Washington on Saturday, 20 to 7.

Flynn has been playing a sterling game at fullback on the Yale team. He was slightly injured in the army game, but will be fit to take up the routine in a day or two.

There are few heavy men on the Carlisle Indian team, but every player is a speed merchant. Hill, one of the guards, is one of the heaviest men in the squad, and he weighs only 181 pounds.

CONNECTICUT FIELD TRIALS.

Hampton, Conn., Oct. 22 (Special).—A sportsmanlike atmposhere pervaded this place today at the opening of the fourteenth annual trials of the Connecticut Field Trials Association. Sportsment from all parts of New England and from New York and Canada were on hand with their handsome pointers and setters, many of the dogs having a national reputation. The birds are reported plentiful this year and an unusually successful meet is expected. The two feature events will be the Derby and All-Age Stakes, for which purses of $100 have been offered in addition to handsome trophies.

Y. M. C. A. JUNIOR LEAGUE STARTED

Association Youngsters Start Off the Season With the 15-Yard Dash.

COMPETITION IS KEEN

Sioux and Omaha Teams Take the Lead—Wawayanda Second—First of the Events for the All-Around Title—Contestants to be Coached.

Athletic competition for the all-around championship of the boys' department was started at the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon, the fifteen yard dash being the leader off on the program. Twenty-three of the association's younger members competed for their respective teams and the rivalry exhibited was of the keenest sort.

The younger boys have been banded together by the boys' secretary, C. William Bingaman, into a league; the teams in which are titled after Indian tribes of the times gone by. Whether it was because of the vim their team's name suggested or whether it was the desire to be on top of the heap in the first official team standing for the present season, every fellow entered into the run with the determination to win, thereby securing their share of their respective team's point score. Every individual who competed helped to add something to his tribe's score, and the points were awarded according to the effort put forth and the time made.

Yesterday's event was the first of a schedule that has been arranged and the athletic events will be continued every Monday afternoon. A cup has been offered to the team chalking up the highest number of points at the end of the season. Not only will athletics be taken into consideration in awarding the cup, but the winner will have to make a superior showing in aquatics, Bible study and gymnastics.

A hasty totaling up of yesterday's scores shows that the Sioux and Omaha teams are tied for top notch honors with Wawayanda as the runner-up, and Iroquois trails up not far in arrears.

Individual honors were divided up among Joseph Angerbauer, Morris Block, Willis Henry and Martin Snyder, each of whom covered the distance in 2 4-5 seconds. The rest of the large field of starters all finished under the four second mark and it was numbers, not records, that brought the standing of the leaders to the top rung.

The schedule as drawn up consists of events which are used commonly throughout the sporting circles of the present day and are not run off merely to evoke competition. It is planned to work individually and coach each athlete in the events with which he is in any way unfamiliar. The coaches will train the youngsters in the art of starting instantaneously; how to breast the tap; how to get a good take off for a jump; how to land; racing strokes in swimming and the up-to-date methods of clearing the bar in any kind of a jump.

The records made yesterday are as follows:

Joseph Angerbauer, Iroquois, 2 4-5 sec.; Morris Block, Omaha, 2 4-5 sec.; Willis Henry, Sioux, 2 4-5 sec.; Martin Snyder, Wawayanda, 2 4-5 sec.; Henry Windham, Iroquois, 3 sec.; Harold Condict, Sioux, 3 sec.; Haywood Erickson, Wawayanda, 3 sec.; George King, Omaha, 3 sec.; Otto Keller, Iroquois, 3 sec.; Fred Ross, Omaha, 3 sec.; Rufus Searles, Sioux, 3 sec.; James Brownlee, Omaha, 3 1-5 sec.; Charles Gates, Omaha, 3 1-5 sec.; Benjamin Letson, Sioux, 3 1-5 sec.; Colin Milliard, Omaha, 3 1-5 sec.; Leroy Taynor, Iroquois, 3 1-5 sec.; Reginald Sykes, Wawayanda, 3 1-5 sec.; Witter Clawson, Sioux, 3 1-5 sec.; Russell Tomlinson, Wawayanda, 3 1-5 sec.; Harold Leek, Omaha, 3 2-5 sec.; Mac Fullerton, Sioux, 3 2-5 sec.; Howard Willett, Omaha, 3 2-5 sec.; Albert Renni, Sioux, 3 2-5 sec.

Officials: Starter—E. C. Oslin. Referee—C. William Bingaman. Timers—Fred Dickerson and Harold Tomlinson.

FULTZ'S FRATERNITY TO ASK FOR "RIGHTS"

Baseball Fraternity Will Work With Magnates for Betterment of Game.

Rowdyism will be stopped and baseball players removed from the liability of insult if the Baseball Players' Fraternity succeeds in a movement it is starting. Resolutions are being formulated today to be sent to the National Commission, asking that umpires be vested with the power to order out of the grounds fans who hurl abusive language at the players.

President David L. Fultz, who was elected yesterday at a meeting in New York, is directing the movement and expects success. The fraternity has 228 members among the sixteen major league clubs, and expects to have all major league players not now enrolled on the list with a few days.

The vice presidents elected are Christy Mathewson, Mike Doolan, Ed. Sweeney and Ty Cobb. Jake Daubert is secretary. The board of directors includes one man from each big league team.

The directors present were: Christy Mathewson, New York Nationals; Edward Sweeney, New York Americans; Jake Daubert, Brooklyn; Mike Doolan, Philadelphia Nationals; Ira Thomas, Philadelphia Americans; John Henry, Washington; John Evers, Chicago Nationals; G. Harris White, Chicago Americans; Ty Cobb, Detroit; Mike Mowrey, St. Louis Nationals; Derelle Prat, St. Louis Americans; John Miller, Pittsburg, and Richard Egan, Cincinnati.

Every club in the National and American leagues was represented except the two Boston and the Cleveland clubs. The Boston clubs are believed not to have received the telegrams for the meeting. The twenty-two players of the Cleveland club are pledged to join. Joe Birmingham, who was named as the Cleveland director, has since been appointed manager, and managers are ineligible to membership in the fraternity. The Cleveland players are expected to join formally as soon as Birmingham's successor as a director is named. Dues are $18 a year. There is no insurance benefit.

The officers are to act as an advisory board, to which will be referred all disputes or questions involving the rights of players. The fraternity will not apply for representation on the National Commission. The players are satisfied if they can always get their rights from the commission as it is now constituted.

The fraternity did not take any action yesterday in the matter of players sharing in the fifth game of the world's series when one of the first four games results in a tie. It was expected the question would come up, but the directors decided the commission would deal fairly in matters involving the financial interests of the players.

President Fultz said that every player in the sixteen big league clubs except five was a member of the fraternity, and these five are expected to come in soon. The matter of taking in minor league players will be taken up later, and they probably will be admitted.

This association of players makes it possible to tie up all major league baseball at short notice, but no such thought, it is declared, has entered the heads of the organizers.

Their main object is to improve the general morals of the players and to protect the men from unjust discipline. They expect it to do away with the tyranny of fines and suspensions without a hearing. No attempt will be made to fix a wage scale, as the "stars" would never have aided in the organization had this been one of its objects.

Hans Wagner was the last man to sign up in the fraternity. He held off until he was convinced of the seriousness of the organization and then joined. The only well-known players not yet members are "Rube" Benton, pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds; Eddie Plank, of the Athletics, and Shafer and McCormick, of the Giants.

SIOUX FALLS BENCH SHOW.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 22 (Special).—Attracted by a liberal offering of prizes, many of the foremost dog fanciers of Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota have sent their blue-ribbon canines to the annual bench show which opened here today under the auspices of the Sioux Falls Kennel Club. The exhibition will continue until the end of the week.

MRS. ROGERS CARRIES OFF GROSS PRIZE

A Number of Local Women Golfers Turn in Good Cards.

Although the season is on the wane the enthusiasm of the women golfers is as high now as it has been at any time during the year. Yesterday fifty members of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association entered for the eighteen hole handicap tournament held over the links of the St. Andrew's Golf Club.

Four contestants succeeded in bettering the hundred mark, and as Mrs. N. P. Rogers, Baltusrol, was at the head of the list, she received the award for low gross. Mrs. Rogers went around in 93, four strokes better than the total returned by Mrs. W. J. Faith, of Wykagyl, who was in second place. With Mrs. Rogers eliminated, representatives of Dunwoodie Country Club claimed both first and second positions in the net, Miss Adelaide Duff getting a card of 107—18—89 and Mrs. M. H. Frayne one of 100—8—92. Among the scores were the following: Mrs. N. P. Rogers, Baltusrol, 93—3—90; Mrs. Albert MacDonald, Plainfield, 108—14—49; Miss S. C. Wharton, Plainfield, 114—18—96; Mrs. H. R. Stockton, Plainfield, 104—5—99.

AJAX WILL OPEN SEASON NOVEMBER 2

Nash, Former High School Star, Will Play Center for Association Five.

Manager Hetfield, of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball team, is compiling a heavy schedule for the fall and winter season and every mail brings to light new aspirants to take the measure of the Ajax combination. The season will probably be ushered in November 2, with a game against the Crescent five, of Jersey City, in the event that North Plainfield High School cannot be secured for that date. Hetfield is desirous of starting the season off with a local five and is scouting around to get one for that date.

Captain Brynarski has been holding frequent practice and says his men will be in the pink of condition by the time set for the opening game. Frank Dunning will be the only member missing from the Ajax lineup this year and his place will be ably filled in by James Nash, last year's P. H. S. star. Nash will take care of the center position and should prove a tower of strength to the association team. Glover and Brynarski will be back in their old places at guards, while Peacock and McNamee will hold down their old positions at forward.

P. H. S. ELEVEN WILL PLAY AT ESSEX FELLS

Westfield High School Authorities Cancel Game Because of Ban on Football.

Westfield High School has put the ban on football and the lid seems to be clasped on good and heavy. Owing to scholarship deficiencies and various other troubles the athletic activities of that institution have been postponed until the basketball season rolls around.

Plainfield High School had a game booked with the Mt. Ararat eleven at that place for tomorrow afternoon but Manager Janke received a cancellation and was forced to hustle around to sign up a substitute for tomorrow. He has finally secured the Essex Fells team representing Kingsley School and the P. H. S. warriors will journey up there tomorrow afternoon.

Monthly scholarship reports have recently been issued at P. H. S., but it is not thought that these gruesome objects have affected the football team to any extent and the same lineup that battled against Seton Hall Preps., will probably be on the field tomorrow.

STALLINGS ABLE TO BE OUT.

The scheduled game between the New Brunswick and the Schaefer and Altrock All Stars, for last Saturday, was not played and several members of the New Brunswick team took in the Rutgers-Hobart football game, including Bill Dalton, Eddie Stallings and Joe Harter. The three players remained in New Brunswick over night to be on hand for the game with the Yankees on Sunday. Stallings is only able to hobble around, and has to use a cane.

BECKER ANXIOUS TO TAKE STAND

McIntyre Fears Introduction of Graft Testimony.

BAD DAY FOR THE DEFENSE

Several Witnesses Not Called Owing to Ruling of Justice Goff—Police Official Called by Defense Strengthens Case of State.

New York, Oct. 22.—When the trial of Lieutenant Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal was resumed this morning the lawyers for the defense were in a quandry. The defendant wants to take the stand, but his chief counsel, John F. McIntyre, fears that Becker may be asked how he accumulated thousands monthly on a salary of $2,250 a year and likely will insist that he shall not testify.

The depletion of witnesses and the exhaustion of material left Lieutenant Becker and his lawyers in a situation where this hazard had to be weighed with fine scales. Becker was fighting for permission to testify. Mr. McIntyre, his chief counsel, was wearily resisting and pointing out the peril of giving the district attorney his last chance to put before the jury the graft evidence that has accumulated.

Becker professes to be confident that he can make a good impression on the jury, that he can explain away the accusations that Rosenthal made and that Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps gave linking him to the murder. The decision of the problem, which, as was generally recognized, was the turning point of the case, has not been reached.

Defense Is Almost In.

It was plain that the defense was approaching the conclusion of its case. Although there were more than twenty witnesses waiting in the middle of the afternoon yesterday, Mr. McIntyre and Mr. Hart called none of them and used up the remaining two hours by reading the testimony concerning Sam Schepps' garrulity at Hot Springs that was taken before a special commission in that city. The reason that the attendant witnesses were not called was that Mr. McIntyre didn't believe he could get their testimony before the jury. Justice Goff had excluded as incompetent or immaterial earlier in the day the testimony of numerous witnesses called for the same purpose as those who were not used.

It was not an impressive day for the defense. The principal witness in Becker's behalf were two young thieves accused of murder, a plain jailbird in the Tombs for disorderly conduct and five members of his old strong arm squad. The thieves and the milder jailbird came glibly to the stand to refute testimony offered that Becker had jauntily informed Policeman James C. White, one of the Becker squad, that no one but criminals would testify against him and that when the sensation blew over the public would give him a medal for killing Rosenthal. The admonitions of Justice Goff checked the patter of the jailbirds and the nets of the district attorney entangled their feet.

One after another of the strong arm men testified that the evidence for the Rosenthal raid was real evidence; that the raid was honestly made; that Becker had hardly been out of their sight while the raid was on; that Becker didn't say to Mrs. Rosenthal what she said he had and that Becker, after refusing to step aside with Mrs. Rosenthal for a private talk, ordered them to arrest her nephew as one of the men described in the warrants. But when the district attorney got through with the witnesses their stories were hardly of a pattern.

Bad Witness For Defense.

The worst blow sustained by the defense was the testimony of their own witness, Police Lieutenant Ernest L. D. Von Diezelski, who was in charge of the desk in the West Forty-seventh street station house on the night of the murder. The lieutenant, after identifying the entries on the blotter that night as his own handwriting, swore that Lieutenant Becker did not enter the station house until 4:25 a. m. Frederick H. Hawley had testified on Saturday that after meeting Becker at 3:30 a. m. at the Times building they went directly to the station house. Lieutenant Von Diezelski's testimony was a direct contradiction of Hawley and it left unaccounted for Becker's movements for one hour and fifty-three minutes. Becker and his lawyers were obviously taken back by the positive statement of Von Diezelski.

Piano Leadership

What constitutes leadership? What entitles any house to first place in the selling of pianos?

Wouldn't you say the house that sells the best pianos was the foremost piano house in the community? Wouldn't you say the house that represented the largest number of high-class makes was rightly entitled to recognition as leaders?

Of course you would. Anybody would.

The very fact that we sell only first-class pianos—some of them the finest made in America—and that we present for selection more kinds of pianos and player-pianos than any other store in the State establishes our claim to piano supremacy without any wordy argument on our part.

A PLAINFIELD vs. A NEW YORK ACCOUNT

The advantages to residents of Plainfield and vicinity of maintaining a bank account in The State Trust Company are so numerous that no argument should be necessary to convince those who are now keeping their accounts in New York. Liberal interest rates (3% and 4%), the free collection of out of town checks and the New York checking privilege are but a few of the many advantages that such an account affords. On the other hand a New York account means inconvenience in making deposits, charges on out of town checks and in any many instances no interest on balances.

We offer our splendid facilities to any one who is willing to overcome habit and profit thereby.

G. O. P. TO BLAME FOR N. J. TRUSTS

Governor Helpless Before Hostile Partisan Legislature Says "Trust Buster."

ANSWERS JANE ADDAMS

If Workingmen Got Their Dues, Says F. S. Monnett at Democratic Rally, They Wouldn't Need Progressive Libraries and Institutes.

"The majority of the offending trusts and monopolies are incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and the provisions on your statute books for the governing and regulating these huge corporations who are restraining trade, are faulty and ineffective and are to be compared with the trust harboring laws of the States of Delaware and Maine."

So asserted Frank S. Monnett, formerly attorney-general of Ohio, a noted "trust-buster" and lawyer of the Middle West, speaking last night before the largest gathering of Democrats in Sebring's Auditorium held under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall Club this campaign.

He laid the blame for these conditions at the feet of the Republican Legislature, which, he said, had blocked every attempt of Governor Wilson to remedy conditions or make new provisions in the laws. He told how the laws in Ohio make it easy for the Governor, or even a small number of citizens to make complaint against an illegal corporation, which will at once lead to an investigation. He said the Governor had little power over corporations in New Jersey, therefore he is not responsible for the existing conditions as claimed recently by a political opponent in Chicago.

The speaker replied to Jane Addams, who in stumping for the Progressives, claims the Bull Moose party is in favor of erecting institutions to care for the children of the working men and providing more libraries for the destitute. Mr. Monnett was applauded when he said, "if conditions were as they should be, gentlemen, and the working man was getting a fair return of the profit they help to produce, they could furnish their own libraries, in their own homes, for their own families."
